[Docket No. G-2008]

TRANSCONTINENTAL GAS PIPE LINE CORP.

NOTICE OF APPLICATION

AUGUST 4, 1952.

Take notice that on July 22, 1952, Transcontinental Gas Pipe Line Corporation (Transcontinental), a Delaware corporation having its principal place of business at Houston, Texas, filed an application for a certificate of public convenience and necessity, pursuant to section 7 of the Natural Gas Act, authorizing it to deliver additional quantities of natural gas to certain of its customers, namely Consolidated Edison Company of New York, Public Service Electric and Gas Company, Long Island Lighting Company, and Philadelphia Electric Company, for a period not to exceed sixty days.

Transcontinental states, in its application, that the deliveries of natural gas for which it seeks authority are made necessary by the following stated circumstances:

(1) On April 28, 1950, the Commission issued an order, accompanying Opinion No. 191, in Docket No. G-1277, authorizing Transcontinental, inter alia, "to transport not more than 60,000 Mcf per day (16.7 psia) of natural gas on an interruptible basis for the account of Sun Oil Company • • • at Marcus Hook, Pennsylvania." (Op. No. 191, mimeo., p. 48.)

(2) That the Sun Oil Company has been refining aviation gasoline at its Marcus Hook refinery; and that a residual of such refining is Bunker C oil, which the Marcus Hook refinery obtains in the amount of 10,000 barrels per day.

(3) That normally, Sun Oil Company sells 5,000 barrels of Bunker C oil per day to steel companies, and 5,000 barrels to other purchasers.

(4) That because of the "present" steel strike, Sun Oil Company's sales of Bunker C oil to steel companies have been "completely eliminated", and that the "available market for the other 5,000 barrels has been glutted."

(5) That Sun Oil Company has "requested Transcontinental to curtail completely its deliveries of natural gas during the period of the present steel strike • • •"

(6) That despite the provision in the order of April 28, 1950, aforementioned, that Transcontinental was to transport natural gas to Sun Oil Company "on an interruptible basis," Transcontinental "has the legal right to 'put' substantial quantities of gas to Sun Oil Company and Sun is obligated to either take the natural gas tendered or pay the transportation charges established in the contract."

(7) That "Transcontinental is, in the public interest, undesirous of compelling acceptance of deliveries of natural gas by Sun even though Transcontinental is in dire need of the revenues involved."

Therefore, Transcontinental proposes to make deliveries, not exceeding the period of sixty days from July 22, 1952, of quantities of natural gas up to an aggregate amount not exceeding 22,500 Mcf per day to the above-named customers.

The application is on file with the Commission, and open for public inspection.

Protests or petitions to intervene may be filed with the Federal Power Commission, Washington 25, D. C., in accordance with the Commission's rules of practice and procedure (18 CFR 1.8 or 1.10) on or before the 22d day of August 1952.

Section 601.1858 Support rates is amended by including in the table in paragraph (a) Basic rates, the value factors for head and broken rice to be used in determining the basic support rates for the various classes of Rough Rice so that the amended section reads as follows:

§ 601.1858 Support rates. Loans will be made and rice delivered under purchase agreements will be purchased at the support rates set forth in this section.

(a) Basic rates. The basic support rate for 100 pounds of rough rice in approved storage and with all accrued charges, except receiving and loading out charges, paid through April 30, 1953, shall be computed as follows:

Multiply the yield (in pounds per hundredweight) of head rice by the applicable value factor for head rice (as shown in the table below according to class). Similarly, multiply the difference between the total yield and head rice yield (in pounds per hundredweight) by the applicable value factor for broken rice. Add the results of these two computations to obtain the basic loan or purchase rate per 100 pounds of rough rice and express such rate in dollars and cents, rounded to the nearest whole cent.

VALUE FACTORS FOR HEAD AND BROKEN RICE

Rough rice class	Head rice	Broken rice
Rexoro (including Rexark), Patna, Blue Bonnet, and Nira	0.0955	0.0400
Fortuna, R. N., and Edith	.0894	.0400

(b) Premiums and discounts. The basic support rates, determined under paragraph (a) of this section, per 100 pounds of rough rice shall be adjusted by the following premium or discount for the grade applicable to an individual lot of rough rice:

Grade U. S. No. 2: Premium of 10 cents per 100 pounds.

Grade U. S. No. 3: Discount of 5 cents per 100 pounds.

TITLE 32A—NATIONAL DEFENSE, APPENDIX

Chapter III—Office of Price Stabilization, Economic Stabilization Agency

[Ceiling Price Regulation 17, Amdt. 7]

CPR 17—GASOLINES, NAPHTHAS, FUEL OILS AND LIQUEFIED PETROLEUM PRODUCTS, NATURAL GAS, PETROLEUM GAS, CASINGHEAD GAS AND REFINERY GAS

AREA ADJUSTMENT OF TANK WAGON CEILING PRICES OF FUEL OIL DISTRIBUTORS

Pursuant to the Defense Production Act of 1950, as amended, Executive Order 10161, and Economic Stabilization Agency General Order No. 2, this amendment to Ceiling Price Regulation 17 is hereby issued.

STATEMENT OF CONSIDERATIONS

This amendment to Ceiling Price Regulation 17 provides for area adjustments of the ceiling prices of tank wagon distributors of heating oils in a retail marketing area when the net margins of these distributors are reduced to such an extent that their earnings fall below the level of their earnings in the year ended May 31, 1950.

While it does not appear that distributors' gross margins are less than those required by section 402 (k) of the Defense Production Act, distributors in certain retail marketing areas have submitted data to show that increased costs have substantially reduced their net earnings. The industry earnings standard, the basic standard by which OPS measures the need for ceiling price adjustments, provides that relief may be considered if an industry can show that its current earnings are less than 85 percent of its earnings in the best three of the four years 1946–1949.

Experience has demonstrated that the industry earnings standard is difficult to apply in the wholesaling and retailing of heating oil. There are many thousands of heating oil marketers at the tank wagon level—too many to consider in one data collection project. Moreover, the need and the scope of relief required are not uniform, and may be very different in one area than in another. Consequently it appears preferable in this case to provide for adjustments on an area rather than an industry wise basis. In addition, the bookkeeping records of many of these heating oil jobbers are entirely inadequate to supply the information for the years 1946–1949 required for a direct application of the industry earnings standard. Analysis of available data shows that the granting of area adjustments on the basis of earnings in the year ended May 31, 1950, as provided in this amendment, will yield results in this field consistent with results that would be obtained by use of the industry earnings standard. This approach is adopted as the best means of measuring the relief to be granted in the absence of complete data for the years 1946–1949.

A reporting form is provided for use by the heating oil distributors requiring the submission of income data for the base period year and comparative data for the fiscal year ended May 31, 1952.

In the formulation of this amendment there has been consultation with industry representatives, including trade association representatives, and consideration has been given to their recommendations.

In the judgment of the Director of Price Stabilization the method of ceiling price adjustment established by this amendment is generally fair and equitable and is consistent with the purpose of Title IV of the Defense Production Act of 1950, as amended.

AMENDATORY PROVISIONS

Section 11 to Ceiling Price Regulation 17 is amended by adding a new paragraph (d) to read as follows:

(d) Area adjustments of tank wagon ceiling prices for fuel oil distributors. The Director of Price Stabilization may adjust the tank wagon ceiling prices for Heating Oils (kerosene, No. 1 and No. 2 Oil, Furnace Oil, Range Oil and Stove Oil) sold by tank wagon distributors in a retail marketing area when the net margins of such distributors in the area are insufficient to maintain their level of earnings in the fiscal year ended May 31, 1950. Such area adjustment shall be made only after sufficient information has been received for comparison of current earnings with the earnings of the fiscal year ended May 31, 1950. Applications for area adjustments shall be filed with the OPS District Office having jurisdiction over the area for which an adjustment is requested. The data supporting such an application shall then be filed on OPS Public Form No. 151 which will be furnished by the OPS District Office when OPS determines that a survey of the area is appropriate. Application for the institution of an area survey shall be filed with the OPS District or Regional Office having jurisdiction over the majority of the population of the area for which adjustment is requested. Such applications shall contain the following information:

(1) Name and address.

(2) Type of operation, e. g., bulk plant, tank-wagon distributor, etc.

(3) A statement identifying the application as one made under CPR 17, Amdt. 7.

(4) An identification of the market area for which you believe a ceiling price adjustment to be necessary.

(5) Gallonage of light fuel oils delivered at tank wagon level in the periods June 1949–May 1950 and June 1951–May 1952 showing separately, for each period, the gallonage delivered to resellers and to ultimate consumers.

(6) Net operating income derived from the sale of light fuel oils in each of the periods specified in subparagraph (5) of this paragraph.

(7) A statement as to why you believe an area ceiling price adjustment to be necessary for the market area identified in subparagraph (4) of this paragraph. This statement should be based upon information readily available to you; any systematic collection of data from other firms will, where needed, be done by OPS and should not be undertaken by an applicant under this section.

If OPS determines that an area survey is appropriate, the survey will be conducted by the use of OPS Public Form 151.

(Sec. 704, 64 Stat. 816, as amended; 50 U. S. C. App. Sup. 2154)

Effective date. This amendment shall become effective August 13, 1952.

NOTE: The reporting requirements of this amendment have been approved by the Bureau of the Budget in accordance with the Federal Reports Act of 1942.

Director of Price Stabilization.

[Ceiling Price Regulation 30, Amdt. 8 to Supplementary Regulation 4]

CPR 30—Machinery and Related Goods

SR 4—Adjustments Under Section 402 (d) (4) of the Defense Production Act of 1950, as Amended

Option to Propose an Alternate Method

Pursuant to the Defense Production Act of 1950, as amended, Executive Order 10161, and Economic Stabilization Agency General Order No. 2, this amendment to Supplementary Regulation 4 to Ceiling Price Regulation 30 is hereby issued.

Statement of Considerations

This amendment permits manufacturers subject to Ceiling Price Regulation 30 to propose a method of adjusting their ceiling prices in accordance with the provisions of section 402 (d) (4) of the Defense Production Act of 1950, as amended, where they can satisfactorily prove that they find it impracticable to avail themselves of the other provisions of Supplementary Regulation 4 relating to adjustments.

It has been brought to the attention of the Office of Price Stabilization that some manufacturers subject to Ceiling Price Regulation 30 follow long established specialized accounting practices based on engineering cost studies in determining selling prices. These procedures are generally so highly specialized that they effect direct cost allocations of material and direct labor by product, and overhead cost allocations on a departmental, product line, or class-of-customer basis. The use of the specific methods of cost allocations incorporated in SR 4, such as the allocation of labor and overhead on an over-all basis, tends to cause these manufacturers to make unwarranted deviations from historical accounting practices and result in distorted ceiling prices. Accordingly, this action is taken to permit, in certain instances, the proposal of alternate methods of calculating adjustment factors.

A manufacturer who wishes to propose his own method must fully explain his reasons for making such an application and provide certain required data and examples. His resulting ceiling prices under this method must be substantially in line with the level of ceiling prices for the same items under the other provisions of Supplementary Regulation 4. He may not put his proposed method into effect until notified that the method has been approved.

In the opinion of the Director of Price Stabilization the provisions of this amendment are generally fair and equitable and are necessary to effectuate the purposes of Title IV of The Defense Production Act of 1950, as amended.

In the formulation of this supplementary regulation there has been consultation with industry representatives, including trade association representatives, to the extent practicable, and consideration has been given to their recommendations.

Amendatory Provisions

Supplementary Regulation 4 to CPR 30 is amended by adding the following new section immediately after section 17:

Sec. 17a. Option to propose a method—(a) Applicability. If you find that due to your historic accounting practices it is impracticable to adjust your ceiling prices established under Ceiling Price Regulation 30 in the manner prescribed by this supplementary regulation, you may propose a substitute method by filing the report required by paragraph (b) of this section with the Office of Price Stabilization, Industrial Materials and Manufactured Goods Division, Washington 25, D. C. Your proposed method must be consistent in principle with the same general techniques, limitations, and definitions as the method already provided in this supplementary regulation and must achieve the same basic result. You may only include increases in labor, materials, and overhead costs incurred up to July 26, 1951.

(b) Report. Your report must contain the following information.

(1) The name and address of your company and statement designating it as an application under this section.

(2) A general description of your manufacturing operations, the commodities you sell and your principal classes of purchasers.

(3) A statement of the reasons why your accounting practices make it impracticable for you to adjust your ceiling prices under the other provisions of this regulation.

(4) A step-by-step description of your proposed method and cost allocations, together with a statement that the proposed allocations of costs are consistent with your customary accounting practices.

(5) Using your proposed method, actual mathematical calculations of proposed ceiling prices for the two largest (in terms of dollar volume) selling commodities in each product line covered by your application and the ceiling prices for the same commodities established under other provisions of this regulation.

(c) When you put your proposed method into effect. You may not put the method proposed under this section into effect without prior written approval of the Director of Price Stabilization. The Director of Price Stabilization may approve, disapprove, modify, or request further information concerning the methods proposed under this section.

Effective date. This amendment is effective August 13, 1952.

Note: The record keeping and reporting requirements have been approved by the Bureau of the Budget in accordance with the Federal Reports Act of 1942.

Ellis Arnall,
Director of Price Stabilization.

[Ceiling Price Regulation 128, Amdt. 1]

CPR 128—Ceiling Prices for Pacific Northwest Douglas Fir, True Fir, and West Coast Hemlock Lumber

Miscellaneous Amendments

Pursuant to the Defense Production Act of 1950, as amended, Executive Order 10161, and Economic Stabilization Agency General Order No. 2, this Amendment 1 to Ceiling Price Regulation 128 is hereby issued.

Statement of Considerations

This amendment provides a number of clarifications and corrections of typographical errors in Ceiling Price Regulation 128, as well as the addition of miscellaneous footnotes which were inadvertently omitted from the regulation as it was originally issued.

This amendment provides that where a shipment on a delivered sale is made by a common or contract carrier, the transportation addition shall be computed on the basis of established weights. As issued, CPR 128 limited the use of established weights on delivered sales to shipments by rail. The amendment also makes Portland, Oregon, available as a basing point in the computation of the transportation addition on certain delivered sales where shipment is by common or contract carrier or by private truck, instead of limiting the use of that basing point to rail shipments as originally provided in CPR 128. The amendment further provides that on shipments by private truck, where the distance is greater than 30 miles, the transportation addition on delivered sales shall be computed in the same manner as is provided for shipments by common carrier. These changes are accomplished by rewriting sections 12, 13, and 14. They are made in order to make the regulation conform with customary industry practices.

The pricing rule for waiver of moisture content of lumber in Section 20 is changed by the amendment to permit the seller to use established weights for green lumber in the computation of transportation charges instead of the established weights for dry lumber. This change is accomplished in the interest of fairness, because, in such a case, the seller may only charge the ceiling price for green lumber.

Section 35, which deals with invoices, is changed so that the invoice for a sale made on a delivered basis must show the delivered price of the sale instead of the f. o. b. price. This is in line with historical practices of the industry.

A list of ceiling prices for timbers longer than 40 feet is added to the regulation by this amendment. This list was inadvertently omitted from the footnotes on timbers when the regulation was originally issued.

Ceiling prices for B and Better vertical grain and C grade vertical grain have been deleted from the table of ceiling prices covering shop lumber, since these are not appropriate grades for shop lumber, not being listed in Rules No. 14.

Various pertinent paragraph references appearing in Standard Grading and Dressing Rules No. 14, issued by the West Coast Bureau of Lumber Grades and Inspection, effective August 1, 1947, are added by this amendment. This has been done in the interest of clarification, by amending footnotes to ceiling price tables in certain cases and adding new footnotes in others.

Other changes provide for the addition or deletion of footnotes which refer to differentials in grade, dimension, species and grain, and the addition of certain items to the ceiling price tables which were not included in the regulation as originally issued. Ceiling prices for the new items have been determined, in general, by applying differentials in line with the historical practices of the lumber industry.

In the formulation of this amendment, there has been consultation with industry representatives, including trade association representatives, and consideration has been given to their recommendations. This consultation included a meeting of a subcommittee of the Douglas Fir Lumber Industry Advisory Committee.

In the judgment of the Director of Price Stabilization, the provisions of this amendment are generally fair and equitable and are necessary to effectuate the purposes of Title IV of the Defense Production Act.

Amendatory Provisions

1. Section 12 is amended to read as follows:

Sec. 12. Delivered sales: Shipment by common or contract carrier. When you sell on a delivered basis and you ship your lumber by common or contract carrier, the delivered ceiling prices are the f. o. b. prices set forth in section 45 plus an addition for transportation. The transportation addition is computed by multiplying the appropriate established weight shown in section 45 by the applicable common or contract carrier freight rate in effect at the time of shipment. Where trucking to a yard or job site after a rail haul is required, the transportation addition may also include a charge for making the truck delivery as well as a charge for transferring the lumber from rail car to truck. However, where a part of the transportation to the buyer is by means of water shipment, no addition to the f. o. b. prices may be made for transportation that occurs before the lumber is placed f. a. s. except as specifically authorized elsewhere in this regulation. You should note that when you sell on a delivered basis, the delivered price need not thereafter be revised or adjusted even if the amount actually charged by the common or contract carrier for carrying your lumber is different from the addition for transportation included in your delivered price.

Note: The provisions of this section do not apply to retail sales of the kind described in section 18.

2. Section 13 is amended to read as follows:

Sec. 13. Delivered sales; Shipment by private truck. (a) When you sell on a delivered basis, shipping your lumber in a truck which you own or hire, the delivered ceiling prices are the f. o. b. prices set forth in section 45, plus an addition determined as follows:

(1) For distances of 10 miles or less, as much as $3.00 per M'BM.

(2) For a distance greater than 10 miles and as far as 20 miles, as much as $4.00 per M'BM.

(3) For a distance greater than 20 miles and as far as 30 miles, as much as $5.00 per M'BM.

(4) When the distance is greater than 30 miles, as much as an addition computed in the manner set forth in section 12, using applicable common or contract carrier truck rates.

(b) "Distance" defined. As used in the section, the term "distance" refers to the actual mileage from your mill or plant to the point of destination as measured by truck speedometer. It does not include the return mileage from the point of destination to your mill or plant. The term "point of destination" includes a yard or job site.

Note: The provisions of this section do not apply to retail sales of the kind described in section 18.

3. Section 14 is amended to read as follows:

Sec. 14. Delivered sales; Portland, Oregon, basing point rate. Notwithstanding the provisions of sections 12 and 13, you may compute the transportation addition for delivered sales authorized by sections 12 and 13 by multiplying the appropriate established weight by the applicable rail freight rate from Portland, Oregon, to the point of final destination when:

(a) A shipment to a buyer located in California originates at a mill or plant in California from which the rail freight rate to the California point of final destination is less than the rail freight rate from Portland, Oregon, to the same destination; or

(b) A shipment to a buyer located outside Oregon and Washington originates at a mill or plant in Oregon or Washington from which the rail freight rate to the point of final destination outside Oregon and Washington is less than rail freight rate from Portland, Oregon, to the same destination.

Note: The provisions of this section do not apply to retail sales of the kind described in section 18.

4. Paragraph (d) of section 20 is amended to read as follows:

(d) When a buyer waives moisture content requirements, you may not charge more than the appropriate ceiling price for green lumber; but in that case, when lumber is sold on a delivered basis, you may use the appropriate established weights for green lumber in computing transportation charges.

5. Section 35 is amended to read as follows:

Sec. 35. Invoices. (a) On all sales of lumber covered by this regulation, you must submit an invoice to the buyer which includes a description of the lumber. Any working, specification, extras, or services which bear upon the price charged for your lumber must be separately set forth on the invoice, but the invoice need not separately show the charge for such items.

(b) For sales made on an f. o. b. or f. a. s. basis, in addition to the information required by paragraph (a) of this section, your invoice must show the f. o. b. (or f. a. s.) price.

(c) For sales made on a delivered basis, in addition to the information required by paragraph (a) of this section, your invoice must show:

(1) The delivered price;

(2) The destination of the shipment; and

(3) The applicable rail or truck freight rate.

6. Table (1), section 45, is amended by adding a new footnote at the end thereof which reads as follows:

The following grade paragraphs to rules No. 14 are applicable:
Douglas Fir—Paragraphs 132 through 139.
West Coast Hemlock and Noble Fir—Paragraphs 532 through 539.
White Fir—Paragraph 809.

7. Table (2), section 45, is amended by adding a new footnote at the end thereof which reads as follows:

The following grade paragraphs to rules No. 14 are applicable:
Douglas Fir—Paragraphs 154 through 157.
West Coast Hemlock and Noble Fir—Paragraphs 554 through 557.

8. Table (3), section 45, is amended by adding a new footnote at the end thereof which reads as follows:

[General Ceiling Price Regulation, Supplementary Regulation 112]

GCPR, SR 112—CEILING PRICES FOR FIR AND HEMLOCK REFUSE WOOD PRODUCED IN THE COLUMBIA RIVER DISTRICT OF WASHINGTON AND OREGON

Pursuant to the Defense Production Act of 1950, as amended, Executive Order 10161, and Economic Stabilization Agency General Order No. 2, this Supplementary Regulation 112 to the General Ceiling Price Regulation is hereby issued.

STATEMENT OF CONSIDERATIONS

This supplementary regulation to the General Ceiling Price Regulation is issued to alleviate conditions that have resulted in hardship to some producers of refuse wood in the Columbia River District of Washington and Oregon whose sales are subject to the GCPR.

During the period of December 19, 1950 to January 25, 1951, the base period of the GCPR, prevailing prices for refuse wood in the Columbia River District were more than $4.35 per unit cord for Fir and $5.21½ per unit cord for Hemlock. Most producers were able to establish these or higher prices as their GCPR ceiling prices. A small minority of the producers, however, made no deliveries at the prevailing prices during the base period because of existing long term requirement contracts which utilized their entire output, and which were entered into during periods of depressed prices. These latter producers thus established abnormally low GCPR ceiling prices.

To alleviate hardship cases, this supplementary regulation increases the few abnormally low GCPR ceiling prices to the approximate level of the GCPR ceiling prices for refuse wood produced in the Columbia River District, and permits such increased ceiling prices to apply to deliveries made after January 1, 1952 under long term contracts.

The increases granted by this supplementary regulation will have no forseeable effect upon the ceiling prices for wood pulp which is the principal product made from refuse wood.

In the judgment of the Director of Price Stabilization, the provisions of this supplementary regulation to the General Ceiling Price Regulation are generally fair and equitable and are necessary to effectuate the purpose of Title IV of the Defense Production Act of 1950, as amended.

Special circumstances have rendered impracticable formal consultation with industry advisory committees or with trade association representatives. However, the Director has consulted individual members of the industry and has given consideration to their recommendations.

REGULATORY PROVISIONS

Sec.
1. What this supplementary regulation does.
2. Ceiling prices for refuse wood produced in the Columbia River District.
3. Long-term contract adjustment.
4. Definitions.
5. Applicability of the General Ceiling Price Regulation.

AUTHORITY: Sections 1 to 5 issued under sec. 704, 64 Stat. 816, as amended; 50 U. S. C. App. Sup. 2154. Interpret or apply Title IV, 64 Stat. 803 as amended; 50 U. S. C. App. Sup. 2101-2110, E. O. 10161, Sept. 9, 1950, 15 F. R. 6105; 3 CFR 1950 Supp.

SECTION 1. What this supplementary regulation does. This supplementary regulation to the General Ceiling Price Regulation increases the GCPR ceiling prices of some producers of refuse wood in the Columbia River District. It also increases the GCPR ceiling prices of some producers with respect to deliveries of refuse wood made after January 1, 1952, under contracts of more than a year's duration entered into before January 26, 1951.

SEC. 2. Ceiling prices for refuse wood produced in the Columbia River District. (a) If you produce refuse wood in the Columbia River District and your existing ceiling prices for refuse wood are lower than the basic ceiling prices set forth in paragraph (b) of this section, your existing GCPR ceiling prices are increased to those basic ceiling prices; if, however, your existing GCPR ceiling prices for refuse wood are higher than the basic ceiling prices set forth in paragraph (b) of this section, your existing GCPR ceiling prices remain unchanged.

(b) The basic ceiling prices established by this supplementary regulation, per unit cord of refuse wood, at the producer's point of loading or chipping, are:

Type of refuse wood:	Ceiling price per unit cord
Fir	$4.35
Hemlock	5.21½

SEC. 3. Long-term contract adjustment. If you are a producer of refuse wood in the Columbia River District, and before January 26, 1951, you entered into a written contract for a period of one year or more to sell refuse wood, and your GCPR ceiling prices for deliveries under that contract are less than the ceiling prices set forth in section 2 (b) of this supplementary regulation, your ceiling price on all deliveries made under such contract after January 1, 1952, shall be the basic ceiling prices set forth in section 2 (b) of this supplementary regulation.

SEC. 4. Definitions. When used in this supplementary regulation:

(a) "Refuse wood" means selected Douglas Fir or Hemlock sawmill slabs, edgings, trimmings, and blocks, suitable for conversion into pulpwood chips.

(b) A "unit cord" is a quantity of refuse wood which will produce 200 cubic feet of pulpwood chips after chipping.

(c) "Columbia River District" means Wahkiakum, Cowlitz, Clark, Skamania, and Klickitat Counties in Washington, and Benton, Clackamas, Clatsop, Columbia, Hood River, Linn, Marion, Multnomah, Polk, Wasco, Washington, and Yamhill Counties in Oregon.

SEC. 5. Applicability of the General Ceiling Price Regulation. Except to the extent modified by this supplementary regulation, all provisions of the General Ceiling Price Regulation remain unchanged in their applicability to sales and purchases of refuse wood.

Effective date. This supplementary regulation shall become effective August 13, 1952.

Director of Price Stabilization.

[Ceiling Price Regulation 163]

CPR 163—FERROMANGANESE, MANGANESE METAL AND OTHER MANGANESE PRODUCTS

Pursuant to the Defense Production Act of 1950, as amended, Executive Order 10161, and Economic Stabilization Agency General Order No. 2, this Ceiling Price Regulation is hereby issued.

STATEMENT OF CONSIDERATIONS

This regulation establishes ceiling prices for sales by producers of ferromanganese, silicomanganese, spiegeleisen and manganese metal. It covers sales of imported products, export sales and sales for export. It does not cover sales by resellers.

Manganese metallurgical products are indispensable as alloying elements and sulphur counteractants in the production of steel. Steel ingot production and steel casting production which consumes 93 percent of all manganese metallurgical products, 90 percent of which are ferromanganese, requires on the average about 14 pounds of manganese for each ton of steel produced.

In view of the importance of these products to the defense program and the civilian economy it is imperative that ceiling prices be maintained at levels which will achieve the objectives of the stabilization program and encourage the high rate of production needed for the defense effort.

Approximately 90 percent of the ore, from which the products covered by this regulation are produced, is imported, principally from India and Africa. During the period June 1950 to April 1952 the average cost of imported ore increased from $68.08 to $132.02 per ton of ferromanganese produced. Other direct material and conversion costs increased an average of $10.21 per ton of ferromanganese produced. Average increases from June 1950 to July 1951, the cut-off date of the Capehart Amendment, amounted to $48.56 per ton of ferromanganese. These increases were offset by a $13.00 per ton increase in the selling price of ferromanganese prior to the issuance of the GCPR.

Data obtained from a substantial segment of the industry indicate that its earnings have fallen below the Industry Earnings Standard level but the data available are not as comprehensive nor as conclusive as is usually required for an application of the Industry Earnings Standard. However, the seriousness of the hardship in the industry resulting from the increases in the cost of ore and the essentiality of manganese metallurgical products to the defense effort justify granting an interim adjustment in ceiling prices on the basis of the information currently available without the further expenditure of time and manpower in the collection of additional data.

Accordingly this regulation establishes ceiling prices for these manganese metallurgical products at a level which reflects the average price increase to which the industry is entitled under the provisions of the Capehart Amendment and a part of the increase to which the industry is apparently entitled by the Industry Earnings Standard. This is less than the amount to which the industry is apparently entitled as measured by preliminary findings under the Industry Earnings Standard. The effect of this adjustment on the cost of steel will be approximately $0.32 per ton of steel ingots or an average of $0.46 per ton of finished steel produced. It is anticipated that the ceiling prices established by this regulation will alleviate in substantial measure the difficult situations prevailing in the industry. If the required detailed information as to costs and earnings are submitted, OPS will undertake to determine more precisely the ceiling price level required by the Industry Earnings Standard.

This regulation sets forth specific ceiling prices for various grades and sizes of ferromanganese, silicomanganese, manganese metal and spiegeleisen. It also establishes premiums and penalties for manganese content in excess of or less than that set forth in the specifications and the charges which may be made for special packing and truck shipment. A producer of manganese metallurgical products of a unique grade, size or analysis must apply to the Office of Price Stabilization for a ceiling price.

In the judgment of the Director of Price Stabilization the provisions of this ceiling price regulation are generally fair and equitable and are necessary to effectuate the purpose of the Defense Production Act of 1950, as amended.

So far as practicable, the Director has given due consideration to the national effort to achieve maximum production in furtherance of the objectives of the Defense Production Act of 1950, as amended, and to relevant factors of general applicability. In the judgment of the Director the provisions of this regulation comply with all of the requirements with respect to the establishment of ceiling prices set forth in the Defense Production Act of 1950, as amended.

In the formulation of this regulation there has been consultation with industry representatives, including trade association representatives, to the extent practicable, and consideration has been given to their recommendations.

In particular, the Director has consulted at several meetings with the Industry Advisory Committee with respect to the trade practices and the coverage of this regulation and has, in general, adopted the recommendations of the committee.

The provisions of this ceiling price regulation and their effect upon business practices, cost practices, or means or aids to distribution in the industry have been considered. It is believed that no changes in such practices or methods have been effected. To the extent, however, that the provisions of this regulation may operate to compel changes in such practices or methods, such provisions are necessary to prevent circumvention or evasion of the regulation and effectuate the policies of the act.

[1] Where a specification includes slope of grain and more exacting slope of grain is required, the charge under these notes shall be the difference between the charge permissible had the specification been free from slope of grain and the permissible charge for the slope of grain required. For example: Paragraph 202 requires slope of grain not more than 1" in 12". If specified 1" in 15", the maximum charge would be $2.50 per M.

manganese, silicomanganese, manganese metal and spiegeleisen. The terms "ferromanganese", "silicomanganese", "manganese metal", and "spiegeleisen" are defined in section 13, Definitions.

(b) Persons and transactions covered. (1) This regulation applies to all sales of the commodities covered by this regulation by a producer of such commodities including export sales and sales for export. It also covers sales of any commodity covered by this regulation by any person who is also a producer of the commodity, including sales of imported commodities. To this extent this regulation supersedes CPR 31 (Imports). It does not apply to resellers who are not also producers of the commodity which they resell.

(2) This regulation also applies, insofar as purchases are concerned, to any person who, in the regular course of trade or business, buys the commodities covered by this regulation from a producer of these commodities.

(c) Geographical applicability. This regulation applies in the 48 States of the United States, the District of Columbia, Alaska, Guam, Hawaii, Puerto Rico and the Virgin Islands.

SEC. 2. Ceiling prices—(a) General provisions. Paragraph (b) of this section sets forth specific ceiling prices for direct plant sales and sales from a producer's warehouse of standard ferromanganese when shipped from specified points and the premiums which may be charged for special packing and truck shipment. Paragraph (c) sets forth ceiling prices for briquets, low iron ferromanganese, medium carbon ferromanganese, low carbon ferromanganese, silicomanganese and manganese metal and the premiums which may be charged for spot sales, special packing and truck shipment. Paragraph (d) sets forth ceiling prices for spiegeleisen. Paragraph (e) sets forth ceiling prices for ferromanganese powders and manganese metal powders.

(b) Ceiling prices for standard ferromanganese—(1) Direct plant shipments. Your ceiling price for standard ferromanganese containing a minimum of 70 percent manganese when shipped directly from a plant located at a point listed in Table A is the price set forth in that table for the grade, size and quantity shipped.

SEC. 3. Applications for establishment of ceiling prices. (a) If you sell any of the commodities covered by this regulation and cannot determine a ceiling price under section 2, you must file an application with OPS for the establishment of a ceiling price. Any such application must be filed by registered mail with the Industrial Materials and Manufactured Goods Division, Office of Price Stabilization, Washington 25, D. C., and must contain the following information: Your name and address; a metallurgical analysis and physical description of the commodity you propose to sell, including a statement of the reasons why you are unable to determine a ceiling price under the provisions of this regulation; your proposed ceiling price and a statement of how you determined such price, and why you believe it is in line with the ceiling prices otherwise established by this regulation.

(b) Any ceiling price established by OPS pursuant to this section will be in line with the ceiling prices otherwise established by this regulation.

(c) After receipt of an application pursuant to this section OPS may approve or disapprove your proposed ceiling price, establish a different ceiling price, or request additional information. Pending any such action, you may sell the commodity covered by your application at your proposed ceiling price, Provided, that you agree with the purchaser to refund the amount, if any, by which your proposed ceiling price exceeds the ceiling price established by OPS. If OPS has not acted upon your application within 30 days of the receipt thereof, your proposed ceiling price shall be deemed to be established for all deliveries made between the date of filing of your application and the date of any order issued by OPS disposing of your application.

(d) If you are required to file an application pursuant to this section and do not do so, OPS may issue an order establishing ceiling prices for you. Any ceiling price set forth in any such order will be in line with the ceiling prices otherwise established in this regulation and will apply to all deliveries for which a ceiling price was not otherwise established by this regulation, including deliveries completed prior to the date of the order. The issuance of such an order will not relieve you of your obligation to comply with the requirements of this regulation or of the various penalties for your failure to do so.

SEC. 4. Customary terms of sale. You must adjust the ceiling prices determined in accordance with section 2 of this regulation to reflect all cash discounts which you had in effect on January 25, 1951, and such price must carry all guarantees, servicing terms, and other applicable conditions of sale which you had in effect on that date. You may make a charge for extension of credit to a buyer if you customarily made such a charge therefor on January 25, 1951, but the amount of such charge must not be greater than that which you had in effect on that date.

SEC. 5. Petitions for Amendment. Any person seeking an amendment of any provision of this regulation may file a petition for amendment in accordance with the provisions of Price Procedural Regulation No. 1, Revised.

SEC. 6. Adjustable pricing. Nothing in this regulation shall be construed to prohibit any person making a contract or offer to sell a product covered by this regulation at (a) the ceiling price in effect at the time of delivery, or (b) the lower of a fixed price or the ceiling price in effect at the time of delivery. No person, however, may deliver or agree to deliver such product at a price to be adjusted upward in accordance with any increase in a ceiling price after delivery.

GCPR, SR 63—AREA MILK PRICE ADJUSTMENT

AMPR 12—SAN FRANCISCO DISTRICT, CALIFORNIA

REVISION OF CEILING PRICES FOR FLUID MILK IN THE SAN FRANCISCO, ALAMEDA-CONTRA COSTA AND SAN MATEO COUNTY MARKETING AREAS

Pursuant to the Defense Production Act of 1950, as amended, Executive Order 10161 (15 F. R. 6105), the Economic Stabilization Agency General Order No. 2 (16 F. R. 738), Delegation of Authority No. 41 of the Director of Price Stabilization (16 F. R. 12679) and Redelegation of Authority No. 23 of the Regional Director, Region XII, Office of Price Stabilization (17 F. R. 674), this Amendment 4 to Area Milk Price Regulation 12 pursuant to Supplementary Regulation 63 to the General Ceiling Price Regulation (16 F. R. 9559) is hereby issued.

STATEMENT OF CONSIDERATIONS

The accompanying amendment adjusts ceiling prices for fluid milk in three Northern California markets. In the cases of the San Francisco Marketing Area and the San Mateo County Marketing Area, the adjustment takes the form of a one-half cent raise for quarts of milk and proportional increases for pints and half-pints of milk at all levels of distribution. The adjustment in the Alameda-Contra Costa Marketing Area is confined to retail, home-delivered prices, and provides for a decrease of one cent per quart together with a three cent delivery charge for each delivery of fluid milk to a retail customer.

These adjustments conform ceiling prices with increases in minimum prices ordered by the State of California Bureau of Milk Control in the San Francisco and San Mateo County Marketing Areas and with the installation of a retail delivery charge ordered in the Alameda-Contra Costa Marketing Area.

For the reasons set forth in the Statement of Considerations accompanying Amendment 3 to AMPR 12, issued and effective July 10, 1952, Section 1 (c) was added in order to eliminate conflicts between ceiling prices and minimum prices established by the State of California Bureau of Milk Control. Reliance on this provision for resolving the present conflict would not, however, have provided corresponding increases on kinds of fluid milk other than standard milk to which the industry is entitled under the criteria of Supplementary Regulation 63. This amendment authorizes a re-determination of ceiling prices on such items as buttermilk, chocolate drink and non-fat milk. These items are not subject to minimum price regulation by the State of California Bureau of Milk Control.

In the judgment of the District Director the provisions of this amendment to Area Milk Price Regulation No. 12 in Region XII are generally fair and equitable and are necessary to effectuate the purpose of Title IV of the Defense Production Act of 1950, as amended by the Defense Production Act Amendments of 1951, and the Defense Production Act Amendments of 1952.

The District Director of the Office of Price Stabilization gave due consideration to the national effort to achieve maximum production in furtherance of the objectives of the Defense Production Act of 1950, as amended; to prices prevailing during the period from May 24, 1950 to June 24, 1950, inclusive; and to all relevant factors of general applicability. The Director consulted the industry involved to the fullest extent practicable prior to the issuance of this amendment to Area Milk Price Regulation No. 12.

O. 10281, Aug. 28, 1951, 16 F. R. 8789; 3 CFR, 1951 Supp.

SECTION 1. What this direction does. This direction relates only to producers of Class B products who did not receive allotments pursuant to applications submitted on Form CMP-4B for the third calendar quarter of 1952. Such producers may self-authorize purchase orders for delivery in any calendar quarter, beginning with the first calendar quarter of 1953, only if their total requirements of controlled materials do not exceed certain maximum amounts. A producer of a Class B product who did not receive an allotment for such product pursuant to Form CMP-4B for the third quarter of 1952, and whose requirements of controlled materials commencing with the first quarter of 1953 exceed the self-authorization limits of this direction, must submit an application on Form CMP–4B. He may not operate under Direction 18 to CMP Regulation No. 1 which provides an automatic allotment procedure beginning with the first quarter of 1953 only for producers who received allotments pursuant to applications submitted on Form CMP–4B for the third quarter of 1952. The provisions of Direction 1 to CMP Regulation No. 1 may be used only through the fourth quarter of 1952.

SEC. 2. Definition. As used in this direction "product class" means a Product Class Code as shown in the Official CMP Class B Product List.

SEC. 3. Persons affected by self-authorization procedure. (a) A producer of any Class B product which is listed in the Official CMP Class B Product List may, without submitting an application on Form CMP–4B, self-authorize purchase orders calling for delivery in any calendar quarter, beginning with the first calendar quarter of 1953, in which his total requirements for delivery from suppliers of each kind of controlled material (including controlled material for Class A product components) for the production of that product and all other products in the same product class do not exceed the amounts specified below:

Carbon steel (including wrought iron).	25 tons.
Alloy steel (except nickel-bearing stainless steel).	1 ton.
Nickel-bearing stainless steel.	500 pounds.
Copper and copper-base alloy brass mill products, copper wire mill products, copper and copper-base alloy foundry products and powder.	10,000 pounds.
Aluminum	20,000 pounds.

Provided, however, That no such producer, unless specifically authorized by NPA, shall avail himself of the self-authorization procedure provided by this direction if he has received an allotment pursuant to application submitted on Form CMP–4B for the third calendar quarter of 1952 for the manufacture of the same product and all other products in the same product class. Instead, a producer who has received such allotment shall obtain his controlled material requirements beginning with the first calendar quarter of 1953 either pursuant to Direction 18 to CMP Regulation No. 1 or pursuant to application submitted on Form CMP–4B, whichever is appropriate.

(b) A producer of any Class B product who need not submit an application on Form CMP–4B pursuant to this direction shall be subject to all applicable regulations and orders of NPA. For example, he shall make allotments of controlled material to a person producing Class A product components for him in the manner prescribed by CMP Regulation No. 1.

(c) Class A products which a producer has been authorized by NPA to treat as Class B products in accordance with section 24 (b) of CMP Regulation No. 1, and Class A products which are sold to a distributor or for use as maintenance, repair, or operating supplies in accordance with paragraph (b) or (c) of section 15 of CMP Regulation No. 1, shall be deemed Class B products for purposes of this direction. A producer may self-authorize purchase orders without filing a Form CMP–4B for any calendar quarter, beginning with the first calendar quarter of 1953, in which his total requirements for delivery from suppliers of each kind of controlled material (including controlled material for Class A product components) for the production of all Class A products which are deemed Class B products for purposes of this direction do not exceed the quantities indicated in this section.

(d) Except as otherwise provided by NPA, a producer of a Class B product must obtain his requirements of all kinds of controlled materials in a particular calendar quarter for a particular product class pursuant to this direction or pursuant to Direction 18 to CMP Regulation No. 1 or pursuant to application submitted on Form CMP–4B, and may not use the self-authorization procedure of this direction or the automatic allotment procedure of Direction 18 for one or more kinds of controlled materials and submit a Form CMP–4B for one or more other kinds of controlled materials.

SEC. 4. Use of allotment symbol to obtain controlled materials. Any producer of Class B products who, pursuant to this direction, may self-authorize purchase orders without filing a Form CMP–4B, is authorized to use the allotment symbol SU, or such other allotment symbol as NPA may expressly authorize, on delivery orders for controlled materials within the limits set forth in section 3 of this direction. He may also append the suffix program identification B–5 to the allotment symbol SU in accordance with the provisions of section 11 (d) of CMP Regulation No. 1. An order so designated, when certified as provided in section 6 of this direction, shall constitute an authorized controlled material order. The quantity of such Class B products which may be produced with controlled materials obtained with the use of the allotment symbol SU, or with such other allotment symbol as NPA may expressly authorize, plus controlled materials properly contained in inventory, shall constitute an authorized production schedule for the purpose of all CMP regulations.

SEC. 5. Use of rating to obtain production materials other than controlled materials. Any producer of Class B products who, pursuant to this direction, may self-authorize purchase orders without filing a Form CMP–4B, is authorized to use the rating DO–SU, or such other rating as NPA may expressly authorize, on delivery orders for production materials as defined in CMP Regulation No. 3 in accordance with the provisions of that regulation. He may also append the suffix program identification B–5 to the rating DO–SU in accordance with the provisions of section 6 (f) of CMP Regulation No. 3.

O. 10281, Aug. 28, 1951, 16 F. R. 8789; 3 CFR, 1951 Supp.

SECTION 1. What this direction does. This direction relates only to producers of Class B products who received allotments pursuant to applications submitted on Form CMP–4B for the third calendar quarter of 1952. Such producers may calculate their own allotments and place purchase orders for delivery in any calendar quarter, beginning with the first calendar quarter of 1953, only if their allotments for the third quarter of 1952 did not exceed certain maximum amounts. A producer of a Class B product who received an allotment for such product pursuant to Form CMP–4B for the third quarter of 1952 which did not exceed such maximum amounts, but who desires quantities of controlled materials commencing with the first quarter of 1953 which exceed the automatic allotment quantities as calculated under this direction, must submit an application on Form CMP–4B. The provisions of Direction 1 to CMP Regulation No. 1 may be used only through the fourth quarter of 1952.

SEC. 2. Definitions. As used in this direction:

(b) "Total third-quarter allotment" means the total net allotments of a particular kind of controlled material (carbon steel, alloy steel, nickel-bearing stainless steel, all copper or aluminum) received by a producer of a Class B product for a particular product class for the third calendar quarter of 1952 pursuant to an allotment on Form CMP–4B or Form CMP–10, plus any quantity of such kind of controlled material for which such producer was entitled to self-authorize pursuant to Direction 1 to CMP Regulation No. 1 for the third calendar quarter of 1952 in such product class.

SEC. 3. Persons affected by automatic allotment procedure. (a) Subject to the limitations of paragraph (b) of this section, a producer of any Class B product which is listed in the Official CMP Class B Product List may, without submitting an application on Form CMP–4B, calculate his own allotments and place purchase orders calling for delivery in any calendar quarter, beginning with the first calendar quarter of 1953, if his total third-quarter allotment of each kind of controlled material (including controlled material for Class A product components) for the production of that product and all other products in the same product class did not exceed the amounts specified below:

Carbon steel (including wrought iron).	500 tons.
Alloy steel (except nickel-bearing stainless steel).	90 tons.
Nickel-bearing stainless steel.	10,000 pounds.
Copper and copper-base alloy brass mill products, copper wire mill products, copper and copper-base alloy foundry products and powder.	40,000 pounds.
Aluminum	60,000 pounds.

Provided, however, That no such producer, unless specifically authorized by NPA, shall avail himself of the automatic allotment procedure provided by this direction if he has not received an allotment pursuant to application submitted on Form CMP–4B for the third calendar quarter of 1952, or if his total third quarter allotment of any kind of controlled material exceeded the above amounts, for the manufacture of the same product and all other products in the same product class. Instead, a producer who has not received such third quarter allotment, or whose total third quarter allotment of any kind of controlled material exceeded the above amounts, shall obtain his controlled material requirements beginning with the first calendar quarter of 1953 either pursuant to Direction 17 to CMP Regulation No. 1 or pursuant to application submitted on Form CMP–4B, whichever is appropriate.

(b) Subject to the limitations of paragraph (a) of this section, a producer of any Class B product who may and desires to avail himself of the automatic allotment procedure under this section, shall calculate as his allotment authority for any calendar quarter a quantity of each of the following kinds of controlled material equal to the specified percentage or percentages of his total third quarter allotment of such material for the manufacture of the same product and all other products in the same product class:

Kinds of controlled material	Calculation of allotments on basis of total third quarter 1952 allotments
Carbon steel (including wrought iron).	100 percent of first 60 tons of total third quarter 1952 allotment, plus 60 percent of any excess between 60 tons and 500 tons.
Alloy steel (except nickel-bearing stainless steel).	100 percent of first 16 tons of total third quarter 1952 allotment, plus 80 percent of any excess between 16 tons and 90 tons.
Nickel-bearing stainless steel.	100 percent of first 500 pounds of total third quarter 1952 allotment, plus 80 percent of any excess between 500 pounds and 10,000 pounds.
Copper and copper-base alloy brass mill products, copper wire mill products, copper and copper-base alloy foundry products and powder.	100 percent of total third quarter 1952 allotment if it did not exceed 40,000 pounds.
Aluminum	100 percent of total third quarter 1952 allotment if it did not exceed 60,000 pounds.

Provided, however, That such a producer need not during any calendar quarter, regardless of the foregoing calculation, reduce his allotment authority below the specified quantity of each of the following kinds of controlled material for the manufacture of the same product and all other products in the same product class:

Carbon steel (including wrought iron).	25 tons.
Alloy steel (except nickel-bearing stainless steel).	1 ton.
Nickel-bearing stainless steel.	500 pounds.
Aluminum	20,000 pounds.

(c) A producer of any Class B product who may and desires to avail himself of the automatic allotment procedure under this section, but who has already received allotments for the first or a succeeding calendar quarter of 1953 pursuant to application or applications previously submitted on Form CMP–4B for such Class B product and others in the same product class, and has placed orders for controlled materials pursuant to such allotments, must deduct the quantity of orders so placed from the quantity of his calculated allotment under this section for such quarter.

(d) A producer of any Class B product who may and desires to avail himself of the automatic allotment procedure under this section but who has already received allotments for the first or a succeeding calendar quarter of 1953 pursuant to application or applications previously submitted on Form CMP–4B for such Class B product and others in the same product class, which exceed his automatic allotment authority as calculated under this section with respect to any kind of controlled material, need not return such excess allotments, but his allotment authority shall be limited to the amounts calculated under this section for such quarter.

(e) A producer of any Class B product who need not submit an application on Form CMP–4B pursuant to this direction shall be subject to all applicable regulations and orders of NPA. For example, he shall make allotments of controlled material to a person producing Class A product components for him in the manner prescribed by CMP Regulation No. 1.

(f) Class A products which a producer has been authorized by NPA to treat as Class B products in accordance with section 24 (b) of CMP Regulation No. 1, and Class A products which are sold to a distributor or for use as maintenance, repair, or operating supplies in accordance with paragraph (b) or (c) of section 15 of CMP Regulation No. 1, shall be deemed Class B products for purposes of this direction. A producer may calculate his own allotments and place purchase orders without filing a Form CMP–4B for any calendar quarter, beginning with the first calendar quarter of 1953, in which his total requirements for delivery from suppliers of each kind of controlled material (including controlled material for Class A product components) for the production of all Class A products which are deemed Class B products for purposes of this direction do not exceed the quantities indicated in this section.

(g) Except as otherwise provided by NPA, a producer of a Class B product must obtain his requirements of all kinds of controlled materials in a particular calendar quarter for a particular product class pursuant to this direction or pursuant to Direction 17 to CMP Regulation No. 1 or pursuant to application submitted on Form CMP–4B, and may not use the automatic allotment procedure of this direction or the self-authorization procedure of Direction 17 for one or more kinds of controlled materials and submit a Form CMP–4B for one or more other kinds of controlled materials.

SEC. 4. Use of allotment symbol to obtain controlled materials. Any producer of Class B products who, pursuant to this direction, may calculate his own allotments and place purchase orders without filing a Form CMP–4B, is authorized to use the allotment symbol which identifies the allotment he has received for the same products pursuant to application submitted on Form CMP–4B for the third calendar quarter of 1952 (and not the allotment symbol SU), or such other allotment symbol as NPA may expressly authorize, on delivery orders for controlled materials within the limits set forth in section 3 of this direction. He may also append the suffix program identification B–5 to such allotment symbol in accordance with the provisions of section 11 (d) of CMP Regulation No. 1. An order so designated, when certified as provided in section 6 of this direction, shall constitute an authorized controlled material order. The quantity of such Class B products which may be produced with controlled materials obtained with the use of such allotment symbol, or with such other allotment symbol as NPA may expressly authorize, plus controlled materials properly contained in inventory, shall constitute an authorized production schedule for the purpose of all CMP regulations.

SEC. 5. Use of rating to obtain production materials other than controlled materials. Any producer of Class B products who, pursuant to this direction, may calculate his own allotments and place purchase orders without filing a Form CMP–4B, is authorized to use the DO rating which accompanies the allotment he has received for the same products pursuant to application submitted on Form CMP–4B for the third calendar quarter of 1952 (and not the rating DO–SU), or such other rating as NPA may expressly authorize, on delivery orders for production materials as defined in CMP Regulation No. 3 in accordance with the provisions of that regulation. He may also append the suffix program identification B–5 to such rating in accordance with the provisions of section 6 (f) of CMP Regulation No. 3.

SEC. 6. Certification. Every delivery order placed under the provisions hereof shall contain, in the case of an order for controlled materials, the certification required by section 19 of CMP Regulation No. 1, or, in the case of an order for production materials other than controlled materials, the certification required by section 6 of CMP Regulation No. 3.

This direction shall take effect August 11, 1952.

Animals will not be eligible for entry if shipped from any foreign port other than that designated in the permit.

(b) Animal semen. (1) No animal semen may be imported from any part of the world unless the importer first obtains a permit from the Bureau. However, the Chief of Bureau, when he finds that such action may be taken without endangering the livestock industry of the United States, may authorize the importation of animal semen from Canada without such permit. No permit will be issued for the importation of semen derived from domestic ruminants or swine in any country where foot-and-mouth disease or rinderpest has been determined to exist.

(2) The permit will be in two sections, one for presentation to the American Consul in the district which includes the port of shipment and the other for presentation to the collector of customs at the port of entry specified therein. 60 days immediately preceding the date of movement therefrom and that said country during such period has been entirely free from foot-and-mouth disease, rinder-pest, contagious pleuropneumonia, and surra: Provided, however, That certificates for wild ruminants or wild swine for exhibition purposes need specify freedom from the said diseases of the district of origin only: And provided further, That in the case of sheep, goats, and swine the certificate, as far as it relates to contagious pleuropneumonia, may specify freedom from such disease of the district of origin only. For domestic swine the certificate shall also show that for 60 days immediately preceding the date of movement from the premises of origin no hog cholera, swine plague, or erysipelas has existed on such premises or on adjoining premises.

(b) Poultry. All poultry, except eggs for hatching, offered for importation from any country of the world except as provided in §§ 92.26, 92.38, and 92.40, shall be accompanied by a certificate of a salaried veterinary officer of the national government of the country of origin stating that such poultry and their flock or flocks of origin were inspected on the premises of origin immediately before the date of movement from such country and that they were then found to be free of evidence of pullorum disease (bacillary white diarrhea) and other communicable disease; and that, as far as it has been possible to determine, they were not exposed to any such disease common to poultry during the 60 days immediately preceding the date of such movement. Certificates for such poultry 60 days of age or older shall also state that the poultry have been kept in the country from which they are offered for importation for at least 60 days immediately preceding the date of movement therefrom and that, as far as it has been possible to determine, no case of European fowl pest (fowl plague) or Newcastle disease (avian pneumoencephalitis) occurred in the locality or localities where the poultry were kept during such period. All eggs for hatching offered for importation from any part of the world except as provided in §§ 92.26 and 92.38 shall be accompanied by a certificate of a salaried veterinary officer of the national government of the country of origin stating that the flock or flocks of origin were found upon inspection to be free from evidence of pullorum disease (bacillary white diarrhea) and other communicable disease and that as far as it has been possible to determine such flock or flocks were not exposed to any such disease common to poultry during the preceding 60 days.

The said certificate shall give the dates and places of testing, names of the consignor and consignee, and a description of the cattle, with breed, ages, and markings.

(b) Tuberculosis and brucellosis tests of goats. Except as provided in §§ 92.21 and 92.36 (b), all goats offered for importation, except for immediate slaughter, shall be accompanied by a satisfactory certificate of a salaried veterinary officer of the national government of the country of origin showing that the animals have been tested for tuberculosis and brucellosis with negative results within 30 days of the date of their exportation. The said certificate shall give the dates and places of testing, method of testing, names of consignor and consignee, and a description of the animals, including breed, ages, markings, and tattoo and eartag numbers.

(c) Further tests during quarantine. Animals that have been tested as prescribed in the paragraphs (a) and (b) of this section and that are subject to quarantine at the port of entry as provided in § 92.11, shall be retested during the last 10 days of the quarantine period under the supervision of a veterinary inspector, by one or more of the methods approved by the Chief of Bureau.

§ 92.7 Presentation of papers to collector of customs. The certificates and affidavits required by the regulations in this part shall be presented by the importer to the collector of customs at the port of entry upon arrival of the animals at such port.

§ 92.8 Inspection at port of entry. Inspection shall be made at the port of entry of all horses, ruminants, swine, and poultry offered for importation from any part of the world except as provided in §§ 92.24, 92.25, 92.30, and 92.33. However, the Chief of Bureau, when he finds that such action may be taken without endangering the poultry industry of the United States, may waive inspection at the port of entry or provide for inspection at some other point with respect to importations from Canada of eggs for hatching, newly hatched poultry and poultry consigned for immediate slaughter. All animals found to be free from communicable disease and not to have been exposed thereto within 60 days prior to the offer for importation shall be admitted subject to the other provisions in this part. Animals found to be affected with a communicable disease or to have been exposed thereto within 60 days prior to the offer for importation shall be refused entry. Ruminants and swine refused entry shall be handled thereafter in accordance with the provisions of section 8 of the act of August 30, 1890 (26 Stat. 416; 21 U. S. C. 103), or quarantined or otherwise disposed of as the Chief of Bureau may direct. Horses and poultry refused entry, unless exported within a time fixed in each case by the Chief of Bureau, shall be disposed of as said Chief may direct. Such portions of the transporting vessel, and of its cargo, as have been exposed to any such animals or their emanations shall be disinfected in such manner as may be considered necessary by the inspector in charge at the port of entry, before the cargo is allowed to land.

§ 92.9 Articles accompanying animals. No litter or manure, fodder or other ailment, nor any equipment such as boxes, buckets, ropes, chains, blankets, or other things used for or about animals governed by the regulations in this part, shall be landed from any conveyance except under such restrictions as the inspector in charge at the port of entry shall direct.

§ 92.10 Movement from conveyances to quarantine station. Platforms and chutes used for handling imported ruminants or swine shall be cleaned and disinfected under Bureau supervision after being so used. The said animals shall not be unnecessarily moved over any highways nor allowed to come in contact with other animals, but shall be transferred from the conveyance to the quarantine grounds in boats, cars, or vehicles approved by the inspector in charge at the port of entry. Such cars, boats, or vehicles shall be cleaned and disinfected under Bureau supervision immediately after such use, by the carrier moving the same. The railway cars so used shall be either cars reserved for this exclusive use or box cars not otherwise employed in the transportation of animals or their fresh products. When movement of the aforesaid animals upon or across a public highway is unavoidable, it shall be under such careful supervision and restrictions as the inspector in charge at the port of entry and the local authorities may direct.

§ 92.11 Periods of quarantine—(a) Cattle. (1) Cattle imported from any part of the world except Canada, countries of Central America and the West Indies, and Mexico shall be quarantined for not less than 30 days, counting from the date of arrival at the port of entry.

(2) Cattle imported from Canada, countries of Central America and the West Indies, and Mexico shall be subject to the provisions of §§ 92.20, 92.28, 92.34, and 92.35, respectively.

(b) Other ruminants and swine. (1) Swine and ruminants other than cattle imported from any part of the world except Canada, countries of Central America and the West Indies, and Mexico shall be quarantined for not less than 15 days, counting from the date of arrival at the port of entry. During their quarantine, wild ruminants and wild swine shall be subject to such inspections, disinfection, blood tests, or other tests as may be required by the Chief of Bureau to determine their freedom from disease and the infection of disease.

(2) Sheep and goats, and swine imported from Canada shall be subject to the provisions of §§ 92.21 and 92.22 respectively. Ruminants and swine imported from countries of Central America and the West Indies shall be subject to the provisions of §§ 92.28 and 92.29, respectively. Swine and ruminants other than cattle imported from Mexico shall be subject to the provisions of §§ 92.34, 92.36, and 92.37.

(c) Poultry. Poultry 60 days of age or older imported from any part of the world except Canada and except as provided in § 92.34 (b) shall be quarantined for not less than 15 days, counting from the date of arrival at the port of entry. During their quarantine, such poultry shall be subject to such inspections, disinfections, blood tests or other tests as may be required by the Chief of Bureau to determine their freedom from disease or the infection of disease. Any other poultry may be quarantined at the port of entry for such period as the Chief of Bureau may require.

§ 92.12 Feed and attendants for animals in quarantine. (a) Importers of animals subject to quarantine under the regulations in this part shall arrange for their care, feed, and handling from the time of unloading at the port of entry to the time of release from quarantine. At ports where facilities are not maintained by the Bureau, importers shall provide suitable facilities for the quarantine of such animals, subject in all cases to the approval of the inspector in charge at the port of entry. Each owner, or his agent, shall give satisfactory assurance to the inspector prior to the time of quarantine that such provision will be made. Owners shall keep clean, to the satisfaction of such inspector, the sheds and yards occupied by their animals. If for any cause owners of animals refuse or neglect to arrange for their care, feed, and handling, the service may be furnished by the Bureau in the same manner as though the owner, or his agent, had made arrangements for such service as provided by paragraph (b) of this section, or the animals may be disposed of as the Chief of Bureau may direct.

(b) At a port where quarantine facilities are maintained by the Bureau, the importer, or his agent, may arrange with the inspector in charge for care, feed, and handling of animals from the time they arrive at the quarantine station for the port until the time of release from quarantine. The importer, or his agent, must request such service in writing and agree to reimburse the Bureau or pay in advance for the cost thereof, as may be required, and waive all claim against the Bureau or any employee of the Bureau for damages which may arise from such service. The Chief of Bureau may prescribe reasonable rates for the service provided under this paragraph.

(c) The charge for any service furnished under paragraphs (a) or (b) of this section shall be a lien on the animals. After the expiration of one-third of the quarantine period, if payment has not been made, the owners of the animals will be notified by the inspector that if said charges are not immediately paid, or satisfactory arrangements made for payment, the animals will be sold at public auction at the expiration of the period of quarantine to pay the expense of feed and care during that period. Notice of the sale will be published in a newspaper in the county where the quarantine station is located. The sale will be held after the expiration of the quarantine period, at such place as may be designated by the said inspector. The proceeds of the sale, after deducting the charges for care, feed, and handling of the animals and the expense of the sale, shall be held in a Special Deposit Account in the United States Treasury for 6 months from the date of sale. If not claimed by the owner within 6 months from the date of sale, the amount so held shall be transferred from the Special Deposit Account to the General Fund Account in the United States Treasury.

(d) Amounts collected from importers for service rendered and amounts realized for such purposes under paragraph (c) of this section shall be deposited so as to be available for defraying the expenses involved in this service.

§ 92.13 Quarantine stations; visiting restricted; sales prohibited. Visitors shall not be admitted to the quarantine enclosure during any time that animals are in quarantine except that an importer (or his accredited agent or veterinarian) may be admitted to the yards and buildings containing his quarantined animals at such intervals as may be deemed necessary, and under such conditions and restrictions as may be imposed, by the inspector in charge of the quarantine station. On the last day of the quarantine period, owners, officers of registry societies, and others having official business or whose services may be necessary in the removal of the animals may be admitted upon written permission from the said inspector. No exhibition or sale shall be allowed within the quarantine grounds.

§ 92.14 Milk from quarantined animals. Milk or cream from animals quarantined under the provisions of this part shall not be used by any person other than those in charge of such animals, nor be fed to any animals other than those within the same enclosure, without permission of the inspector in charge of the quarantine station and subject to such restrictions as he may consider necessary in each instance. No milk or cream shall be removed from the quarantine premises except in compliance with all State and local regulations.

§ 92.15 Manure from quarantined animals. No manure shall be removed from the quarantine premises until the release of the animals producing the same.

§ 92.16 Appearance of disease among animals in quarantine. If any contagious disease appears among animals during the quarantine period, special precautions shall be taken to prevent spread of the infection to other animals in the quarantine station or to those outside the grounds. The affected animals shall be disposed of as the Chief of Bureau may direct, depending upon the nature of the disease.

that the animals described in the certificate have been in the said country during the preceding 60 days, and that as far as it has been possible to ascertain no case of dourine, glanders, surra, or epizootic or ulcerative lymphangitis has occurred in the locality or localities where the horse or horses have been kept during such period. Horses arriving at a port of entry unaccompanied by the aforesaid certificate, if otherwise eligible for importation, may upon permission first secured from the Chief of Bureau be landed subject to such quarantine and blood tests or other tests as he may direct. Even though accompanied by said certificate they may be so quarantined and tested when deemed necessary by the Chief of Bureau. Upon inspecting horses at the port of entry and before permitting them to land, the inspector may require their disinfection and the disinfection of their accompanying equipment as a precautionary measure against the introduction of foot-and-mouth disease or other disease dangerous to the livestock of the United States. When no disease is discoverable in an importation of horses, the hay, straw, or other forage accompanying them may remain on board the ship to be returned: Provided, That in the case of a vessel carrying cattle, sheep, other ruminants, or swine from the United States on the return voyage, such material shall be stored in the vessel in a place and manner approved by the said inspector and shall not be used in the feeding or bedding of animals exported.

§ 92.18 Dogs for handling livestock. Collie, shepherd, and other dogs imported from any part of the world except Canada, Mexico, and countries of Central America and the West Indies which are to be used in the handling of sheep or other livestock, shall be inspected and quarantined at the port of entry for a sufficient time to determine their freedom from the tapeworm, Taenia coenurus. If found to be infested with such tapeworm they shall be properly treated under the supervision of a veterinary inspector at the port of entry until they are free from the infestation.

§ 92.19 Animals from Canada; declaration of purpose. For all cattle, sheep, goats, swine and poultry offered for importation from Canada there shall be presented to the collector of customs at the time of entry a statement signed by the owner or importer showing clearly the purpose for which said animals are to be imported.

(1) Cattle from Canadian-listed tuberculosis-free accredited herds shall be accompanied by a certificate issued or endorsed by a salaried veterinarian of the Canadian Government showing them to be from such herds and that said herds have been tuberculin tested within 1 year of the date of importation. The date of such tuberculin test shall be shown on the certificate.

(2) Cattle from herds in accredited areas in Canada, other than accredited herds, shall be accompanied by a certificate issued or endorsed by a salaried veterinarian of the Canadian Government showing them to be from herds in such areas and that the animals offered for entry have been turberculin tested with negative results within 30 days preceding their offer for entry. However, cattle from herds in such areas—other than range herds—in which one or more reactors to the tuberculin test have been disclosed shall not be imported until the said herds have reached full tuberculosis-free status under Canadian regulations.

(3) Cattle from herds in restricted areas in Canada—other than range cattle and cattle from accredited herds—shall be accompanied by a certificate issued or endorsed by a salaried veterinarian of the Canadian Government showing (i) that they have been tuberculin tested with negative results within 30 days preceding their offer for entry, (ii) that all cattle in the herd or herds from which the animals proceed have been tuberculin tested with negative results not more than 12 months nor less than 90 days before the date of the offer for entry, and (iii) that the animals presented for entry, accepting only the natural increase in the herd, were included in the herd or herds of origin at the time of said herd tests. However, cattle from herds in such areas—other than range herds—in which one or more reactors to the tuberculin test have been disclosed shall not be imported until the said herds have reached full tuberculosis-free status under Canadian regulations.

(4) Range cattle[2] shall be accompanied by a certificate issued or endorsed by a salaried veterinarian of the Canadian Government showing them to be range cattle and that they have been tuberculin tested with negative results within 30 days preceding their offer for entry.

However, such cattle need not have been so tested if they are accompanied by a certificate, similarly issued or endorsed showing that they were officially vaccinated as calves 6 to 8 months of age in accordance with Canadian regulations, within 22 months prior to their being offered for entry. The certificate accompanying such vaccinated cattle shall also show the date of vaccination of each animal.

§ 92.21 Sheep and goats from Canada—(a) For purposes other than immediate slaughter. Sheep or goats offered for importation from Canada for purposes other than immediate slaughter shall be accompanied by a certificate issued or endorsed by a salaried veterinarian of the Canadian Government showing that they have been inspected on the premises of origin and found free from evidence of communicable disease and that, as far as it has been possible to determine, they have not been exposed to any such disease common to animals of their kind during the preceding 60 days. If unaccompanied by such certificate, the said sheep or goats shall be held in quarantine at the port of entry for not less than 10 days during which they shall be dipped and subjected to such tests or other treatment as may be ordered by the Chief of Bureau.

[1] Importations from Canada shall be subject to §§ 92.19 to 92.26, inclusive, in addition to other sections in this part which are in terms applicable to such importations.

If unaccompanied by such certificate, the swine shall be held in quarantine at the port of entry for not less than 2 weeks.

(b) For immediate slaughter. Swine for immediate slaughter may be imported from Canada without certification as prescribed in paragraph (a) of this section but shall be subject to the provisions of §§ 92.8, 92.19, and 92.23.

§ 92.23 Animals from Canada for immediate slaughter. Cattle, sheep, goats, and swine imported from Canada for immediate slaughter shall be consigned from the port of entry to some recognized slaughtering center and there slaughtered within 2 weeks from the date of entry, or upon special permission obtained from the Chief of Bureau they may be reconsigned to other points and there slaughtered within the aforesaid period.

§ 92.24 Horses from Canada. Horses from Canada shall be inspected as provided in §92.8 and when so ordered by the Chief of Bureau shall be accompanied by a certificate issued or endorsed by a salaried veterinarian of the Canadian Government showing said horses to have been mallein-tested with negative results, or shall be so tested by a veterinary inspector at the port of entry. Those used in connection with local activities along the border may be admitted without inspection for a temporary period not exceeding 10 days, and the same provision shall apply to horses returning to the United States after a stay in Canada of not to exceed 10 days.

§ 92.25 In-bond shipments from Canada. Cattle, sheep, swine and poultry from Canada, transported in-bond for export, if accompanied by certificates showing freedom from disease as required by §§ 92.20 (a), 92.21 (a), 92.22 (a) or 92.26 respectively, and also horses from Canada transported in-bond for export, may proceed without inspection at the border port of entry, subject to inspection at the United States port of export: Provided, however, That such animals shall be inspected at the port of entry or at points en route at which the Bureau has inspectors stationed, if so directed by the Chief of Bureau.

§ 92.26 Poultry from Canada. All poultry offered for importation from Canada shall be accompanied by a certificate issued or endorsed by a salaried veterinarian of the Canadian Government showing that such poultry have been inspected on the premises of origin and that, as far as it has been possible to determine, such poultry are free of evidence of any communicable disease or exposure thereto. However, the Chief of Bureau, when he finds that such action may be taken without endangering the poultry industry of the United States, may authorize the importation from Canada, without such certification, of eggs for hatching, newly hatched poultry, and poultry consigned for immediate slaughter.

COUNTRIES OF CENTRAL AMERICA AND WEST INDIES[3]

§ 92.27 Animals from Central America and the West Indies; permits required. A permit as provided in § 92.4 shall be secured for the importation of ruminants and swine from countries of Central American into any port of the United States and for the importation of ruminants and swine from countries of the West Indies into the continental United States. The importation of cattle from any area infested with fever ticks, Boophilus annulatus, is prohibited.

§ 92.28 Ruminants from Central America and the West Indies. Ruminants offered for importation from countries of Central America and the West Indies shall be accompanied by a certificate of a veterinary officer of the national government of the country of origin showing that they have been in the said country for a period of at least 60 days immediately preceding the date of shipment therefrom, that he has inspected them and found them to be free from evidence of communicable disease, and that as far as he has been able to determine they have not been exposed to any such disease during that period. If no such veterinary officer is available in the country of origin, the animals may be accompanied by an affidavit of the owner or importer stating that they have been in the country from which they were directly shipped to the United States for a period of at least 60 days immediately preceding the date of shipment therefrom and that during such time no communicable disease has existed among them or among animals of their kind with which they have come in contact. Animals for which such affidavit is presented, unless imported for immediate slaughter, shall be quarantined at the port of entry at least 7 days and during that time shall be subjected to such dipping, blood tests, or other tests as may be ordered by the Chief of Bureau to determine their freedom from communicable disease. If imported for immediate slaughter they shall be handled as provided in § 92.23.

§ 92.29 Swine from Central America and the West Indies. Swine offered for importation from countries of Central America and the West Indies shall be accompanied by an affidavit of the owner or importer stating that the said animals have been in the country from which they were directly shipped to the United States for a period of at least 60 days immediately preceding the date of shipment therefrom and that during such time no communicable disease has existed among them or among animals of their kind with which they have come in contact. Unless imported for immediate slaughter, said swine shall be quarantined at the port of entry for not less than 1 week, and in the absence of said affidavit shall be quarantined for not less than 2 weeks. While under quarantine the said swine, with the exception of wild swine, shall be immunized against hog cholera under the supervision of a veterinary inspector, at the owner's expense, by one of the methods recognized by the Department. Wild swine shall be subjected to such blood tests or other tests as may be ordered by the Chief of Bureau in each instance to determine their freedom from communicable disease. Swine imported for immediate slaughter shall be handled as provided in § 92.23.

§ 92.30 Horses from Central America and the West Indies. When so ordered by the Chief of Bureau, horses from countries of Central America and the West Indies shall be subjected to such quarantine and blood tests or other tests as he may deem necessary to determine their freedom from communicable disease. Any offering for entry from Mexico of cattle, other ruminants, and swine which includes any such animals from Mexican States other than those listed in paragraph (a) of this section, shall be subject to the provisions of this paragraph rather than to the provisions of paragraph (a) of this section.

Notwithstanding such certificates, such cattle shall be detained or quarantined as provided in § 92.34 and shall be dipped at least once, under supervision of an inspector, in an arsenical solution containing a minimum of 0.22 percent of arsenious oxide in solution, or in a permitted scabies dip, depending on the origin of the animals and subject to the discretion of the inspector. The owner or his agent shall first execute an application for inspection and dipping as provided in paragraph (a) (2) (iii) of this section.

(ii) The cattle shall be shown by a certificate of a salaried veterinarian of the Mexican Government to have been dipped in an arsenical solution containing a minimum of 0.22 percent of arsenious oxide in solution within 7 to 12 days before being offered for entry.

(iv) The cattle when offered for entry shall receive a chute inspection by an inspector. If found free from ticks they shall be given one dipping in a permitted dip under the supervision of an inspector 7 to 14 days after the dipping required by subdivision (ii) of this subparagraph. If found to be infested with fever ticks, the entire lot of cattle shall be rejected and will not be again inspected for entry until 10 to 14 days after they have again been dipped in the manner provided by subdivision (ii) of this subparagraph.

(v) The conditions at the port of entry shall be such that the subsequent movement of the cattle can be made without exposure to fever ticks.

(b) Tuberculosis. All cattle offered for importation from Mexico, except strictly range cattle[5] and those offered for immediate slaughter, shall be accompanied by a satisfactory certificate of a salaried veterinarian of the Mexican Government showing that the animals have been tested for tuberculosis with negative results within 30 days preceding their being offered for entry. Notwithstanding such certification, such cattle shall be detained or quarantined as provided in § 92.34 and a blood sample shall be obtained under the supervision of the inspector and the animals retested for brucellosis. Animals failing to pass said retest with a negative reaction shall be refused entry, and, unless returned to the country of origin, shall be disposed of as provided by section 8 of the act of August 30, 1890 (26 Stat. 416; 21 U. S. C. 103).

§ 92.36 Sheep and goats from Mexico.[6] (a) Sheep and goats offered for importation from Mexico, for purposes other than immediate slaughter, shall be accompanied by a certificate of a salaried veterinarian of the Mexican Government showing that, as a result of a careful physical examination by him of such sheep and goats on the premises of origin, no evidence of communicable disease was found, and that, so far as it has been possible to determine, they have not been exposed to any such disease common to animals of their kind during the preceding 60 days; and, if the animals are shipped by rail or truck, the certificate shall further specify that the animals were loaded into cleaned and disinfected cars or trucks for transportation direct to the port of entry. Notwithstanding such certificate, such sheep and goats shall be detained or quarantined as provided in § 92.34, and shall be dipped at lease once in a permitted scabies dip under supervision of an inspector.

(b) All goats offered for importation from Mexico, for purposes other than immediate slaughter, shall be accompanied by a satisfactory certificate of a salaried veterinarian of the Mexican Government showing them to have been tested for tuberculosis and brucellosis with negative results, within 30 days preceding their being offered for entry. The said certificate shall give the date and method of testing, names of consignor and consignee, and a description of the animals including breed, ages, markings, and tattoo and eartag numbers. Notwithstanding such certification, such goats shall be detained or quarantined as provided in § 92.34 and retested for brucellosis. Animals failing to pass said retest with a negative reaction shall be refused entry and unless returned to the country of origin shall be disposed of as provided by section 8 of the act of August 30, 1890 (26 Stat. 416; 21 U. S. C. 103).

§ 92.37 Swine from Mexico.[7] Swine offered for importation from Mexico, for purposes other than immediate slaughter, shall be accompanied by a certificate signed by a salaried veterinarian of the Mexican Government showing that for a period of 60 days prior to their movement from the premises on which they were kept no swine plague or hog cholera has existed within a radius of 5 miles therefrom. In addition, all such swine shall be immunized against hog cholera under the supervision of an inspector at the port of entry at the owner's expense in accordance with one of the methods recognized by the Department for preventing the spread of this disease. In the absence of the certificate as herein specified, such swine shall be detained or quarantined as provided in § 92.34 and, in addition to immunization against hog cholera, shall be subjected to such inspections and tests as may be deemed necessary by the Chief of Bureau to determine their freedom from communicable disease.

§ 92.38 Poultry from Mexico. Poultry, except eggs, for hatching, offered for entry from Mexico, for purposes other than immediate slaughter, shall be accompanied by a certificate of a salaried veterinary officer of the national government of Mexico stating that such poultry and their flock or flocks of origin were inspected on the premises of origin immediately before the date of movement therefrom; that they were then found to be free of evidence of communicable diseases of poultry; and that, as far as it has been possible to determine, they were not exposed to any such diseases during the 60 days immediately preceding the date of such movement. The certificate shall also state that the poultry have been kept in Mexico for at least 60 days immediately preceding the date of movement therefrom, or since they were hatched; that, in so far as it has been possible to determine, no case of European fowl pest (fowl plague) or Newcastle disease, (avian pneumoencephalitis) occurred in the localities where the poultry were kept during such period. Eggs for hatching offered for importation from Mexico shall be accompanied by a certificate of a salaried veterinary officer of the national government of Mexico stating that the flock or flocks of origin of such eggs were inspected on the premises of origin immediately before the date of movement of the eggs therefrom, and found to be free from evidence of communicable diseases of poultry; and that, as far as it has been possible to determine, such flock or flocks were not exposed to any such diseases during the preceding 60 days.

§ 92.39 Horses from Mexico—(a) Horses from tick-infested areas. Horses offered for importation from tick-infested areas of Mexico shall be chute inspected unless in the judgment of the inspector a satisfactory inspection can be made otherwise. If they are found to be apparently free from fever ticks, before entering the United States they shall be dipped once in a permitted arsenical solution or be otherwise treated in a manner approved by the Chief of Bureau. If they are found to be infested with fever ticks they shall be refused entry but may be reoffered for importation following treatment as prescribed in § 92.35 (a) (2) for cattle from tick-infested areas.

(b) Horses from dourine-injected areas. All horses offered for importation from Mexico, other than those moving in bond for immediate reentry into Mexico, those imported for immediate slaughter, and geldings unless judged by the inspector to be capable of serving mares, shall be detained at the border port of entry where a blood sample shall be obtained from each animal under the supervision of the inspector, said samples to be forwarded to the Bureau laboratory where they will be tested by the complement-fixation method for dourine. Any such animal that is found by said test to be affected with dourine shall be refused entry.

§ 92.40 Animals for immediate slaughter. Cattle, other ruminants, and swine from the Mexican states of Tamaulipas, Nuevo Leon, Coahuila, Chihuahua, Sonora, Durango, and the Territory of Baja California, and horses and poultry from any part of Mexico, may be imported, subject to the applicable provisions of §§ 92.31, 92.32, 92.33, 92.35 (a) (2) and 92.39 (a), for immediate slaughter if accompanied by a certificate of a salaried veterinarian of the Mexican Government showing that, as a result of a careful physical examination by him of such animals on the premises of origin, no evidence of communicable disease was found, and that, so far as it has been possible to determine, they have not been exposed to any such disease common to animals of their kind during the preceding 60 days, and if the animals are shipped by rail or truck, the certificate shall further specify that the animals were loaded into cleaned and disinfected cars or trucks for transportation direct to the port of entry. Such animals shall be consigned from the port of entry to some recognized slaughtering center and there slaughtered within 2 weeks from the date of entry. Such animals shall be moved from the port of entry in conveyances sealed with seals of the United States Government. Cattle, other ruminants, and swine from Mexican States other than those designated above may be imported only in compliance with other applicable sections in this part.

RADIO BROADCAST SERVICES

TELEVISION BROADCAST SERVICE

By the Commission. Commissioner Sterling not participating; Commissioner Jones concurring in part; Commissioner Hennock dissenting.[1]

In the matters of amendment of § 3.606 of the Commission's rules and regulations, Docket Nos. 8736 and 8975; amendment of the Commission's rules, regulations and Engineering Standards Concerning the Television Broadcast Service, Docket No. 9175; utilization of frequencies in the Band 470 to 890 Mcs. for television broadcasting, Docket No. 8976.

1. The Commission has before it a petition filed May 28, 1952, by Evangeline Broadcasting Company, Inc., which requests that the Commission reconsider its Sixth Report and Order in the above-entitled proceeding and delete the assignment of VHF Channel 5 to Alexandria, Louisiana, and assign that channel to Lafayette, Louisiana; or reopen the record for further hearing with respect to the assignment of television channels to Lafayette; or grant such other relief as may be just and proper. On June 9, 1952, Alexandria Broadcasting Company filed an opposition to the said petition.

2. The history of this matter is as follows: On July 11, 1949, the Commission issued a notice of further proposed rule making (FCC 49-948) which proposed a nationwide Table of Assignments and proposed to assign two channels to Alexandria, Louisiana, VHF Channel 5 and VHF Channel 11; and one channel to Lafayette, Louisiana, UHF Channel 41. That notice also set forth the Commission's proposals to amend its television rules, regulations, and engineering standards. Thereafter, on March 22, 1951, following extensive hearings the Commission issued its third notice of further proposed rule making (FCC 51-244) in which it set forth its proposed conclusions based on the record with respect to the general issues and afforded interested parties the opportunity to object to such conclusions. That notice proposed a revised Table of Assignments and proposed to assign two channels to Alexandria, VHF Channels 11 and 13; and two channels to Lafayette, VHF Channel 5 and UHF Channel 38. In the Sixth Report and Order the Commission revised the Assignment Table proposed in the Third Notice and assigned to Alexandria VHF Channel 5 and UHF Channel 62 and assigned to Lafayette UHF Channels 38 and 67. The Commission concluded:

In the Third Notice the Commission proposed the assignment of Channel 13 to Alexandria and Houston at a separation of 204 miles and to Alexandria and Biloxi at a separation of 217 miles in Zone III. Since these separations in Zone III are below the minimum for the area we are required to delete one or two assignments on Channel 13 to comply with the requisite separation. The population of both Houston and Biloxi is greater than that of Alexandria. Two VHF channels were proposed for Alexandria, one for Biloxi and three for Houston. In order to remove the sub-standard separation on Channel 13 we are faced with the choice of deleting this channel from Alexandria or from both Houston and Biloxi. In view of the foregoing, we believe the deletion of Channel 13 from Alexandria is warranted. In replacement for Channel 13 in Alexandria we are assigning VHF Channel 62.

Further, the assignments proposed in the Third Notice would result in the assignment of Channel 11 to Alexandria and Galveston at a separation of 197 miles in Zone III. Since this separation is below the minimum for this area we are required to delete one assignment of Channel 11 to comply with the requisite separation. The population of Galveston is approximately twice that of Alexandria. In view of the relative size of these cities we believe the deletion of Channel 11 from Alexandria and the assignment of that channel to Galveston is warranted.

In view of the action taken above the City of Alexandria would be left with no VHF assignments. In the Third Notice Channels 5 and 38 were proposed to be assigned to Lafayette, a city of 34,000. Since we are required to delete the assignments proposed for Alexandria, that city with a somewhat larger population than Lafayette, would have no VHF channels assigned to it. In view of the comparative size of Lafayette and Alexandria, it is our view that the deletion of Channel 5 from Lafayette and the assignment of that Channel to Alexandria is warranted. As a replacement for Channel 5 at Lafayette we are assigning UHF Channel 67.

3. Petitioner contends, among other things, that the action of the Commission deleting the assignment of Channel 5 from Lafayette in the Sixth Report and Order was illegal because adequate legal notice had not been furnished petitioner in accordance with the requirements of the Administrative Procedure Act; and that if it had had such notice it would have demonstrated that the deletion of Channel 5 in Lafayette and its addition in Alexandria was not in the public interest. We do not find it necessary to pass upon either of these contentions, however, since on reconsideration of the matter we have determined that we were in error in contending in the Sixth Report that it was necessary to leave Lafayette without any VHF assignment in order to make one available to Alexandria. For while we reaffirm the assignment of Channel 5 to Alexandria, this can be accomplished without depriving Lafayette of a VHF assignment by the following revisions of the assignments listed in the table, which provides a VHF channel to Lafayette without depriving any other community of a VHF assignment:

City	VHF channel No.
	Delete	Add
Baton Rouge, La	10	2
New Orleans, La	2	8
Mobile, Ala	8	10
Lafayette, La	----	10

The assignment of channels in accordance with the above revisions will meet the prescribed co-channel and adjacent channel assignment separations adopted in our Sixth Report and Order.

4. We believe, however, that in order that all parties may have an opportunity to comment on these assignment changes that a notice of further rule making should be issued before such changes are made final. In view of the foregoing the petition of Evangeline Broadcasting Company, Inc. is hereby granted insofar as it requests further proceedings with respect to the assignment of a VHF channel to Lafayette, Louisiana.

5. The Commission gives notice that it proposes to make the following changes in the channel assignments § 3.606 of the Commission's rules and regulations:

City	Channel No.
	Delete	Add
Baton Rouge, La	10	2
New Orleans, La	2	8
Mobile, Ala	8	10
Lafayette, La	----	10

In light of these changes the Table of Assignments contained in § 3.606 of the Commission's rules and regulations would be amended to read as follows:

Alabama:	Channel No.
Mabile	5+, 10+, 42, 48+
Louisiana:
Baton Rouge	2, 28, 34, 40—
Lafayette	10, 38—, 67—
New Orleans	4+, 6+, 8, 20—, 26, 32+, 61

6. In light of the issuance of this notice of further rule making applications will not be processed for television stations on Channel 10 in Baton Rouge, Louisiana, Channel 2 in New Orleans, Louisiana, Channel 8 in Mobile, Alabama, and Channel 5 in Alexandria, Louisiana, during the pendency of these proceedings.

7. Authority for the adoption of the proposed amendment is contained in sections 4 (i), 301, 303 (b), (c), (d), (e), (f), (g), (h), and (r), and section 307 (b) of the Communications Act of 1934, as amended.

8. Any interested party who is of the opinion that the proposed amendment should not be adopted or should not be adopted in the form set forth herein may file with the Commission on or before September 3, 1952, a written statement or brief setting forth his comments. Comments in support of the proposed amendment may also be filed on or before the same date. Comments or briefs in reply to the original comments may be filed within 10 days from the last day for filing said original comments or briefs. The Commission will consider all such comments that are submitted before taking action in this matter, and if any comments appear to warrant the holding of a hearing or oral argument, notice of the time and place of such hearing or oral argument will be given.

9. In accordance with the provisions of § 1.784 of the Commission rules and regulations, an original and 14 copies of all statements, briefs, or comments shall be furnished the Commission.

RADIO BROADCAST SERVICES

By the Commission. Commissioner Sterling not participating; Commissioner Jones concurring in part; Commissioner Hennock dissenting.[1]

In the matters of amendment of § 3.606 of the Commission's rules and regulations, Docket Nos. 8736 and 8975; amendment of the Commission's rules, regulations and Engineering Standards Concerning the Television Broadcast Service, Docket No. 9175; utilization of frequencies in the Band 470 to 890 Mcs, for television broadcasting, Docket No. 8976.

1. The Commission has before it for consideration the petition filed April 25, 1952, by Bell Broadcasting Company, Temple, Texas, requesting a rehearing of the Commission's denial in the above-entitled proceedings of its counterproposal seeking the assignment of Channel 6 to Temple, Texas.

2. In the third notice of further proposed rule making (FCC 51-244) issued on March 22, 1951, in these proceedings, the Commission proposed the assignment of two channels, UHF Channels 16 and 22, to Temple, Texas. Bell Broadcasting Company filed a counterproposal and supporting evidence requesting the additional assignment of VHF Channel 6 to Temple. No other changes in the channel assignments as proposed in the third notice were suggested by Bell in order to accomplish this assignment. The evidence submitted by Bell indicated that Channel 6 at Temple would be only 183 miles from the co-channel assignment proposed for San Angelo, Texas. Both Temple and San Angelo are situated in Zone II as described by the Commission in its Sixth Report and Order (FCC 52-294) issued in these proceedings on April 14, 1952. The Commission provided in the above Report for a minimum separation of 190 miles between co-channel assignments in Zone II. Accordingly, since the Commission found that the assignment of Channel 6 to Temple would not meet the minimum spacing requirements, the Bell Broadcasting Company counterproposal was denied.

3. On April 25, 1952, Bell Broadcasting Company filed the instant petition requesting "a rehearing of that portion of the Commission's Sixth Report and Order released April 14, 1952, wherein the allocation of Channel 6 to Temple, Texas, was denied." Petitioner requests the following relief, in the alternative:

(1) That a rehearing be granted so that on the basis of the 190 mile minimum co-channel separation for the assignments in Zone II it may show that the removal of Channel 6 from San Angelo to Temple will better serve the public interest, or

(2) That the Sixth Report and Order be amended so as to move Channel 6 from San Angelo to Temple; or

(3) That the Commission give such other relief as it may deem to be equitable and proper and which will best serve the public interest.

4. Petitioner contends that in the third notice the Commission proposed a minimum co-channel spacing for VHF channels of 180 miles, and that the evidence submitted by petitioner in these proceedings indicated that Channel 6 at Temple would be at least 180 miles from all co-channel assignments. The closest city to which Channel 6 was proposed to be assigned by the third notice was San Angelo, Texas, a distance of 183 miles from Temple. Petitioner states that it therefore made no objection in these proceedings to the assignment of Channel 6 to San Angelo. It is noted further by petitioner that if Channel 6 were removed from San Angelo, this assignment would be made in Temple in conformity with the minimum separations requirements as prescribed by the Sixth Report. Petitioner urges that if it had been on notice that it would be required to meet a 190 mile separation, it would have requested that Channel 6 be moved from San Angelo to Temple.

5. Petitioner points out that pursuant to the assignment Table adopted by the Sixth Report and Order, San Angelo has been assigned four channels: VHF Channels 6 and 8 and UHF Channels 17 and 23, with Channel 23 reserved for noncommercial educational use. Petitioner argues that "there is no valid reason why the city of San Angelo and Tom Green County should have been allocated 2 VHF channels and 2 UHF channels, while the City of Temple in Bell County should have been allocated 2 UHF channels." Petitioner contends that the evidence in the record discloses that Temple is the largest city in Bell County with a population of 24,970 and that the population of Bell County is 73,824 persons. The evidence also indicates that Bell County contains two large military installations, one with a military complement of approximately 35,000 persons and that Temple is a hospital center with a combined annual registration in its private hospitals of 50,000 persons, and that it also contains a large veteran hospital. Petitioner submits that the population of San Angelo and Tom Green County, in which this community is situated, does not warrant the assignment of four channels if it limits the assignment of channels to Temple. San Angelo, it is noted, has a population of 52,093 persons and Tom Green County a population of 58,929 persons. Petitioner urges, therefore, that Channel 6 be moved from San Angelo to Temple. Such action, petitioner submits would still leave San Angelo with 3 channels: one VHF and 2 UHF.

6. We do not believe it necessary to pass upon either the question whether petitioner had adequate legal notice of the minimum assignment separations adopted in the Sixth Report or whether in any appropriate comparative consideration of the needs and requirements of Temple and San Angelo, Channel 6 should have been assigned to one city rather than the other. For upon consideration of the matter we are convinced that the Sixth Report was in error in concluding that it was necessary to deny Temple's request for Channel 6 because of the separation between Temple and San Angelo. For it appears that Channel 3 can be assigned to San Angelo in lieu of Channel 6, and that Channel 6 can, therefore, be assigned to Temple, as petitioner originally requested, without involving any violation of the specified minimum separations and without depriving San Angelo or any other community of any assignment listed in the third notice or Sixth Report. Such assignments, moreover, will fully meet the prescribed co-channel adjacent channel assignment separations adopted in the Sixth Report and Order.

7. We believe, however, that in order that all parties may have an opportunity to comment on these assignment changes that a notice of further rule making should be issued before such changes are made final. In view of the foregoing the petition of Bell Broadcasting Company is hereby granted insofar as it requests further proceedings with respect to the assignment of a VHF channel to Texas.

8. The Commission gives notice that it proposes to make the following channel assignments in § 3.606 of the Commission's rules and regulations:

City	Add channel No.	Delete channel No.
San Angelo, Tex.	3	6
Temple, Tex.	6	----

In light of these changes the Table of Assignments contained in § 3.606 of the Commission's rules and regulations would be amended to read as follows:

Texas:	Channel No.
Beaumont-Port Arthur.	4—, 6—, 31+, 37
Corpus Christi	6+, 10—, 16+, 22
San Angelo	3—, 8+, 17+, 23—
Temple	6, 16, 22+

In the light of the issuance of this notice of further rule making applications will not be processed for television stations on Channel 6 in San Angelo, Texas, during the pendency of these proceedings.

9. Authority for the adoption of the proposed amendment is contained in sections 4 (i), 301, 303 (b), (c) (d), (e), (f), (g), (h), and (r), and section 307 (b) of the Communications Act of 1934, as amended.

10. Any interested party who is of the opinion that the proposed amendment should not be adopted or should not be adopted in the form set forth herein may file with the Commission on or before September 3, 1952, a written statement or brief setting forth his comments. Comments in support of the proposed amendment may also be filed on or before the same date. Comments or briefs in reply to the original comments may be filed within 10 days from the last day for filing said original comments or briefs. The Commission will consider all such comments that are submitted before taking action in this matter, and if any comments appear to warrant the holding of a hearing or oral argument, notice of the time and place of such hearing or oral argument will be given.

11. In accordance with the provisions of § 1.784 of the Commission rules and regulations, an original and 14 copies of all statements, briefs, or comments shall be furnished the Commission.

[Docket No. 10280]

STATIONS ON LAND IN THE MARITIME SERVICES

DELETION OF AUTHORITY FOR COAST STATIONS TO OPERATE ON CERTAIN FREQUENCIES

In the matter of amendment of Part 7 of the Commission's rules and regulations to delete authority for coast stations to operate on the frequencies 4140, 6210, 8280, 12420, and 16560 kc, Docket No. 10280.

1. Notice is hereby given of proposed rule making in the above-entitled matter.

2. The frequencies 4140, 6210, 8280, 12420, and 16560 kc were designated as ship calling frequencies under the Cairo (1938) Radio Regulations and as such were also assignable to coast stations under those regulations. However, the Atlantic City (1947) Table of Frequency allocations designates frequencies other than those above for ship telegraph calling purposes, and the target date for the introduction of these new Atlantic City ship telegraph calling frequencies is June 3, 1953. As a consequence, it will not be appropriate for coast stations to operate on the frequencies 4140, 6210, 8280, 12420, and 16560 kc after June 3, 1953.

3. The Commission, therefor, proposes to amend Part 7 of its rules to make unavailable for assignment to coast stations the frequencies 4140, 6210, 8280, 12420, and 16560 kc. The licenses of those coast stations now operating on these frequencies expire on February 1, 1953. No application for renewal of any of these licenses will be granted and any authority to operate on these frequencies issued after the expiration of existing licenses will expressly limit the duration of such authorization to the period remaining until June 3, 1953, and will be nonrenewable after that date.

4. The proposed amendments are issued under the authority of sections 4 (i) and 303 (c), (f) and (r) of the Communications Act of 1934, as amended, the Final Acts of the International Telecommunication and Radio Conferences, Atlantic City (1947) and the Agreement concluded at the Extraordinary Administrative Radio Conference (Geneva, 1951).

5. Any interested person of the opinion that the proposed amendment should not be adopted should file with the Commission on or before September 3, 1952, a written statement or brief setting forth his comments. Persons desiring to support the amendment may also file comments by the same date. Comments or briefs in reply to the original comments or briefs may be filed within 15 days from the last day for filing said original briefs or comments. The Commission will consider all comments and briefs before taking final action. An original and fourteen copies of each brief or written statement should be filed, as required by § 1.764 of the Commission's rules and regulations.

Adopted: July 30, 1952.

Released: July 31, 1952.

R. 8628) dated July 21, 1951, and Implementation 1 thereto (16 F. R. 8799), and Respondent, Universal Shank Company having been duly apprised of the specific violations charged, and having been fully informed of the rules and procedures which govern these proceedings and the administrative action which may be taken; and Universal Shank Company having appeared herein by its attorney, David L. Millar, 408 Pine Street, St. Louis, Mo., and Universal Shank Company having stipulated on the 10th day of June 1952 to a statement of facts to be filed in these proceedings in lieu of the presentation of other evidence in support and in opposition to the statement of charges, and said stipulation and the respective statements of counsel having been duly considered, it is hereby determined as follows:

Findings of fact. 1. That during the period commencing October 2, 1951, and ending on May 1, 1952, Universal Shank Company, an organization duly registered under section 417.20, Revised Statutes of Missouri 1949, accepted deliveries of items of carbon steel upon the receipt of which its inventories of said items were in excess of the quantities of such items necessary to meet its deliveries, supply its services, and perform its operations on the basis of its then currently scheduled method and rate of operations during the succeeding 45 days, resulting in excess inventories of these items amounting to an overall excess of 103,310 pounds.

Conclusion. During the period beginning October 2, 1951, and ending May 1, 1952, Universal Shank Company committed acts prohibited by section 3 (a) of CMP Regulation No. 2, dated May 10, 1951, and as amended October 12, 1951 (16 F. R. 4370; 16 F. R. 10489), in that it accepted deliveries of items of carbon steel upon receipt of which its inventories of such items were in excess of the quantities of such items necessary to meet its deliveries, supply its services, and perform its operations on the basis of its then currently scheduled method and rate of operation during the succeeding 45 days. The receipt of these items was in violation of the said provisions of CMP Regulation No. 2 and has resulted in excess inventories of these items amounting to 103,310 pounds of carbon steel as aforesaid.

In order to correct excess inventories of the aforesaid items of carbon steel occasioned by the aforesaid unauthorized receipts,

It is accordingly ordered: 1. That all allocations and allotments of carbon steel, which have been or may be made to Universal Shank Company, for use during the third quarter 1952 and the fourth quarter of 1952, be reduced as follows:

A. For the third quarter beginning July 1, 1952, and ending September 30, 1952, by 50,000 pounds or 25 tons.

B. For the fourth quarter beginning October 1, 1952, and ending December 31, 1952, by 50,000 pounds or 25 tons; and

The Universal Shank Company, its successors and assigns, are hereby prohibited, during each of the aforesaid periods, from acquiring any items of carbon steel in excess of their carbon steel allocations and allotments as so reduced; and Universal Shank Company, its successors and assigns, are further prohibited, so long as the Defense Production Act of 1950 as amended, or as it may hereafter be amended or extended, remains in effect, from accepting any items of carbon steel if its inventory of any of said items is, or by such receipt would be, in violation of the provisions of CMP Regulation No. 2, as amended October 12, 1951, or as it may be hereafter amended: Provided, however, That, notwithstanding the above provisions of this order, respondent, Universal Shank Company may, and is hereby authorized to accept delivery on the following purchase orders now outstanding and calling for third quarter 1952 delivery, to wit: Order No. C774, dated February 29, 1952, for 4,174 pounds of Item 5/16" x .058 and 20,624 pounds of Item 1/2" x .058; and Purchase Order No. C853, dated May 5, 1952, for 20,000 pounds of 5/16" x .058; 12,000 pounds of 1/2" x .042, and 30,000 pounds of 1/2" x .058; said purchase orders being for delivery during July, August, and September, 1952.

SUSPENSION ORDER

A hearing having been held in the above-entitled matter on the 11th day of June 1952 before Frederick J. Moreau, a Hearing Commissioner of the National Production Authority, on a statement of charges made by the National Production Authority General Administrative Order 16-06 (16 F. R. 8628) dated July 21, 1951, and Implementation 1 to National Production Authority General Administrative Order 16-06 (16 F. R. 8799); and

The respondent, Midwest Piping and Supply Company, having been duly apprised of the specific alleged violations charged, and having been fully informed of the rules and procedures which govern these proceedings and the administrative action which may be taken; and

Midwest Piping and Supply Company having appeared herein by its attorney, Walter R. Mayne, 506 Olive Street, St. Louis, Mo.; and Midwest Piping and Supply Company having stipulated on the 10th day of June 1952 to a statement of facts to be filed in these proceedings in lieu of the presentation of other evidence in support of and in opposition to the statement of charges, it is hereby determined:

Findings of fact. 1. During the period beginning July 3, 1951, and ending May 23, 1952, the Midwest Piping and Supply Company engaged in acts prohibited by the language of section 3 (a) of CMP Regulation No. 2 dated May 10, 1951, and as amended October 12, 1951 (16 F. R. 4370; 16 F. R. 10489), in that it accepted deliveries of certain items of steel controlled materials upon receipt of which its inventories of such items were in excess of the quantities of such items necessary to meet its deliveries, supply its services, and perform its operations on the basis of its then currently scheduled method and rate of operation within the time limit as set out in said regulations. The receipt of these certain items, according to stipulation, did result in excess inventories of the certain items classed as overage in the amount of 600.68 tons of steel as of December 30, 1952.

In order to correct excess inventories of certain items of steel occasioned by the unauthorized receipt of such items,

It is accordingly ordered: 1. That all allocations and allotments of steel which may be granted to the Midwest Piping and Supply Company, its successors and assigns, for use during the third quarter 1952 and fourth quarter 1952, be reduced as follows:

(a) By 400 tons during the period beginning July 1, 1952, and ending September 30, 1952.

(b) By 200 tons during the period beginning October 1, 1952, and ending December 31, 1952; and Midwest Piping and Supply Company, its successors and assigns, are prohibited, during each of such periods, from acquiring any items of steel controlled materials in excess of their steel allocations and allotments as so reduced, but shall not in any way be prohibited from making applications to obtain exceptions of any type of material.

2. Nothing herein contained shall be construed to prohibit Midwest Piping and Supply Company from obtaining its usual and necessary allotments of steel materials after December 31, 1952, in accordance with the regulations then in force and effect.

Issued this 11th day of June 1952 at St. Louis, Mo.

FEDERAL COMMUNICATIONS COMMISSION

TRANSFER OF NON-GOVERNMENT COAST TELEGRAPH STATION ASSIGNMENTS TO BANDS BETWEEN 4 AND 20 MC. STIPULATED IN GENEVA AGREEMENT

LIST OF ASSIGNMENTS FOR FREQUENCIES IN NEW INTERNATIONAL FREQUENCY LIST

JULY 24, 1952.

As part of the coordinated United States' effort to put into the Atlantic City (1947) Table of Frequency allocations, in accordance with the Agreement concluded at the Extraordinary Administrative Radio Conference (Geneva, 1951), the Commission desires to take the preliminary actions which are necessary to inaugurate use of the non-Government coast telegraph station frequency assignments stipulated in the Geneva Agreement for the frequency bands between 4 and 20 Mc. Such coast telegraph frequency assignments for the 22 Mc band have already been licensed by the Commission.

There is no specific provision in the Geneva Agreement as to the dates upon which any particular coast telegraph station assignment will be introduced, and, in addition, that Agreement anticipates the cooperation of Administrations signatory to the Agreement, on a voluntary basis, in clearing the new coast telegraph assignments.

The Commission has made a preliminary study of this matter and has reached the conclusion that the most practical approach would be as follows:

a. Determination at an early date of the licensees who will be authorized to use each of the frequencies contained in the new International Frequency List for the coast telegraph bands in the Atlantic City Table of Frequency Allocations (Annex 6 to the Geneva Agreement).

b. The authorizing, on the condition of causing no interference to services of any other station, for an initial period of approximately 6 months, of the new assignments resulting from the determination in paragraph (a) above.

c. The evaluation of the on-the-air results of the initial use of new assignments made pursuant to paragraph (b) above with a view to stabilizing such new assignments as soon as possible on a regular basis subject only to the restrictions in the Geneva Agreement, including the causing and receiving of no harmful interference.

d. The deletion of existing coast telegraph assignments which are not in accordance with the Geneva Agreement as soon as the new assignments have been stabilized pursuant to paragraph (c) above.

In order to inaugurate use of the coast telegraph frequencies as expeditiously as possible, the Commission has prepared the tentative list of assignments set forth below for the frequencies contained in the new International Frequency List. The Commission's list of assignments is designed to make provision for the needs of existing coast telegraph users. However, before making any assignments on these frequencies, the Commission wishes to afford all interested parties an opportunity to submit comments on the tentative frequency list. Such comments should be filed with the Commission on or before August 29, 1952. After considering any comments which are filed, the Commission will determine if temporary licenses, as set forth in paragraph (b) above, should be issued in accordance with the proposed frequency list or a revised frequency list. An appropriate notice will be issued prior to any date the Commission sets for the filing of applications.

It should be emphasized, however, that should the Commission decide to issue temporary licenses for coast stations in accordance with a frequency list, no one will be precluded from filing applications for any of the frequencies in question whether or not they have filed comments pursuant to this notice. If mutually exclusive applications are filed, they will, of course, be handled in accordance with the applicable provisions of the Communications Act.

Any temporary authorizations that are issued to licensees by the Commission for the operation of coast telegraph stations on these frequencies will be subject to the following conditions:

1. Causing of no harmful interference to the service of any other station during an initial period of approximately 1 to 6 months.

2. The notification to the Commission, attention Frequency Allocation and Treaty Division, of the particulars of use of each assignment which is activated pursuant to the terms of any such special temporary authorization, in the format required by Article 32 of the Geneva Agreement.

3. Notification to the Commission, attention Frequency Allocation and Treaty Division, 5 days in advance of the initial use of any assignment which may be authorized.

Adopted: July 23, 1952.

[SEAL] WM. P. MASSING,
Acting Secretary.

GRANITE STATE ELECTRIC CO. AND SUBURBAN GAS AND ELECTRIC CO.

ORDER AUTHORIZING PROPOSED NOTE ISSUES

AUGUST 6, 1952.

Granite State Electric Company ("Granite") and Suburban Gas and Electric Company ("Suburban"), public-utility subsidiary companies of New England Electric System, a registered holding company, having filed a declaration, pursuant to sections 6 (a) and 7 of the Public Utility Holding Company Act of 1935 and Rules U-23 and U-42 (b) (2) thereunder, in respect of the following proposed transactions:

The declaration states that Granite presently has outstanding a 3 percent six months unsecured promissory note payable November 15, 1952, to the First National Bank of Boston in the amount of $350,000, and proposes to issue, from time to time but not later than September 30, 1952, to said bank, additional unsecured six months promissory notes in the amount of $100,000. Granite will use the entire proceeds from the notes it proposes to issue for construction purposes. Suburban presently has outstanding 3 percent six months unsecured promissory notes payable to the First National Bank of Boston in the aggregate principal amount of $1,450,000 and proposes to issue to said bank from time to time but not later than September 30, 1952, additional unsecured six months promissory notes in the amount of $475,000. Suburban will use $375,000 of the proceeds derived from the proposed issuance of additional promissory notes to pay an equal amount of its notes maturing September 25, 1952, and will use the remaining proceeds for construction purposes.

The proposed additional unsecured promissory notes are to bear interest at the prime rate of interest at the time of issuance and, it is stated, that said interest rate at the present time is 3 percent. In the event that said interest rate is in excess of 3¼ percent at the time of issuance of any of the proposed additional promissory notes, the issuing company will file an amendment to this declaration setting forth therein the terms of the note or notes and the rate of interest at least five days prior to the issuance of said note or notes. Granite and Suburban request that this amendment become effective at the end of such period unless the Commission notifies it to the contrary within said period.

The declaration states that the exact nature and timing of permanent financing by Granite and Suburban of its note indebtedness is not presently determinable. However, the declaration further states that the proceeds of any permanent financing will be applied in reduction of, or in total payment of, unsecured promissory notes then outstanding, and the amount of authorized but unissued notes, if any, will be reduced by the amount, if any, by which such permanent financing exceeds the notes at the time outstanding.

The declaration states that incidental services in connection with the proposed note issues will be performed, at cost, by New England Power Service Company, an affiliated service company, such cost being estimated not to exceed $500 for Granite and $400 for Suburban, an aggregate of $900.

The declaration further states that the Public Utilities Commission of New Hampshire has exempted the issuance of the proposed notes by Granite and that no other State commission or Federal commission, other than this Commission, has jurisdiction over any of the transactions proposed in the declaration.

Granite and Suburban request that the Commission's order herein become effective forthwith upon issuance.

Notice of the filing of the declaration having been given in the manner and form provided by Rule U-23 of the rules and regulations promulgated under the act, and a hearing not having been requested or ordered and the Commission finding that the applicable provisions of the act and the rules and regulations promulgated thereunder are satisfied, and deeming it appropriate in the public interest and in the interest of investors and consumers that said declaration be permitted to become effective forthwith:

It is ordered, Pursuant to Rule U-23 and the applicable provisions of the act, that said declaration be, and hereby is, permitted to become effective, subject to the terms and conditions prescribed in Rule U-24, and that this order shall become effective upon its issuance.

NARRAGANSETT ELECTRIC CO

AUGUST 6, 1952.

The Narragansett Electric Company ("Narragansett"), a public-utility subsidiary company of New England Electric System, a registered holding company, having filed with this Commission a declaration, pursuant to sections 6 (a) and 7 of the Public Utility Holding Company Act of 1935 and Rules U-23 and U-42 (b) (2) thereunder, in respect of the following proposed transactions:

The declaration indicates that Narragansett contemplates that it will have outstanding at July 31, 1952, $3,600,000 principal amount of unsecured six months promissory notes payable to banks. Narragansett proposes to issue to banks, from time to time but not later than September 30, 1952, additional unsecured six months promissory notes in an aggregate principal amount not in excess of $3,100,000. Narragansett further proposes that the principal amount of all of its unsecured promissory notes outstanding at any one time prior to September 30, 1952, will not exceed $5,500,000.

Each of the proposed notes will bear interest at the prime rate of interest at the time of the issuance thereof. It is stated that said interest rate for such notes at the present time is 3 percent per annum. In the event that such interest rate is in excess of 3¼ percent per annum at the time any of said additional promissory notes are to be issued, Narragansett will file an amendment to its declaration setting forth therein the name of the bank or banks, the terms of the note or notes and the rate of interest at least five days prior to the issuance of said note or notes. Narragansett requests that such amendment become effective at the end of such period unless the Commission notifies it to the contrary within said period.

Narragansett will use $1,200,000 of the proceeds derived from the proposed issuance of additional promissory notes to pay an equal principal amount of outstanding promissory notes maturing September 30, 1952, and will use the remainder of such proceeds for other corporate purposes. The declaration indicates that Narragansett estimates that it will have construction expenditures in August and September of this year in the aggregate amount of $2,553,500. Narragansett proposes that the proceeds of any permanent financing will be applied in reduction of, or in total payment of, promissory notes then outstanding, and the amount of authorized but unissued notes, if any, will be reduced by the amount, if any, by which such permanent financing exceeds the notes at the time outstanding.

The declaration states that incidental services in connection with the proposed note issues will be performed, at cost, by New England Power Service Company, an affiliated service company, such cost being estimated not to exceed $900. The declaration further states that no State commission or Federal commission, other than this Commission, has jurisdiction over the proposed transactions.

Narragansett requests that the Commission's order herein become effective forthwith upon issuance.

Notice of the filing of the declaration having been given in the manner and form provided by Rule U-23 of the rules and regulations promulgated under the act, and a hearing not having been requested or ordered by the Commission within the time specified in said notice; and the Commission finding that the applicable provisions of the act and the rules and regulations promulgated thereunder are satisfied, and deeming it appropriate in the public interest and in the interest of investors and consumers that said declaration be permitted to become effective forthwith:

It is ordered, Pursuant to Rule U-23 and the applicable provisions of the act, that said declaration be, and hereby is, permitted to become effective, subject to the terms and conditions prescribed in Rule U-24, and that this order shall become effective upon its issuance.

By the Commission.

FEDERAL POWER COMMISSION

[Docket No. G-2009]

NORTHERN NATURAL GAS CO.

NOTICE OF APPLICATION

AUGUST 6, 1952.

Take notice that Northern Natural Gas Company (Applicant), a Delaware corporation with its principal office at 2223 Dodge Street, Omaha, Nebraska, filed on July 22, 1952, an application for a certificate of public convenience and necessity pursuant to section 7 of the Natural Gas Act authorizing the construction and operation of the following natural-gas transmission pipe line facilities:

(a) Approximately 6.5 miles of 30-inch diameter pipe line beginning at Applicant's Bushton Compressor Station in Rice County, Kansas, and extending in a northeasterly direction to a point in Ellsworth County, Kansas;

(b) Approximately 1.4 miles of 8⅝-inch diameter pipe line beginning at a point on Applicant's Omaha branch pipe line and extending in an easterly direction to a proposed measuring and regulating station in Sarphy County, Nebraska;

(c) A measuring and regulation station in Sarphy County, Nebraska, at the terminus of the pipe line described in subparagraph (b); and,

(d) One (1) 1320 HP Compressor Unit to be added to Applicant's Hugoton, Kansas, Compressor Station.

The service proposed to be rendered by Applicant is the delivery and sale, on a firm basis, of up to 12,000 Mcf per day of natural gas to the Nitrogen Division, Allied Chemical & Dye Corporation (Allied), for use in a plant proposed to be constructed by Allied near LaPlatte, Nebraska, for the production of urea and other nitrogen fertilizer products. Construction of Allied's plant, according to the application, will require approximately one and one-half to two years and will not commence until Applicant has received the certificate sought by the application. The application states that the gas to be delivered and sold to Allied will be used by it as the raw material source for hydrogen; that a small percentage of such gas will be used for Allied's incidental manufacturing requirements; and that none of such gas will be used as industrial boiler fuel.

The facilities for which certificate is sought are estimated to cost $952,000, which cost is to be financed from general funds which Applicant states it has available. Applicant estimates, for each of the first 5 years of service, that its sales to Allied will approximate 3.754 billion cubic feet; that its revenues therefrom, at the minimum contract rate of 30 cents per Mcf, will approximate $1,126,200 and, that such revenues will exceed the estimated incremental cost of service for each year of this period by $592,461.

The application states that the gas reserves of Applicant to support service to Allied's plant consist of reserves over and above those shown by Applicant in support of its application in Docket G-1618 to increase its system capacity to 825 Mcf per day north of Kansas; and, since the time of its gas reserve showing in said Docket No. G-1618, Applicant has acquired gas purchase contracts which represent gas reserves capable of delivering in excess of 12,000 Mcf per day for a period of 20 years.

Applicant alleges that the products of Allied's proposed plant at LaPlatte will be a necessary supplement to the nation's nitrogen requirements for both military and agricultural needs, and, accordingly that the construction and operation of Applicant's proposed facilities for the sale of gas to Allied is in the public interest.

Applicant requests that the intermediate decision procedure be omitted and waives oral hearing and opportunity to filing exceptions to the decision of the Commission, and requests that the application be disposed of pursuant to the shortened procedure provided for by § 1.32 (b) of the Commission's rules of practice and procedure (18 CFR 1.32 (b)).

Protests or petitions to intervene may be filed with the Federal Power Commission, Washington 25, D. C., in accordance with the Commission's rules of practice and procedure (18 CFR 1.8 or 1.10) on or before the 27th day of August 1952. The application is on file with the Commission for public inspection.

DETERMINATION OF SUPPORT RATES

The regulation issued by Commodity Credit Corporation and the Production and Marketing Administration published in 17 F. R. 3693, 4103, 4834, 5785, and 6069, and containing the specific requirements for the 1952-crop wheat price support program is hereby amended as follows:

1. Section 601.1708 (a) (2) is amended by changing certain states in the four areas so that the amended subparagraph (2) reads as follows:

§ 601.1708 Determination of support rates. • • •

(a) Support rates at designated terminal markets. • • •

(2) (i) When shipped by rail or water and stored at any designated terminal market, except the terminal markets listed in subparagraph (3) of this paragraph, wheat for which neither registered freight bills nor such freight certificates are presented to guarantee outbound movement at the minimum proportional domestic interstate freight rate, shall have a support rate equal to the terminal rate minus 8 cents per bushel.

(ii) For wheat received by truck and stored at any designated terminal market, except the terminal markets listed in subparagraph (3) of this paragraph, the support rate shall be determined by making a deduction from the terminal rate as follows:

Terminal located in—	Amount of deduction (cents per bushel)
Area I: Arizona, California, Idaho, Nevada, Oregon, Utah, Washington	12½
Area II: Minnesota, Montana, North Dakota, South Dakota, also Superior, Wisconsin	12½
Area III: Colorado, Illinois, Iowa, Kansas, Missouri, Nebraska, Wyoming, Wisconsin, except Superior	13
Area IV: All States not listed in Area I, II, and III above	14

2. Section 601.1708 (b) (1) is amended to include a provision with respect to wheat shipped at other than the domestic interstate freight rate so that the amended subparagraph (1) reads as follows:

§ 601.1708 Determination of support rates. • • •

(b) Support rates for wheat in approved warehouse storage at other than designated terminal markets. (1) Except for the States designated in subparagraph (2) of this paragraph, the support rate for wheat stored in approved warehouses (other than those situated in the designated terminal markets) which is shipped by rail or water shall be determined by deducting from the appropriate designated terminal market rate an amount equal to the transit balance, if any (plus tax) of the through-freight rate from point of origin for such wheat to such terminal market: Provided, That on any wheat shipped at other than the domestic interstate freight rate, the support rate shall be further reduced by the difference between the freight paid (plus tax) and the domestic interstate freight rate (plus tax) from the point of origin of such wheat to the point of storage: And provided further, That in the case of wheat stored at any railroad transit point, taking a penalty by reason of out-of-line movement, or for any other reason, to the appropriate designated market, there shall be added to such transit balance an amount equal to any out-of-line costs or other costs incurred in storing wheat in such position.

PART 53—MEATS, PREPARED MEATS, AND MEAT PRODUCTS (GRADING, CERTIFICATION, AND STANDARDS)

ESTABLISHMENT OF OFFICIAL U. S. STANDARDS FOR GRADES OF CERTAIN PORK CARCASSES AND CERTAIN SWINE

On October 6, 1951, a notice of rule making was published in the FEDERAL REGISTER (16 F. R. 10217) regarding the establishment of official United States standards for grades of barrow and gilt carcasses and official United States standards for grades of slaughter barrows and gilts under sections 203 and 205 of the Agricultural Marketing Act of 1946 (7 U. S. C. 1622 and 1624), and the item for marketing services contained in the Department of Agriculture Appropriation Act.

After due consideration of all relevant material submitted pursuant to the notice and under said sections 203 and 205 of the Agricultural Marketing Act of 1946 and the item for marketing services contained in the Department of Agriculture Appropriation Act, 1953 (Pub. Law 451, 82d Cong.) official United States standards for grades of barrow and gilt carcasses and official United States standards for grades of slaughter barrows and gilts are hereby established, to appear in Part 53, as follows:

53.141 Pork carcass classes.
53.142 Application of standards for grades of barrow and gilt carcasses.
53.143 Specifications for official United States standards for grades of barrow and gilt carcasses.

53.151 Slaughter swine classes.
53.152 Application of standards for grades of slaughter barrows and gilts.

AUTHORITY: §§ 53.140 to 53.153 issued under sec. 205, 60 Stat. 1090, Pub. Law 451, 82d Cong.; 7 U. S. C. 1624. Interpret or apply sec. 203, 60 Stat. 1087; 7 U. S. C. 1622.

PORK CARCASSES

§ 53.140 Bases for pork carcass standards. The standards for pork carcasses developed by the United States Department of Agriculture, provide for segregation according to (a) class, as determined by the apparent sex condition of the animal at the time of slaughter, and (b) grade, which reflects quality of pork and the relative proportion of lean cuts to fat cuts in the carcass.

§ 53.141 Pork carcass classes. The five classes of pork carcasses, comparable to the same five classes of slaughter hogs, are barrow, gilt, sow, stag, and boar carcasses.

§ 53.142 Application of standards for grades of barrow and gilt carcasses. (a) Differences in barrow and gilt carcasses due to sex condition are minor, and the grade standards are equally applicable for grading both classes.

(b) Barrow and gilt carcasses are graded primarily on the basis of (1) differences in yields of lean cuts and of fat cuts, and (2) differences in quality of cuts. These factors vary rather uniformly and consistently from one grade to another. The Choice grade includes carcasses which are firm and have indications of adequate marbling, or fat interspersed within the lean, to produce the acceptable palatability of Choice grade pork. Quality of the trimmed lean cuts is similar in all Choice grade carcasses, but divisions of the grade reflect the decreased ratio of lean cuts to fat cuts in carcasses with increased degrees of finish in excess of the minimum required for the Choice grade. Medium grade carcasses are underfinished and produce Medium grade pork, in which the lean and fat are slightly soft and the lean has little or no marbling. The Cull grade includes those carcasses which are decidedly underfinished, resulting in typical Cull grade pork with soft, watery lean and no visible marbling. Only carcasses with firmness appropriate to the degree of finish are included under the standards described in this part. However, carcasses which are typically soft or oily as a result of feeds producing soft or oily fat may be graded in accordance with these standards provided they are specially identified as soft or oily along with the grade.

(c) Measurements of average back fat thickness in relation to carcass weight or length are closely related to yield of cuts and the quality of the cuts. The following table of measurements provides an objective guide in determining the barrow and gilt carcass grades.

WEIGHT AND MEASUREMENT GUIDES TO GRADES FOR BARROW AND GILT CARCASSES

[Average back fat thickness (inches) [1]]

Carcass weight or carcass length [2]	Grade
	Choice No. 1	Choice No. 2	Choice No. 3	Medium	Cull
Under 120 pounds or under 27 inches	1.4 to 1.7	1.7 to 2.0	2.0 or more	1.0 to 1.4	Less than 1.0.
120 to 164 pounds or 27 to 29.9 inches	1.5 to 1.8	1.8 to 2.1	2.1 or more	1.1 to 1.5	Less than 1.1.
165 to 209 pounds or 30 to 32.9 inches	1.6 to 1.9	1.9 to 2.2	2.2 or more	1.2 to 1.6	Less than 1.2.
210 or more pounds or 33 or more inches	1.7 to 2.0	2.0 to 2.3	2.3 or more	1.3 to 1.7	Less than 1.3.

[1] Average of measurements made opposite the first and last ribs and last lumbar vertebra.
[2] Either carcass weight or length may be used with back fat thickness as a reliable guide to grade. The table shows the normal length range for given weights. In extreme cases where the use of length with back fat thickness indicates a different grade than by using weight, final grade is determined subjectively as provided in paragraph (d) of this section. Carcass weight is based on a chilled, packer style carcass. Carcass length is measured from the forward point of the aitch bone to the forward edge of the first rib.

(d) The standards for grades of barrow and gilt carcasses include carcass measurements and descriptions of the characteristics of carcasses which indicate the lean and fat yields and imply the quality of meat typical of the minimum degree of finish of each grade. Visual estimates of fat thickness normally alleviate the necessity for measuring carcasses. In addition to the measurement guides to grade differences, the standards also provide the basis for consideration of other characteristics. While carcass measurements furnish a reliable general guide to pork quality, for borderline carcasses between Choice and Medium and between Medium and Cull grades, the final grade of the carcass may vary from that indicated by carcass measurements because of other visual evidences of quality. Similarly, within the Choice grade, the determination of the division of the grade, i. e., Choice No. 1, Choice No. 2, or Choice No. 3, may include, in addition to consideration of carcass measurements, a consideration of such characteristics as length in relation to weight, conformation of hams, loins, bellies, and shoulders, and uniformity of width, depth, and fat covering. However, application of these additional factors is limited to borderline carcasses, and in no case may the final grade division be more than one-half of the width of a grade division different than that indicated by carcass measurements. The standards describe carcasses typical of each grade or major grade division, and no attempt is made to describe the nearly limitless number of combinations of characteristics that may qualify a carcass for a particular grade or division thereof.

§ 53.143 Specifications for official United States standards for grades of barrow and gilt carcasses—(a) Choice grade—(1) Choice No. 1. (i) Carcasses in this grade division have near the minimum degree of finish required for the production of Choice grade cuts. Meatiness based on yield of lean cuts in relation to carcass weight is slightly high; yield of fat cuts is correspondingly low. The ratio of total lean and fat to bone is slightly high. Carcasses possessing the minimum finish for Choice No. 1 tend to be moderately wide and long in relation to weight. The back and loins are moderately full and thick with a uniformly full, well-rounded appearance. Hams are usually moderately thick, plump, and smooth, and are slightly full in the lower part toward the hocks. Bellies are moderately long, smooth, slightly thick, and moderately uniform in thickness; the belly pocket is slightly thick. Shoulders are full-fleshed but usually blend smoothly into the sides. The carcass is moderately well-balanced and smooth. There are moderate quantities of interior fats in the region of the pelvis, a slightly thin but fairly extensive layer of fat lining the inside surface of the ribs, and moderate feathering. The flesh is firm. Both exterior and interior fats are firm, white, and of excellent quality.

(ii) Carcasses with other characteristics typical of the thinner one-half of Choice No. 1, but with the firmness, belly thickness, and quantity and distribution of interior fats typical of that in the Medium grade shall be graded Medium.

(2) Choice No. 2. Carcasses in this grade division have a higher degree of finish than the minimum required for the production of Choice grade cuts. Meatiness based on yield of lean cuts in relation to carcass weight is slightly low; yield of fat cuts is correspondingly high. The ratio of total lean and fat to bone is moderately high. Carcasses with the minimum finish for Choice No. 2 tend to be wide and slightly short in relation to weight. The back and loins are full and thick and appear fuller near the edges than at the center. Hams are usually thick, plump, and smooth, and are moderately full in the lower part toward the hocks. Bellies are thick, smooth, slightly short, and rather uniform in thickness; the belly pocket is moderately thick and full but blend smoothly into the sides. The carcass is well-balanced and smooth with uniform development of the various parts. There are slightly large quantities of interior fats in the region of the pelvis, a slightly thick and moderately extensive layer of fat lining the inside surface of the ribs, and slightly abundant feathering. The flesh is firm. Both exterior and interior fats are firm, white, and of excellent quality.

(3) Choice No. 3. Carcasses in this grade division have a decidedly higher degree of finish than the minimum required for the production of Choice grade cuts. Meatiness based on yield of lean cuts in relation to carcass weight is low; yield of fat cuts is correspondingly high. The ratio of total lean and fat to bone is high. Carcasses with the minimum finish for Choice No. 3 tend to be very wide and short in relation to weight. The back and loins are very full and thick and appear especially full near the edges. Hams are usually thick, very plump, and smooth, and are full in the lower part toward the hocks. Bellies are very thick, smooth, short, and uniform in thickness; the belly pocket is thick. Shoulders are thickly-fleshed but blend smoothly into the sides. The carcass is well-balanced and smooth with uniform development of the various parts. There are large quantities of interior fats in the region of the pelvis, a moderately thick and nearly complete layer of fat lining the inside surface of the ribs, and moderately abundant feathering. The flesh is firm. Both exterior and interior fats are firm, white, and of excellent quality.

(b) Medium grade. Carcasses in this grade have a slightly lower degree of finish than the minimum required for the production of Choice grade cuts. Yield of lean cuts in relation to carcass weight is moderately high; yield of fat cuts is correspondingly low. The ratio of total lean and fat to bone is slightly low. Carcasses with the minimum finish required for the Medium grade tend to be narrow and long in relation to weight. The back and loins are slightly thin, deficient in fullness, and appear to slope away from the center toward the sides. Hams are usually slightly thin, lacking in plumpness, and taper slightly toward the hocks. Bellies are long, slightly thin and wrinkled, and moderately uneven in thickness; the belly pocket is slightly thin. Shoulders are slightly thin and flat, but often show prominence at the junction with the sides. The carcass tends to be uneven and rough with slightly irregular development of the various parts. There are slightly small quantities of interior fats in the region of the pelvis, a scanty and incomplete layer of fat lining the inside surface of the ribs, and only a small quantity of feathering. Both exterior and interior fats are moderately soft, white to creamy white, and of slightly low quality. The flesh is moderately soft and has little evidence of marbling. Carcasses with other characteristics typical of the fatter one-half of the Medium grade but with the firmness, belly thickness, and quantity and distribution of interior fats comparable to that of the Choice No. 1 shall be graded Choice No. 1. Carcasses with other characteristics typical of the thinner one-half of the Medium grade shall be graded Cull when quality indications are comparable to those of the Cull grade.

(c) Cull grade. Carcasses in this grade have a considerably lower degree of finish than the minimum required for the production of Choice grade cuts, and most cuts are suitable only for processing. Yield of lean cuts in relation to carcass weight is high; yield of fat cuts is correspondingly low. The ratio of total lean and fat to bone is low. Carcasses with typical Cull grade finish are narrow and long in relation to weight. The back and loins are thin and decidedly lacking in fullness with a definite slope away from the center toward the sides. Hams are thin, flat, and wrinkled, and show a definite taper toward the hocks. Bellies are very long, thin and wrinkled, and very uneven in thickness; the belly pocket is very thin. Shoulders are thin and flat but prominent at the junction with the sides. The carcass is uneven and rough with irregular development of the various parts. There are small quantities of interior fats in the region of the pelvis and little or no fat in the area of the inside surface of the ribs. Both exterior and interior fats are soft, creamy white to white, and of very low quality. The flesh is soft and watery and has no evidence of marbling. Carcasses with other characteristics typical of nearly maximum degree of finish for the Cull grade, but with the firmness, belly thickness, and quantity and distribution of interior fats comparable to that of the Medium grade shall be graded Medium.

SWINE

§ 53.150 Bases for swine standards. The market standards for swine developed by the United States Department of Agriculture provide for segregation according to (a) intended use, as slaughter or feeder and stocker animals, (b) class, as determined by sex condition, and (c) grade, or degree of excellence and suitability for a particular purpose.

§ 53.151 Slaughter swine classes. There are five classes of slaughter swine—barrows, gilts, sows, stags, and boars—defined as follows:

(a) Barrow. A barrow is a male swine castrated when young and before development of the secondary physical characteristics of a boar.

(b) Gilt. A gilt is a female swine that has not produced young and has not reached an evident stage of pregnancy.

(c) Sow. A sow is a female swine that shows evidence of having reproduced or has reached an evident stage of pregnancy.

(d) Stag. A stag is a male swine castrated after development or beginning of development of the secondary physical characteristics of a boar.

(e) Boar. A boar is an uncastrated male swine.

§ 53.152 Application of standards for grades of slaughter barrows and gilts. (a) In the barrow and gilt classes, sex condition has exerted little effect on secondary physical characteristics, and barrows and gilts are treated as a single class in marketing and for standardization purposes. Therefore, the grade standards in § 53.153 are equally applicable to both slaughter barrows and gilts.

(b) The standards are based on the standards for grades of barrow and gilt carcasses. The two major factors forming the basis for the grades are (1) differences in yield of lean cuts and of fat cuts, and (2) differences in quality of cuts. There are rather consistent variations in these characteristics from one grade of barrows and gilts to another. The grade standards identify the hogs which produce pork of each of the three grades—Choice, Medium, and Cull. Choice grade barrows and gilts have at least the minimum finish required to produce Choice grade pork cuts in which the lean is firm and has sufficient marbling, or fat interspersed within the lean, to result in the tenderness, juiciness, and flavor associated with acceptable palatability. Hogs of Choice grade produce comparable quality lean cuts, but may differ widely in the degree of fatness. Hence, this grade is further divided into three segments—No. 1, No. 2, and No. 3—to reflect the decreased yields of lean cuts and increased yields of fat cuts as finish exceeds the minimum required for the Choice grade. Medium grade barrows and gilts are slightly to moderately underfinished and have higher ratios of lean to fat than Choice grade hogs, but they produce Medium grade pork cuts in which the lean is slightly soft and has little or no marbling. Cull grade hogs are decidedly underfinished resulting in higher lean to fat ratios than in any other grade, but they produce Cull grade pork cuts which are soft and watery and have no visible marbling in the lean.

(c) Application of the standards requires an accurate appraisal of the live animal characteristics which indicate the grade. The standards describe the characteristics of typical animals having the minimum degree of finish for each grade. No attempt is made to describe the numerous combinations of characteristics that may indicate the qualifications for a specific grade, and making appropriate compensations for varying combinations requires the use of sound judgment.

(d) The general limits of grades for barrows and gilts are determined by degree of finish, but other factors are considered in certain cases to accomplish further refinement of the grades. Animals at the borderlines between the divisions of the Choice grade with respect to degree of finish are graded by consideration of length in relation to weight and other body proportions, conformation of hams, loins, bellies, and shoulders, and uniformity of width, depth, and fat covering of the animal. The application of these compensating factors is limited primarily to borderline cases within the Choice grade, and the final grade division of an animal is in no case more than one-half the width of a grade division different than that indicated by apparent degree of finish.

§ 53.153 Specifications for official United States standards for grades of slaughter barrows and gilts—(a) Choice grade—(1) Choice No. 1. Slaughter barrows and gilts of this division of Choice grade have an intermediate degree of finish as indicated by body proportions and other evidences of fatness. Hogs of the minimum finish for Choice No. 1 tend to be moderately wide over the top, and width of body over the top appears nearly equal to that at the underline. The back, from side to side, is moderately full and thick and usually appears well-rounded and blends smoothly into the sides. Width through the hams is usually nearly equal to that through the shoulders. The sides appear moderately long and thick and are usually smooth; the flanks are slightly thick and full. Depth at the rear flank may be slightly less than depth at the fore flank. Hams tend to be moderately thick and full with a slightly thick covering of fat. Jowls are usually trim but moderately full and thick. Barrows and gilts in this grade division produce Choice No. 1 carcasses.

(2) Choice No. 2. Slaughter barrows and gilts of this grade division have a high degree of finish as indicated by body proportions and other evidences of fatness. Hogs of the minimum finish for Choice No. 2 tend to be wide over the top, and width of body appears slightly greater over the top than at the underline. The back, from side to side, is full and thick and often appears slightly flat with a noticeable break into the sides. Width may be slightly greater through the shoulders than through the hams. The sides appear slightly short, thick, and smooth; the flanks are moderately thick and full. Depth at the rear flank is nearly equal to that at the fore flank. Hams tend to be thick and full with a moderately thick covering of fat, especially over the lower part. Jowls are usually full and thick, and the neck appears short. Barrows and gilts in this grade division produce Choice No. 2 carcasses.

(3) Choice No. 3. Slaughter barrows and gilts of this grade division have a very high degree of finish as indicated by body proportions and other evidences of fatness. Hogs possessing the minimum finish for Choice No. 3 tend to be very wide over the top, and width of body appears somewhat greater over the top than at the underline. The back, from side to side, is very full and thick and often appears nearly flat with a pronounced break into the sides. Width may be greater through the shoulders than through the hams. The sides appear short, thick, and smooth; the flanks are thick and full. Depth at the rear flank is equal to depth at the fore flank. Hams tend to be very thick and full with a thick covering of fat, especially over the lower part. Jowls are very thick and full, and the neck appears very short. Barrows and gilts in this grade division produce Choice No. 3 carcasses.

(b) Medium grade. Slaughter barrows and gilts of this grade have a slightly low degree of finish as indicated by body proportions and other evidences of fatness. Hogs possessing the minimum finish for the grade tend to be narrow over the top, and width over the top appears slightly less than that at the underline. The back, from side to side, is slightly thin and appears peaked at the center, especially at and immediately behind the shoulders, with a distinct slope toward the sides. Hips may appear slightly prominent. Width may be slightly less through the shoulders than through the hams. The sides appear long and slightly thin and wrinkled, with thin flanks. Depth at the rear flank is less than that at the fore flank. Hams tend to be thin and flat with a slight taper toward the shanks. Jowls are usually slightly thin and flat, and the neck appears rather long. Barrows and gilts in this grade produce Medium grade carcasses.

(c) Cull grade. Slaughter barrows and gilts of this grade are decidedly lacking in finish. Hogs with the fleshing typical of the grade are narrow over the top, and width of body appears somewhat less over the top than at the underline. The back, from side to side, is thin, lacks fullness, and appears peaked at the center with a decided slope toward the sides. Hips are prominent. Width may be somewhat less through the shoulders than through the hams. The sides appear very long, thin, and wrinkled, and the flanks are very thin. Depth at the rear flank is considerably less than depth at the fore flank. Hams are very thin and flat with a decided taper toward the shanks. Jowls are usually very thin and flat, and the neck appears very long. Barrows and gilts in this grade produce Cull grade carcasses.

Present Subparts B and C in Part 53, Title 7, Code of Federal Regulations, are consolidated into one subpart designated as "Subpart B—Standards."

This order shall become effective 30 days after publication in the FEDERAL REGISTER.

Chapter VIII—Production and Marketing Administration (Sugar Branch), Department of Agriculture

Subchapter B—Sugar Requirements and Quotas

[Sugar Reg. 814.7, Amdt. 3]

PART 814—ALLOTMENT OF SUGAR QUOTAS

PUERTO RICO, 1952

Basis and purpose. This amendment is issued under section 205 (a) of the Sugar Act of 1948 (hereinafter called the "act") for the purpose of revising § 814.7 (17 F. R. 2477; 17 F. R. 6759; 17 F. R. 7008) which allots the 1952 sugar quota for Puerto Rico for consumption in the continental United States (including raw sugar transferred for further processing and shipment within the direct-consumption portion of such quota) and the 1952 sugar quota for local consumption in Puerto Rico among persons (1) whose Puerto Rican raw sugar is brought into the continental United States or who transfer such sugar for further processing and shipment to the continental United States as direct-consumption sugar, and (2) who market sugar for local consumption in Puerto Rico.

The sugar quota for Puerto Rico for consumption in the continental United States is referred to herein as "mainland quota" and allotments thereof are referred to as "mainland allotments." The sugar quota for consumption in Puerto Rico and allotments thereof are referred to respectively as "local quota" and "local allotments."

The allotments established by the initial order and Amendments 1 and 2 were based in part upon estimates of production of sugar from the 1951–52 crop by each allottee and to guard against the possibility of a processor exceeding its final allotment, only 80 percent of each quota was allotted.

Each allottee under § 814.7 agreed to waive its right to a public hearing prior to the issuance of a revised order based upon the same allotment formula as the initial order but using final 1951–52 crop production data in place of the estimated data used in the initial order.

Actual production data are now available and this amendment provides for the substitution of the actual data. A similar agreement was made to provide for revisions to take account of changes in quotas without further hearings. Amendment 1 to Part 812 (14 F. R. 3257) increased the quota for local consumption in Puerto Rico from 100,000 to 110,000 short tons, raw value.

The allotments as revised herein give effect to the final production data and the increase in local quota and make available to the allottees the full amount of both quotas. However, they are determined by the use of the same formula as that utilized in determining the initial allotments.

Since a number of allottees have already marketed their previous allotments, they are precluded from marketing additional quantities of sugar until this amendment becomes effective. It is imperative, therefore, that this amendment become effective at the earliest possible date in order to permit continued orderly marketing of sugar. Accordingly, it is hereby found that compliance with the 30-day effective date requirement of the Administrative Procedure Act (60 Stat. 237), is impracticable and contrary to the public interest and, consequently, this order shall be effective when published in the FEDERAL REGISTER.

Pursuant to the authority vested in the Secretary of Agriculture by section 205 (a) of the act, paragraphs (a) and (c) (1) of § 814.7 are hereby amended in the following manner:

1. Paragraph (a) of § 814.7 is amended to read as follows:

PART 76—HOG CHOLERA, SWINE PLAGUE, AND OTHER COMMUNICABLE SWINE DISEASES

CHANGES IN AREAS QUARANTINED BECAUSE OF VESICULAR EXANTHEMA

Pursuant to the authority conferred by sections 1 and 3 of the act of March 3, 1905, as amended (21 U. S. C. 123 and 125), sections 1 and 2 of the act of February 2, 1903, as amended (21 U. S. C. 111 and 120), and section 7 of the act of May 29, 1884, as amended (21 U. S. C. 117), § 76.10 in Part 76 of Title 9, Code of Federal Regulations, containing a notice of the existence in certain areas of the swine disease known as vesicular exanthema and establishing a quarantine because of such disease, is hereby amended to read as follows:

§ 76.10 Notice and quarantine. (a) Notice is hereby given that the contagious, infectious and communicable disease of swine known as vesicular exanthema exists in the following areas:

Jefferson and Mobile counties in Alabama;
The State of California;
Cook county in Illinois;
Woodbury county in Iowa;
Geary and Wyandotte counties in Kansas;
Buchanan, Clinton and Green counties, and Kaw township in Jackson county, in Missouri;
Douglas county, Platte township in Dodge county, Alda township in Hall county, and Gilmore and Richland townships in Sarpy county, in Nebraska;
Burlington, Gloucester, Hudson, and Ocean counties in New Jersey;
New York county in New York;
Multnomah county in Oregon;
Minnehaha county in South Dakota; and King county in Washington.

(b) The Secretary of Agriculture, having determined that swine in the States named in paragraph (a) of this section are affected with the contagious, infectious and communicable disease known as vesicular exanthema and that it is necessary to quarantine the areas specified in paragraph (a) of this section and the following additional areas in such States, in order to prevent the spread of said disease from such States, hereby quarantines the areas specified in paragraph (a) of this section and in addition Bergen, Essex, Hunterdon, and Union counties in New Jersey.

Effective date. This amendment shall become effective upon issuance.

This amendment includes within the areas in which vesicular exanthema has been found to exist and in which a quarantine has been established, all of Cook county, Illinois, and Gilmore and Richland townships in Sarpy county, Nebraska. Hereafter, all of the restrictions of the quarantine and regulations in 9 CFR Part 76 as amended (17 F. R. 7070) apply with respect to shipments of swine and carcasses, parts and offal of swine from these localities.

The amendment excludes from the areas in which vesicular exanthema has been found to exist and in which a quarantine has been established Gila county in Arizona; Fulton county in Georgia; Lake county in Illinois; Pocahontas county in Iowa; Sedgwick county in Kansas; Howell county and Jackson county except Kaw township in Missouri; Box Butte, Saunders, and Washington counties, and Dodge county except Platte township, and Hall county except Alda township in Nebraska; Franklin county in Ohio; Marion county in Oregon; Spokane county in Washington; and Laramie county in Wyoming, and further excludes from the quarantined area Atchison, Doniphan, Johnson, and Leavenworth counties in Kansas, and Clay and Platte counties in Missouri. Hereafter, none of the restrictions of the quarantine and regulations in 9 CFR Part 76 as amended (17 F. R. 7070) apply with respect to shipments of swine, and carcasses, parts and offal of swine from these localities.

The foregoing amendment in part relieves restrictions presently imposed and must be made effective immediately to be of maximum benefit to persons subject to such restrictions. In part the amendment imposes further restrictions necessary to prevent the spread of vesicular exanthema, a communicable disease of swine, and to this extent it must be made effective immediately to accomplish its purpose in the public interest. Accordingly, under section 4 of the Administrative Procedure Act (5 U. S. C. 1003) it is found upon good cause that notice and other public procedure with respect to the foregoing amendment are impracticable and contrary to the public interest and good cause is found for making the amendment effective less than 30 days after publication hereof in the FEDERAL REGISTER.

TITLE 32A—NATIONAL DEFENSE, APPENDIX

Chapter III—Office of Price Stabilization, Economic Stabilization Agency

[Ceiling Price Regulation 4, Amdt. 4]

CPR 4—ANTHRACITE DELIVERED FROM MINE OR PREPARATION PLANT

ADJUSTMENTS ON CERTAIN SIZES

Pursuant to the Defense Production Act of 1950, as amended, Executive Order 10161, and Economic Stabilization Agency General Order No. 2, this Amendment 4 to Ceiling Price Regulation 4 is hereby issued.

STATEMENT OF CONSIDERATIONS

This amendment increases ceiling prices of certain industrial sizes of Pennsylvania anthracite by 75 cents per net ton f. o. b. mines. These increases apply only to No. 1 Buckwheat, Rice, Barley, and Buckwheat No. 4 and smaller sizes, all of which represent about 45 percent of total sales of anthracite.

Members of the Industry Advisory Committee requested this increase and contended that it was justified under the industry earnings standard. In order to qualify for a price increase under that standard, an industry must show that its current earnings are less than 85 percent of the industry's average earnings during the three best years during the 1946–1949 period. The Office of Price Stabilization has made a study of the anthracite industry, on the basis of which it appears that the requested price increase is justified under the earnings standard.

The larger or domestic sizes of anthracite are used mostly for home heating by consumers in New England, New York, Pennsylvania, Delaware, Maryland, and the District of Columbia. Industrial users account for most of the sales of the smaller sizes, which are used primarily for the production of electricity in power plants and as metallurgical coals.

When CPR 4 was issued it granted certain increases on the larger sizes of anthracite greater than those granted on industrial sizes. Thus, in following the recommendation of the Industry Advisory Committee that the present price increases be uniformly applied to the industrial sizes rather than on the domestic consumer sizes, OPS is not only minimizing the impact on the cost of living, it is also bringing ceiling prices on the commercial sizes into a more customary relationship with the ceiling prices on the domestic sizes.

In the formulation of this amendment, there has been consultation with industry representatives, including trade association representatives, and consideration has been given to their recommendations. This consultation included a meeting of the Industry Advisory Committee for Anthracite, and separate conferences with several producers of anthracite.

So far as practicable, the Director of Price Stabilization gave due consideration to the national effort to achieve maximum production in furtherance of the objectives of the Defense Production Act of 1950, as amended, and to relevant factors of general applicability.

In the judgment of the Director of Price Stabilization this amendment is generally fair and equitable and is necessary to effectuate the purposes of Title IV of the Defense Production Act of 1950.

AMENDATORY PROVISIONS

1. The ceiling prices in Appendix A, provision 1, are amended by an increase of 75-cents per net ton on commercial sizes so that provision 1 of Appendix A will read as follows:

1. The following ceiling prices, subject to the exceptions set forth in this regulation, are established for anthracite f. o. b. mine:

	Per net ton		Per net ton
Broken	$14.20	Buckwheat	$8.75
Egg coal	14.45	Rice	7.15
Stove	14.70	Barley	5.85
Chestnut	14.60	Buckwheat No. 4 and smaller	4.85
Pea	11.40

2. The ceiling prices for "sub-standard" anthracite in Appendix A, provision 3, are amended by an increase of 75 cents per net ton on commercial sizes so that provision 3 of Appendix A will read as follows:

3. The ceiling prices for anthracite (including anthracite for which a ceiling price has been established by any special order issued under this regulation, or otherwise), which does not meet the quality standards and price specifications set forth in Appendix B hereof, shall be the applicable ceiling price set forth below:

	Per net ton		Per net ton
Broken	$13.05	Buckwheat	$8.05
Egg coal	13.30	Rice	6.55
Stove C	13.55	Barley	5.35
Chestnut	13.45	Buckwheat No. 4 and smaller	4.45

Effective date. This amendment 4 to CPR 4 shall become effective August 12, 1952.

ELLIS ARNALL,
Director of Price Stabilization.

TITLE 43—PUBLIC LANDS: INTERIOR

Chapter I—Bureau of Land Management, Department of the Interior

[Circular 1830]

PART 295—WITHDRAWALS AND RESTORATIONS

The following center heading and sections are added at the end of Part 295:

WITHDRAWAL OR RESERVATION OF LANDS FOR THE USE OF FEDERAL OR STATE AGENCIES

Sec.
295.9 Application by Federal or State agency.
295.10 Segregative effect of application by Federal or State agency.
295.11 Action on application by Federal or State agency.

AUTHORITY: §§ 295.9 to 295.11 issued under R. S. 161, 2478; 5 U. S. C. 22, 43 U. S. C. 1201. Interpret or apply E. O. 10355, May 26, 1952, 17 F. R. 4831.

§ 295.9 Application by Federal or State agency. (a) Except where the matter is classified for national security reasons, the head of any Federal or State agency (or an officer designated by him) desiring lands owned or controlled by the United States to be withdrawn or reserved under the authority of Executive Order 10355 (May 26, 1952, 17 F. R. 4831) for the use of the agency shall file an application for such withdrawal or reservation with the manager of the land office for the area in which the lands are situated, or, if there is no land office for the area, with the Director of the Bureau of Land Management, Department of the Interior, Washington 25, D. C.

(b) A classified application for the withdrawal or reservation of lands pursuant to Executive Order 10355 shall be submitted to the Secretary of the Interior, Washington 25, D. C.

(c) An application for the withdrawal or reservation of lands pursuant to Executive Order 10355 for the use of a Federal or State agency shall contain the following information:

(1) Name of the agency for which the withdrawal or reservation is desired.

(2) Description and acreage of the lands desired, describing the lands in terms of the public land surveys or, if unsurveyed, by metes and bounds, with the approximate area. A metes and bounds description should be connected by course and distance with some corner of the public land surveys, if practicable, or with reference to rivers, creeks, mountains, towns, or other prominent topographical points or natural objects or monuments.

(3) Purpose of the requested withdrawal or reservation (if the purpose is classified for security reasons, so state).

(4) A statement showing the agency's need for all the land requested.

(5) A statement indicating whether the withdrawal or reservation should preclude the following activities on the affected lands: (i) Grazing, (ii) mineral leases, and (iii) mining locations.

(6) Citation of statutory authority under which the withdrawal or reservation may be made.

§ 295.10 Segregative effect of application by Federal or State agency. (a) The recording in the serial register and the noting on the official plats and in the tract books maintained by the land office for the area, or by the Bureau of Land Management if there is no land office for the area, of information indicating that an application for the withdrawal or reservation of lands has been received from a Federal or State agency shall temporarily segregate such lands from settlement, location, sale, selection, entry, lease, and other forms of disposal under the public land laws, including the mining and the mineral leasing laws, to the extent that the withdrawal or reservation applied for, if effected, would prevent such forms of disposal. To that extent, action on all prior applications the allowance of which is discretionary, and on all subsequent applications, respecting such lands will be suspended until final action on the application for withdrawal or reservation has been taken. Such temporary segregation shall not affect the administrative jurisdiction over the segregated lands.

(b) An application may be amended at any time by the applicant agency so as to eliminate therefrom lands no longer desired for withdrawal or reservation. The noting upon the proper public records of information regarding such amendment shall relieve the lands so eliminated of the segregative effect of the agency's application; and any suspended applications from other persons for the eliminated lands may be processed without regard to the agency's application.

(c) An amendment of an agency's application so as to include additional lands shall have as to such lands the segregative effect provided for in paragraph (a) of this section from the date of the entry of information regarding the receipt of such request on the records mentioned in paragraph (a) of this section. Such an amendment will be given the serial number of the original application, and it will be processed either as a part of that application or separately, as the facts may warrant.

§ 295.11 Action on application by Federal or State agency. (a) The Secretary of the Interior (or his delegate) may, in his discretion and if the public interest seems to require it, afford members of the public an opportunity to object to an application by a Federal or State agency for the withdrawal or reservation of lands. Notice of such opportunity (Form 4-1493[1]) shall be published in the FEDERAL REGISTER and shall fix the time and place for the filing of written objections or for an oral hearing, as may be determined by the Secretary (or his delegate).

(b) If the Secretary of the Interior (or his delegate) denies an agency's application in whole or in part, a Notice of Determination on Form 4-1194[1] will be issued. Upon publication of the Notice of Determination in the FEDERAL REGISTER, the affected lands will no longer be subject to the segregative effect of the agency's application; and any suspended applications from other persons for such lands may be processed as the facts warrant.

(c) If the Secretary (or his delegate) determines that the withdrawal or reservation requested by a Federal or State agency should be made, in whole or in part, he will issue a public land order to that effect, for publication in the FEDERAL REGISTER. Appropriate action will thereupon be taken on all suspended applications from other persons for the affected lands.

NOTE: The record keeping or reporting requirements of this regulation have been approved by the Bureau of the Budget in accordance with the Federal Reports Act of 1942.

OSCAR L. CHAPMAN,
Secretary of the Interior.

RAILROAD FREIGHT CARS TO BE STOPPED TO COMPLETE LOADING

At a session of the Interstate Commerce Commission, Division 3, held at its office in Washington, D. C., on the 8th day of August, A. D., 1952.

It appearing, that upon representations of the Defense Transport Administration there is a critical shortage of railroad freight cars suitable for the transportation of lumber and/or lumber products; that shippers are appropriating such cars and shipping them almost empty to other points to complete loading; that such practice is wasteful and aggravates the car shortage, depleting and diminishing the use, control, supply, distribution and interchange of such cars; the Commission is of the opinion that an emergency requiring immediate action exists in the States of Oregon and Washington: It is ordered, that:

(b) Application. The provisions of this section shall apply to intrastate and foreign commerce as well as interstate commerce.

(c) Regulations suspended; announcement required. The operation of all rules, regulations and practices, insofar as they conflict with the provisions of this section is hereby suspended and each railroad subject to this section, or its agent, shall publish, file, and post a supplement to each of its tariffs affected hereby, in substantial accordance with the provisions of Rule 9 (k) of the Commission's Tariff Circular No. 20 (§ 141.9 (k) of this chapter) announcing such suspension.

(d) Effective date. This section shall become effective at 12:01 a. m., August 12, 1952.

TITLE 50—WILDLIFE

Chapter I—Fish and Wildlife Service, Department of the Interior

Subchapter B—Hunting and Possession of Wildlife

PART 7—NONMIGRATORY SPECIES

PART 9—IMPORTATION OF FOREIGN WILD ANIMALS, AND WILD BIRDS AND THEIR EGGS

PROHIBITED SPECIES AND EXCEPTIONS; COMPLIANCE WITH OTHER REGULATIONS

Basis and purpose. The provisions of 18 U. S. C. Supp. IV, 42, which prohibit the importation into the United States, or any Territory or district thereof, of the mongoose, the so-called "flying foxes" or fruit bats, the English sparrow, and the starling, also prohibit the importation of such other birds and animals as the Secretary of the Interior may declare to be injurious to the interests of agriculture or horticulture. The provisions of 19 U. S. C. 1201, paragraph 1671, are directly related in that they prohibit the importation of the eggs of wild birds, except those of game birds, for propagating purposes.

On June 11, 1952, the public was invited to participate in the preparation of amended regulations governing the importation of foreign wild animals, and wild birds and their eggs, by submitting their views, data, or arguments in writing to Albert M. Day, Director, Fish and Wildlife Service, Washington 25, D. C., on or before June 26, 1952 (17 F. R. 5326). Careful consideration has been given to the views, data, and arguments received, and it has been determined that the following prohibitions against the importation of certain foreign wild animals, and wild birds and their eggs should be promulgated.

1. Section 7.11 Importation of certain game bird eggs is repealed.

2. The following regulation, as §§ 9.1 and 9.2, constituting a new part, are adopted:

Sec.
9.1 Prohibited species and exceptions.
9.2 Compliance with other regulations.

AUTHORITY: §§ 9.1 and 9.2 issued under par. 1671, 46 Stat. 677; 19 U. S. C. 1201, par. 1671. Interpret or apply sec. 1, 62 Stat. 687, as amended; 18 U. S. C. Sup. 42.

§ 9.1 Prohibited species and exceptions. In accordance with the provisions of 18 U. S. C. Supp. IV, 42 which prohibit the importation into the United States, or any Territory or district thereof, of the mongoose, the so-called "flying foxes" or fruit bats, the English sparrow, the starling, "and such other birds and animals as the Secretary of the Interior may declare to be injurious to the interests of agriculture or horticulture," and the provisions of 19 U. S. C. 1201, paragraph 1671, which prohibit the importation of the eggs of wild birds except those of game birds for propagating purposes, I have determined and hereby declare that in addition to those named in the statutes the following also are subject to the prohibitions against importation:

(a) Mynahs and starlings of the genera Acridotheres and Sturnus, family Sturnidae, except those for exhibition in zoological parks.

(b) All other wild birds and their eggs except:

(1) Game birds and their eggs for propagation and stocking purposes, and for exhibition in zoological parks.

(2) Non-game birds which are to be confined in cages or otherwise, and for exhibition in zoological parks.

(c) European rabbit, Lepus cuniculus, and European hare Lepus europaeus, except that such animals may be permitted entry for fur farming and other agricultural purposes, if such animals are to be kept in confinement.

(d) With respect to any importations permitted under the exceptions in paragraphs (a), (b), and (c) of this section, the importer thereof must file with the Collector of Customs an affidavit to the effect that the birds or their eggs, or the European rabbits and hares are to be used for propagation purposes, confined to cages, exhibited in zoological parks, or used for fur farming and other agricultural purposes, as the case may be.

(e) None of the provisions of paragraphs (a), (b), and (c) of this section, shall apply to migratory birds or their eggs the importation of which is governed by regulations in Part 6 of this subchapter or to the importations of natural history specimens, dead or alive, for museums or scientific collections in accordance with the provisions of 18 U. S. C. Supp. IV, 42.

§ 9.2 Compliance with other regulations. Any importation permitted by § 9.1 is also subject to any applicable health, quarantine, agriculture, customs, or other requirements imposed by law or by regulations of duly authorized Federal, Territorial, or State agencies and municipalities.

OSCAR L. CHAPMAN,
Secretary of the Interior.

INTERSTATE COMMERCE COMMISSION

[Ex Parte 55]

RULES OF PRACTICE

NOTICE OF PROPOSED REVISION

AUGUST 8, 1952.

The last revision of the rules of practice was made in September 1942, and changes in statutes administered by the Interstate Commerce Commission have occurred since then. Hence there is merit to the request of the Association of Interstate Commerce Commission Practitioners that consideration now be given to possible revision of the rules; and submission of proposed changes is invited on or before October 1, 1952. Each desired change should be briefly stated, preferably in rule form, be accompanied by a statement of the reason why it is proposed, and be submitted in triplicate.

Prior to the 1942 revision some of the interested associations circularized their memberships and thereafter submitted to the Commission a single document which consolidated and analyzed the proposals thus received, concluding with recommendations as to which proposals were deemed to have merit. As the advantages of such a submission method are readily apparent, it is desired that associations now follow a similar plan. Submissions from individuals are welcome.

After their filing with the Commission all proposed changes will receive preliminary consideration by the Commission's Committee on Legislation and Rules acting in collaboration with an appropriate committee of the Interstate Commerce Commission Practioners' Association. If the proposed rule changes emerging from such deliberations are of such importance as thus to merit, they will be made the subject of a proposed report to which exceptions may be filed, and oral argument requested.

Notice is being given to the public by depositing a copy hereof in the office of the Secretary of the Commission, and by filing a copy with the Director, Division of the Federal Register.

By the Commission.

FEDERAL REGISTER

VOLUME 17 NUMBER 159

Washington, Thursday, August 14, 1952

TITLE 5—ADMINISTRATIVE PERSONNEL

Chapter I—Civil Service Commission

PART 25—FEDERAL EMPLOYEES' PAY REGULATIONS

SUBPART C—OVERTIME, NIGHT, AND HOLIDAY PAY REGULATIONS

1. Paragraph (a) of § 25.222 is amended to read as follows:

§ 25.222 Computation of overtime employment. The computation of the amount of overtime employment of an officer or employee shall be subject to the following conditions:

(a) Leave with pay. Absence from duty on authorized leave with pay under the annual and sick leave act of October 30, 1951, as amended, during the time when an employee would otherwise have been required to be on duty during the basic workweek (including authorized absence on legal holidays, nonwork days established by Executive or administrative order, and days of compensatory time off provided for in §§ 25.212 and 25.221 (b)) shall be considered to be employment and shall not have the effect of reducing the amount of overtime compensation to which the employee may be entitled during an administrative workweek. Leave of absence with pay under the act cited shall not be charged for any absence which does not occur during the 40 hours prescribed as the basic workweek.

2. Section 25.232 is amended to read as follows:

§ 25.232 Computation of night pay differential—(a) Absence on leave or holidays, or in travel status. Payment of a night pay differential is not authorized during any period when the officer or employee is in a leave status or is excused from duty on a holiday or other nonworkday; but it is authorized for all night hours of the employee's regularly scheduled tour of duty while he is in official travel status, whether performing actual duty or not.

(b) Relation to overtime and holiday pay. Payment of a night pay differential shall be in addition to any extra overtime or holiday compensation paid in accordance with this subpart. The amount of the night pay differential which an employee earns for working during a night overtime period is not affected by whether the employee is paid in cash or granted compensatory time off for such overtime services. The night pay differential shall not be included in the rate of basic compensation in computing any overtime or holiday compensation to which the officer or employee may be entitled.

(c) Temporary assignment to different tour of duty. The payment of the night pay differential is authorized for night work performed when an employee is assigned temporarily to a regularly scheduled tour of duty other than his own regular tour of duty.

3. Section 25.241 is amended to read as follows:

§ 25.241 Identification of holidays. The following days shall be holidays:

(a) Subject to the provisions of paragraph (b) of this section, the 1st day of January; the 22d day of February; the 30th day of May; the 4th day of July; the first Monday in September; the 11th day of November; the fourth Thursday in November; the 25th day of December; and any day designated as a holiday by Federal statute or Executive order.

(b) Executive Order 10358 of June 9, 1952, defines "workday" for holiday purposes to mean those hours which comprise in sequence the employee's regular daily tour of duty within any 24-hour period, whether falling entirely within one calendar day or not, and provides that:

(1) Whenever a holiday falls on a Sunday, Federal offices and establishments shall be closed to public business on the following Monday.

(2) Any employee whose basic workweek does not include Sunday and who would ordinarily be excused from work on a holiday falling within his basic workweek shall be excused from work on the next workday of his basic workweek whenever a holiday falls on Sunday.

(3) Any employee whose basic workweek includes Sunday and who would ordinarily be excused from work on a holiday falling within his basic workweek shall be excused from work on the next workday of his basic workweek

(4) Any employee who would ordinarily be excused from work on a holiday falling within his basic workweek shall be excused from work on the next workday of his basic workweek whenever the first Monday of September or the fourth Thursday of November, or any other holiday which always occurs on a specific day of the calendar week (other than Sunday), falls on a day outside the employee's regular basic workweek.

(5) Any employee whose workday covers portions of two calendar days and who would, except for this section, ordinarily be excused from work scheduled for the hours of any calendar day on which a holiday falls, shall instead be excused from work on his entire workday which commences on any such calendar day, or on a day treated as a holiday under subparagraphs (3) or (4) of this paragraph.

(c) In the case of employees whose regularly scheduled basic workweek includes both Sunday and Monday, either day, as determined by the head of the department, but not both days, shall be treated as a holiday when a holiday falls on Sunday. In the case of employees whose regularly scheduled basic workweek includes Sunday but not Monday, only Sunday shall be treated as a holiday when a holiday falls on Sunday.

TITLE 7—AGRICULTURE

Chapter IX—Production and Marketing Administration (Marketing Agreements and Orders), Department of Agriculture

[Peach Order 1]

PART 940—PEACHES GROWN IN THE COUNTY OF MESA IN COLORADO

REGULATION BY GRADES AND SIZES

§ 940.304 Peach Order 1—(a) Findings. (1) Pursuant to the amended marketing agreement and Order No. 40, as amended (7 CFR Part 940), regulating the handling of peaches grown in the County of Mesa in the State of Colorado, effective under the applicable provisions of the Agricultural Marketing Agreement Act of 1937, as amended, and upon the basis of the recommendations of the Administrative Committee, established under the aforesaid amended marketing agreement and order, and upon other available information, it is hereby found that the limitation of shipments of such peaches, as hereinafter provided, will tend to effectuate the declared policy of the act.

(2) It is hereby further found that it is impracticable and contrary to the public interest to give preliminary notice, engage in public rule-making procedure, and postpone the effective date of this regulation until 30 days after publication thereof in the FEDERAL REGISTER (60 Stat. 237; 5 U. S. C. 1001 et seq.) in that, as hereinafter set forth, the time intervening between the date when information upon which this section is based became available and the time when this section must become effective in order to effectuate the declared policy of the act is insufficient; a reasonable time is permitted, under the circumstances, for preparation for such effective time; and good cause exists for making the provisions of this section effective not later than August 14, 1952. A reasonable determination as to the supply of, and the demand for, such peaches must await the development of the crop and adequate information thereon was not available to the Administrative Committee until July 23, 1952; recommendation as to the need for, and the extent of, regulation of shipments of such peaches was made at the meeting of said committee on July 23, 1952, after consideration of all information then available relative to the supply and demand conditions for such peaches, at which time the recommendation and supporting information was submitted to the Department, and made available to growers and handlers; necessary supplemental information was not available to the Department until August 8, 1952; in order to effectuate the declared policy of the act, the regulation of peach shipments during the present fiscal year should, insofar as practicable, be applicable to all shipments of such peaches; and compliance with the provisions of this section will not require of handlers any preparation therefor which cannot be completed by the effective time hereof.

(b) Order. (1) During the period beginning at 12:01 a. m., m. s. t., August 14, 1952, and ending at 12:01 a. m., m. s. t., October 16, 1952, no handler shall ship:

(i) Any peaches which do not grade at least U. S. No. 1, or

(ii) Any peaches which are of a size smaller than 2 inches in diameter: Provided, That any lot of peaches shall be deemed to be of a size not smaller than 2 inches in diameter (a) if not more than 10 percent, by count, of the peaches in such lot are smaller than 2 inches in diameter and if not more than 15 percent, by count, of the peaches contained in any individual container in such lot are smaller than 2 inches in diameter; or (b) if the peaches in such lot are shipped in peach boxes and the peaches are of a size not smaller than a size that will pack, in accordance with the specifications of a standard pack, a count of 78 peaches in a peach box, except that the tolerance for variations incident to proper packing, provided in such pack specifications, shall not permit a variation of more than 4 peaches in any such box.

(2) Definitions. As used in this section, "peaches," "handler," and "ship" shall have the same meaning as when used in the aforesaid amended marketing agreement and order; "U. S. No. 1," "diameter," "count," and "standard pack" shall have the same meaning as when used in the United States Standards for Peaches (7 CFR 51.312); and "peach box" shall mean a box of the following inside dimensions: 4½–5" x 11½" x 16⅛".

[Amdt. 16]

PART 609—STANDARD INSTRUMENT APPROACH PROCEDURE

USE OF RADIO RANGES REQUIRING FLIGHT CHECK

The purpose of this amendment is to indicate that VHF radio ranges will be shut down when they are "ground checked only, awaiting flight check." The amendment of § 609.3 (d), published on December 22, 1951, in 16 F. R. 12865, provided that only the navigational feature of a VHF radio range would be shut down when the range had been ground checked only and was awaiting flight check. Transmission of the radio range identification was continued, and radio broadcasts and ground to air communication services remained operative. It developed that some pilots attempted to use these facilities for navigational guidance during the time the navigational feature was shut down and were misled by the indications they received. Complete shutdown of the radio range (consisting of the navigational, voice, and identification features) is therefore necessary.

This amendment is adopted to become effective when indicated in order to provide for the protection of air traffic. Compliance with the notice, procedures, and effective date provisions of section 4 of the Administrative Procedure Act would be impracticable and therefore is not required.

Section 609.3 (d) is amended to read:

§ 609.3 Introduction. • • •

(d) Use of radio ranges requiring flight check. When a flight check of a radio range is required, the following will apply:

(1) If the radio range is a very high frequency type (112.1 through 117.9 mcs) range, the entire radio range (consisting of the navigational, voice, and identification features) will be shut down. A NOTAM will be issued stating: "QAROS (meaning 'radio range out of service for an unknown duration'), ground checked only, awaiting flight check."

(2) If the radio range is a low frequency type (200 through 400 kcs) nonsimultaneous range, the navigational feature will be shut down, and no utilization for navigational purposes will be authorized. A NOTAM will be issued stating: "Ground checked only, awaiting flight check."

(3) If the radio range is a low frequency type (200 through 400 kcs) simultaneous range, it may be used as a homing facility only. A NOTAM will be issued stating: "Ground checked only, awaiting flight check."

(i) In addition, this type of radio range may be used as an ADF approach aid by scheduled air carriers, provided that their operations specifications authorize an ADF instrument approach to the airport concerned.

(ii) Irregular air carriers and other operators may use this type of radio range as an ADF instrument approach aid if an ADF procedure for the airport concerned is prescribed by the Administrator, or if an approach is conducted using the same course for an ADF track as that specified in the approved range procedure and with identical altitudes as used in the range approach.

This paragraph shall not apply in the Territory of Alaska, including the Aleutian Islands, or in the central and western Pacific islands under United States jurisdiction, including the Territory of Hawaii and the islands of Canton, Wake and Guam until further notice.

(Sec. 205, 52 Stat. 984, as amended; 49 U. S. C. 425. Interpret or apply sec. 601, 52 Stat. 1007, as amended; 49 U. S. C. 551)

This amendment shall become effective September 1, 1952.

[SEAL] F. B. LEE,
Acting Administrator of Civil Aeronautics.

[F. R. Doc. 52-8988; Filed, Aug. 13, 1952; 8:54 a. m.]

PART 612—AERONAUTICAL FIXED COMMUNICATIONS

ASSESSMENT OF FEES

This amendment reduces the rate for transmitting Category B messages, reduces the number of words in a message unit, and reduces the communications tax to be collected on national messages. A proprietary function of the Government is involved. Therefore, compliance with the notice, procedures, and effective date provisions of section 4 of the Administrative Procedure Act is not required.

Section 612.3 is revised to read:

§ 612.3 Assessment of fees. No fee shall be assessed for the transmission of a message which is of a type or types specified in § 612.2 (a) (1) through (7) or (b). A separate fee shall be assessed for the transmission to each addressee of a message which contains, in whole or in part, matter related to any of that described in § 612.2 (a) (8) or (c).

Transmission of such a message to an addressee may in some cases consist of receipt of the message from a non-CAA communications station and the forwarding of that message without additional use of the CAA communications system. Only one fee per addressee shall be assessed regardless of the number of CAA communications stations through which the message may be sent. Each fee shall be computed on the basis of twenty-five cents for each ten words or portion thereof contained in the text and signature of the message. If delivery of the message involves refiling with a non-CAA communications facility, such refiling will be accomplished on a "Collect" basis at no additional cost to, or assumption of liability by, the CAA. Local telecommunications facilities required for the acceptance or delivery of messages will be provided by the user without expense to the CAA.

NOTE: The Internal Revenue Code provides that there shall be imposed on the amount paid within the states of the United States, the Territories of Alaska and Hawaii, and the District of Columbia, for each telegraph, cable, or radio dispatch or message, a tax equal to (a) fifteen percent of the amount so paid, or (b) ten percent of the amount so paid in the case of an international communication. (Sec. 3797 (a) (9), 53 Stat. 469, Sec. 3465 (a) (1) (B), 56 Stat. 975; 26 U. S. C. 3797, 3465)

This amendment shall become effective September 1, 1952.

[SEAL] F. B. LEE,
Acting Administrator of Civil Aeronautics.

Some applications may relate to facilities which are additions to existing facilities or facilities of such character that an abbreviated application may be justified under the provisions of § 157.7. However, every applicant shall file all pertinent data and information necessary for a full and complete understanding of the proposed project as well as its effect upon applicant's present and future operations.

(b) Every requirement of this part shall be considered as a forthright obligation of the applicant which can only be avoided by a definite and positive showing that the information or data called for by the applicable rules is not necessary for the consideration and ultimate determination of the application.

(c) This part will be strictly applied to all applications as submitted and the burden of adequate presentation in intelligible form as well as justification for omitted data or information rests with the applicant.

§ 157.6 Applications; general requirements—(a) Applicable rules. Applications shall conform to the requirements of §§ 157.5 through 157.14, and other applicable requirements of the Commission's rules of practice and procedure, particularly §§ 1.5, 1.15, 1.16, and 1.17 of this chapter. Such an application shall (a) state that it is an abbreviated application; (b) specify which of the data and information required by §§ 157.5 through 157.16 are omitted; and (c) relate the facts relied upon to justify separately each such omission.

§ 157.8 Acceptance for filing or rejection of applications. Applications will be docketed when received and the applicant so advised. Any application which does not conform to the requirements of §§ 157.5 through 157.16 will be rejected by the Secretary as provided by § 1.14 of this chapter. All copies of a rejected application will be returned. An application which relates to an operation, sale, service, construction, extension, or acquisition, concerning which a prior application has been filed and rejected, shall be docketed as a new application. Such new application shall state the docket number of the prior rejected application.

§ 157.9 Notice of application. Notice of each application filed, except when rejected in accordance with § 157.8, will be published in the FEDERAL REGISTER and copies of such notice mailed to States affected thereby. Persons desiring to receive a copy of the notice of every application shall so advise the Secretary.

§ 157.10 Protests and interventions. Notices of applications, as provided by §157.9, will fix the time within which any person desiring to participate in the proceeding or to file a protest regarding the application, may file a petition to intervene or protest, and within which any interested regulatory agency, as provided by § 1.8 of this chapter, desiring to intervene may file its notice of intervention. Failure to make timely filing will constitute ground for denial of participation, in the absence of extraordinary circumstances for good cause shown. See §§ 1.7, 1.8, 1.10, and 1.37 (f) of this chapter. A copy of each application, supplement, and amendment thereto, except exhibits required by §§ 157.14 and 157.16, shall upon request be promptly supplied by the applicant to anyone who has filed a petition for leave to intervene or given notice of intervention. A person entitled to receive a copy of the application, as herein provided, shall be promptly supplied by applicant with a copy of such of the exhibits required by §§ 157.14 and 157.16 as such person shall specifically request.

§ 157.11 Hearings—(a) General. The Commission will schedule each application for public hearing at the earliest date possible giving due consideration to statutory requirements and other matters pending, with notice thereof as provided by § 1.19 (b) of this chapter: Provided, however, That when an application is filed less than fifteen days prior to the commencement of a hearing theretofore ordered on a pending application and seeks authority to serve some or all of the markets sought in such pending application or is otherwise competitive with such pending application, the Commission will not schedule the new application for hearing until it has rendered its final decision on such pending application, except when, on its own motion, or on appropriate application, it finds that the public interest requires otherwise.

(b) Shortened procedure. If no protest or petition to intervene raises an issue of substance, the Commission may upon request of the applicant dispose of an application in accordance with the provisions of § 1.32 (b) of this chapter.

§ 157.12 Dismissal of application. Except for good cause shown, failure of an applicant to go forward on the date set for hearing and present its full case in support of its application will constitute ground for the summary dismissal of the application and the termination of the proceedings.

Preface. This policy has been recommended by the interagency Manpower Policy Committee and by the national Labor-Management Manpower Policy Committee of the Office of Defense Mobilization. It is issued for information and guidance to labor and management concerned with defense production; and assigns to Government agencies the responsibility for providing assistance and leadership in the fields of action required of them.

I. Introduction. Approximately 3½ million additional workers will be needed by the end of 1953 to meet defense production requirements and expected levels of civilian output. Older workers, here considered to be men and women over 45 years, constitute the largest potential source of needed additions to the labor force, with the largest single reserve being among women of these ages.

Traditional employment preference has been for younger workers despite the fact that the proportion of persons in our population who are between 16 and 34 years of age has progressively declined from 1900 to 1950. Obstacles to the employment of available and qualified older workers increase competition for the preferred and less available younger groups, contribute to unnecessary migration and turnover, and other types of community problems, and add unnecessarily to the adjustment problem of older peoples and to the burden of providing financial support for them.

In the field of employment, the older worker's problem is two-fold; first, the most serious, finding a new job once he becomes unemployed; and second, compulsory retirement at an arbitrary age. Older workers who become unemployed often suffer excessively long periods of unemployment as is indicated by a much higher proportion of older workers unemployed for periods of 20 weeks and over and exhausting unemployment insurance benefits. Studies by the Department of Labor show that older workers are at a heavy disadvantage in competition with younger workers. This is true in practically all occupational categories and in all types of labor markets, including tight labor markets. Orders placed with local employment offices restrict referrals of applicants by some maximum age limitation, usually 45 for men and 35 for women, in about 50–70 percent of the cases, depending upon the local area. These data contrast with the common assumption that high employment, with the attendant competition for workers, offers a complete solution to the problems of older workers. Restrictive conditions are found in areas of tight and surplus labor supply. To the extent that employment policies and practices stand as barriers to the recruitment and effective utilization of older workers, such policies and practices are undesirable from the point of view of employers, employees, and the public as a whole.

II. Purpose. It is the purpose of this Manpower Policy to direct attention to the importance of employing and effectively utilizing older workers and to stimulate voluntary action by labor, management, and Government to modify unnecessary restrictions which limit the employment and utilization of older workers in both private and public employment.

III. Statement of policy. It is the policy of the Federal Government:

1. To promote the employment and effective utilization of older workers in public employment.

2. To encourage labor and management to adopt policies and practices which will promote the employment and effective utilization of older workers in private employment.

To aid in achieving increased employment opportunity and more effective utilization of older workers, it is recommended that the following policies be adopted and applied as rapidly as possible:

1. That selection of workers for employment or for training be made on the basis of individual ability and qualifications to perform the job, regardless of age.

2. That older women be given equal consideration with men for employment, on the basis of individual ability and qualifications to perform the job.

3. That, when their services are needed, older workers now employed who are eligible for retirement be encouraged to continue working at jobs for which they are qualified and able, and that retired workers who possess needed skills in critical occupations be encouraged to return to work to the greatest extent possible.

4. That workers who are subject to retirement or dismissal upon reaching a specified age be offered, where practicable, an opportunity to continue working at their regular jobs if they are still qualified to perform such jobs; that workers not qualified and able to continue their regular jobs be offered an opportunity to work at less exacting jobs wherever practicable.

5. That good labor standards, including health and safety measures and equal pay for comparable work be maintained as effective means of increasing the employment and effective utilization of older workers.

IV. Assignment of responsibility. It is recognized that labor and management share the primary responsibility for action designed to achieve the objectives of this policy. However, the Federal Government, through its appropriate agencies and in cooperation with labor, management, and other private groups, can promote the employment and utilization of older workers by providing assistance and leadership in the following fields of required action:

A. The Civil Service Commission shall:

1. In cooperation with other appropriate agencies of the Federal Government, explore the possibilities of: (a) Further modifying or eliminating maximum age provisions in required qualifications for civilian positions in the Federal Government; and (b) measures designed to increase the opportunities in Federal employment of qualified older workers.

2. With the cooperation of appropriate agencies of the Federal Government, investigate and make recommendations regarding the possibilities of re-employing retired workers whenever such employment would be of value to the Government.

B. The Federal Security Agency shall:

1. In cooperation with other concerned Federal agencies, continue to explore and make recommendations with respect to retirement insurance programs provided for by Federal legislation other than those systems covering Federal employees exclusively as to whether revisions are needed in such legislation to further the policy of the Federal Government to promote the employment and effective utilization of older workers when their services are needed.

2. Working with States and community groups, extend and improve rehabilitation of older workers, including the provision of assistance, encouragement, and retraining to older persons who have important skills which are in short supply (such as nurses and other health personnel, certain types of teachers, etc.).

3. In collaboration with other Federal agencies, primarily through the occupational health program of the U. S. Public Health Service, continue to exercise leadership in the promotion of high levels of health for older workers.

C. The Department of Labor and the Federal Security Agency shall:

1. Provide available information on pertinent provisions of collective bargaining agreements and related pension plans to management and unions desiring to make appropriate changes in private pension plans.

D. The Department of Labor shall:

1. With the cooperation of the Civil Service Commission, the Department of Commerce (National Production Authority), the Department of Defense, and the Federal Security Agency, collect and disseminate widely facts concerning the employment and utilization of older workers to employers and labor groups, and to Federal, state, and local public agencies.

2. Extend and improve counseling, placement and job analysis programs for older workers who are seeking work, are poorly adjusted in work, or are facing compulsory retirement. Special attention should be given to counseling older workers on ways and means of re-entering the labor market.

3. Encourage, provide technical assistance, and undertake studies designed to establish facts regarding the performance of older workers in paid employment and problems arising in connection with their employment. The fields requiring comprehensive study include: Productivity, turnover, absenteeism, accident rates, and mobility.

V. This policy shall take effect on August 14, 1952.

OFFICE OF DEFENSE MOBILIZATION,
JOHN R. STEELMAN,
Acting Director.

Chapter III—Office of Price Stabilization, Economic Stabilization Agency

[Ceiling Price Regulation 22, Supplementary Regulation 31]

CPR 22—MANUFACTURERS' GENERAL CEILING PRICE REGULATION

SR 31—ADJUSTMENTS IN CEILING PRICES OF MIXED FERTILIZERS ON BASIS OF INCREASED FREIGHT RATES

plementary Regulation 31 to Ceiling Price Regulation 22 is hereby issued.

STATEMENT OF CONSIDERATIONS

This supplementary regulation to Ceiling Price Regulation 22 is issued for the same reasons, and accomplishes the same objectives, as Supplementary Regulation 114 to the General Ceiling Price Regulation. The Statement of Considerations accompanying the issuance of that supplementary regulation is therefore incorporated herein.

Adjustment of Ceiling Price Regulation 22 ceiling prices is authorized under this supplementary regulation to reflect increased transportation costs based on increased freight rates since April 1, 1951, or since July 26, 1951, in the case of those producers of mixed fertilizers whose Ceiling Price Regulation 22 ceiling prices have already been adjusted under the Capehart Amendment.

In the formulation of this supplementary regulation there has been consultation with industry representatives, including industry trade association representatives, to the extent practicable, and consideration has been given to their recommendations. Formal consultation was held with the Mixed Fertilizers Industry Advisory Committee, and consideration has been given to its recommendations.

Sec.
1. What this supplementary regulation does.
2. Adjustment of Ceiling Price Regulation 22 ceiling prices.
3. Definitions and explanations.
4. Applicability of Ceiling Price Regulation 22.

AUTHORITY: Sections 1 to 4 issued under sec. 704, 64 Stat. 816, as amended; 50 U. S. C. App. Sup. 2154. Interpret or apply Title IV, 64 Stat. 803, as amended; 50 U. S. C. App. Sup. 2101–2110; E. O. 10161, Sept. 9, 1950, 15 F. R. 6105; 3 CFR, 1950 Supp.

SECTION 1. What this supplementary regulation does. This supplementary regulation applies to you if you are a manufacturer of mixed fertilizers whose ceiling prices for these mixed fertilizers are established under Ceiling Price Regulation 22. It permits you to adjust these ceiling prices to reflect increases in inbound freight costs of your raw materials, and in outbound freight costs incurred in delivering the mixed fertilizers to purchasers. This adjustment of ceiling prices may reflect increases in such freight costs only if these increases resulted from increases in freight rates which occurred since April 1, 1951, and which were approved by a governmental body empowered to do so. However, if your ceiling prices established under Ceiling Price Regulation 22 have been adjusted under Supplementary Regulation 17 or 18 to Ceiling Price Regulation 22 or General Overriding Regulation 20, your adjustments under this supplementary regulation may reflect only increases in freight costs resulting from increases in freight rates since July 26, 1951. The methods for computing the adjustment are set forth in section 2. The term "mixed fertilizer" is defined in section 3.

SEC. 2. Adjustment of Ceiling Price Regulation 22 ceiling prices. (a) You may adjust your ceiling prices of mixed fertilizer established under Ceiling Price Regulation 22 by adding to these ceiling prices an amount equal to your inbound freight adjustment or your outbound freight adjustment, as computed under subparagraphs (1) and (2) of this paragraph, or the sum of these adjustments.

(1) Inbound freight adjustment. You compute your adjustment for your increased costs of inbound freight for your raw materials used in the making of mixed fertilizer, as set forth below. Raw materials, for the purposes of these calculations, include only the nitrogenous material, superphosphate, potash materials and filler materials used in making the mixed fertilizers. You must calculate your inbound freight adjustment separately for each plant.

(i) Find the dollars and cents difference in the freight rate per ton between April 1, 1951, or July 26, 1951, if your ceiling prices have been adjusted pursuant to Supplementary Regulation 17 or 18 to Ceiling Price Regulation 22, or General Overriding Regulation 20, and the effective date of this regulation, applicable to each of the raw materials which you use in your mixed fertilizers. Determine this freight rate for both periods on the basis of your customary quantities purchased (such as carload, truckload, or bargeload), and your customary method of transportation from the nearest shipping point of your largest volume supplier of that particular raw material during the marketing season ending June 30, 1952.

(ii) Multiply the number of tons of each raw material used by you during your last complete fiscal year in the manufacture of all of your mixed fertilizers by the freight rate increase found in subdivision (i) of this subparagraph applicable to that raw material. The resultant figure will be the total amount of additional freight charges that you would have paid for that raw material had current freight rates been in effect during your entire fiscal year. Add the resultant figures for each raw material to get the total additional inbound freight charges for all of your raw materials.

(iii) Divide the dollars and cents amount which you have found under subdivision (ii) by the adjusted dollar sales of all of your mixed fertilizers during your last complete fiscal year. The resultant percentage will be the percentage of adjustment of the ceiling prices for your mixed fertilizers. Adjusted dollar sales means your gross sales realization, excluding commissions and discounts, but not excluding outbound freight costs contained in the selling price.

(iv) Apply to the ceiling price of each mixed fertilizer the percentage found in subdivision (iii). The resultant dollars and cents amount is your inbound freight adjustment which, together with the outbound freight adjustment computed under subparagraph (2), may be added to your Ceiling Price Regulation 22 ceiling prices for that commodity.

(2) Outbound freight adjustment. If you sell mixed fertilizer on a delivered or freight equalized basis, you may make an outbound freight adjustment in your ceiling prices for mixed fertilizer, which you compute in the manner set forth below. Make a separate determination for each marketing area in which you customarily quote a uniform delivered price.

(i) Select the month in 1952, prior to the effective date of this regulation, in which the largest volume of mixed fertilizers was shipped by you by carrier, as that term is defined in section 3, and determine the tonnage shipped by carrier during that month.

(ii) Determine the freight costs for that tonnage at freight rates in effect on April 1, 1951, or July 26, 1951, if your ceiling prices have been adjusted under the provisions of Supplementary Regulation 17 or 18 to Ceiling Price Regulation 22, or General Overriding Regulation 20.

(iii) Make the same determination at freight rates in effect on the effective date of this regulation.

(iv) Subtract the amount found in subdivision (ii) from the amount found in subdivision (iii) of this subparagraph.

(v) Divide the difference found in subdivision (iv) by the adjusted dollar sales of the tonnage of your mixed fertilizers found in subdivision (i). The resultant percentage will be the percentage of adjustment of the ceiling price for your mixed fertilizer. Adjusted dollar sales mean your gross sales realization, excluding commissions and discounts, but not excluding outbound freight costs contained in the selling price.

(vi) Apply to the ceiling price of each mixed fertilizer the percentage found in subdivision (v). The resultant dollars and cents amount is your outbound freight adjustment.

(b) Rounding of ceiling prices. You may round your ceiling prices adjusted under paragraph (a) to the nearest five cents. If you elect to round any of your ceiling prices under this paragraph, you must round all of them.

(c) Records supporting your calculations. You may not adjust any ceiling prices under paragraph (a) of this section unless your calculations of such adjustments are supported by carriers' invoices, freight bills, or other statements of transportation charges; records of your purchases of raw materials which provided the bases for your calculations under paragraph (a) (1) of this section; and records of your deliveries of mixed fertilizers which provided the bases for your calculations under paragraph (a) (2) of this section. In addition, you must prepare a worksheet showing in detail how you calculated your adjustments. You must keep such invoices, freight bills, statements, records, and worksheets for so long as Title IV of the Defense Production Act of 1950, as amended, is in effect, and for two years thereafter.

SEC. 3. Definitions and explanations. When used in this supplementary regulation, the term:

(a) You. "You" means a manufacturer of mixed fertilizers. "Your" and "yours" are construed accordingly.

(b) Person. "Person" includes any individual, corporation, partnership, association or any other organized group of persons, or legal successor or representative of any of the foregoing, and the United States or any other government or their political subdivisions or agencies.

(c) Manufacturer of mixed fertilizer. A "manufacturer of mixed fertilizer" is a person who produces, mixes or processes mixed fertilizer.

(d) Mixed fertilizer. "Mixed fertilizer" means any substance containing any two or more of the basic fertilizer materials, namely, nitrogenous material, superphosphate and potash, when marketed or sold as an aid to the growth of crops or plants. The term does not include, however, any such substance sold in packages or containers of less than 80 pounds net weight, or containers of a gallon or less.

(e) Freight rates. "Freight rates" means the authorized or published tariffs for transportation of commodities by carriers, including excise taxes applicable thereto.

(f) Carrier. "Carrier" means a common or contract carrier by rail, or by water, or by truck, or any combination of common or contract carrier, whose rates are established or approved by the Interstate Commerce Commission, or a State regulatory body having jurisdiction by law to establish freight rates for common or contract carriers, or by the Director of Price Stabilization.

(g) Ton. "Ton" means 2,000 pounds net weight.

SEC. 4. Applicability of Ceiling Price Regulation 22. All the provisions of Ceiling Price Regulation 22 remain applicable to you in your sales of mixed fertilizers covered by this supplementary regulation, except as those provisions are modified and supplemented by this supplementary regulation. The ceiling prices adjusted under this supplementary regulation shall be deemed to be ceiling prices established under Ceiling Price Regulation 22.

Effective date. This supplementary regulation is effective August 13, 1952.

NOTE: The record-keeping requirements of this regulation have been approved by the Bureau of the Budget in accordance with the Federal Reports Act of 1942.

Director of Price Stabilization.

GCPR, SR 114—ADJUSTMENTS IN CEILING PRICES OF MIXED FERTILIZERS ON BASIS OF INCREASED FREIGHT RATES

Pursuant to the Defense Production Act of 1950, as amended, Executive Order 10161, and Economic Stabilization Agency General Order No. 2, this Supplementary Regulation 114 to the General Ceiling Price Regulation is hereby issued.

STATEMENT OF CONSIDERATIONS

This supplementary regulation to the General Ceiling Price Regulation permits all manufacturers of mixed fertilizers, whose ceiling prices for sales of these commodities are established under the General Ceiling Price Regulation, to adjust these ceiling prices to reflect increases in their in-bound freight rates for their raw materials and in their outbound freight costs incurred in delivering the mixed fertilizers to purchasers. The increases which provide the bases for this adjustment are those which result from increases in freight rates between April 1, 1951, and the effective date of this regulation and which have been approved or authorized by a governmental body empowered to do so. Where a manufacturer's ceiling prices for his sales of mixed fertilizers have been adjusted pursuant to General Overriding Regulation 20 or 21, his adjustment under this regulation is based on freight rate increases which occurred since July 26, 1951. The regulation sets forth certain methods for computing the in-bound and out-bound freight adjustments, and permits such adjustments only where certain records are kept which support the manufacturer's calculations of these adjustments.

Increases in rail freight rates, authorized since April 1, 1951, have totaled 15 per cent, with some exceptions. Other freight rates have also increased since that date. Mixed fertilizers are generally sold on a delivered basis. They are bulky materials and the costs of transportation are high. They are, in turn, made from materials of similar characteristics such as nitrogenous materials, superphosphate and potash, and the costs of transporting these raw materials are likewise high. Potash, an essential raw material for mixed fertilizer, is not only a heavy commodity, but is produced in limited areas, such as Carlsbad, New Mexico, and Trona, California, thus requiring long hauls to the points of production of mixed fertilizer.

The raw materials which go into the production of mixed fertilizer account for 50 to 70 per cent of the selling price of the finished product, and one-third of the cost of the raw materials represents the cost of inbound transportation. Outbound freight costs represents from 5 to 12 per cent of the cost of the finished product to the consumer. Both in and outbound freight costs account for 22 to 29 per cent of the final price charged the consumer for mixed fertilizer. Increases in these costs substantially affect the total costs of producing mixed fertilizer.

In general, producers are required to absorb both transportation and other cost increases within the limits of the Industry Earnings Standard and the Product Standard. In the case of mixed fertilizer, however, the net increase in transportation cost is a very substantial percentage of the profit margin. Information available to the Director thus far indicates that profit margins have been decreased by approximately 30 to 50 per cent as a result of freight rate increases. This decrease, superimposed upon a decline in unit profits of about 50 per cent since 1947, furnishes grounds for the belief that the earnings of the mixed fertilizer industry have been reduced below the minimum requirements of the Earnings or Product Standard. Ordinarily, in such a situation, the Office of Price Stabilization would make a financial survey of the industry's earnings, or a study of the cost-price relationship, in order to determine the exact amount of any price increase which would be required under these standards. Such studies require a considerable expenditure of the Agency's resources, as well as a considerable amount of time. The importance of mixed fertilizers to the agricultural economy is such as to require that there be no obstacles to maximum production of mixed fertilizers and to a balanced geographical distribution of these commodities. Since these commodities are generally sold on a delivered basis, increases in freight costs induce producers to withdraw from markets distant from their production points, and there are indications that this may already be taking place.

The problem has been discussed with the Industry Advisory Committee and the Committee's members have urged upon this office the need for quick action, and have indicated willingness to absorb other cost increases pending further study, provided quick action is taken on the freight rate increase problem.

On the basis of the advice received from the Industry Advisory Committee and other information now available, the Director of Price Stabilization is of the opinion that a pass-through of the freight rate increases, which have occurred since April 1, 1951, should be allowed, pending further study of the application of the Industry Earnings Standard and the Product Standard. It is believed that this pass-through will afford the industry sufficient relief to permit it to continue maximum production and to maintain its traditional distribution pattern.

The mixed fertilizers covered by this regulation are those sold in large quantities and, for the most part, are used by farmers in the production of crops on a commercial basis. Mixed fertilizers sold in small packages for home garden use are generally specialty products, commanding a higher profit margin than that commanded by most mixed fertilizers sold. Because of this fact, this supplementary regulation does not permit adjustments of the ceiling prices of mixed fertilizers sold in packages of less than 80 pounds net weight or in containers of a gallon or less.

In the formulation of this supplementary regulation there has been consultation with industry representatives, including trade association representatives, to the extent practicable, and consideration has been given to their recommendations. This consultation has included a meeting with the Mixed Fertilizer Industry Advisory Committee, as previously indicated.

A companion supplemental regulation to Ceiling Price Regulation 22 is being issued to afford similar relief to manufacturers of mixed fertilizers whose ceiling prices are established under that regulation.

Sec.
1. What this supplementary regulation does.
2. Adjustment of General Ceiling Price Regulation ceiling prices.
3. Definitions and explanations.
4. Applicability of the General Ceiling Price Regulation.

SEC. 5. Adjustment of General Ceiling Price Regulation ceiling prices. (a) You may adjust your ceiling prices established under General Ceiling Price Regulation by adding to these ceiling prices an amount equal to your inbound freight adjustment or your outbound freight adjustment, as computed under subparagraphs (1) and (2) of this paragraph, or the sum of these adjustments.

(1) Inbound freight adjustment. You compute your adjustment for your increased costs of inbound freight for your raw materials used in the making of mixed fertilizer, as set forth below. Raw materials, for the purposes of these calculations, include only the nitrogenous material, superphosphate, potash materials and filler materials used in making the mixed fertilizers. You must calculate your inbound freight adjustment separately for each plant.

(i) Find the dollars and cents difference in the freight rate per ton between April 1, 1951, or July 26, 1951, if your ceiling prices have been adjusted pursuant to Supplementary Regulation 17 or 18 to Ceiling Price Regulation 22, or General Overriding Regulation 20, and the effective date of this regulation, applicable to each of the raw materials which you use in your mixed fertilizers. Determine this freight rate for both periods on the basis of your customary quantities purchased (such as carload, truckload, or bargeload), and your customary method of transportation from the nearest shipping point of your largest volume supplier of that particular raw material during the marketing season ending June 30, 1952.

(ii) Multiply the number of tons of each raw material used by you during your last complete fiscal year in the manufacture of all of your mixed fertilizers by the freight rate increase found in subdivision (i) of this subparagraph applicable to that raw material. The resultant figure will be the total amount of additional freight charges that you would have paid for that raw material had current freight rates been in effect during your entire fiscal year. Add the resultant figures for each raw material to get the total additional inbound freight charges for all of your raw materials.

(iii) Divide the dollars and cents amount which you have found under subdivision (ii) by the adjusted dollar sales of all of your mixed fertilizers during your last complete fiscal year. The resultant percentage will be the percentage of adjustment of the ceiling prices for your mixed fertilizers. Adjusted dollar sales means your gross sales realization, excluding commissions and discounts, but not excluding outbound freight costs contained in the selling price.

(iv) Apply to the ceiling price of each mixed fertilizer the percentage found in subdivision (iii). The resultant dollars and cents amount is your inbound freight adjustment which, together with the outbound freight adjustment computed under subparagraph (2), may be added to your Ceiling Price Regulation ceiling prices for that commodity.

(2) Outbound freight adjustment. If you sell mixed fertilizer on a delivered or freight equalized basis, you may make an outbound freight adjustment in your ceiling prices for mixed fertilizer, which you compute in the manner set forth below. Make a separate determination for each marketing area in which you customarily quote a uniform delivered price.

(i) Select the month in 1952, prior to the effective date of this regulation, in which the largest volume of mixed fertilizers was shipped by you by carrier, as that term is defined in section 3, and determine the tonnage shipped by carrier during that month.

(ii) Determine the freight costs for that tonnage at freight rates in effect on April 1, 1951, or July 26, 1951, if your ceiling prices have been adjusted under the provisions of Supplementary Regulation 17 or 18 to Ceiling Price Regulation 22, or General Overriding Regulation 20.

(iii) Make the same determination at freight rates in effect on the effective date of this regulation.

(iv) Subtract the amount found in subdivision (ii) from the amount found in subdivision (iii) of this subparagraph.

(v) Divide the difference found in subdivision (iv) by the adjusted dollar sales of the tonnage of your mixed fertilizers found in subdivision (i). The resultant percentage will be the percentage of adjustment of the ceiling price for your mixed fertilizer. Adjusted dollar sales mean your gross sales realization, excluding commissions and discounts, but not excluding outbound freight costs contained in the selling price.

(vi) Apply to the ceiling price of each mixed fertilizer the percentage found in subdivision (v). The resultant dollars and cents amount is your outbound freight adjustment.

(b) Rounding of ceiling prices. You may round your ceiling prices adjusted under paragraph (a) to the nearest five cents. If you elect to round any of your ceiling prices under this paragraph, you must round all of them.

(c) Records supporting your calculations. You may not adjust any ceiling prices under paragraph (a) of this section unless your calculations of such adjustments are supported by carriers' invoices, freight bills, or other statements of transportation charges; records of your purchases of raw materials which provided the bases for your calculations under paragraph (a) (1) of this section; and records of your deliveries of mixed fertilizers which provided the bases for your calculations under paragraph (a) (2) of this section. In addition, you must prepare a worksheet showing in detail how you calculated your adjustments. You must keep such invoices, freight bills, statements, records, and worksheets for so long as Title IV of the Defense Production Act of 1950, as amended, is in effect, and for two years thereafter.

SEC. 6. Definitions and explanations. When used in this supplementary regulation, the term:

(a) You. "You" means a manufacturer of mixed fertilizers. "Your" and "yours" are construed accordingly.

(b) Person. "Person" includes any individual, corporation, partnership, association or any other organized group of persons, or legal successor or representative of any of the foregoing, and the United States or any other government or their political subdivisions or agencies.

(d) Mixed fertilizer. "Mixed fertilizer" means any substance containing any two or more of the basic fertilizer materials, namely, nitrogenous material, superphosphate and potash, when marketed or sold as an aid to the growth of crops or plants. The term does not include, however, any such substance sold in packages or containers of less than 80 pounds net weight, or containers of a gallon or less.

(e) Freight rates. "Freight rates" means the authorized or published tariffs for transportation of commodities by carriers, including excise taxes applicable thereto.

(f) Carrier. "Carrier" means a common or contract carrier by rail, or by water, or by truck, or any combination of common or contract carrier, whose rates are established or approved by the Interstate Commerce Commission, or a State regulatory body having jurisdiction by law to establish freight rates for common or contract carriers, or by the Director of Price Stabilization.

(g) Ton. "Ton" means 2,000 pounds net weight.

SEC. 7. Applicability of General Ceiling Price Regulation. All the provisions of General Ceiling Price Regulation remain applicable to you in your sales of mixed fertilizers covered by this supplementary regulation, except as those provisions are modified and supplemented by this supplementary regulation. The ceiling prices adjusted under this supplementary regulation shall be deemed to be ceiling prices established under General Ceiling Price Regulation.

Effective date. This supplementary regulation is effective August 13, 1952.

SECTION 1. What this supplementary regulation does. This supplementary regulation applies to you if you are a manufacturer of mixed fertilizers whose ceiling prices for these mixed fertilizers are established under the General Ceiling Price Regulation. It permits you to adjust these ceiling prices to reflect increases in inbound freight costs of your raw materials, and outbound freight cost incurred in delivering the mixed fertilizers to purchasers. This adjustment of ceiling prices may reflect increases in such freight costs only if these increases resulted from increases in freight rates which occurred since April 1, 1951, and which were approved by a governmental body empowered to do so. If you have adjusted your General Ceiling Price Regulation ceiling prices under the provisions of General Overriding Regulation 20 or 21, your adjustments under the supplementary regulation may reflect only such freight rate increases which occurred after July 26, 1951. The methods for computing the adjustment are set forth in section 2. The term "mixed fertilizer" is defined in section 3.

SEC. 2. Adjustment of General Ceiling Price Regulation ceiling prices. (a) You may adjust your ceiling prices established under the General Ceiling Price Regulation for sales of mixed fertilizer by adding to these ceiling prices an amount equal to your inbound freight adjustment or your outbound freight adjustment, as computed under subparagraphs (1) and (2) of this paragraph, or the sum of these adjustments.

(1) Inbound freight adjustment. You compute your adjustment for your increased costs of inbound freight for your raw materials used in the making of mixed fertilizer as set forth below. Raw materials, for the purposes of these calculations, include only the nitrogenous material, superphosphate, potash materials and filler materials used in making the mixed fertilizers. You must calculate your inbound freight adjustment separately for each plant.

(i) Find the dollars and cents difference in the freight rate per ton between April 1, 1951 (or July 26, 1951, if your ceiling prices have been adjusted under General Overriding Regulation 20 or 21), and the effective date of this regulation applicable to each of the raw materials which you use in your mixed fertilizers. Determine this freight rate for both periods on the basis of your customary quantities purchased (such as carload, truckload or bargeload), and your customary method of transportation from the nearest shipping point of your largest volume supplier of that particular raw material during the marketing season ending June 30, 1952.

(ii) Multiply the number of tons of each raw material used by you during your last complete fiscal year in the manufacture of all of your mixed fertilizers by the freight rate increase found in subdivision (i) applicable to that raw material. The resultant figure will be the total amount of additional freight charges that you would have paid for that raw material had current freight rates been in effect during your entire fiscal year. Add the resultant figures for each raw material to get the total additional inbound freight charges for all of your raw materials.

(iii) Divide the dollars and cents amount which you have found under subdivision (ii) by the adjusted dollar sales of all of your mixed fertilizers during your last complete fiscal year. The resultant percentage will be the percentage of adjustment of the ceiling prices for your mixed fertilizers. Adjusted dollar sales means your gross sales realization, excluding commissions and discounts, but not excluding outbound freight costs contained in the selling price.

(iv) Apply to the ceiling price of each mixed fertilizer the percentage found in subdivision (iii). The resultant dollars and cents amount is your inbound freight adjustment which, together with the outbound freight adjustment computed under subparagraph (2), may be added to your General Ceiling Price Regulation ceiling prices for that commodity.

(2) Outbound freight adjustment. If you sell mixed fertilizer on a delivered or freight equalized basis, you may make an outbound freight adjustment in your ceiling prices for mixed fertilizer, which you compute in the manner set forth below. Make a separate determination for each marketing area in which you customarily quote a uniform delivered price.

(i) Select the month in 1952, prior to the effective date of this regulation, in which the largest volume of mixed fertilizers was shipped by you, by carrier, as that term is defined in section 3, and determine the tonnage shipped by carrier during that month.

(ii) Determine the freight costs for that tonnage at freight rates in effect on April 1, 1951, (or July 26, 1951, if your ceiling prices have been adjusted under General Overriding Regulation 20 or 21).

(iii) Make the same determination at freight rates in effect on the effective date of this regulation.

(iv) Subtract the amount found in subdivision (ii) of this subparagraph from the amount found in subdivision (iii).

(v) Divide the difference found in subdivision (iv) by the adjusted dollar sales of the tonnage of your mixed fertilizers found in subdivision (i). The resultant percentage will be the percentage of adjustment of the ceiling price for your mixed fertilizer. Adjusted dollar sales mean your gross sales realization, excluding commissions and discounts, but not excluding outbound freight costs contained in the selling price.

(vi) Apply to the ceiling price of each mixed fertilizer the percentage found in subdivision (v). The resultant dollars and cents amount is your outbound freight adjustment.

(b) Rounding of ceiling prices. You may round your ceiling prices adjusted under paragraph (a) of this section to the nearest five cents. If you elect to round any of your ceiling prices under this paragraph, you must round all of them.

(c) Records supporting your calculations. You may not adjust any ceiling prices under paragraph (a) of this section unless your calculations of such adjustments are supported by carriers' invoices, freight bills or other statements of transportation charges; records of your purchases of raw materials which provided the bases for your calculations under paragraph (a) (1) of this section; and records of your deliveries of mixed fertilizers which provided the bases for your calculations under paragraph (a) (2) of this section. In addition, you must prepare a worksheet showing in detail how you calculated your adjustments. You must keep such invoices, freight bills, statements, records, and worksheets for so long as Title IV of the Defense Production Act of 1950, as amended, is in effect, and for two years thereafter.

SEC. 3. Definitions and explanations. When used in this supplementary regulation, the term:

(a) You. "You" means a manufacturer of mixed fertilizers, "your" and "yours" are construed accordingly.

(b) Person. "Person" includes any individual, corporation, partnership, association or any other organized group of persons, or legal successor or representative of any of the foregoing, and the United States or any other government or their political subdivisions or agencies.

(c) Manufacturer of mixed fertilizers. A "manufacturer of mixed fertilizers" is a person who produces, mixes or processes mixed fertilizer.

(d) Mixed fertilizer. "Mixed fertilizer" means any substance containing any two or more of the basic fertilizer materials, namely, nitrogenous material, superphosphate and potash, when marketed or sold as an aid to the growth of crops or plants. The term does not include, however, any such substance sold in packages or containers of less than 80 pounds net weight, or containers of a gallon or less.

(e) Freight rates. "Freight rates" means the authorized or published tariffs for transportation of commodities by carriers, including excise taxes applicable thereto.

(f) Carrier. "Carrier" means a common or contract carrier by rail, or by water, or by truck, or any combination of common or contract carrier, whose rates are established or approved by the Interstate Commerce Commission, or a State regulatory body having jurisdiction by law to establish freight rates for common or contract carriers, or by the Director of Price Stabilization.

(g) Ton. "Ton" means 2,000 pounds net weight.

SEC. 4. Applicability of the General Ceiling Price Regulation. All the provisions of the General Ceiling Price Regulation remain applicable to you in your sales of mixed fertilizers covered by this supplementary regulation, except as these provisions are modified and supplemented by this supplementary regulation. The ceiling prices determined under this supplementary regulation shall be deemed to be ceiling prices established under the General Ceiling Price Regulation.

Effective date. This supplementary regulation is effective August 13, 1952.

NOTE: The record-keeping requirements of this regulation have been approved by the Bureau of the Budget in accordance with the Federal Reports Act of 1942.

ELLIS ARNALL,
Director of Price Stabilization.

Chapter IV—Salary and Wage Stabilization, Economic Stabilization Agency

Subchapter A—Salary Stabilization Board

[Interpretation 5, Amdt. 1]

INT. 5—AUTHORIZED ADJUSTMENTS IN SALARIES AND OTHER COMPENSATION UNDER GENERAL SALARY ORDER 6, AS AMENDED

MISCELLANEOUS AMENDMENTS

This amendment is designed to set forth substitute methods of computation, allowable under section 5 of General Salary Order 6, as amended, of the percentage increase in base compensation granted in a payroll period, which may be used by employers without prior approval of the Office of Salary Stabilization.

Interpretation 5 is amended by the addition of the following paragraphs:

5.2 Q. An employer grants an across-the-board percentage increase in base compensation of the kind specified in paragraph 2.2 to all employees in the Wage Stabilization Board Group in a single payroll period. He grants no other increases of this kind on a non-uniform or non-percentage basis in the same payroll period. In this specific situation, may this percentage increase be used, without further computation, as the percentage increase in base compensation granted to the Wage Stabilization Board Group in this payroll period under the formula set forth in General Salary Order 6, as amended?

A. Yes.

Example: Between January 25, 1951, and June 30, 1952, the Wage Stabilization Board Group received a few scattered individual increases and an across-the-board increase of three (3) percent granted in the payroll period ending June 30, 1952. The employer has not granted any increases in base compensation, of the kind taken into account under GSO-6, to the Salary Stabilization Board Group during this period. He may give a three (3) percent increase to the Salary Stabilization Board Group on June 30, 1952, if, as of June 30, 1952, the gross percentage increase granted to the Wage Stabilization Board Group exceeds the gross percentage increase granted to the Salary Stabilization Board Group by three (3) percent. In determining the gross percentage increase granted to the Wage Stabilization Board Group to June 30, 1952, the employer may, at his option, disregard minor increases granted in other payroll periods during the period covered by the computation. However, by so doing, the employer gives up the right to use these minor increases in any subsequent computation. (See paragraph 2.8.)

5.3 Q. If the percentage increase granted to all the employees in the Wage Stabilization Board Group (see paragraph 5.2) had been based upon the average hourly rate of compensation for these employees rather than their total base compensation during the payroll period, would the employer, without further computation, be able to use the percentage increase in the average hourly rate as the percentage increase granted in the payroll period to the Wage Stabilization Board Group under the formula set forth in General Salary Order 6, as amended?

A. Yes.

5.4 Q. An employer has 50 employees in the Wage Stabilization Board Group and grants a one and one-half (1½) percent cost-of-living increase to 40 of these employees but does not grant such increase to the remaining ten employees. Based on this increase, how is the percentage increase granted to the entire Wage Stabilization Board Group computed?

A. Step 1. Obtain the total dollar amount of the increase granted to the 40 employees by multiplying their combined base compensation by one and one-half (1½) percent.

Step 2. Divide the figure obtained in Step 1 by the total base compensation of all 50 Wage Stabilization Board Group employees. The resultant figure is the percentage increase granted to the entire Wage Stabilization Board Group.

5.5 Q. An employer has 120 employees in his Wage Stabilization Board Group. One hundred of these employees are in Division A and 20 are in Division B. The average wage for employees in Division A is $70 per week and the average wage for Division B is $40 per week. All employees in Division A receive an increase in base compensation of one percent and all employees in Division B receive an authorized increase in base compensation of four percent. What is the proper method of computation of the percentage increase for the entire Wage Stabilization Board Group?

A. Step 1. Compute the total base compensation and the total amount of increase as follows:

	Number of employees	Average base compensation per week	Total base compensation	Percent increase	Amount of increase
Division A	100×	$70=	$7,000×	1%=	$70
Division B	20×	40=	800×	4%=	32
Total Wage Stabilization Board Group			7,800		102

Step 2. Divide the total dollar amount of the increase ($102) by the total base compensation ($7,800). The resultant figure, 1.3 percent, is the percentage increase for the Wage Stabilization Board Group.

5.6 Q. If an employer's records show the base compensation of the Wage Stabilization Board Group most clearly in terms of hourly wage rates, may he compute the percentage increase for the Wage Stabilization Board Group in terms of a percentage increase in the hourly wage rates?

A. Yes.

§ 6.115 Cash value, other than 5-year level premium term policy. Provisions for cash value, paid-up insurance, and extended term insurance, except as provided in § 6.105 (b), shall become effective at the completion of the first policy year on any plan of United States Government life insurance other than the 5-year level premium term plan; all values, reserves, and net single premiums being based on the American Experience Table of Mortality, with interest at the rate of 3½ percent per annum. The cash value at the end of the first policy year and at the end of any policy year thereafter, for which premiums have been paid in full or waived, shall be the reserve together with any dividend accumulations. For each month after the first policy year, for which month a premium has been paid or waived, the reserve at the end of the preceding policy year shall be increased by one-twelfth of the increase in reserve for the current policy year. Upon written request therefor and upon complete surrender of the policy with all claims thereunder, made by the insured while the policy is in force, but not later than 3 calendar months from the due date of the premium in default, the United States will pay to the insured the cash value of the policy less any indebtedness, provided the policy has been in force by payment or waiver of the premiums for at least 1 year. A surrender will be deemed completed on the date the check for the cash value is mailed to the insured's last known address of record: Provided, That the application has not been revoked, or the policy has not matured on or prior to said date: Provided further, That if the insurance is surrendered pursuant to section 5 of the Servicemen's Indemnity Act of 1951, the surrender shall be effective as of the date written request therefor is delivered to the Veterans' Administration. PROPOSED RULE MAKING

DEPARTMENT OF THE INTERIOR

Fish and Wildlife Service

[50 CFR Ch. I]

IMPORTATION OF WILD BIRD FEATHERS

NOTICE OF PROPOSED RULE MAKING

The act of July 17, 1952 (Pub. Law 580, 82d Cong., 66 Stat. 755), which will become effective at midnight, August 16, 1952, amends paragraph 1518 of the Tariff Act of 1930 (19 U. S. C., sec. 1001, par. 1518), so as to effect certain changes in the provisions thereof which prohibit the importation of the feathers of wild birds. Section 1 of the act amends paragraph 1518 by inserting "(a)" after "1518." and by striking out the two provisos at the end of the first subparagraph and all of the second subparagraph, and by inserting in lieu thereof new subparagraphs (b) to (f), inclusive.

Subparagraph (b) prohibits the importation of the feathers or skin of any bird except as provided in subparagraphs (c) and (d). Subparagraph (c) provides that the prohibition against importation shall not apply in certain designated circumstances which are not material for the purposes of this notice. Subparagraph (d) provides that there may be entered, or withdrawn from warehouse, for consumption in each calendar year the following quotas of skins bearing feathers:

(1) For use in the manufacture of artificial flies used for fishing: (A) not more than 5,000 skins of grey jungle fowl (Gallus sonneratii), and (B) not more than 1,000 skins of mandarin duck (Dendronessa galericulata); and

(2) For use in the manufacture of artificial flies used for fishing, or for millinery purposes, not more than 45,000 skins, in the aggregate, of the following species of pheasant: Lady Amherst pheasant (Chrysolophus amherstiae), golden pheasant (Chrysolophus pictus), silver pheasant (Lophura nycthemera), Reeves pheasant (Syrmaticus reevesii), blue-eared pheasant (Crossoptilon auritum), and brown-eared pheasant (Crossoptilon mantchuricum).

Under the terms of section 4 of the act, the import quotas set out above, which ordinarily would be for a full calendar year, will be available for the period beginning on August 17, 1952, and ending on December 31, 1952.

Subparagraph (e) provides that no article specified in subparagraph (d) shall be entered, or withdrawn from warehouse, for consumption except under a permit issued by the Secretary of the Interior. The said subparagraph (e) further provides that the Secretary of the Interior shall prescribe such regulations as may be necessary to carry out the purposes and provisions of subparagraph (d), including regulations providing for equitable allocation among qualified applicants of the import quotas established by such subparagraph.

Pursuant to section 4 (a) of the Administrative Procedure Act, approved June 11, 1946 (60 Stat. 237), and in anticipation of the effective date, midnight, August 16, 1952, of the amendments to paragraph 1518 of the Tariff Act of 1930 made by the said act of July 17, 1952, notice is hereby given that the Secretary of the Interior proposes to take the following action:

To devise and adopt procedures under which permits may be applied for and issued for the entry, or withdrawal from warehouse for consumption, of the articles specified in subparagraph (d), and to adopt regulations providing for equitable allocation among qualified applicants of the import quotas established by such subparagraph.

The public generally and, in particular, importers, dealers, distributors, processors, manufacturers, and others who, directly or indirectly, may be interested or engaged in the manufacture of artificial flies used for fishing, or the manufacture of millinery products, and may desire to share in the allocation ultimately to be made of the import quotas established by the said subparagraph (d), are hereby invited to participate in the preparation of the proposed regulations by submitting their views, data, or arguments in writing to Albert M. Day, Director, Fish and Wildlife Service, Washington 25, D. C., on or before September 2, 1952.

Issued at Washington, D. C., this eighth day of August 1952.

Prior to the final issuance of such rule, consideration will be given to data, views, or arguments pertaining thereto which are submitted in writing to the Director, Fruit and Vegetable Branch, Production and Marketing Administration, United States Department of Agriculture, Washington 25, D. C., and which are received not later than the close of business on the tenth day after publication of this notice in the FEDERAL REGISTER, except that if the tenth day after publication should fall on a holiday, Saturday, or Sunday, such submission may be received by the Director not later than the close of business on the next following work day.

Pursuant to the provisions of the aforesaid agreement and order, the Almond Control Board, the administrative agency thereunder, has transmitted to the Secretary of Agriculture its estimates relating to production, handler carryover, trade demand for almonds, and its recommendation as to salable and surplus percentages to be fixed for the crop year beginning July 1, 1952.

The Department has considered the Almond Control Board's estimates, and the following summary of the almond supply and demand situation, in terms of kernel weight, is based on such estimates and other available information: (1) 1952 California production 37,000,000 pounds; (2) trade demand for California almonds for the crop year beginning July 1, 1952, 39,950,000 pounds; (3) carry in by packers and shellers on July 1, 1952, 11,500,000 pounds; (4) portion of trade demand to be satisfied from 1952 California crop (item 2 minus item 3) 28,450,000 pounds; (5) quantity of 1952 California crop available for handling, with salable percentage of 85 percent (85 percent of item 1) 31,450,000 pounds; (6) estimated carry out June 30, 1953 (item 5 minus item 4) 3,000,000 pounds.

On the basis of information now available to the Department, a salable percentage of 85 percent would make sufficient almonds available to satisfy the estimated trade demand and provide an adequate quantity to be carried over by handlers on June 30, 1953.

Therefore, such proposed administrative rule is as follows:

§ 909.202 Salable and surplus percentages for almonds during the crop year beginning July 1, 1952. The salable and surplus percentages during the crop year beginning July 1, 1952, applicable to almonds, edible kernel weight basis, received by handlers for their own accounts, shall be 85 percent and 15 percent, respectively.

Issued at Washington, D. C., this 8th day of August 1952.

Director,
Fruit and Vegetable Branch.

A hearing having been held in the above-entitled matter on the 10th day of June 1952 before Honorable Frederick J. Moreau, a Hearing Commissioner of the National Production Authority, on the statement of charges made by the National Production Authority pursuant to General Administrative Order 16–06 (16 F. R. 8628) dated July 21, 1951, and Implementation 1 thereto (16 F. R. 8799); and Respondent Chandeysson Electric Company having been duly apprised of the specific violations charged, and having been fully informed of the rules and procedures which govern these proceedings and the administrative action which may be taken; and Chandeysson Electric Company having appeared herein by its attorney, R. Forder Buckley, 506 Olive Street, St. Louis, Mo., and Chandeysson Electric Company having stipulated on the 10th day of June 1952 to a stipulation of facts to be filed in these proceedings in lieu of the presentation of other evidence in support and in opposition to the statement of charges; and said stipulation and the respective statements of counsel having been duly considered, it is hereby determined as follows:

That during the period commencing December 12, 1951, and ending May 26, 1952, Chandeysson Electric Company, a Missouri Corporation, accepted deliveries of items of carbon steel and items of copper, upon the receipt of which its inventory of said items and each of them became and were in excess of the quantities of such items necessary to meet its deliveries, supply its services, and perform its operations on the basis of its then currently scheduled method and rate of operation, resulting in excess inventories of items of steel amounting to 281 tons and excess inventories in items of copper amounting to 91,948 pounds.

2. That Exhibit II attached to the stipulation of facts received in evidence herein further discloses that Respondent's inventories of the aforesaid controlled materials listed by size and shape exceeded its estimated requirements through the third quarter 1952 in the amount therein stated, except as to the following items as to each of which Respondent's inventory as of May 26, 1952, is below a reasonable estimate of its requirements through said third quarter of 1952, to wit:

PHILADELPHIA CO.

ORDER GRANTING AUTHORITY TO RENEW BANK LOAN NOTES

AUGUST 8, 1952.

Philadelphia Company ("Philadelphia"), a registered holding company and a subsidiary of Standard Gas and Electric Company and Standard Power and Light Corporation, both registered holding companies, having filed a declaration pursuant to sections 6 (a) and 7 of the act with respect to the following transaction:

On August 21, 1950, the Commission issued its findings, opinion, and order (Holding Company Act Release No. 10044), which among other things permitted Philadelphia to issue bank loan notes, aggregating $17,500,000 to Mellon National Bank and Trust Co. of Pittsburgh, Pennsylvania, Chase National Bank of the City of New York, New York, Continental Illinois National Bank and Trust Company of Chicago, Illinois, and Harris Trust and Savings Bank of Chicago, Illinois. The notes, which were issued on August 23, 1950, provide for maturity one year after issuance, with an option on Philadelphia's part to renew them for two further periods of one year each, and for an interest rate of 2 percent per annum for the first year and, if renewed, 2⅛ percent thereafter. Said order of August 21, 1950, prohibited Philadelphia from extending the maturity of any of the bank loan notes without securing a further order of this Commission permitting such extension.

On July 31, 1951, Philadelphia prepaid $1,500,000 of said bank loan notes. On August 23, 1951, it renewed the remainder of said notes, in accordance with an order of this Commission, dated August 10, 1951 (Holding Company Act Release No. 10718), in the aggregate amount of $16,000,000, for a further period of one year from August 23, 1951. Philadelphia now proposes to renew such notes, in accordance with their terms, for another period of one year from August 23, 1952.

Philadelphia states that the expenses in connection with the proposed transaction will be nominal. It requests that the Commission's order herein become effective upon issuance.

Appropriate notice of said filing having been given in the form and manner prescribed by Rule U-23 promulgated pursuant to the act, and the Commission not having received a request for a hearing with respect to said declaration within the period specified in said notice, or otherwise, and not having ordered a hearing thereon; and

The Commission finding with respect to the declaration that the applicable provisions of the act and the rules promulgated thereunder are satisfied and that no adverse findings are necessary, and deeming it appropriate in the public interest and in the interest of investors and consumers that said declaration be permitted to become effective forthwith:

It is ordered, Pursuant to Rule U-23 and the applicable provisions of the act, that said declaration be, and the same hereby is, permitted to become effective forthwith, subject to the terms and conditions prescribed in Rule U-24.

By the Commission.

PART 51—FRUITS, VEGETABLES AND OTHER PRODUCTS (INSPECTION, CERTIFICATION, AND STANDARDS)

U. S. STANDARDS FOR FLORIDA GRAPEFRUIT

On July 3, 1952, a notice of proposed rule making was published in the FEDERAL REGISTER (17 F. R. 5995) regarding proposed United States Standards for Florida Grapefruit. A period of thirty days was allowed for submitting written data, views and arguments for consideration in connection with the proposed standards. After consideration of all relevant matters presented, including the proposals set forth in the aforesaid notice of rule making, the following United States Standards for Florida Grapefruit are hereby promulgated under the authority contained in the Agricultural Marketing Act of 1946 (60 Stat. 1087; 7 U. S. C. 1621 et seq.) and the Department of Agriculture Appropriation Act, 1953 (Pub. Law 451, 82d Cong., approved July 5, 1952).

§ 51.193 Standards for Florida grapefruit—(a) Grades—(1) U. S. Fancy. U. S. Fancy consists of grapefruit of similar varietal characteristics which are well colored, firm, well formed, mature, and of smooth texture, and which are free from ammoniation, bird pecks, bruises, buckskin, cuts which are not healed, decay, growth cracks, scab, sprayburn, and free from injury caused by green spots or oil spots, pitting, scale, scars, thorn scratches, and from damage caused by dirt or other foreign materials, dryness or mushy condition, sprouting, sunburn, disease, insects, or mechanical or other means.

(i) In this grade not more than one-tenth of the surface in the aggregate may be affected with discoloration. (See tolerances for defects, paragraph (c) (1) of this section.)

(2) U. S. No. 1. U. S. No. 1 consists of grapefruit of similar varietal characteristics which are fairly well colored, firm, well formed, mature, and of fairly smooth texture, and which are free from bruises, cuts which are not healed, buckskin or similar type of discoloration, decay, growth cracks, sprayburn, and free from damage caused by ammoniation, bird pecks, dirt or other foreign materials, dryness or mushy condition, green spots or oil spots, pitting, scab, scale, scars, sprouting, sunburn, thorn scratches, disease, insects, or mechanical or other means.

(i) In this grade not more than one-third of the surface in the aggregate may be affected with discoloration. (See tolerances for defects, paragraph (c) (2) of this section.)

(3) U. S. No. 1 Bright. The requirements for this grade are the same as for U. S. No. 1 except that no fruit may have more than one-tenth of its surface in the aggregate affected with discoloration. (See tolerances for defects, paragraph (c) (2) of this section.)

(4) U. S. No. 1 Golden. The requirements for this grade are the same as for U. S. No. 1 except that not more than 30 percent, by count, of the fruits shall have in excess of one-third of their surface in the aggregate affected with discoloration. (See tolerances for defects, paragraph (c) (3) of this section.)

(5) U. S. No. 1 Bronze. The requirements for this grade are the same as for U. S. No. 1 except that more than 30 percent but not more than 75 percent, by count, of the fruits shall have in excess of one-third of their surface in the aggregate affected with discoloration: Provided, That when the predominating discoloration on each of 75 percent or more, by count, of the fruits is caused by rust mite, all fruits may have in excess of one-third of their surface affected with discoloration. (See tolerances for defects, paragraph (c) (3) of this section.)

(6) U. S. No. 1 Russet. The requirements for this grade are the same as for U. S. No. 1 except that more than 75 percent, by count, of the fruits shall have in excess of one-third of their surface in the aggregate affected with discoloration. (See tolerances for defects, paragraph (c) (4) of this section.)

(7) U. S. No. 2. U. S. No. 2 consists of grapefruit of similar varietal characteristics which are mature, fairly firm, not more than slightly misshapen or of slightly rough texture, and which are free from bruises, cuts which are not healed, decay, growth cracks, and free from serious damage, caused by ammoniation, bird pecks, buckskin, dirt or other foreign materials, dryness or mushy condition, green spots or oil spots, pitting, scab, scale, scars, sprayburn, sprouting, sunburn, thorn scratches, disease, insects, mechanical or other means.

(i) Each grapefruit may be only slightly colored.

(ii) Not more than one-half of the surface in the aggregate, may be affected with discoloration. (See tolerances for defects, paragraph (c) (5) of this section.)

(8) U. S. No. 2 Bright. The requirements for this grade are the same as for U. S. No. 2 except that no fruit may have more than one-tenth of its surface in the aggregate affected with discoloration. (See tolerances for defects, paragraph (c) (2) of this section.)

(10) U. S. No. 3. U. S. No. 3 consists of grapefruit of similar varietal characteristics which are mature, which may be misshapen, slightly spongy, rough but not seriously lumpy for the variety or seriously cracked, which are free from cuts which are not healed, and free from decay, and from very serious damage caused by bruises, growth cracks, ammoniation, bird pecks, caked melanose, buckskin, dryness or mushy condition, pitting, scab, scale, sprayburn, sprouting, sunburn, thorn punctures, disease, insects, mechanical or other means. The fruit may be poorly colored but not more than 25 percent of the surface of each fruit may be of a solid dark green color. (See tolerances for defects, paragraph (c) (7) of this section.)

(b) Unclassified. Unclassified consists of grapefruit which has not been classified in accordance with any of the foregoing grades. The term "unclassified" is not a grade within the meaning of these standards but is provided as a designation to show that no definite grade has been applied to the lot.

(c) Tolerances. In order to allow for variations incident to proper grading and handling in each of the foregoing grades, the followinig tolerances are provided as specified:

(1) U. S. Fancy. Not more than 10 percent, by count, of the fruits in any lot may be below the requirements of this grade, but not more than one-half of this amount, or 5 percent, shall be allowed for very serious damage, and not more than one-twentieth of the tolerance, or one-half of one percent, shall be allowed for decay at shipping point: Provided, That an additional tolerance of 2½ percent, or a total of not more than 3 percent, shall be allowed for decay enroute or at destination. None of the foregoing tolerances shall apply to wormy fruit.

(2) U. S. No. 1, U. S. No. 1 Bright, and U. S. No. 2 Bright Grades. Not more than 10 percent, by count, of the fruits in any lot may be below the requirements of the grade other than for discoloration but not more than one-half of this amount, or 5 percent, shall be allowed for very serious damage, and not more than one-twentieth of the tolerance, or one-half of one percent, shall be allowed for decay at shipping point: Provided, That an additional tolerance of 2½ percent, or a total of not more than 3 percent, shall be allowed for decay enroute or at destination. In addition, not more than 10 percent, by count, of the fruits in any lot may not meet the requirements relating to discoloration. None of the foregoing tolerances shall apply to wormy fruit.

(3) U. S. No. 1 Golden and U. S. No. 1 Bronze Grades. Not more than 10 percent, by count, of the fruits in any lot may be below the requirements of the grade, but not more than one-half of this amount, or 5 percent, shall be allowed for very serious damage, and not more than one-twentieth of the tolerance, or one-half of one percent, shall be allowed for decay at shipping point: Provided, That an additional tolerance of 2½ percent, or a total of not more than 3 percent, shall be allowed for decay en route or at destination. No part of any tolerance shall be allowed to reduce the percentage of fruits having in excess of one-third of their surface in the aggregate affected with discoloration which is required in this grade, but individual containers may vary not more than 10 percent from the percentage required: Provided, That the entire lot averages within the percentage specified. None of the foregoing tolerances shall apply to wormy fruit.

(4) U. S. No. 1 Russet. Not more than 10 percent, by count, of the fruits in any lot may be below the requirements of the grade but not more than one-half of this amount, or 5 percent, shall be allowed for very serious damage, and not more than one-twentieth of the tolerance, or one-half of one percent, shall be allowed for decay at shipping point: Provided, That an additional tolerance of 2½ percent, or a total of not more than 3 percent, shall be allowed for decay en route or at destination. No part of any tolerance shall be allowed to reduce the percentage of fruits having in excess of one-half of their surface in the aggregate affected with discoloration which is required in this grade, but individual containers may have not more than 10 percent less than the percentage required: Provided, That the entire lot averages within the percentage specified. None of the foregoing tolerances shall apply to wormy fruit.

(5) U. S. No. 2. Not more than 10 percent, by count, of the fruits in any lot may be below the requirements of this grade other than for discoloration but not more than one-half of this amount, or 5 percent, shall be allowed for very serious damage other than that caused by dryness or mushy condition, and not more than one-twentieth of the tolerance, or one-half of one percent, shall be allowed for decay at shipping point: Provided, That an additional tolerance of 2½ percent, or a total of not more than 3 percent, shall be allowed for decay en route or at destination. In addition, not more than 10 percent, by count, of the fruits in any lot may not meet the requirements relating to discoloration. None of the foregoing tolerances shall apply to wormy fruit.

(6) U. S. No. 2 Russet. Not more than 10 percent, by count, of the fruits in any lot may be below the requirements of this grade but not more than one-half of this amount, or 5 percent, shall be allowed for very serious damage other than that caused by dryness or mushy condition, and not more than one-twentieth of the tolerance, or one-half of one percent, shall be allowed for decay at shipping point: Provided, That an additional tolerance of 2½ percent, or a total of not more than 3 percent, shall be allowed for decay en route or at destination. No part of any tolerance shall be allowed to reduce the percentage of fruits having in excess of one-half of their surface in the aggregate affected with discoloration which is required in this grade, but individual containers may have not more than 10 percent less than the percentage required: Provided, That the entire lot averages within the percentage specified. None of the foregoing tolerances shall apply to wormy fruit.

(7) U. S. No. 3 Grade. Not more than 15 percent, by count, of the fruit in any container may be below the requirements of this grade but not more than one-third of this amount, or 5 percent, shall be allowed for defects other than dryness or mushy condition, and not more than one-fifth of this amount, or 1 percent, shall be allowed for decay at shipping point: Provided, That an additional tolerance of 2½ percent, or a total of not more than 3 percent shall be allowed for decay en route or at destination. None of the foregoing tolerances shall apply to wormy fruit.

(d) Application of tolerances to individual packages. (1) The contents of individual packages in the lot, based on sample inspection, are subject to the following limitations: Provided, That the averages for the entire lot are within the tolerances specified for the grade.

(i) For packages which contain more than 10 pounds, and a tolerance of 10 percent or more is provided, individual packages in any lot shall have not more than one and one-half times the tolerance specified. For packages which contain more than 10 pounds and a tolerance of less than 10 percent is provided, individual packages in any lot shall have not more than double the tolerance specified, except that at least one decayed or very seriously damaged fruit may be permitted in any package.

(ii) For packages which contain 10 pounds or less, individual packages in any lot are not restricted as to the percentage of defects: Provided, That not more than one grapefruit which is seriously damaged by dryness or mushy condition or very seriously damaged by other means may be permitted in any package and in addition enroute or at destination not more than 10 percent of the packages may have more than one decayed fruit.

(e) Standard pack for grapefruit. (1) Fruits shall be fairly uniform in size, unless specified as uniform in size, and when packed in boxes, shall be arranged according to the approved and recognized methods. Each wrapped fruit shall be fairly well wrapped.

(2) All packages shall be tightly packed and well filled but the contents shall not show excessive or unnecessary bruising because of overfilled packages.

(3) When packed in standard nailed boxes, each container shall show a minimum bulge of 2 inches, except that boxes packed with grapefruit of a size 80 or smaller need only show a bulge of 1½ inches.

(4) "Fairly uniform in size" means that not more than a total of 10 percent, by count, of the fruits in any container is outside the range of diameters given in the following table for various packs:

TABLE I

[Diameter in inches]

Pack	Minimum	Maximum
36's	5	5 9/16
45's or 46's	4 11/16	5 1/16
54's or 56's	4 5/16	4 13/16
64's	4 1/16	4 5/16
70's or 72's	3 15/16	4 1/16
80's	3 13/16	4 1/16
96's	3 5/16	4 1/16
112's	3 1/16	4
125's or 126's	3 1/16	3 15/16

(5) "Uniform in size" means that not more than 10 percent, by count, of the fruits in any container vary more than the following amounts:

64 size and smaller—not more than 6/16 inch in diameter.

54 size and larger—not more than 9/16 inch in diameter.

(6) In order to allow for variations, other than sizing, incident to proper packing, not more than 5 percent of the packages in any lot may not meet the requirements of standard pack.

(f) Definitions. (1) "Similar varietal characteristics" means that the fruits in any container are similar in color and shape.

(2) "Well colored" means that the fruit is yellow in color with practically no trace of green color.

(3) "Firm" means that the fruit is not soft, or noticeably wilted or flabby, and the skin is not spongy or puffy.

(4) "Well formed" means that the fruit has the shape characteristic of the variety.

(5) "Mature" means the same as that term is set forth in section 601.16 Florida Statutes, Chapter 26492, known as the Florida Citrus Code of 1949, as amended.

(6) "Smooth texture" means that the skin is thin and smooth for the variety and size of the fruit.

(7) "Injury" means any defect which more than slightly affects the appearance, or the edible or shipping quality of the fruit. Any one of the following defects, or any combination of defects, the seriousness of which exceeds the maximum allowed for any one defect, shall be considered as injury:

(i) Green spots or oil spots, when appreciably affecting appearance of the individual fruit;

(ii) Scale, when more than a few adjacent to the "button" at the stem end, or when more than 6 scattered on the other portions of the fruit;

(iii) Scars which are depressed, not smooth, or which detract from the appearance of the fruit to a greater extent than the maximum amount of discoloration allowed in the grade; and,

(iv) Thorn scratches, when the injury is not slight, not well healed, or more unsightly than discoloration allowed in the grade.

(8) "Discoloration" means russeting of a light shade of golden brown caused by rust mite or other means. Lighter shades of discoloration caused by scars or other means may be allowed on a greater area, or darker shades may be allowed on a lesser area, provided no discoloration caused by melanose or other means may affect the appearance of the fruit to a greater extent than the shade and amount of discoloration allowed for the grade.

(9) "Fairly well colored" means that except for one inch in the aggregate of green color, the yellow color predominates over the green color on that part of the fruit which is not discolored.

(10) "Fairly smooth texture" means that the skin is fairly thin and not coarse for the variety and size of the fruit.

(11) "Damage" means any defect which materially affects the appearance, or the edible or shipping quality of the fruit. Any one of the following defects, or any combination of defects, the seriousness of which exceeds the maximum allowed for any one defect, shall be considered as damage:

(i) Ammoniation, when not occurring as light speck type similar to melanose;

(ii) Dryness or mushy condition when affecting all segments more than one-fourth inch at the stem end, or more than the equivalent of this amount, by volume, when occurring in other portions of the fruit;

(iii) Green spots or oil spots, when materially affecting the appearance of the individual fruit;

(iv) Scab, when it cannot be classed as discoloration or appreciably affects shape or texture;

(v) Scale, when occurring as a blotch and its size exceeds the area of a circle ¾ inch in diameter, or when occurring as a ring and its size exceeds the area of a circle 1¼ inches in diameter on a grapefruit of 70-size. Smaller sizes shall have lesser areas of scale and larger sizes may have greater areas: Provided, That no scale shall be permitted which affects the appearance to a greater extent than a blotch ¾ inch in diameter or a ring 1¼ inches in diameter on a 70-size grapefruit;

(vi) Scars which are not smooth, or scars which are deep, or scars which are shallow or fairly shallow and detract from the appearance of the fruit to a greater extent than the amount of discoloration allowed in the grade;

(vii) Sunburn, when the area affected exceeds 25 percent of the fruit surface, or when the skin is appreciably flattened, dry, darkened, or hard; and,

(viii) Thorn scratches, when the injury is not well healed, or concentrated light colored thorn injury which has caused the skin to become hard and the aggregate area exceeds the area of a circle one-fourth inch in diameter, or slight scratches when light colored and concentrated and the aggregate area exceeds the area of a circle 1 inch in diameter, or dark or scattered thorn injury which detracts from the appearance of the fruit to a greater extent than the amounts specified above.

(12) "Fairly firm" means that the fruit may be slightly soft, but not bruised, and the skin is not spongy or puffy.

(13) "Slightly misshapen" means that the fruit is not of the shape characteristic of the variety but is not appreciably elongated or pointed, or otherwise deformed.

(14) "Slightly rough texture" means that the skin is not of smooth texture but is not excessively thick or materially ridged, grooved, or wrinkled.

(15) "Serious damage" means any defect which seriously affects the appearance, or the edible or shipping quality of the fruit. Any one of the following defects, or any combination of defects, the seriousness of which exceeds the maximum allowed for any one defect, shall be considered as serious damage:

(i) Ammoniation, when scars are cracked, or when dark and aggregating more than one-half inch in diameter, or when light colored and aggregating more than one inch in diameter;

(ii) Buckskin, when affecting the appearance of the fruit to a greater extent than the amount of discoloration allowed;

(iii) Dryness or mushy condition, when affecting all segments more than one-half inch at the stem end, or more than the equivalent of this amount, by volume, when occurring in other portions of the fruit;

(iv) Green spots or oil spots, when the aggregate area exceeds the area of a circle one inch in diameter on a grapefruit of 70-size. Smaller sizes shall have lesser areas of green spots or oil spots and larger sizes may have greater areas: Provided, That the appearance of the grapefruit is not affected to a greater extent than the area permitted on a 70-size grapefruit;

(v) Scab, when it cannot be classed as discoloration, or when materially affecting shape or texture;

(vi) Scale, when occurring as a blotch and its size exceeds the area of a circle one inch in diameter, or when occurring as a ring and its size exceeds the area of a circle 1½ inches in diameter on a grapefruit of 70-size. Smaller sizes shall have lesser areas of scale and larger sizes may have greater areas: Provided, That no scale shall be permitted which affects the appearance to a greater extent than a blotch one inch in diameter or a ring 1½ inches in diameter on a 70-size grapefruit;

(vii) Scars which are not fairly smooth, or scars which are very deep, or scars which are not very deep but which detract from the appearance of the fruit to a greater extent than the amount of discoloration allowed in the grade;

AUTHORITY: §§ 935.0 to 935.91 issued under sec. 5, 49 Stat. 753, as amended; 7 U. S. C. and Sup. 608c.

§ 935.0 Findings and determinations. The findings and determinations hereinafter set forth are supplementary and in addition to the findings and determinations previously made in connection with the issuance of the aforesaid order and of each of the previously issued amendments thereto; and all of said previous findings and determinations are hereby ratified and affirmed, except insofar as such findings and determinations may be in conflict with the findings and determinations set forth herein.

(a) Findings upon the basis of the hearing record. Pursuant to Public Act No. 10, 73d Congress (May 12, 1933) as amended and as reenacted and amended by the Agricultural Marketing Agreement Act of 1937, as amended (hereinafter referred to as the "act") and the rules of practice and procedure, as amended, governing the formulation of marketing agreements and marketing orders (7 CFR Part 900), a public hearing was held upon proposed amendments to the marketing agreement and to the order, as amended, regulating the handling of milk in the Omaha-Lincoln-Council Bluffs marketing area. Upon the basis of the evidence introduced at such hearing and the record thereof it is found that:

(1) The said order, as amended, and as hereby further amended, and all of the terms and conditions of said order, as amended, and as hereby further amended, will tend to effectuate the declared policy of the act;

(2) The parity prices of milk produced for sale in the said marketing area as determined pursuant to section 2 of the act are not reasonable in view of the price of feeds, available supplies of feeds and other economic conditions which affect market supply of and demand for such milk, and the minimum prices specified in the order, as amended, and as hereby further amended, are such prices as will reflect the aforesaid factions, insure a sufficient quantity of pure and wholesome milk and be in the public interest, and

(3) The said order regulates the handling of milk in the same manner as and is applicable only to persons in the respective classes of industrial and commercial activity specified in a marketing agreement upon which a hearing has been held.

(4) All milk and milk products delivered by handlers, as defined herein, are in the current of interstate or foreign commerce or directly burden, obstruct, or affect interstate commerce in milk or its products.

(5) It is hereby found that the expense of the market administrator for the maintenance and functioning of such agency will require the payment monthly by each handler, as his pro rata share of such expenses, two cents per hundredweight, or such amount not exceeding two cents per hundredweight as the Secretary may prescribe, with respect to all milk received by him during the month from producers (including such handler's own production) and with respect to other source milk and emergency milk received by him during such month which is classified as Class I.

(b) Additional findings. It is necessary in the public interest to make this order amending the order, as amended, effective not later than September 1, 1952. Any delay beyond September 1, 1952, in the effective date of this order amending the order, as amended, will seriously disrupt the orderly marketing of milk for the Omaha-Lincoln-Council Bluffs marketing area. The changes effected by this order amending the order, as amended, do not require of persons affected, substantial or extensive preparation prior to the effective date. In view of the foregoing, it is hereby found that good cause exists for making this order effective September 1, 1952 (see section 4 (c) Administrative Procedure Act, 5 U. S. C. 1003 (c)).

(c) Determinations. It is hereby determined that handlers (excluding cooperative associations of producers who are not engaged in processing, distributing or shipping the milk covered by this order, which is marketed within the Omaha-Lincoln-Council Bluffs marketing area) refused or failed to sign the proposed marketing agreement regulating the handling of milk in the Omaha-Lincoln-Council Bluffs marketing area, and it is hereby further determined that:

(1) The refusal or failure of such handlers to sign said proposed marketing agreement tends to prevent the effectuation of the declared policy of the act;

(2) The issuance of this order amending the order, as amended, is the only practicable means pursuant to the declared policy of the act, of advancing the interests of producers of milk which is produced for sale in the Omaha-Lincoln-Council Bluffs marketing area; and

(3) The issuance of this order amending the order, as amended, is approved or favored by at least two-thirds of the producers, who during the determined representative period (May 1952) were engaged in the production of milk for the Omaha-Lincoln-Council Bluffs marketing area.

Order relative to handling. It is therefore ordered, that on and after the effective date hereof the handling of milk in the Omaha-Lincoln-Council Bluffs marketing area shall be in conformity to and in compliance with the terms and conditions of the aforesaid order, as hereby amended, and the aforesaid order is hereby amended to read as follows:

§ 935.9 Producer-handler. "Producer-handler" means any person who is both a producer and a handler and who receives no milk from other producers or associations of producers: Provided, That the maintenance, care and management of the dairy animals and other resources necessary to produce the milk and the processing, packaging and distribution of the milk are the personal enterprise and the personal risk of such person.

§ 935.10 Cooperative association. "Cooperative association" means any cooperative association of producers which the Secretary determines (a) has its entire activities under the control of its members, and (b) has and is exercising full authority in the sale of milk of its members.

§ 935.11 Producer milk. "Producer milk" means any skim milk or butterfat which is produced by a producer, other than a producer-handler, and which is received by a handler either directly from producers or from other handlers.

In either case the market administrator shall give further written notification to the handler promptly upon the termination of the litigation or when the records are no longer necessary in connection therewith.

CLASSIFICATION OF MILK

§ 935.40 Skim milk and butterfat to be classified. Skim milk and butterfat contained in all milk, skim milk, cream and milk products required to be reported pursuant to § 935.30, which during the delivery period were received by a handler at an approved plant or caused by a cooperative association to be diverted to an unapproved plant shall be classified by the market administrator in the classes set forth in § 935.41.

§ 935.41 Classes of utilization. Subject to the conditions set forth in §§ 935.43, 935.44, and 935.47, the classes of utilization shall be as follows:

(a) Class I milk shall be all skim milk and butterfat (1) disposed of in the form of milk, skim milk, buttermilk, yogurt, flavored milk, flavored milk drinks, cream, either sweet or sour (including any mixture of butterfat and skim milk containing more than 6 percent butterfat except mixes for ice cream and frozen desserts) and eggnog, (2) used in the production of concentrated milk, not sterilized, for fluid consumption, and (3) not specifically accounted for as Class II milk.

(b) Class II milk shall be all skim milk and butterfat (1) used to produce a milk product not specified in paragraph (a) of this section, (2) in shrinkage up to 2 percent of receipts from producers and cooperative associations and of emergency milk, and (3) in shrinkage of other source milk.

§ 935.42 Shrinkage. The market administrator shall allocate shrinkage over a handler's receipts as follows:

(a) Compute the total shrinkage of skim milk and butterfat for each handler.

(b) Prorate the resulting amounts between the receipts of skim milk and butterfat contained in (1) producer milk and emergency milk, and (2) other source milk.

§ 935.43 Responsibility of handlers and reclassification of milk. (a) In establishing the classification of skim milk and butterfat as required in § 935.41, the burden rests upon the handler who received such skim milk or butterfat from producers or cooperative associations to prove to the market administrator that such skim milk or butterfat should not be classified as Class I.

(b) Any skim milk or butterfat which has been classified by the market administrator shall be reclassified if verification discloses that the original classification was incorrect.

§ 935.44 Transfers. (a) Skim milk and butterfat when transferred or diverted by a handler which is not a cooperative association from an approved plant to an approved plant of another handler who receives milk from producers or from a cooperative association shall be Class I if transferred in the form of milk, skim milk or cream: Provided, That if the selling handler, on or before the 7th day after the end of the delivery period during which such transfer is made, furnishes the market administrator with a statement signed by the buyer indicating that such skim milk or butterfat was used in a different class, such skim milk or butterfat may be assigned to the indicated class up to the amount thereof remaining in such class in the plant of the buyer after the subtraction of receipts of other source milk.

(b) Skim milk and butterfat when transferred or diverted by a handler to a producer-handler shall be Class I if transferred or diverted in the form of milk, skim milk or cream.

(c) Skim milk and butterfat which is caused to be delivered from producers to an approved plant by a cooperative association which is a handler for the account of such cooperative association shall be ratably apportioned over the receiving handler's total utilization of producer milk.

(d) Skim milk and butterfat when transferred from an approved plant to an unapproved plant located more than 150 miles from the marketing area shall be Class I if transferred in the form of milk, skim milk, or cream.

(e) Skim milk and butterfat when transferred or diverted from an approved plant to an unapproved plant located less than 150 miles from the marketing area shall be Class I if transferred in the form of milk, skim milk, or cream unless the transferring handler reports that such skim milk or butterfat was used in Class II: Provided, That if the buyer refuses to permit the market administrator to audit his books and records, such milk, skim milk or cream shall be classified as Class I: Provided further, That if upon audit of the buyer's records it is found that the use of skim milk and butterfat in the buyer's plant in Class II is less than the amount stated to have been so used, any amount in excess of such Class II use shall be classified as Class I.

(f) Skim milk and butterfat received by a handler as other source milk shall, except as provided in § 935.57, be classified in the lowest class in which such handler has use.

(g) Skim milk and butterfat received by a handler as emergency milk shall be ratably apportioned over the receiving handler's total utilization of milk.

(h) Skim milk and butterfat of a handler's own production shall be ratably apportioned over such handler's total utilization of producer milk.

§ 935.45 Emergency milk. In any delivery period in which the market administrator determines that the supply of skim milk or butterfat in producer milk available to any handler is insufficient for such handler's disposition of Class I milk, skim milk and butterfat other than that in producer milk which is received by a handler and which is permitted by a health authority having jurisdiction in the marketing area to be disposed of as Grade A milk shall be considered emergency milk up to an amount equal to the difference between the receipts of skim milk or butterfat in producer milk by such handler and 107 percent of his total disposition of skim milk or butterfat in Class I milk.

§ 935.46 Computation of skim milk and butterfat in each class. For each delivery period the market administrator shall correct for mathematical and other obvious errors the delivery period report submitted by each handler and shall compute the total pounds of skim milk and butterfat, respectively, in each class for such handler.

§ 935.47 Allocation of skim milk and butterfat classified. After computing, pursuant to § 935.46, the classification of all skim milk and butterfat received by a handler, the market administrator shall determine the classification of milk received from producers in the following manner.

(a) Skim milk shall be allocated as follows:

(1) Subtract from the total pounds of skim milk in Class II the pounds of skim milk allocated to shrinkage of producer milk;

(2) Subtract from the pounds of skim milk in Class I the pounds of skim milk in other source milk allocated to Class I pursuant to § 935.57;

(3) Subtract from the remaining pounds of skim milk in Class II the remaining pounds of skim milk in other source milk: Provided, That, if the pounds of skim milk in such other source milk are greater than the remaining pounds of skim milk in Class II, an amount equal to the difference shall be subtracted from Class I;

(4) Subtract from the remaining pounds of skim milk in each class the pounds of skim milk contained in receipts from other handlers in accordance with its classification as determined pursuant to § 935.44 (a);

(5) Add to the remaining pounds of skim milk in Class II the pounds of skim milk subtracted pursuant to subparagraph (1) of this paragraph;

(6) Subtract pro rata from the remaining pounds of skim milk in each class the pounds of skim milk contained in (i) milk of the handler's own production, (ii) emergency milk, and (iii) milk received from a cooperative association which is a handler;

(7) If the remaining pounds of skim milk in all classes exceed the pounds of skim milk received from producers an amount equal to the difference shall be subtracted from the pounds of skim milk in Class II. Any amount in excess of that in Class II shall be subtracted from Class I. The amounts so subtracted shall be called "overage."

(b) Butterfat shall be allocated in accordance with the same procedure outlined for skim milk in paragraph (a) of this section.

MINIMUM PRICES

§ 935.50 Basic price to be used in computing the Class I price. The basic price to be used in computing the minimum price per hundredweight of Class I milk for each delivery period shall be the higher of the prices computed pursuant to paragraphs (a) and (b) of this section.

(a) The average of the basic or field prices reported to have been paid for milk of 3.5 percent butterfat content received during the preceding delivery period at the following plants or places for which prices are reported to the market administrator or to the Department of Agriculture, divided by 3.5, and multiplied by 3.8, and adjusted to the nearest cent:

Present Operator of Plant and Location of Plant

Amboy Milk Products Co., Amboy, Ill.
Borden Co., Dixon, Ill.

United Milk Products Co., Argo Fay, Ill.

(b) The price computed pursuant to § 935.51 (b) for the preceding delivery period for Class II milk containing 3.8 percent butterfat plus 15 cents.

§ 935.51 Class prices. Subject to the provisions of §§ 935.52 and 935.53 the minimum prices per hundredweight to be paid by each handler for milk received by him from producers or from a cooperative association during the delivery period shall be as follows:

(a) Class I milk. The price per hundredweight of Class I milk containing 3.8 percent butterfat shall be the basic price computed pursuant to § 935.50 plus $1.40.

(1) The price per hundredweight of butterfat in Class I shall be computed by adding $28.00 to the price computed pursuant to paragraph (b) (1) of this section for the preceding delivery period.

(2) The price per hundredweight of skim milk in Class I shall be computed by (i) multiplying by 0.038 the price computed pursuant to subparagraph (1) of this paragraph, (ii) subtracting the result from the price computed pursuant to this paragraph for Class I milk containing 3.8 percent butterfat, (iii) dividing the result by 0.962, and (iv) adjusting to the nearest cent.

(b) Class II milk. The price per hundredweight of Class II milk containing 3.8 percent butterfat shall be that computed by multiplying by 3.8 the price computed pursuant to subparagraph (1) (iii) of this paragraph and adding thereto the amount computed pursuant to subparagraph (2) (i) of this paragraph.

(1) The price per hundredweight of butterfat in Class II milk shall be computed by (i) multiplying the butterfat price by 1.25, (ii) subtracting 8 cents, (iii) adjusting to the nearest cent, and (iv) multiplying the result by 100.

(2) The price per hundredweight of skim milk in Class II shall be computed by (i) adding to 17 cents, 3 cents for each full one-half cent that the price of nonfat dry milk solids is above 7 cents per pound, (ii) dividing the resulting sum by 0.962, and (iii) adjusting to the nearest cent. The price per pound of non-fat dry milk solids to be used shall be the simple average of carlot prices for nonfat dry milk solids for human consumption both spray and roller process, delivered at Chicago as reported by the Department of Agriculture during the delivery period. In the event the Department does not publish carlot prices for nonfat dry milk solids for human consumption delivered at Chicago, there shall be used the weighted average of carlot prices per pound for non-fat dry milk solids, spray and roller process, for human consumption, f. o. b. manufacturing plants in the Chicago area as published for the period from the 26th day of the immediately preceding month through the 25th day of the current month, and 3 cents shall be added for each full one-half cent that the latter price is above 6 cents per pound.

§ 935.52 Emergency price provision. Whenever the provisions of this subpart require the market administrator to use a specific price (or prices) for milk or any milk product for the purpose of determining class prices or for any other purpose, and the specified price is not reported or published the market administrator shall use a price determined by the Secretary to be equivalent to or comparable with the price specified.

§ 935.53 Location differential to handlers. With respect to milk received from producers at an approved plant located outside the marketing area and which is transferred to an approved plant located within the marketing area in the form of milk, skim milk or cream, the Class prices computed pursuant to § 935.51 shall be reduced 5 cents per hundredweight with respect to milk received at a plant located in Waterloo precinct in Douglas County, Nebraska, and 10 cents per hundredweight with respect to milk received at any other plant located more than 45 miles from the marketing area.

APPLICATION OF PROVISIONS

§ 935.55 Producer-handlers. Sections 935.40 to 935.47, 935.50 to 935.53, 935.60 to 935.62, and 935.65 to 935.74 shall not apply to a producer-handler.

§ 935.56 Handlers subject to other orders. In the case of any handler who the Secretary determines disposes of a greater portion of his milk in another marketing area regulated by another milk marketing order issued pursuant to the act, the provisions of this subpart shall not apply except as follows:

(a) The handler shall, with respect to his total receipts and utilization of skim milk and butterfat, make reports to the market administrator at such time and in such manner as the market administrator may require and allow verification of such reports in accordance with § 935.34.

(b) If the price which such handler is required to pay under the other order to which he is subject for skim milk and butterfat which are classified as Class I milk under this subpart, is less than the price provided by this subpart, such handler, on or before the 10th day after the end of the delivery period in which a bill is rendered, shall pay to the market administrator for deposit into the producer-settlement fund (with respect to all skim milk and butterfat disposed of as Class I milk within the marketing area) an amount equal to the difference between the value of such skim milk or butterfat as computed pursuant to this order and its value as determined pursuant to the other order to which he is subject.

§ 935.57 Other source milk in Class I. (a) In the case of approved plants which are permitted by the applicable health authorities to receive and process non-Grade A milk, non-Grade A skim milk and butterfat in other source milk shall be allocated to Class I up to the extent of the actual disposition of non-Grade A skim milk and butterfat as Class I milk outside the marketing area in localities where Grade A milk is not required for Class I use.

(b) During any delivery period prior to November 1, 1952, Grade A skim milk and butterfat in other source milk which is received in bulk at an approved plant from an unapproved plant which receives Grade A milk in packaged form for Class I use from the approved plant, shall be allocated to Class I in an amount not in excess of the amounts of skim milk and butterfat either (1) transferred from the unapproved to the approved plant as Grade A milk, or (2) transferred from the approved to the unapproved plant in packaged form, whichever is the lesser amount.

DETERMINATION OF UNIFORM PRICE

§ 935.60 Computation of the value of milk received from producers. The value of the milk received by each handler from producers during each delivery period shall be a sum of money computed by the market administrator by multiplying the hundredweight of skim milk and butterfat in each class computed pursuant to § 935.47 by the applicable class prices and adding together the resulting amounts and adding any amounts computed pursuant to paragraphs (a) and (b) of this section.

(a) If the handler had overage of either skim milk or butterfat there shall be added to the above value an amount computed by multiplying the pounds of overage by the applicable class prices;

(b) If any skim milk or butterfat in other source milk has been subtracted from Class I pursuant to § 935.47 (a) (3) in any delivery period, other than one in which any handler has received skim milk or butterfat which has been designated by the market administrator as emergency milk, the market administrator in computing the value of milk of such handler shall add an amount computed by multiplying the hundredweight of skim milk or butterfat so subtracted by the difference between the Class I and Class II prices.

§ 935.61 Computation of uniform price. For each delivery period the market administrator shall compute the uniform price per hundredweight of milk received from producers as follows:

(a) Combine into one total the values computed pursuant to § 935.60 for all handlers who filed the reports prescribed by § 935.30 and who made the payments pursuant to §§ 935.65 and 935.69 for the preceding delivery period;

(b) Subtract during each of the delivery periods of April, May, and June, an amount equal to 8 percent of the resulting sum;

(c) Add during each of the delivery periods of September, October, and November one-third of the total amount subtracted pursuant to paragraph (b) of this section;

(d) Add an amount equal to the total value of the location differentials computed pursuant to § 935.67;

(e) Subtract if the average butterfat content of the milk included in these computations is more than 3.8 percent, or add, if such butterfat content is less than 3.8 percent, an amount computed by multiplying the amount by which the average butterfat content of such milk varies from 3.8 percent by the butterfat differential computed pursuant to § 935.66 and multiplying the result by the total hundredweight of producer milk included in these computations;

(f) Add an amount equal to not less than one-half of the unobligated balance in the producer-settlement fund;

(g) Divide the resulting sum by the total hundredweight of milk included in these computations; and

(h) Subtract not less than 4 cents nor more than 5 cents per hundredweight for the purpose of retaining in the producer-settlement fund a cash balance to provide against errors in reports and payments or delinquencies in payments by handlers. The result shall be known as the "uniform price" for milk received from producers.

§ 935.62 Notification of handlers. On or before the 9th day of each delivery period the market administrator shall notify each handler of:

(a) The amount and value of his milk in each class computed pursuant to §§ 935.47 and 935.60;

(b) The uniform price computed pursuant to § 935.61;

(c) The amount, if any, due such handler from the producer-settlement fund or the amount to be paid by such handler to the producer-settlement fund; and

(d) The total amounts to be paid by such handler pursuant to §§ 935.65 and 935.69.

PAYMENTS

§ 935.65 Time and method of payment. Each handler shall make payment for milk received during the delivery period as follows:

(a) Final payment. On or before the 12th day after the end of the delivery period:

(1) To each producer for milk which was not caused to be delivered by a cooperative association which is a handler at not less than the uniform price computed in accordance with § 935.61, subject to the butterfat and location differentials computed pursuant to

§§ 935.66 and 935.67, and less the amount of the payment made to such producers pursuant to paragraph (b) (1) of this section.

(2) To a cooperative association which is a handler for milk which it caused to be delivered to such handler by such cooperative association at not less than the value of such milk at the applicable class prices, less the amount of the payment made pursuant to paragraph (b) (2) of this section.

(b) Mid-delivery period payment. On or before the 27th day of each delivery period:

(1) To each producer for milk which was not caused to be delivered by a cooperative association which is a handler an amount computed by multiplying the hundredweight of milk delivered during the first 15 days of the delivery period by the uniform price announced by the market administrator for the immediately preceding delivery period.

(2) To a cooperative association which is a handler for milk which was caused to be delivered to such handler by such cooperative association an amount computed by multiplying the hundredweight of milk caused to be so delivered during the first 15 days of the delivery period by the uniform price announced by the market administrator for the immediately preceding delivery period.

§ 935.66 Butterfat differential to producers. If any handler has received from any producer during the delivery period, milk having an average butterfat content other than 3.8 percent, such handler, in making the payment pursuant to § 935.65 (a) (1) shall add to the uniform price for each one-tenth of 1 percent that the average butterfat content of such milk is above 3.8 percent not less than, or shall subtract for each one-tenth of 1 percent that the average butterfat content of such milk is below 3.8 percent not more than an amount computed as follows: add 20 percent to the butter price, divide the resulting sum by 10, and adjust to the nearest cent.

§ 935.67 Location differential to producers. In making payments to producers pursuant to § 935.65 (a) (1) there shall be deducted with respect to milk received at an approved plant located in Waterloo precinct in Douglas County, Nebraska, 5 cents per hundredweight, and with respect to milk received at approved plants located more than 45 miles from the marketing area, 10 cents per hundredweight.

§ 935.68 Producer-settlement fund. The market administrator shall establish and maintain a separate fund known as the "producer-settlement fund" into which he shall deposit all payments made by handlers pursuant to §§ 935.56, 935.69 and 935.71 and out of which he shall make all payments to handlers pursuant to §§ 935.70 and 935.71.

§ 935.69 Payments to the producer-settlement fund. On or before the 10th day after the end of each delivery period each handler, including a cooperative association which is a handler, shall pay to the market administrator the amount, if any, by which the total value of the milk received by such handler from producers computed pursuant to § 935.60 is greater than the amount required to be paid producers by such handler pursuant to § 935.65 (a) (1).

§ 935.70 Payments out of the producer-settlement fund. On or before the 12th day after the end of each delivery period the market administrator shall pay to each handler, including a cooperative association which is a handler, the amount, if any, by which the value of the milk received by such handler from producers computed pursuant to § 935.60 is less than the amount required to be paid producers by such handler pursuant to § 935.65 (a) (1): Provided, That the market administrator shall offset any payment due any handler against payments due from such handler.

§ 935.71 Adjustment of accounts. Whenever verification by the market administrator of reports or payments of any handler discloses errors made in payments to or from the producer-settlement fund pursuant to §§ 935.69 and 935.70, the market administrator shall promptly bill such handler for any unpaid amount and such handler shall, within 5 days, make payment to the market administrator of the amount so billed. Whenever verification discloses that payment is due from the market administrator to any handler, the market administrator shall, within 5 days, make such payment to such handler.

§ 935.72 Adjustment of errors in payments to producers. Whenever verification by the market administrator of the payments by a handler to any producer or cooperative association, discloses payment of less than is required by § 935.65, the handler shall make up such payment to the producer or cooperative association not later than the time of making payments next following such disclosure.

§ 935.73 Expense of administration. As his pro rata share of the expense of administration of this subpart each handler on or before the 12th day after the end of the delivery period shall pay to the market administrator, 2 cents per hundredweight or such lesser amount as the Secretary from time to time may prescribe with respect to all milk received from producers (including such handler's own production) and cooperative associations and with respect to emergency milk or other source milk which is classified as Class I. As its pro rata share of the expense of administration of this subpart, a cooperative association which is a handler, shall pay to the market administrator on or before the 12th day after the end of the delivery period, with respect to the milk of any producer which it causes to be delivered to an unapproved plant, an amount per hundredweight equivalent to that required to be paid by other handlers pursuant to this section.

§ 935.74 Termination of obligations. The provisions of this section shall apply to any obligation under this subpart for the payment of money.

(a) The obligation of any handler to pay money required to be paid under the terms of this subpart shall, except as provided in paragraphs (b) and (c) of this section, terminate two years after the last day of the calendar month during which the market administrator receives the handler's utilization report on milk involved in such obligation unless within such two-year period the market administrator notifies the handler in writing that such money is due and payable. Service of such notice shall be complete upon mailing to the handler's last known address, and it shall contain, but need not be limited to the following information:

(1) The amount of the obligation;

(2) The month(s) during which the milk, with respect to which the obligation exists, was received or handled; and

(3) If the obligation is payable to one or more producer(s) or association of producers, or if the obligation is payable to the market administrator, the account for which it is to be paid.

(b) If a handler fails or refuses with respect to any obligation under this subpart, to make available to the market administrator or his representative all books and records required by this subpart to be made available, the market administrator may, within the two-year period provided for in paragraph (a) of this section, notify the handler in writing of such failure or refusal. If the market administrator so notifies a handler, the said two-year period with respect to such obligation shall not begin to run until the first day of the calendar month following the month during which all such books and records pertaining to such obligation are made available to the market administrator or his representatives.

(c) Notwithstanding the provisions of paragraphs (a) and (b) of this section, a handler's obligation under this subpart to pay money shall not be terminated with respect to any transaction involving fraud or willful concealment of a fact, material to the obligation, on the part of the handler against whom the obligation is sought to be imposed.

(d) Any obligation on the part of the market administrator to pay a handler any money which such handler claims to be due him under the terms of this subpart shall terminate two years after the end of the calendar month during which the milk involved in the claim was received if an underpayment is claimed, or two years after the end of the calendar month during which the payment (including deduction or setoff by the market administrator) was made by the handler if a refund on such payment is claimed, unless such handler, within the applicable period of time, files pursuant to section 8c (15) (A) of the act, a petition claiming such money.

EFFECTIVE TIME, SUSPENSION OR TERMINATION

§ 935.80 Effective time. The provisions of this subpart or any amendment to this subpart shall become effective at such time as the Secretary may declare and shall continue in force until suspended or terminated pursuant to § 935.81.

§ 935.81 Suspension or termination. The Secretary may suspend or terminate this subpart or any provision of this subpart whenever he finds this subpart or any provision of this subpart obstructs or does not tend to effectuate the declared policy of the act. This subpart shall terminate in any event whenever the provisions of the act authorizing it cease to be in effect.

§ 935.82 Continuing obligations. If, upon the suspension or termination of any or all provisions of this subpart, there are any obligations under this subpart the final accrual or ascertainment of which requires further acts by any person (including the market administrator), such further acts shall be performed notwithstanding such suspension or termination.

§ 935.83 Liquidation. Upon the suspension or termination of the provisions of this subpart, except this section, the market administrator, or such other liquidating agent as the Secretary may designate, shall if so directed by the Secretary, liquidate the business of the market administrator's office, dispose of all property in his possession or control, including accounts receivable, and execute and deliver all assignments or other instruments necessary or appropriate to effectuate any such disposition. If a liquidating agent is so designated, all assets, books, and records of the market administrator shall be transferred promptly to such liquidating agent. If, upon such liquidation, the funds on hand exceed the amounts required to pay outstanding obligations of the office of the market administrator and to pay necessary expenses of liquidation and distribution, such excess shall be distributed to contributing handlers and producers in an equitable manner.

MISCELLANEOUS PROVISIONS

§ 935.90 Agents. The Secretary may, by designation in writing, name any officer or employee of the United States to act as his agent or representative in connection with any of the provisions of this subpart.

§ 935.91 Separability of provisions. If any provision of this subpart, or its application to any person or circumstances, is held invalid, the application of such provision and of the remaining provisions of this subpart, to other persons or circumstances shall not be affected thereby.

Issued at Washington, D. C., this 12th day of August 1952, to be effective on and after the 1st day of September 1952.

Secretary of Agriculture.

PART 951—TOKAY GRAPES GROWN IN CALIFORNIA

ORDER AMENDING ORDER, AS AMENDED, REGULATING HANDLING

§ 951.0 Findings and determinations. The findings and determinations hereinafter set forth are supplementary and in addition to the findings and determinations made in connection with the issuance of this order and each of the previously issued amendments thereto; and all of said previous findings and determinations are hereby ratified and affirmed except insofar as such findings and determinations may be in conflict with the findings and determinations set forth herein.

(a) Findings upon the basis of the hearing record. Pursuant to the Agricultural Marketing Agreement Act of 1937, as amended (48 Stat. 31, as amended; 7 U. S. C. 601 et seq.), and the rules of practice and procedure, as amended, effective thereunder (7 CFR Part 900), a public hearing was held at Lodi, California, beginning on March 31, 1952, upon proposed amendments to the marketing agreement, as amended, and Order No. 51, effective August 20, 1940, as amended (7 CFR Part 951; 16 F. R. 9353, 10016), regulating the handling of Tokay grapes grown in the State of California. Upon the basis of the evidence introduced at such hearing and the record thereof, it is found that:

(1) The said order, as amended, and as hereby further amended, and all of the terms and conditions thereof, will tend to effectuate the declared policy of the act;

(2) The said order, as amended, and as hereby further amended, regulates the handling of Tokay grapes grown in San Joaquin and Sacramento Counties in the State of California in the same manner as, and is applicable to persons in the respective classes of industrial and commercial activity specified in, the marketing agreement upon which hearings have been held;

(3) The said order, as amended, and as hereby further amended, prescribes, so far as practicable, such different terms, applicable to different parts of the production area, as are necessary to give due recognition to the differences in production and marketing of the grapes covered thereby;

(4) The said order, as amended, and as hereby further amended, is limited in its application to the smallest regional production area which is practicable, consistently with carrying out the declared policy of the act; and the issuance of several orders applicable to any sub-division of the production area would not effectively carry out the declared policy of the act; and

(5) All handling of Tokay grapes which are grown in the production area is in the current of interstate or foreign commerce, or directly burdens, obstructs, or affects such commerce.

(b) Additional findings. It is hereby found and determined, on the basis hereinafter indicated, that good cause exists for making the provisions of this order effective not later than the date of publication in the FEDERAL REGISTER; and that it would be contrary to the public interest to postpone such effective date until 30 days after such publication (60 Stat. 237; 5 U. S. C. 1001 et seq.).

It is necessary, in the public interest, to make this order effective as soon as practicable, so as to facilitate, promote, and maintain orderly marketing of the grapes covered hereunder. Shipments of Tokay grapes grown in San Joaquin and Sacramento Counties will begin to be made in a limited way early in August and in volume soon thereafter. It is necessary, therefore, to make this order effective promptly so that regulations may be formulated and issued prior to the commencement of volume shipments. Furthermore, the Industry Committee must be afforded adequate opportunity for the consideration of such changes in the current rules and regulations as may be appropriate in view of the amendatory provisions hereof, and such changes should be in effect prior to the beginning of the Tokay grape shipping season. Thus, the benefits of the program will be available to producers and handlers throughout the marketing season of the 1952 crop. The provisions of this order are well known to handlers, the public hearing on the amendments having been held in Lodi, California, on March 31 and April 1, 1952, and the recommended decision and final decision having been published on May 28 (17 F. R. 4855, 5043), and June 20, 1952 (17 F. R. 5575), respectively. Handlers and producers have received copies of the text of the amendatory order; and compliance with the provisions hereof will not require any advance preparation on the part of persons subject thereto that cannot be completed prior to such effective date.

(c) Determinations. It is hereby determined that:

(1) The "Marketing Agreement, as Amended, Regulating the Handling of Tokay Grapes Grown in San Joaquin and Sacramento Counties in the State of California," (so redesignated in order to identify the actual production area) upon which the aforesaid public hearing was held, has been signed by handlers (excluding cooperative associations of producers who were not engaged in processing, distributing, or shipping the grapes covered by this order) who, during the period April 1, 1951, through March 31, 1952, shipped not less than 50 percent of the volume of Tokay grapes covered by said order, as amended and hereby further amended;

(2) The aforesaid marketing agreement, as amended, has been executed by handlers who were signatory parties to the marketing agreement, as amended, regulating the handling of Tokay grapes grown in the State of California and who, during the aforesaid marketing season, shipped not less than fifty (50) percent of the volume of Tokay grapes, grown in the State of California, shipped during such season by all handlers signatory to said marketing agreement;

(3) The issuance of this order, amending the said order, as amended, is favored or approved by at least two-thirds of the producers who participated in a referendum on the question of its approval and who, during the determined representative period (April 1, 1951, through March 31, 1952), were engaged within the production area specified in said order in the production of Tokay grapes for market, such producers having also produced for market at least two-thirds of the volume of Tokay grapes represented in such referendum.

It is, therefore, ordered, That, on and after the effective date hereof, all handling of Tokay grapes grown in the production area shall be in conformity to, and in compliance with, the terms and conditions of the aforesaid order, as amended, and as hereby further amended as follows:

1. Delete § 951.4 Grapes and insert, in lieu thereof, the following:

§ 951.4 Grapes. "Grapes" means all strains of Tokay grapes grown in the production area.

2. Delete § 951.7 Handle and insert, in lieu thereof, the following:

§ 951.7 Handle. "Handle" is synonymous with "ship" and means to sell, load in a conveyance for transportation, offer for transportation, transport, or in any other way to place grapes in the current of commerce between any point within the production area and any point outside thereof. The term "handle" also means to deliver grapes to a refrigerated storage warehouse for storage purposes, either within the production area or outside thereof. The term "handle" shall not include the sale of grapes on the vine or the transportation of grapes from a vineyard, or a packing shed within the production area, to a packing shed within the production area.

3. Delete § 951.11 District and insert, in lieu thereof, the following:

§ 951.11 District. "District" means the applicable one of the following described subdivisions of the production area;

(a) "Lodi District" means the County of San Joaquin in the State of California, and shall be divided into the following Election Districts: (1) "Acampo Election District" means the school district of Houston; (2) "Woodbridge Election District" means the school district of Woods, and that portion of the Galt Joint Union School District situated in San Joaquin County; (3) "Lafayette Election District" means the school districts of Lafayette, Henderson, Turner, Ray, Terminous and New Hope; (4) "Victor Election District" means the school districts of Bruella, Victor, Lockeford, Oak View and Clements; (5) "Alpine Election District" means the school districts of Alpine and Lodi; (6) "Live Oak Election District" means all of the school districts in the Lodi District, other than those included in the Acampo, Woodbridge, Lafayette, Victor, and Alpine Election Districts. The boundaries of the foregoing school districts shall be those in effect on October 1, 1947.

(b) "Florin District" means the County of Sacramento in the State of California.

4. Add after § 951.11 a new definition as follows:

§ 951.12 Production area. "Production area" means the Counties of San Joaquin and Sacramento in the State of California.

5. Delete the words "State of California" appearing in § 951.32 (l) and insert, in lieu thereof, the words "production area."

6. Delete paragraphs (a), (b), (c), and (d) of § 951.40 Shippers' Advisory Committee and insert, in lieu thereof, the following:

(a) A Shippers' Advisory Committee, consisting of seven members who are individual persons selected by the handlers in accordance with the provisions of this subpart, is hereby established. There shall be an alternate for each member of such committee. An alternate member shall, in the event of such member's absence from a meeting of the committee, act in the place and stead of such member, and, in the event of a vacancy in the office of such member, shall act in the place and stead of such member until a successor for the unexpired term of such member has been selected.

(b) Six members and six alternate members of the Shippers' Advisory Committee shall be elected by the handlers at a general meeting of all handlers, at which each handler shall have one vote for each member position and each alternate member position for which he is eligible to vote. Three of such members shall be elected by, and from among, the five largest handlers (determined on the basis of the quantity of grapes shipped by the respective handler during the preceding season), or the employees or representatives of such handlers. Three alternate members for such members shall also be elected by such handlers. Three members and their alternates shall be elected by all other handlers. The seventh member of such committee and his alternate shall be elected jointly by the members of the Industry Committee and the other six members of the Shippers' Advisory Committee. The provisions of this paragraph shall first become effective for the election of members of the Shippers' Advisory Committee who are to serve during the season beginning April 1, 1953.

(c) Any individual person, other than a member or an alternate member of the Industry Committee, shall be eligible for membership on the Shippers' Advisory Committee.

(d) The initial meeting of handlers, at which members of the Shippers' Advisory Committee are to be elected, shall be called and conducted by the Secretary or his agent as soon as possible after the selection of initial members of the Industry Committee. Each handler who desires to vote at the said meeting for the election of members of such committee shall file with the Secretary or his agent an affidavit stating his shipments of grapes during the preceding season. Election meetings held subsequent to the initial meeting shall be called and conducted each season by the Industry Committee as much in advance of the shipping season as is practical; and each handler who desires to vote thereat shall file, with the Industry Committee, a statement of his shipments of grapes during the season immediately preceding the season during which such meeting is held.

7. Delete § 951.52 Exemptions and insert, in lieu thereof, the following:

§ 951.52 Exemptions. (a) The Industry Committee shall, subject to the approval of the Secretary, adopt such procedural rules as are necessary to govern the issuance of exemption certificates under paragraph (b) of this section.

(b) In the event the Secretary issues a regulation pursuant to § 951.51, the Industry Committee shall issue an exemption certificate to any grower who furnishes proof, satisfactory to such committee, that by reason of conditions beyond his control he will be prevented, because of the regulation issued, from shipping or having shipped in fresh fruit channels from a particular vineyard a percentage of his crop of grapes equal to (1) the average percentage of grapes produced in and so shipped from his district during the preceding three seasons or (2) the average percentage of grapes produced in and so shipped from such vineyard during the preceding three seasons, whichever percentage is the greater. The certificate shall permit such grower to ship, or have shipped, in fresh fruit channels, a percentage of his crop of grapes from such vineyard equal to such greater percentage. In computing the aforesaid quantities that were shipped during the preceding three seasons, there shall be omitted the aggregate quantities of grapes shipped under exemption certificates.

(c) If any grower is dissatisfied with the action of the Industry Committee taken with respect to his application for an exemption certificate, such grower may appeal to the Secretary: Provided, That such appeal shall be made promptly. The Secretary may, upon an appeal made as aforesaid, modify or reverse the action of the committee. The authority of the Secretary to supervise and control the issuance of exemption certificates is unlimited and plenary; and any determination by the Secretary with respect to an exemption certificate shall be final and conclusive.

(d) The Industry Committee shall, from time to time, submit to the Secretary reports stating in detail the number of exemption certificates issued, the quantity of grapes thus exempted, and such additional information with respect thereto as the Secretary may request.

8. Delete paragraph (j) of § 951.60 Definitions and insert, in lieu thereof, the following:

TITLE 14—CIVIL AVIATION

Chapter I—Civil Aeronautics Board

Subchapter A—Civil Air Regulations

[Supp. 8]

PART 43—GENERAL OPERATION RULES

AIRCRAFT OPERATING LIMITATIONS

Section 43.10 (b) provides that aircraft operating limitations shall be set forth in a form and manner prescribed by the Administrator. Such limitations have either been issued in the form of a CAA approved airplane or rotorcraft flight manual prepared by the manufacturer or set forth in Forms ACA-309 or 309a for aircraft not required by regulation to have such manuals. In order to reduce the number of official documents issued by the CAA and required to be carried in an aircraft, after August 20, 1952, Forms ACA-309 and 309a will no longer be issued by an Aviation Safety Agent or a representative of the Administrator for the purpose of listing operating limitations of aircraft required under § 43.10 (b). This does not relieve the aircraft owner or pilot of the requirement of § 43.10 (b) that the aircraft may not be operated unless there are available in the aircraft appropriate aircraft operating limitations in the form and manner prescribed by the Administrator.

The following rules prescribe the form and manner by which the aircraft owner may comply with § 43.10 (b). Due and timely execution of CAA functions and public demand require that these rules be made effective without delay. Compliance with the notice, procedures, and effective date provisions of section 4 of the Administrative Procedure Act would be impracticable and unnecessary, and therefore is not required.

Sections 43.10-1 and 43.10-2 as published on July 16, 1949, in 14 F. R. 4272, and on February 11, 1950, in 15 F. R. 767, are deleted, and the following new § 43.10-1 is adopted:

§ 43.10-1 Operating limitations (CAA rules which apply to § 43.10 (b)). Aircraft operating limitations prescribed by the Administrator shall consist of one of the following:

(a) A current CAA approved "Airplane Flight Manual" for airplanes, or a current "Rotorcraft Flight Manual" for helicopters, issued by the manufacturer, or

(b) Forms ACA-309 or ACA-309a issued by CAA to the aircraft as part of the airworthiness certificate prior to the effective date of this section,[1] or

(c) (1) Placards or listings or combination of both, containing the following operating limitations,[2] insofar as they have been prescribed by the Administrator for a particular aircraft:

Engine limits (take-off, altitude, RPM, manifold pressure).
Airspeed limits (level flight or climb, glide or dive, flaps extended).
Maximum weights (take-off, landing).
Empty weight and useful load.
Datum.
Center of gravity range.
Empty center of gravity.
Any special limitation prescribed by a CAA representative at the time the aircraft is presented for certification.

(2) The placards or listings shall be accessible to the pilot, legible and not easily erased or disfigured.

(Sec. 205 (a), 52 Stat. 984; 49 U. S. C. 425. Interpret or apply secs. 601, 603, 52 Stat. 1007, 1009, 62 Stat. 1216; 49 U. S. C. 551, 553)

This supplement shall become effective August 20, 1952.

[SEAL] F. B. LEE,
Acting Administrator of Civil Aeronautics.

[F. R. Doc. 52-8990; Filed, Aug. 14, 1952; 8:45 a. m.]

[1] The Administrator will accept Forms ACA-309 or ACA-309a issued as satisfying the requirements of § 43.10 (a) and § 43.10-1 (b) until such time as the aircraft is altered or modified to such an extent as to render inapplicable any one of the prescribed limitations, in which event the owner will be required to comply with § 43.10-1 (c).

[2] It is the responsibility of the aircraft owner to prepare and place in the aircraft current operating limitations. The technical data necessary to develop these limitations may be obtained from the pertinent aircraft specifications issued by the Administrator. These specifications are furnished upon request, free of charge, by all CAA regional offices. These specifications are also available for review only at all Aviation Safety District Offices.

Where the Administrator has never published an aircraft specification or limitation for a particular aircraft, the Administrator will prescribe the appropriate limitations at the time the aircraft is presented for certification or at any time the owner requests such information.

Subchapter C—Procedural Regulations

[Regs., Serial No. PR-17]

PART 302—RULES OF PRACTICE IN ECONOMIC PROCEEDINGS

REVISIONS OF RULES OF PRACTICE RELATING TO MOTIONS FOR CONSOLIDATION OR CONTEMPORANEOUS CONSIDERATION

Adopted by the Civil Aeronautics Board at its office in Washington, D. C., on the 11th day of August 1952.

On June 9, 1952 the Board gave notice that it had under consideration a revision of § 302.12 of the procedural regulations (14 CFR 302.12) relating to the filing of motions for consolidation of two or more proceedings or for contemporaneous consideration thereof. Interested persons were invited to participate in the proposed rule-making by submitting such written data, views, or arguments as they might desire.

The proposed rule places the burden of seeking consolidation or contemporaneous consideration of an application upon the applicant. It requires that a motion for such consolidation or contemporaneous consideration shall be filed not later than the prehearing conference in the proceeding with which the consolidation or contemporaneous consideration is requested and shall relate only to a then pending application. Provision is made that a motion that is not timely filed or does not relate to an application pending at the time of or before the appropriate prehearing conference shall be dismissed unless the motion shall clearly show good cause for failure to file the motion or application within the prescribed period.

A number of air carriers and individuals responded to the Board's invitation for the submission of written comments. The comments of carriers have been carefully considered and certain revisions have been made in the proposed rule in response thereto. The Board is therefore now adopting the revision of § 302.12 to the procedural regulations.

None of the carriers objected to the principle of providing a cut-off date for the filing of motions for consolidation or contemporaneous hearing. However, some of them commented that the prehearing conference was not an appropriate cut-off date, since in many cases the parties may not know until the conference the exact scope of a proceeding or a request for consolidation may be made at a conference, which affects a carrier's position, and which necessitates a motion for consolidation or contemporaneous hearing, not previously considered. It has therefore been suggested that a cut-off date be made at some point after the prehearing conference.

We have carefully considered these comments and recognize the merit of the contention that there will be cases in which a party cannot reasonably file a request for consolidation or contemporaneous consideration at the prehearing conference. However, we do not believe that such cases will be as frequent as suggested in the comments. We further believe that situations of this type can adequately be taken care of under the provisions in the proposed rule relating to late filed requests or applications where good cause is shown therefor. Moving the cut-off date forward to a period sometime after the prehearing conference would not solve the problem raised by the comments. A motion for consolidation or contemporaneous hearing could be made at that time which would reasonably apprise a carrier and would necessitate a further period of time for additional motions. We believe that the rule as it stands will bring before the Board in most cases requests to consolidate or for contemporaneous hearing at the prehearing conference stage. In those cases where good cause reasonably justifies a late filed petition or one relating to a late filed application, it will be permitted.

One carrier has objected to the provision in the regulation which places upon applicants the burden of seeking consolidation or contemporaneous consideration on the ground that the burden of seeking out such applications from the docket rests upon the Civil Aeronautics Board under the Civil Aeronautics Act and cannot be shifted. No provision of the act or other authority for this contention is cited. We do not believe that it is a sound argument. To whatever extent a right to consolidation or contemporaneous consideration may exist, it can be made subject to reasonable conditions imposed by the agency. We believe the requirement involved to be reasonable, particularly considered in the light of the facts as to the Board's docket. During the past several years the Board on the average has disposed of between 400 and 450 proceedings out of an average of some 1,400–1,500 applications on file. If, in every instance the Board were required to search its docket to find appropriate applications for consolidation or contemporaneous consideration, it would be necessary to have a substantial staff performing no other function. We of course will examine the docket but cannot assume the responsibility if a competing application is missed.

We have concluded that the proposed rule will make for a more orderly procedure and enable the Board to conduct its proceedings in a manner more conducive to proper dispatch of business and to the ends of justice. For the year ending May 31, 1952, the Board processed some 329 new route applications or amendments to route applications and 139 other applications for a total of 569 formal proceedings. It is absolutely essential, if the Board is to keep up this volume of work without undue delays which prejudice the rights of carriers and the public interest, that motions for consolidations or contemporaneous hearing be promptly filed at a stage of a proceeding early enough so that exhibits and other evidentiary material relating thereto may be prepared without affecting procedural schedules. We conclude that the prehearing conference is the appropriate time for the filing of motions for consolidation or contemporaneous hearing in order to achieve this objective. Prehearing conference notices generally apprise those attending of the purposes of the conference and the scope of the proceedings. Consequently, we believe that ordinarily parties should be prepared to make appropriate motions, including those relating to consolidation and contemporaneous hearing, at such conferences. In those instances where circumstances indicate that this is impracticable the proposed rule is sufficiently flexible to permit a later request. However, it should be emphasized that these requests will be closely scrutinized and those that are not timely filed will be dismissed unless reasonable grounds for the late filing are clearly shown to exist.

In consideration of the foregoing and the reasons set forth in the Board's notice of proposed rule making of June 9, 1950, the Civil Aeronautics Board hereby amends its procedural regulations, effective September 15, 1952, by striking out the present § 302.12 and substituting therefor the following § 302.12 to read as follows:

§ 302.12 Consolidations. (a) The Board, upon its own initiation or upon motion, may consolidate for hearing or for other purposes or may contemporaneously consider two or more proceedings which involve substantially the same parties, or issues which are the same or closely related, if it finds that such consolidation or contemporaneous hearing will be conducive to the proper dispatch of its business and to the ends of justice and will not unduly delay the proceedings. Although the Board may, in any particular case, consolidate or contemporaneously consider two or more proceedings on its own motion, the burden of seeking consolidation or contemporaneous consideration of a particular application shall rest upon the applicant and the Board will not undertake to search its docket for all applications which might be consolidated or contemporaneously considered.

(b) Time for filing. A motion to consolidate or contemporaneously consider an application with any other application shall be filed not later than the prehearing conference in the proceeding with which consolidation or contemporaneous consideration is requested, and shall relate only to a then pending application. If made at such conference the motion may be oral. All motions for consolidations or for consideration of issues which enlarge, expand, and change the nature of a proceeding shall be addressed to the Board, unless made orally at the prehearing conference, in which event the presiding Examiner will present such motion to the Board for its decision. A motion which is not timely filed shall be dismissed unless the movant shall clearly show good cause for his failure to file such motion on time. A motion which does not relate to an application pending at the time of or before the prehearing conference in the proceeding with which consolidation or contemporaneous consideration is requested shall likewise be dismissed unless the movant shall clearly show good cause for his failure to file the application within the prescribed period.

(c) Answer. If a motion to consolidate two or more proceedings is filed with the Board, any party to any of such proceedings, or any person who has a petition for intervention pending, may file an answer to such motion within such period as the Board may permit. The Examiner may require that answers to such motions be stated orally at the prehearing conference in the proceeding with which the consolidation is proposed.

TITLE 32A—NATIONAL DEFENSE, APPENDIX

Chapter III—Office of Price Stabilization, Economic Stabilization Agency

[Ceiling Price Regulation 14, Amdt. 16]

CPR 14—CEILING PRICES OF CERTAIN FOODS SOLD AT WHOLESALE

SERVICE FEE WHOLESALERS

Pursuant to the Defense Production Act of 1950 (Pub. Law 774, 81st Cong.), as amended, Executive Order 10161 (15 F. R. 6105), and Economic Stabilization Agency General Order No. 2 (16 F. R. 738), This Amendment 16 to Ceiling Price Regulation 14 is hereby issued.

STATEMENT OF CONSIDERATIONS

This amendment relieves service fee wholesalers from the requirement that they maintain fee and service charges no higher than the charges they made during the month prior to the effective date of this regulation.

Service fee wholesalers, heretofore, computed their ceiling prices by adding to their net cost those fee and service charges which were a compulsory part of their plan of operation immediately before the regulation became effective. However, their ceiling prices have been further limited by an overriding requirement that during each four-week period their "net cost" plus the service charges they make to a customer may not exceed what their ceiling prices would have been had they used the Table A markups which conform with their delivery practice. Finally, they must reduce those Table A markups to 1.10 for all categories of commodities having markups over 1.10, except frozen foods. Of course, where the Table A markup for a category of commodities is lower than 1.10, they must use the lower markup.

It now appears that, because of the comparatively new and experimental nature of this type of wholesale operation, some service fee wholesalers who began operations shortly before the issuance of this regulation established fees and charges which have turned out to be too low to carry the operation. The ceiling prices of service fee wholesalers, even at the level of the special maxima fixed for them under the regulation, are generally lower than those for other types of comparable wholesalers. Ceiling prices of their retail customers are consequently lower than they would otherwise be, and the benefit to consumers is obvious. The Director has therefore determined that it would be consistent with the purposes of the stabilization program to permit service fee wholesalers to make full use of the prescribed maximum markups. Thus, under this amendment, these wholesalers will no longer be limited to the fees and charges they had in effect during the month before the regulation became effective. They will, of course, continue to be subject to the same maximum markups that have been in force up to now.

Since the historical limitation on fee and service charges is being removed, there is no longer any reason for distinguishing between wholesalers who conducted service fee operations prior to April 5, 1951, and those who started service fee operations after that date. For that reason the regulation is being amended to permit any wholesaler who wishes to figure his ceiling prices as a service fee wholesaler to do so upon filing a notification of his intent to operate in this manner with his OPS District Office. Wholesalers who, prior to this amendment, have filed as service fee operators need not send another notice to OPS.

In formulating this amendment, the Director of Price Stabilization has consulted with representatives of industry, including trade association representatives, to the extent practicable and given consideration to their recommendations. In the judgment of the Director, the provisions of this amendment are generally fair and equitable, are necessary to effectuate the purposes of Title IV of the Defense Production Act of 1950, as amended, and comply with all the applicable standards of that act.

AMENDATORY PROVISIONS

Ceiling Price Regulation 14 is amended in the following respects:

1. Section 26a is revised by deleting from paragraph (a) the words "prior to April 5, 1951, and at the present time."

2. Section 26a is further revised by changing the first sentence of paragraph (b) to read as follows:

(b) If you are a service fee wholesaler, you shall figure your ceiling prices in accordance with sections 3 and 4 of this regulation for all items covered by this regulation by adding to your "net cost," as defined in section 4 of this regulation, those fee and service charges which are compulsory under your plan. • • •

3. Section 26a is further revised by deleting the present paragraph (d) and inserting the following paragraph:

(d) You must notify the OPS District Office for your area of your intention to operate as a service fee wholesaler. You may begin using the provisions of this section as soon as you have mailed your notification to your OPS District Office.

4. Section 28a is deleted.

Effective date. This amendment shall become effective August 19, 1952.

NOTE: The record keeping and reporting requirements of this amendment have been approved by the Bureau of the Budget in accordance with the Federal Reports Act of 1942.

Acting Director of Price Stabilization.

CPR 60—CASTINGS

ADJUSTMENT IN CEILING PRICES OF COPPER AND COPPER ALLOY CASTINGS

Pursuant to the Defense Production Act of 1950, as amended, Executive Order 10161, and Economic Stabilization Agency General Order No. 2, this amendment to Ceiling Price Regulation 60 is hereby issued.

STATEMENT OF CONSIDERATIONS

This amendment to Ceiling Price Regulation 60 permits a producer of copper or copper alloy castings to increase his ceiling prices for such commodities to reflect increases in the cost of foreign copper, in accordance with a directive issued by the Acting Director of the Office of Defense Mobilization.

Under the terms of an agreement between the United States and Chile, at the time CPR 60 was issued the price of Chilean copper sold to the United States was set at 27½ cents per pound. On May 8, 1952, Chile terminated this agreement. Since that date all Chilean copper has been offered for sale through ordinary commercial channels for sale at market prices.

Since the supply of domestic copper is insufficient to meet defense and essential civilian requirements, the Acting Director of the Office of Defense Mobilization on May 21, 1952, established and announced the policy which would be followed by the United States Government in order to meet the changed situation. The text of this announcement follows:

The agreement between the United States Government and the Chilean Government allocated 80 percent of the production of companies in Chile controlled by United States interests for purchase and import into the United States by U. S. private firms at 27½ cents a pound. It left the remainder of the production of copper in Chile to sell at much higher prices on the world market. This agreement was terminated by Chile as of May 8, 1952. The termination of this agreement and the copper strike in Chile, together with the Chilean stoppage of copper shipments since May 8 have produced shortages of copper for essential uses of the mobilization program in the United States.

It is necessary to meet the difficulties raised by these shortages and to permit the resumption of imports from Chile. It is also desirable to encourage an increase in the imports of copper from foreign countries, including Chile, over those previously prevailing. Consequently, the Government of the United States has adopted the following policies to meet the emergency:

1. In order to encourage importation of adequate supplies of foreign copper by private buyers under existing conditions, the United States Government is acting through the Office of Price Stabilization to permit brass mills and copper wire mills to add to their ceiling prices an amount representing 80 percent of any increase in cost of foreign copper above the 27½ cent level contained in the Chilean agreement which has just been terminated. The Office of Price Stabilization will periodically announce the permitted increases in ceiling prices which will be adjusted to reflect variation in foreign prices of copper and in the ratio of foreign copper used. The initial adjustments will become effective on June 16, 1952.

Comparable treatment will be provided for other primary users of refined foreign copper, including copper produced in this country from foreign ores and concentrates. The impact of any changes in the ceiling prices of primary copper products at subsequent levels of production and distribution will be treated in accordance with the existing pricing standards of the Office of Price Stabilization.

2. It is the policy of the United States Government not to make now and to avoid in the future changes in the existing price ceilings on domestically refined copper, brass mill scrap, or copper or copper alloy scrap.

3. In order to maintain a uniform price policy on brass and copper wire mill products, taking into account the changes in the price of foreign copper, the National Production Authority will allocate foreign and domestic supplies as equitably as practicable among United States users. Allocation will be used to equalize the impact of any higher foreign prices for copper and to permit in this way the import of more copper for the total use of the United States defense program.

Subsequently, industry representatives raised very strong objections to the policy embodied in this Directive. One of the principal objections was that many producers of copper and copper alloy castings had previously used little or no foreign copper and thus their costs and prices were based on 24½ cents rather than 27½ cents metal. Therefore, it was argued that any pass-through should be computed from the 24½ cents level in order to avoid doing serious injustice to these producers. On the basis of these representations, the Directive from the Acting Director of the Office of Defense Mobilization was revised to provide that the adjustment in the ceiling price of copper and copper alloy castings be related to the 24½ cents rather than the 27½ cents level. The brass mill and copper wire mill industries have already been allowed to increase their prices in accordance with the revised directive.

In order to provide comparable treatment to producers of copper and copper alloy castings, this amendment permits them to adjust their ceiling prices for copper castings and copper alloy castings to reflect 80 percent of the difference between the cost of foreign primary copper (including copper refined from imported copper-bearing materials and imported scrap) and the price of domestic copper which is 24½ cents per pound. Since the records of most producers will not show the proportion of foreign copper and of domestic copper contained in a particular casting, it will not generally be possible for them to determine the cost of foreign copper contained in a casting. However, the records of the producers will show the amount of copper contained in a particular casting. These records will also show the amount of copper used by a producer during a given period (e. g. a calendar month) for which he paid more than 24½ cents per pound which is the ceiling price of domestic copper, thus reflecting the amount used of foreign refined copper and copper refined from imported copper-bearing materials and imported scrap. Therefore, producers of copper and copper alloy castings are permitted under this amendment to add an average increase per pound of primary copper contained in such castings to the ceiling prices otherwise computed under CPR 60.

This average increase is to be calculated by each producer at the beginning of each calendar month by taking the percentage of copper used by him during the preceding calendar month for which he paid more than 24½ cents per pound and multiplying this by 80 percent of the cost of such copper in excess of 24½ cents per pound. For the first calendar month following the effective date of this amendment, each producer of copper alloy castings will calculate the average increase to be applied that month by taking the percentage of copper for which he paid more than 24½ cents per pound as 40 percent and the cost of such copper as 36½ cents per pound. It is anticipated that the National Production Authority will allocate copper on the basis of 60 percent domestic copper and 40 percent foreign copper. The price currently quoted by the Bank of Chile is the equivalent of 36½ cents per pound delivered Connecticut Valley basis.

So far as practicable, the Director has given due consideration to the national effort to achieve maximum production in furtherance of the objectives of the Defense Production Act of 1950, as amended, and to relevant facts of general applicability. In the judgment of the Director, the provisions of this amendment comply with the applicable provisions of the Defense Production Act of 1950, as amended.

In formulating this amendment, the Director consulted with industry representatives, including trade association representatives, to the extent practicable, and has given full consideration to their recommendations.

AMENDATORY PROVISIONS

1. Section 2a is amended by adding a new paragraph (e) which reads as follows:

(e) Adjustment in ceiling prices for copper and copper alloy castings. (1) If you are a producer of copper castings or copper alloy castings, you may add to your ceiling prices otherwise established under this regulation for such castings an amount per pound of primary copper contained in such castings, which amount is to be determined in accordance with subparagraph (2) of this paragraph.

(2) The amount to be applied during each calendar month is to be calculated by each producer of copper or copper alloy castings at the beginning of such calendar month by multiplying the percentage of primary copper actually used by him during the preceding calendar month for which he made payment to the seller on the basis of a price for copper in excess of 24½ cents per pound by 80 percent of the cost of such copper in excess of 24½ cents per pound. For the first calendar month following the effective date of this amendment, each producer of copper or copper alloy castings shall calculate the amount to be applied that first month by taking the percentage of copper for which he made payment on the basis of a price in excess of 24½ cents per pound as 40 percent and the cost of such copper as 36½ cents per pound. However, you may not reflect in such monthly calculation any amount paid by you in excess of the applicable ceiling price or in excess of the applicable price prevailing at your usual source of supply.

Effective date. This amendment is effective August 19, 1952.

SR 6—CEILING PRICES FOR MANUFACTURERS FOR THE SALE OF PAINTS, VARNISHES AND LACQUERS

Pursuant to the Defense Production Act of 1950, as amended (Pub. Law 774, 81st Cong., Public Law 96, 82d Cong.), Executive Order 10161 (15 F. R. 6105), and Economic Stabilization Agency General Order No. 2 (16 F. R. 738), this revised Supplementary Regulation 6 to Ceiling Price Regulation 22 is hereby issued.

STATEMENT OF CONSIDERATIONS

This revised supplementary regulation provides manufacturers of paints, varnishes and lacquers, with alternative methods of establishing ceiling prices. For the purpose of this supplementary regulation, paints, varnishes and lacquers include: (1) Paints, mixed and ready for use or in dry or paste form; (2) varnishes, including spirit varnishes but not including shellac gum; (3) lacquers and lacquer thinners; (4) fillers, putty and caulking compounds; (5) paint and varnish removers; (6) "water-proofing" compounds excepting metallic compounds but including roof coating and roof cements; (7) artists' oils and water colors; (8) enamels; (9) top dressings.

The original Supplementary Regulation 6 provided two methods of establishing ceiling prices for all products of the industry. The basic method was the same as provided for in Ceiling Price Regulation 22, but subject to two qualifications:

(1) A mandatory base period of April 1 through June 24, 1950, was established;

(2) Use of a specified list of raw materials cost increase factors contained in an appendix to the regulation was required where applicable. The second method provided was an alternative whereby manufacturers, in lieu of computing individual adjustment factors, could elect to apply an adjustment ratio of 115 percent to base period prices. Manufacturers who used this latter method were required to use it for all commodities which they made during the base period. Ceiling prices for new commodities were required to be established under methods provided for in CPR 22.

One essential change made by this revision recognizes the distinct problems inherent in the pricing of certain industrial paint formulations as contrasted to what are generally referred to by the industry as "trade sales". Whereas this latter classification of products is largely constituted of the stock type commodities normally distributed through the wholesale-retail channels of distribution, the industrial products are specific formulas made to satisfy particular end uses of limited classes of users. This regulation establishes two groups of such industrial products; industrial product finishes and industrial maintenance paints. The former are specifically formulated to meet conditions of use of the articles to which they are applied as a part of the manufacturing process. The latter are specifically formulated for application to certain types of plants, bridges, highways, railroad and maritime equipment, where atmospheric conditions, or the presence of gases, chemicals and similar substances require specially and individually devised resistant paints, varnishes and lacquers. Thousands of such industrial formulations are prepared by the industry. Consequently, use of the pricing techniques authorized by Ceiling Price Regulation 22 (CPR 22), impose an enormous burden on the manufacturer (as well as on the administrative facilities of the Agency). Therefore, a formula method of pricing has been devised which simplifies compliance yet assures resulting ceiling prices which will not be out of line with those established by CPR 22 or the original Supplementary Regulation 6 (SR 6). Basically, this method permits manufacturers who so elect to establish ceiling prices by first computing what the price of the industrial products would have been in the base period, following their historical practice of determining price by relation to cost and using base period standard raw materials and labor costs and mark-up. To the "base period" price so determined, the manufacturer then applies an adjustment ratio of 115 percent. This method is in lieu of computing individual labor and materials cost adjustment factors. The option remains with the manufacturer to price such commodities under applicable methods of CPR 22, subject, however, to the limitations with respect to the April 1 to June 24, 1950 base period and use of the materials cost appendix already described.

Complementing the above, another important feature of this revision permits manufacturers to establish ceiling prices for trade-sales as a group and industrial products as a group under different sections of the regulation. Methods available for trade sales include the CPR 22 methods, subject to the same limitation as to use of a base period and raw materials cost increases as described above, or the application of the 115 percent adjustment ratio to base period prices.

New sellers of industrial products, are, of course, faced with the same complexity in establishing prices as established sellers. Yet, because of the inherently diverse and individual characteristics of such products, pricing under section 33 of CPR 22 would rarely be practicable or possible. Therefore, this revision permits new sellers to propose to the Office of Price Stabilization a formula for establishing ceiling prices based on materials and labor costs, other manufacturing costs and markup. A 20-day waiting period after submission of the report before making any sales is required.

This supplementary regulation effects changes in the filing and record-keeping requirements of SR 6. Reporting and filing requirements have been eliminated for sales of industrial products finishes and industrial maintenance paints except where new sellers propose formulas, or base period sellers propose new formulas. Also, a simplified form has been devised for reporting ceiling prices established under section 32 of CPR 22. However, if any manufacturer elects pursuant to section 4 of this regulation to use a CPR 22 method to establish ceiling prices, he must comply with the reporting requirements of CPR 22, and file an OPS Public Form No. 8.

The establishment of a single base period in all cases of April 1 to June 24, 1950 is continued in the revision. Consultation with industry established this period as representative for all manufacturers concerned. Further, this permitted the establishment of specified raw materials cost increase factors listed in Appendix A which similarly is maintained in this revision. These factors were determined after surveying quotations published in industry journals. Consultation with industry representatives since the issuance of the original supplementary regulation and immediately prior to the preparation of this revision establish that these factors are not excessive and are sufficiently accurate to justify their use. This revision also continues the provision for the adjustment of ceiling price for paints containing at least 60 percent by weight of metallic zinc or lead.

In general, this revision does not operate to compel changes in business practices, cost practices or methods, or means or aids to distribution established in the industry, and where such changes are involved the action is found to be necessary to prevent circumvention or evasion of this regulation.

In the formulation of this revised regulation there has been consultation with industry representatives, including trade association representatives, and consideration has been given to their recommendations. This consultation included a meeting of the Industry Advisory Committee, and in addition, several informal meetings and consultations with industry representatives as well as trade association representatives.

AUTHORITY: Sections 1 to 11 issued under sec. 704, 64 Stat. 816, as amended; 50 U. S. C. App. Sup. 2154. Interpret or apply Title IV, 64 Stat. 803, as amended; 50 U. S. C. App. Sup. 2101–2110; E. O. 10161, Sept. 9, 1950, 15 F. R. 6105; 3 CFR, 1950 Supp.

SECTION 1. What this regulation does. This supplementary regulation provides alternative pricing methods to all manufacturers of paints, varnishes and lacquers. It includes sales of these commodities by manufacturers at retail.

SEC. 2. Coverage—(a) Commodities covered. The commodities covered by this supplementary regulation are paints, varnishes and lacquers. "Paints, varnishes and lacquers" are the following:

(1) Paints, mixed and ready for use or in dry or paste form;

(2) Varnishes, including spirit varnishes but not including shellac gum;

(3) Lacquers and lacquer thinners;

(4) Fillers, putty and caulking compounds;

(5) Paint and varnish removers;

(6) "Water-proofing" compounds excepting metallic compounds but including roof coating and roof cements;

(7) Artists' oils and water colors;

(8) Enamels;

(9) Top dressings.

(b) Sellers and sales covered. This supplementary regulation covers you if you are a manufacturer (as defined in section 11) of paints, varnishes and lacquers and if you are located in the United States or the District of Columbia. It applies to all your sales of paints, varnishes and lacquers which you manufacture, including your sales at retail. All the provisions of Ceiling Price Regulation 22 shall be applicable to you in your sales of the commodities covered by this supplementary regulation except as those provisions are inconsistent with, modified or supplemented by the provisions of this supplementary regulation. You must notice also that this supplementary regulation does not exempt any sales by you nor may you elect not to use this supplementary regulation. To this extent section 1 of Ceiling Price Regulation 22 is superseded.

SEC. 3. Base period. The base period which you must use for all purposes under this supplementary regulation shall be the period April 1, 1950 through June 24, 1950. The option given in CPR 22 to use one of the three preceding quarters as a base period is not available to you.

SEC. 4. Establishment of ceiling prices. Unless you are eligible and choose to use the alternative pricing methods set forth in sections 5 and 6 of this supplementary regulation, you establish your ceiling prices under the provisions of Ceiling Price Regulation 22 but subject to the following limitations: (a) Your base period shall be as provided in section 3; (b) in calculating your materials cost adjustment in the computation of your ceiling price you must, for the raw materials which you use and which are listed in Appendix A of this supplementary regulation, apply the materials cost increase factors set forth in Appendix A of this supplementary regulation.

SEC. 5. Alternative pricing methods; percentage increase—(a) Who may use this section. (1) You may apply this section to your sales of paints, varnishes and lacquers for which you had a base period price. You may also apply this section to your sales of paints, varnishes and lacquers in the same categories as those for which you had a base period price (for the definition of "category" see section 5 of CPR 22). This section furnishes a method which you may elect to use in lieu of section 4 of this supplementary regulation. If you elect to use this section for industrial product finishes or if you elect to use it for industrial maintenance paints, you must use is for all industrial product finishes and all industrial maintenance paints which you manufacture. In other words, your election with respect to either of these groups of commodities is binding on both. Industrial product finishes and industrial maintenance paints are defined in section 11 of this supplementary regulation.

(2) If you elect to use this section to establish ceiling prices for other paints, varnishes and lacquers dealt in during the base period or in the same categories as other paints, varnishes and lacquers dealt in during the base period, then you must use it for all such commodities which you now manufacture and sell. "Other paints, varnishes and lacquers" means all commodities covered by this supplementary regulation other than industrial product finishes and industrial maintenance paints. Once made, any election under this section is final.

(b) Ceiling prices for commodities with base period prices. If a commodity you are now selling had a base period price, your ceiling price for sales of that commodity is 115 percent of your base period price. This method of determining your ceiling prices shall be in lieu of the materials cost adjustment and labor cost adjustment provided for in section 4 of this supplementary regulation and in Ceiling Price Regulation 22.

(c) Ceiling prices for other commodities for which you had no base period price. If a commodity you are now selling or propose to sell did not have a base period price but falls within a category in which you dealt during the base period, you determine your ceiling price in accordance with instructions given in section 32 of Ceiling Price Regulation 22. (Note, however, that you may determine ceiling prices for new industrial product finishes and industrial maintenance paints under section 6 of this regulation.) With respect to the comparison commodity you must use a ceiling price determined under paragraph (b) of this section. For the definition of "category" see section 5 of CPR 22. For the selection of a "comparison commodity" see section 32 of CPR 22. You need not comply with the reporting requirements of section 32 of Ceiling Price Regulation 22, but you must maintain the records and, for any commodity other than an industrial product finish or industrial maintenance paint, you must also file an OPS Public Form No. 150 as required by section 8 of this supplementary regulation. Note, too, that the reporting exemption granted in section 32 of CPR 22 where net sales are not expected to exceed $10,000 applies to this supplementary regulation.

SEC. 6. Optional method; ceiling prices for industrial product finishes and industrial maintenance paints for which you had no base period price. If you manufacture industrial product finishes or industrial maintenance paints (as defined in section 11), you may determine your ceiling prices for such a product not offered for sale during the base period by first calculating what your base period price for the commodity would have been had you manufactured it then. You determine your base period price for such a commodity by using either the price determining method which you last had in effect during your base period, or if you had no price determining method in effect during your base period, by using a price determining method approved by OPS. You use this price determining method to determine a base period price for the commodity to your largest buying class of purchasers. Multiply the base period price you so calculate by 115 percent. Subject to the requirements of paragraph (c) of section 8, the resulting figure is your ceiling price for sales of the industrial product finish or industrial maintenance paint to your largest buying class of purchasers.

(a) Price determining method where you had one in effect during your base period. You use the method of determining price by relation to cost that you last had in effect during your base period for determining the selling prices of commodities of the same or a similar type. This means that you must use the materials costs, labor rates, rates for general administrative and selling expenses, profit markup, discounts and allowances, and any other bases of computing price by relation to cost that were last in use in your plant during your base period and are applicable to the commodity being priced. You determine costs in accordance with paragraphs (d) through (f) of this section.

(b) Price determining method where you had none in effect during your base period. If you are a new seller of industrial products finishes or industrial maintenance paints, or if for any other reason you had no method of determining price by relation to cost in effect during your base period for commodities of the same or a similar type, you must file a proposed price determining method with the Office of Price Stabilization, Industrial Materials and Manufactured Goods Division, Washington 25, D. C., before you deliver any commodity which is covered by this section. Wherever possible, and insofar as they are applicable, this price determining method must relate to labor and material costs, overhead rates, administrative and selling expenses, other cost factors, and to profit margins which you had in effect in your plant during your base period for comparable commodities. You determine your costs in accordance with the provisions of paragraphs (d) through (f) of this section. As soon as you decide upon such a price determining method, you file a report, in accordance with section 8 (c) (2), by registered mail with the Office of Price Stabilization, Industrial Materials and Manufactured Goods Division, Washington 25, D. C.

(c) Application of price determining method. You must apply your base period price determining method, or the price determining method approved by the OPS, in accordance with paragraphs (d) to (g), inclusive, of this section.

(d) Direct labor costs—(1) Method of determining base period direct labor costs. You determine direct labor costs by multiplying the straight-time labor rate for each classification of labor last in effect during your base period (see subparagraph (2) of this paragraph) by the estimated number of clock hours of that classification of labor. This estimate of the number of clock hours shall be based on previous production experience. However, if in computing your selling prices during the base period you employed standard pre-determined costs or allowances for each operation, or each unit of a finished commodity covered by this section, which represented the value of direct labor normally required under efficient conditions at normal capacity to produce that commodity, you may determine your labor costs by using those standard costs or allowances established in your last computations during the base period. If you were not in operation during the base period you determine direct labor costs as provided in subparagraph (2) for classifications of labor not used in the base period.

(2) Labor rates. The rates used in determining allowable direct costs are the rates in your plant for each classification of labor that was last prevailing during your base period. If you require the use of labor of a classification not employed by you in your plant during your base period, you use as the rate for that classification of labor, the rate last prevailing during your base period in the locality in which the manufacturing is to be performed. If the labor of that classification was not employed in that locality during your base period, you use the rate last prevailing during your base period in the most comparable locality as accurately as you are able to determine that rate by the use of reasonable diligence.

(3) Overtime and shift premium. In calculating a base period price computed by formula, you are required to use as elements of the formula only straight-time labor rates. After you have calculated a base period price in this way, you may add an amount for overtime or shift premium, if that will be required to produce the commodity. The amount to be added for overtime or shift premium is determined by multiplying the estimated number of overtime or shift premium hours, which you expect will be required to produce the commodity, by the overtime or shift premium rate in your plant for each classification of labor that was last prevailing during your base period. If you require the use of labor of a classification not employed by you in your plant during your base period, you use as the rate for that classification of labor, the rate last prevailing during your base period in the locality in which the manufacturing is to be performed. If labor of that classification was not employed in that locality during your base period, you use the rate last prevailing during your base period in the most comparable locality, as accurately as you are able to determine that rate by the use of reasonable diligence.

(e) Material costs. (1) You determine the allowable cost of raw materials as follows: Multiply the base period cost for each material by the estimated quantity of that material. This estimate of the quantity of the material which is to be used in the production of the commodity shall be based upon your previous production experience. However, if in computing your selling prices during the base period you employed standard predetermined costs or allowances for each operation, or each unit of a finished commodity covered by this section, which represented the value of direct materials normally required under efficient conditions at normal capacity to produce that commodity, your may determine your material costs by using those standard costs or allowances established in your last computations during the base period.

(2) If you are unable to ascertain your material cost under subparagraph (1), either because you were not in operation during the base period or because you use materials that you did not use during the base period, you must determine and employ the cost as of June 24, 1950, of each material to be used for which you are unable to ascertain the cost under subparagraph (1) by reference to the issue of the American Paint Journal or to the Oil, Paint and Drug Reporter which quotes or reports applicable costs as of that date. You may determine base period costs for materials not reported in the American Paint Journal or the Oil, Paint, and Drug Reporter by reference to the base period costs of your closest competitor or, if those materials were not used by your closest competitor then the base period cost of any other comparable manufacturer, as accurately as you are able to determine those costs by the use of reasonable diligence.

(f) Other costs. All other costs which you may compute in applying your proposed method or fomula (such as, but not limited to, container costs, transportation costs, sales expense) must be those last in effect during the base period. Determination of such costs shall be made wherever possible by reference to your own records, or, if you were not in operation during the base period, by reference to rates, charges, or price prevailing in the locality where your manufacturing operations are being performed, or, where necessary, in the locality most comparable to that where your manufacturing operations are being performed.

(g) New formulas. If, after establishing your base period method or formula under paragraph (a), or your new formula under paragraph (b), you plan to manufacture a commodity subject to this section which you believe cannot practicably be priced under the formula you have already established, you may propose a new formula in accordance with the provisions of paragraph (b) of this section. For each new formula you propose you must keep the records and make the report required by section 8 (c) (2) of this regulation. This requirement shall apply to all manufacturers who propose a new method or formula and the reporting exemption otherwise provided in paragraph (c) of section 8 shall not apply to such new formulas.

SEC. 7. Ceiling prices for paints containing lead and zinc. This section applies to you if you manufacture paints, including pastes and semi-pastes, containing at least 60 percent by weight of metallic lead or zinc, or both, and applies only to such paints.

(a) How to compute tentative ceiling price. First compute the ceiling price for the zinc or lead formulation using any method contained in this supplementary regulation which you are eligible to use. In other words, determine what your ceiling price for the formulation would be if this section were not part of this supplementary regulation.

(b) Metals adjustment factor. (1) Determine the amount by weight of metallic lead or zinc, or both, contained in the formulation.

(2) Determine the increase in the cost of metallic lead or zinc used by you in this formulation over the highest cost to you of the same quantity of these metals in the period April 1, 1950 to June 24, 1950.

(3) Multiply the amount by weight of metals as computed in subparagraph (1) of this section by the cost increase of the metals as determined in subparagraph (2), or by 2 cents per pound of metal, whichever is less.

(4) Add the figure arrived at in subparagraph (3) to the tentative ceiling price for the formulation determined in paragraph (a) of this section. The resulting figure is your ceiling price under this section.

SEC. 8. Records, reports, filings and sales—(a) Ceiling price under Section 4. If you establish ceiling prices under section 4 of this supplementary regulation you must comply with the applicable reporting requirements of CPR 22.

(b) Ceiling prices under section 5. (1) If under section 5 of this supplementary regulation you establish ceiling prices for a commodity other than an industrial product finish or industrial maintenance paint, you need not file any of the reports required by CPR 22. However, you must file the following with the Office of Price Stabilization, Industrial Materials and Manufactured Goods Division, Washington 25, D. C.

(i) If you manufactured and sold the commodity during the base period, a price list or statement identifying the commodity and showing its base period price and applicable discounts.

(ii) If you did not manufacture and sell the commodity during the base period, a completely executed and signed OPS Public Form No. 150.

(2) If you establish ceiling prices for industrial product finishes or industrial maintenance paints under section 5 of this supplementary regulation, you need not render any report or filing to the Office of Price Stabilization. However, you are required to prepare and maintain in your files for the life of the Defense Production Act of 1950, as amended, and for two years thereafter, all records of your base period prices used to establish ceiling prices under paragraph (b) of section 5.

(3) You are further required to prepare and maintain all records, worksheets and computations you use to determine your ceiling prices under paragraph (c) of section 5, and all records showing the prices at which you sell the commodities whose ceiling prices you establish under section 5. Such records, worksheets and computations shall be kept in your files for a period of 2 years from the date such computations, charges or offers are made.

You may put your ceiling prices established under section 5 into effect immediately upon complying with the reporting and record-keeping requirements of this section. Notwithstanding the foregoing the Director of Price Stabilization may at any time require that you submit further information, or may at any later date disapprove or revise your ceiling price.

(c) Ceiling prices under section 6. (1) If you establish ceiling prices under section 6 (a) of this supplementary regulation you need not render any report or filing to the Office of Price Stabilization. However, you must prepare and maintain the following in your files for the life of the Defense Production Act of 1950, as amended, and for two years thereafter:

(i) A description of the method or formula you use, including a breakdown of materials cost, labor costs, general selling and administrative costs, estimated factory expenses, and showing profit markup.

(ii) Base period delivery terms, cash, trade and volume discounts, premiums and extras, deductions, guarantees, and all the terms and conditions of sale.

(iii) The base period commodity for which the formula was used.

You must also prepare worksheets showing your calculations of ceiling prices for each new commodity by use of your formula, and a record of the selling price of each such new commodity. You must maintain such worksheets and records for a period of 2 years from the date of each such calculation or sale.

(2) If you establish ceiling prices as a new seller or otherwise under section 6 (b) or (g) you must file with the Office of Price Stabilization, Industrial Materials and Manufactured Goods Division, Washington 25, D. C. by registered mail, a report relating to the first commodity to which you apply your method or formula, which shall contain the following:

(i) The name and address of your company.

(ii) The commodity to which you are applying the formula.

(iii) A description of the method or formula you establish including a breakdown of materials costs, labor costs, general selling and administrative costs, estimated factory expenses, and showing profit markup.

(iv) Delivery terms, cash, trade and volume discounts, premiums and extras, deductions, guarantees and other terms and conditions of sale which you will apply to and use for each sale under the proposed formula.

(v) Your calculations of the ceiling prices you establish.

(vi) The date as of which the costs set forth in subdivision (iii) of this subparagraph were in effect.

(vii) The source or sources from which you obtained all costs data used in subdivision (iii).

(3) You shall make the same form of report at any time you propose a new formula as permitted by section 6 (g).

(4) You may not sell any of the commodities whose ceiling prices you establish under section 6 (b) or 6 (g) until and unless your method or formula is approved by the Director of Price Stabilization, except as permitted in the following paragraph. However, unless the Director disapproves or requests further information your method or formula, and ceiling prices thereunder, shall be deemed to be approved 20 days after you mail your report. Notwithstanding the foregoing, the Director of Price Stabilization may at any later date disapprove or revise your ceiling prices, or your method or formula, or request further information.

(5) In the 20-day waiting period after mailing the required report under this section you may continue to sell, offer for sale, or deliver the commodity or commodities concerned at the ceiling price or prices you establish under any other regulation. Thereafter, you may not sell at ceiling prices exceeding these established under this supplementary regulation. In addition, you may during the 20-day period make a contract or offer to sell an industrial product finish or industrial maintenance paint according to the adjustable pricing provisions of section 40 of CPR 22.

SEC. 9. Relation to supplementary regulations of CPR 22—(a) Supplementary Regulation 2. If you establish ceiling prices under section 4 or 5 of this supplementary regulation you may, where applicable and if you so elect, apply the provisions of Supplementary Regulation 2 (SR 2) to Ceiling Price Regulation 22 in establishing ceiling prices for your sales of commodities dealt in by you during the base period. However, your application of SR 2 to CPR 22 shall be subject to the following:

(1) In all cases your base period shall be April 1 through June 24, 1950.

(2) You may establish as your "permissive ceiling price ratio" referred to in section 3 (f) of SR 2, the 115 percent figure used in section 5 of this supplementary regulation. This option shall be in lieu of your computing a total cost adjustment factor as is otherwise required by SR 2.

(3) If you elect to compute your total cost adjustment factor you must use the materials cost increase figures listed in Appendix A of this supplementary regulation wherever possible in determining your materials cost adjustment factor.

(b) Relation to SR's 17 and 18 to CPR 22. Notwithstanding any of the provisions of this supplementary regulation, nothing contained herein shall preclude you from applying for an adjustment of your ceiling prices in accordance with the terms of Supplementary Regulation 17 (SR 17) or Supplementary Regulation 18 (SR 18) to CPR 22. It shall not be necessary as a prerequisite to the application of either SR 17 or SR 18 that you determine pre-adjusted ceiling prices under CPR 22. Nor are you required to file any forms or reports for your ceiling prices under this Supplementary Regulation 6 other than as required by section 8 above. However, if you elect to use SR 17 or SR 18, you must follow the methods therein prescribed and you must comply with the reporting and filing requirements of whichever of these supplementary regulations is applicable.

SEC. 10. Modification of ceiling prices by the Director of Price Stabilization. The Director of Price Stabilization may at any time disapprove or revise downward ceiling prices proposed to be used or being used under this revised supplementary regulation so as to bring them into line with the level of ceiling prices otherwise established by this revised supplementary regulation.

SEC. 11. Definitions. Unless otherwise specified, the following definitions shall in all cases be controlling:

(b) Industrial maintenance paints. Any organic product covered by this supplementary regulation specifically formulated to meet special conditions in the maintenance and use of the following equipment and facilities: Breweries, chemical plants, food products processing plants, rubber plants, textile mills, highway and railroad bridges, highways, highway posts and guard rails, railroad rolling stock, locomotives and omnibuses, and commercial maritime vessels.

(c) Industrial product finishes. Any organic product covered by this supplementary regulation specifically formulated to meet the conditions of application and use of the article to which applied, and applied to such article as part of the manufacturing process of that article.

(d) Manufacturer. Any person who produces, processes, packages or repackages paints, varnishes and lacquers on his own premises or with his own equipment for sale under his own brand or trade name or under the brand or trade name of any other person.

(e) Trade sales. For the purpose of the supplementary regulation those paints, varnishes and lacquers commonly referred to by the industry as "trade sales" are included in the term "other paints, varnishes and lacquers" as defined in section 5 (a).

Effective date: The effective date of this supplementary regulation is October 13, 1952, or such earlier date between August 13, 1952 and October 13, 1952, as you may select. If you select such earlier date, this supplementary regulation becomes effective as to you upon that date for all your commodities covered by this supplementary regulation.

NOTE: The record-keeping and reporting requirements of this regulation have been approved by the Bureau of the Budget, in accordance with the Federal Reports Act of 1942.

ELLIS ARNALL,
Director of Price Stabilization.

AUGUST 13, 1952.

APPENDIX A

MATERIALS COST INCREASE FACTORS

There are listed in this Appendix various materials for which you must use the increase factor in the Appendix if you are pricing under section 4 of this Supplementary Regulation 6. The first column lists the material. The second column lists the unit to which the increase factor shown in the third column shall apply. The third column in some instances indicates the dollars and cents increase for the indicated unit of the material, and in other cases indicates the percentage increase factor to be applied to your cost of the listed material in the base period April 1, 1950 through June 24, 1950. The percentage factor applied to your base period cost for the indicated unit of material is the dollars and cents amount to be applied as the increase in cost for that unit of material. In some cases the third column indicates a decrease in cost for a listed material. In respect to those materials the decrease in cost must be computed and recognized in the same manner as the indicated cost increases.

CPR 117—MALT BEVERAGES

EXTENSION OF COVERAGE TO SALES IN THE TERRITORY OF HAWAII OF MALT BEVERAGES PRODUCED IN HAWAII

Pursuant to the Defense Production Act of 1950, as amended, Executive Order 10161, and Economic Stabilization Agency General Order No. 2, this Amendment to Ceiling Price Regulation 117, Revision 1, is hereby issued.

STATEMENT OF CONSIDERATIONS

Ceiling Price Regulation 117, Revision 1, establishes ceiling prices for all sellers of imported and domestic malt beverages in the 48 States of the United States and in the District of Columbia.

The regulation does not apply to the Territory of Hawaii. At the present time sales of malt beverages produced in Hawaii are covered by the General Ceiling Price Regulation and sales of malt beverages brought into Hawaii for resale are covered by Ceiling Price Regulation 9, Revision 1.

Brewers in Hawaii have traditionally been considered an integral part of the total brewing industry of the United States. Their pricing techniques and operating practices over the last six years have paralleled or followed mainland brewers and mainland market tendencies and fluctuation of mainland costs and prices have been reflected in the operations of Hawaiian breweries. Materials are purchased from the same sources, employees are members of the same union, are subject to the same federal laws and taxes, and Hawaiian beers compete with mainland beers in the local market. This competition has resulted in placing the Hawaiian brewers in an unfavorable position since mainland brewers have been permitted increases by Ceiling Price Regulation 117, Revision 1, plus pass through of taxes while local brewers whose prices are frozen by the General Ceiling Price Regulation have been permitted only to pass through the increase in taxes.

The local brewers in Hawaii have requested the Office of Price Stabilization to include them in the coverage of Ceiling Price Regulation 117, Revision 1, citing as their reasons for this request the similarity of operation with mainland breweries and the fact that during the administration of the Office of Price Administration they were included in the coverage of the mainland regulation.

Accordingly, the geographical applicability provision of Ceiling Price Regulation 117, Revision 1 is amended by this amendment to include the Territory of Hawaii in the coverage of Ceiling Price Regulation 117, Revision 1, by providing that the regulation shall apply to sales in the Territory of Hawaii of malt beverages produced in Hawaii.

In the formulation of this amendment the Director of Price Stabilization has consulted with industry representatives, including trade association representatives, to the extent practicable and has given full consideration to their recommendations. In the judgment of the Director of Price Stabilization the ceiling prices established by this amendment are generally fair and equitable and are necessary to effectuate the purposes of Title IV of the Defense Production Act of 1950, as amended.

AMENDATORY PROVISIONS

1. Section 2 of Ceiling Price Regulation 117, Revision 1, is amended to read as follows:

SEC. 2. Where this regulation applies. This regulation applies in the 48 States of the United States and in the District of Columbia. This regulation also applies to sales in the Territory of Hawaii of malt beverages produced in Hawaii.

Effective date. This amendment to Ceiling Price Regulation 117, Revision 1, is effective August 14, 1952.

Acting Director of Price Stabilization.

GOR 7—EXEMPTIONS AND SUSPENSIONS OF CERTAIN FOOD AND RESTAURANT COMMODITIES

EDIBLE MOLASSES

Pursuant to the Defense Production Act of 1950, as amended, Executive Order 10161, and Economic Stabilization Agency General Order Number 2, this Amendment 7 to Revision 1 of the General Overriding Regulation 7 is hereby issued.

STATEMENT OF CONSIDERATIONS

Section 2 (d) (8) of General Overriding Regulation (GOR) 7, Revision 1, exempts producers of edible sugar cane molasses from price control. The provisions of that section also require those producers, in general, to continue keeping records of all their sales and purchases and to notify the Office of Price Stabilization of any sales made above the prices in effect on the day price controls were removed from them.

Experience has shown that, since controls on edible sugar cane molasses were lifted, information available from other sources is satisfactory for the needs which this original requirement was intended to meet. In accordance with Office of Price Stabilization policy to discontinue these requirements whenever possible, the records and reports required under section 2 (d) (8) are hereby eliminated.

In view of the nature of the amendment, special circumstances have rendered consultation with industry representatives, including trade association representatives, impracticable.

AMENDATORY PROVISIONS

General Overriding Regulation 7, Revision 1, is amended by deleting the last sentence in the first paragraph of section 2 (d) (8) and subdivisions (i) and (ii) of section 2 (d) (8).

Effective date. This amendment is effective August 14, 1952.

[Distribution Regulation 3, Amdt. 1]

DR 3—ALLOCATION OF BEEF TO THE MILITARY

APPLICABILITY DURING PERIODS OF INADEQUATE OVERALL SUPPLY

Pursuant to the Defense Production Act of 1950, as amended, Executive Order 10161 (15 F. R. 6105), Delegation of Authority by the Secretary of Agriculture with respect to meat, as amended (16 F. R. 11620), and Economic Stabilization Agency General Order 5, Revision (16 F. R. 11875), this Amendment 1 to Distribution Regulation 3 is hereby issued.

STATEMENT OF CONSIDERATIONS

This amendment modifies Distribution Regulation 3 to conform with the requirements of the recent amendment to section 101 of the Defense Production Act of 1950, as amended. As amended, that section now reads in part:

[Nor] shall any requirements or regulations be established or maintained relating to the allocation or distribution of meat or meat products unless, and for the period for which, the Secretary of Agriculture shall have determined and certified to the President that the over-all supply of meat and meat products is inadequate to meet the civilian or military needs therefor:

This amendment to Distribution Regulation 3 indicates that the regulation, which deals with the allocation of beef to the military, is inoperative except during the periods for which the Secretary of Agriculture shall have determined and certified to the President that the over-all supply of meat and meat products is inadequate to meet the civilian or military needs therefor. Since this regulation had practical application only during times of shortage of beef supply, even prior to the amendment to section 101 of the Defense Production Act quoted above, the present amendment makes no change in the effect of this regulation at this time.

CONCLUSIONS

The provisions of this amendment do not modify the policy of the Office of Price Stabilization under this regulation. Since this amendment implements an express mandate of Congress, the Director of Price Stabilization has not consulted in its formulation with industry representatives. Accordingly, the Director finds that special circumstances which caused this amendment have rendered consultation with industry representatives, including trade association representatives, impracticable.

In the judgment of the Director, the provisions of this amendment are necessary and appropriate to promote the national defense, are generally fair and equitable, are necessary to effectuate the purposes of Title I of the Defense Production Act of 1950, as amended, and comply with all the applicable standards of that Act.

AMENDATORY PROVISIONS

1. A new section 16 is added to read as follows:

SEC. 16. Effective periods. This regulation is effective only when, and for the periods for which, the Secretary of Agriculture shall have determined and certified to the President that the over-all supply of meat and meat products is inadequate to meet the civilian or military needs therefor. These periods are stated in supplements to this regulation which will be issued from time to time.

(Sec. 704, 64 Stat. 816, as amended, 50 U. S. C. App. Sup. 2154)

Effective date. This amendment shall become effective as of July 1, 1952.

Acting Director of Price Stabilization.

[CMP Regulation No. 1, Direction 3 as Amended Aug. 14, 1952]

CMP REG. 1—BASIC RULES OF THE CONTROLLED MATERIALS PLAN

DIR. 3—RESTRICTIONS ON PLACING AUTHORIZED CONTROLLED MATERIALS ORDERS

This amended direction under CMP Regulation No. 1 is found necessary and appropriate to promote the national defense and is issued pursuant to the Defense Production Act of 1950, as amended. In the formulation of this direction as amended, consultation with industry representatives has been rendered impracticable due to the need for immediate action and because the direction affects many different industries.

This amendment affects Direction 3, as last amended April 23, 1952, to CMP Regulation No. 1 by amending paragraph (b) of section 1. As so amended, Direction 3 to CMP Regulation No. 1 reads as follows:

SECTION 1. (a) Subject to the limitations of section 17 (a) of CMP Regulation No. 1 and unless previously authorized in writing by NPA, no prime consumer who has received an allotment of controlled materials shall place orders calling for delivery of more than 40 percent of the quantity of controlled materials stated in such allotment during each of the first 2 months of the quarter for which the said allotment is valid: Provided, however, That any prime consumer who has received an advance allotment of controlled materials, as provided in section 10 of CMP Regulation No. 1, may place orders calling for delivery of not in excess of 50 percent of the quantity of controlled materials stated in such advance allotment during each of the first 2 months of the quarter for which the said advance allotment is valid: And provided further, That the limitation on the placement of orders imposed by this section shall not apply to orders placed pursuant to supplemental allotments.

(b) Notwithstanding the provisions of this direction as amended, no person shall be required to reduce any delivery order below the minimum mill quantity specified in Schedule IV of CMP Regulation No. 1. Notwithstanding the provisions of this direction and of CMP Regulation No. 2, no person shall be required to reduce a delivery order for carbon steel, copper, or aluminum (1) below a carload lot, or (2) below his allotment authority if it is less than a carload lot: Provided, however, That he does not exceed his allotment authority by ordering such a quantity.

M–54—PLATINUM

This order, as amended, is found necessary and appropriate to promote the national defense and is issued pursuant to the Defense Production Act of 1950, as amended. In the formulation of this amended order, there has been consultation with industry representatives, including trade association representatives, and consideration has been given to their recommendations. However, consultation with representatives of all trades and industries affected in advance of the issuance of this amended order has been rendered impracticable due to the number of industries affected.

EXPLANATORY

This order, as amended, affects NPA Order M–54, of March 31, 1951, in the following respects:

1. A new paragraph (c) is inserted in section 3 of the order, and former paragraphs (c) through (f), inclusive, of section 3 are accordingly redesignated as paragraphs (d) through (g), respectively. Paragraph (e) of section 3, as redesignated, is amended to include appropriate reference to the new paragraph (c) of that section.

2. The designation of "lighters" in List A of the order is changed to read "lighter cases".

3. The last sentence of paragraph (b) of section 3 and paragraphs (b) and (c) of section 5, and sections 6, 7, and 9 of the order are amended to conform with the wording of corresponding provisions contained in more recent NPA orders and regulations.

SECTION 1. What this order does. This order restricts platinum deliveries to dealers, refiners, distributors, processors, and consumers, prohibits the use of platinum and platinum alloys in jewelry and other items, places restrictions on the sale and delivery of scrap, prohibits delivery of platinum to processors having more than a specified amount of scrap, and limits processors' and consumers' inventories of platinum.

SEC. 2. Definitions. As used in this order:

(a) "Person" means any individual, corporation, partnership, association, or any other organized group of persons and includes agencies of the United States or any other government.

(b) "Platinum" means the metal platinum, and platinum salts, compounds, alloys, solutions, or mixtures, containing more than 0.25 percent platinum by weight, in any form, including but not limited to matte, residues, sponge, bar, sheet, wire, semifabricated forms, and partially fabricated products, but excluding ores and concentrates. It also includes scrap and secondary materials, the platinum content of which is more than 0.25 percent by weight. It does not include finished parts, articles, or equipment regardless of platinum content.

(c) "Consumer" means a person who purchases, accepts delivery of, or owns finished parts, articles, or equipment containing platinum, other than jewelry, for use for any purpose other than resale or investment.

(d) "Processor" means a person who uses platinum by incorporating it in the parts, articles, or products which he manufactures, and includes a person who produces dental restorations.

(e) "Dealer" means a person who makes a regular business of buying and selling platinum at an established address in the continental United States.

(f) "Distributor" means a person who makes a regular business of acting as buying or selling agent for dealers or processors at an established address in the continental United States.

(g) "Refiner" means a person regularly engaged in the business of refining platinum.

(h) "Process" means cut, draw, machine, stamp, melt, alloy, cast, forge, roll, turn, spin, or otherwise alter by physical or chemical means. The term does not include buffing or polishing an assembled article.

(i) "Put into process" means the first change by the processor in the form of material from that form in which it is received by him.

(j) The term "assemble" shall mean the normal putting together of components or parts but shall not be deemed to include the putting together of an article after delivery to a sales outlet or consumer in knockdown form pursuant to an established custom. The term "assemble" shall also not be deemed to include adding stones or finished parts to an otherwise finished article when the placing of one or more stones or finished parts, or the size or type of one or more stones or finished parts, is determined by the choice of the ultimate consumer or the use to which the ultimate consumer is to put the article.

(k) The terms "deliver" and "receive" shall be deemed to include deliveries and receipts under toll agreements.

(l) "Finished parts, articles, or equipment" means products which are finished to the extent that they are ready for their final end use without further processing or are ready for attachment to equipment or parts of equipment which are not platinum.

(m) "Scrap" means all platinum materials or objects which are the waste or by-product of processing, or which have been discarded on account of wear, failure, obsolescence, or other reason.

SEC. 3. Restrictions on sale, purchase, delivery, receipt, and manufacture. (a) Commencing April 1, 1951, no person shall: (1) Sell, transfer, or otherwise deliver platinum except to a person known by the seller or transferror to be a refiner, dealer, distributor, processor, or consumer of platinum; or purchase or accept delivery of platinum unless he is a refiner, dealer, distributor, processor, or consumer of platinum; (2) sell, transfer, or otherwise deliver platinum to any person for use in the manufacture of any item included in List A of this order, or purchase or accept delivery of platinum for use in the manufacture of any item included in such List A.

(b) Commencing April 1, 1951, no person shall put into process any platinum in the manufacture of any item included in List A of this order. However, this prohibition shall not apply to such use of any platinum which was in such person's inventory on April 1, 1951, or to the platinum content of any completed jewelry or parts thereof. Every person who relies on the provisions of the preceding sentence shall prepare a detailed record showing the quantities of platinum in his inventory on the first days of January, February, March, and April 1951, and the platinum content of any completed jewelry or parts thereof delivered to him after March 31, 1951. Such record shall be maintained for at least 3 years and shall be made available at the usual place of business where maintained for inspection and audit by duly authorized representatives of the National Production Authority.

(c) Notwithstanding the provisions of paragraphs (a) and (b) of this section, any manufacturer of any item included in List A of this order may accept delivery of the platinum (or its equivalent by weight) which is recovered from scrap or sweepings resulting from his use of platinum in the manufacture of any such item as permitted by paragraph (b) of this section; and may reuse or use (as the case may be), such delivered platinum in the manufacture of any item or items included in such List A. Any platinum refiner may redeliver such recovered platinum, or may deliver its equivalent by weight, to the manufacturer from whom he received such scrap or sweepings.

(d) The restrictions of paragraphs (a) and (b) of this section shall not prohibit the sale, delivery, purchase, or receipt of jewelry or parts thereof which are finished and complete except for the addition of stones or other finished parts or which are finished and complete except for buffing or polishing.

(e) Commencing April 1, 1951, and except as permitted by paragraphs (b) and (c) of this section, no person may use in the manufacture of any article, or any component part thereof, a greater quantity of platinum, or an alloy containing a greater percentage of platinum, than is necessary for functional or operational purposes.

(f) The prohibitions of this section apply notwithstanding the provisions of NPA Reg. 2 with respect to the filling of rated orders.

(g) The provisions of paragraph (a) of this section shall not apply to any delivery of platinum to the General Services Administration for the stockpile of strategic materials.

SEC. 4. Restrictions on sale or accumulation of scrap. (a) No processor shall purchase or accept delivery of any platinum if he owns or has in his possession more than a 30-day accumulation of scrap, exclusive of sweepings, unless such accumulation aggregates less than 25 ounces, platinum content, or unless it is in the process of being refined: Provided, however, That a processor who refines his own scrap may purchase or accept delivery of platinum if he owns or has in his possession not more than a 60-day accumulation of scrap.

(b) No person shall sell or deliver scrap except to a distributor, a dealer, or a refiner: Provided, however, That dental scrap may be sold to a person who produces or sells dental alloys.

SEC. 5. Restrictions on inventory accumulations. (a) No processor or consumer shall purchase or accept delivery of platinum in the form of raw materials, semiprocessed materials, subassemblies, finished parts, or finished products if the total platinum content of his inventory in all forms, including finished parts and products but excluding scrap in the process of being refined, is, or by such receipt would become, in excess of the quantity of platinum contained in the final products required to meet his deliveries or supply his services on the basis of his scheduled method and rate of operation during the succeeding 60-day period, or in excess of a "practicable minimum working inventory" as defined in NPA Reg. 1, whichever is less.

(b) Except as otherwise provided by this section, NPA Reg. 1, and particularly section 10 thereof entitled "Imported Materials," will apply to platinum.

(c) This order does not require the disposal of excess inventory already on hand, but such excess inventory may be subject to requisition as provided by section 201 (a) of Title II of the Defense Production Act of 1950, as amended.

SEC. 6. Records and reports. (a) Each person participating in any transaction covered by this order shall make and preserve, for at least 3 years thereafter, accurate and complete records of receipts, deliveries, inventories, production, and use, in sufficient detail to permit the determination, after audit, whether each transaction complies with the provisions of this order. This order does not specify any particular accounting method and does not require alteration of the system of records customarily used, provided such records supply an adequate basis for audit. Records may be retained in the form of microfilm or other photographic copies instead of the originals by those persons who, at the time such microfilm or other photographic records are made, maintain such copies of records in the regular and usual course of business.

(b) All records required by this order shall be made available for inspection and audit by duly authorized representatives of the National Production Authority, at the usual place of business where maintained.

(c) Persons subject to this order shall make such records and submit such reports to the National Production Authority as it shall require, subject to the terms of the Federal Reports Act of 1942 (5 U. S. C. 139–139F).

SEC. 7. Request for adjustment or exception. Any person affected by any provision of this order may file a request for adjustment or exception upon the ground that such provision works an undue or exceptional hardship upon him not suffered generally by others in the same trade or industry, or that its enforcement against him would not be in the interest of the national defense or in the public interest. In examining requests for adjustment or exception claiming that the public interest is prejudiced by the application of any provision of this order, consideration will be given to the requirements of the public health and safety, civilian defense and dislocation of labor and resulting unemployment that would impair the defense program. Each request shall be in writing, by letter in triplicate, and shall set forth all pertinent facts, the nature of the relief sought, and the justification therefor.

SEC. 8. Communications. All communications concerning this order shall be addressed to the National Production Authority, Washington 25, D. C. Ref: M–54.

SEC. 9. Violations. Any person who wilfully violates any provision of this order, or any other order or regulation of NPA, or who wilfully furnishes false information or conceals any material fact in the course of operation under this order, is guilty of a crime and upon conviction may be punished by fine or imprisonment or both. In addition, administrative action may be taken against any such person to suspend his privilege of making or receiving further deliveries of materials or using facilities under priority or allocation control and to deprive him of further priorities assistance.

This order as amended shall take effect August 14, 1952.

NATIONAL PRODUCTION AUTHORITY,

Recording Secretary.

and payment by the insured (except where premium waiver under section 602 (n) of the act, as amended, is effective) of the current monthly premium at the attained age of the insured as of the effective date of the new policy: Provided, That where premium waiver is effective under section 622 of the National Service Life Insurance Act, as amended, the required reserve on the new policy must be paid together with that portion of the current monthly premium at the attained age of the insured as of the effective date of the new policy which is not required for pure insurance risk: Provided further, That conversion to an endowment plan may not be made while the insured is totally disabled. The exchange will be made without medical examination, except when deemed necessary to determine whether an applicant for exchange to an endowment plan is totally disabled, and upon complete surrender of the policy while in force by payment or waiver of premiums: Provided, That waiver of the premiums on the new policy shall not be effective prior to the date such policy change was made: Provided further, That in any case where an insured either prior to or within the first premium month following the expiration of the current term period expresses a desire to the Veterans' Administration to convert his insurance, such as makes a written inquiry or tenders a payment, the insurance shall be deemed not to have expired: Provided, That the insured completes any necessary requirements for conversion within 31 days from date of notification of such requirements: Provided further, That if death occurs prior to notification of requirements or within 31 days from date of such notification such requirements shall be deemed to have been fully met. The renewal of insurance for any 5-year period will become effective as of the day following the expiration of the preceding term period, and the premium for such renewal will be at the 5-year level premium term rate for the attained age of the applicant on that day: Provided, That no insurance may be renewed by any person who has exercised his optional right to change to another plan of insurance: Provided further, That in any case where an insured, either prior to or within the first premium month following the expiration of the current term period, expresses a desire to the Veterans' Administration to continue insurance protection, such as makes a written inquiry, tenders a payment or has a credit to his account, the insurance shall be deemed not to have expired: Provided, That the insured completes any necessary requirements within 31 days from date of notification of such requirements: Provided further, That if death occurs prior to notification of requirements or within 31 days from date of such notification such requirements shall be deemed to have been fully met. The renewal of insurance for the second and successive 5-year periods will become effective as of the day following the expiration of the preceding 5-year period, and the premium for such renewal will be at the 5-year level premium term rate for the attained age of the applicant on that day. Provided further, That in any case where an insured, either prior to or within the first premium month following the expiration of the current term period, expresses a desire to the Veterans' Administration to continue insurance protection, such as makes a written inquiry, tenders a payment or has a credit to his account, the insurance shall be deemed not to have expired: Provided, That the insured completes any necessary requirements within 31 days from date of notification of such requirements: Provided further, That if death occurs prior to notification of requirements or within 31 days from date of such notification, such requirements shall be deemed to have been fully met. (i) Unless otherwise specified, the minimum diameter shall be not less than 5/64 of an inch. (See other size requirements and tolerances for size.)

(ii) In order to allow for variations incident to proper grading and handling, the following tolerances, by weight, shall be permitted:

(b) For foreign material. Three-tenths of 1 percent (0.30%);

Select Sheller Run, U. S. Standard Sheller Run, U. S. No. 1 Whole and Broken may be designated as: "U. S. No. 1 Mixed;" "U. S. Select Sheller Run Mixed;" "U. S. Standard Sheller Run Mixed;" or "U. S. No. 1 Whole and Broken Mixed," respectively; but no lot of any of these grades may include more than 1 percent of bitter almonds mixed with sweet almonds.

(c) Unclassified. Unclassified consists of shelled almonds which have not been classified in accordance with any of the foregoing grades. The term "unclassified" is not a grade within the meaning of these standards but is provided as a designation to show that no definite grade has been applied to the lot.

(d) Size requirements. The size may be specified in terms of range in count of whole almond kernels per ounce or in terms of minimum, or minimum and maximum diameter. When a range in count is specified, the whole kernels shall be fairly uniform in size, and the average count per ounce shall be within the range specified. Doubles and broken kernels shall not be used in determining counts. Permissible count ranges per ounce are shown below but a narrower or wider range may be specified: Provided, That the kernels are fairly uniform in size.

18 to 20, inclusive.
20 to 22, inclusive.
22 to 24, inclusive.
23 to 25, inclusive.
24 to 26, inclusive.
26 to 28, inclusive.
27 to 30, inclusive.
30 to 34, inclusive.
36 to 40, inclusive.
40 to 50, inclusive.
50 and smaller.

(e) Tolerances for size. When a range is specified as, for example, "18/20," no tolerance for counts above or below the range shall be allowed.

(1) When the minimum, or minimum and maximum diameters are specified, a total tolerance of not more than 10 percent, by weight, may fail to meet the specified size requirements: Provided, That not more than one-half of this amount, or 5 percent, may be below the minimum size specified.

(f) Application of tolerances. The tolerances for the grades are to be applied to the entire lot, and a composite sample shall be taken for determining the grade. However, any container or group of containers in which the almonds are found to be materially inferior to those in the majority of the containers shall be considered a separate lot.

(g) Definitions. (1) "Similar varietal characteristics" means that the kernels are similar in shape and appearance. For example, long types shall not be mixed with short types, or broad types mixed with narrow types, and bitter almonds shall not be mixed with sweet almonds. Color of the kernels shall not be considered, since there is often a marked difference in color of kernels of the same variety.

(2) "Whole" means that there is less than one-eighth of the kernel chipped off or missing, and that the general contour of the kernel is not materially affected by the missing part.

(3) "Clean" means that the kernel is practically free from dirt and other foreign substance.

(4) "Well dried" means that the kernel is firm and brittle, and not pliable or leathery.

(5) "Decay" means that the kernel is putrid or decomposed.

(6) "Rancidity" means that the kernel is noticeably rancid to the taste.

(7) "Insect injury" means that the insect, web, or frass is present or there is visible evidence of insect injury.

(8) "Foreign material" means pieces of shell, hulls or other foreign matter which will not pass through a round opening 8/64 of an inch in diameter.

(9) "Doubles" means kernels that developed in shells containing two kernels. One side of a double kernel is flat or concave.

(10) "Split or broken kernels" means seven-eighths or less of complete whole kernels but which will not pass through a round opening 5/64 of an inch in diameter.

(11) "Particles and dust" means fragments of almond kernels or other material which will pass through a round opening 8/64 of an inch in diameter.

(12) "Injury" means any defect which more than slightly affects the appearance of the individual almond, or the general appearance of the lot. The following shall be considered as injury:

(i) Chipped and scratched kernels, when the general appearance of the lot is more than slightly affected, or when the affected area on an individual kernel aggregates more than the equivalent of a circle one-eighth inch in diameter.

(13) "Damage" means any defect which materially affects the appearance of the individual kernel, or the general appearance of the lot, or the edible or shipping quality of the almonds. Any one of the following defects or combination thereof, the seriousness of which exceeds the maximum allowed for and one defect shall be considered as damage:

(i) Chipped and scratched kernels, when the general appearance of the lot is materially affected, or when the affected area on an individual kernel aggregates more than the equivalent of a circle one-quarter inch in diameter;

(ii) Mold, when affecting the kernel, except when white or grayish in color and easily rubbed off with the fingers;

(iii) Gum, when a film of shiny, resinous appearing substance covers more than one-eighth of the surface of the kernel;

(iv) Shriveling, when the kernel is excessively thin for its size, or when materially withered, shrunken, leathery, tough or partially developed, provided that partially developed kernels are not considered damaged if more than three-fourths of the pellicle is filled with meat; and,

(v) Brown spot on the kernel, either single or multiple, when the affected area aggregates more than the equivalent of a circle one-eighth inch in diameter.

(14) "Serious damage" means any defect which makes a kernel or piece of kernel unsuitable for human consumption, and includes decay, rancidity, insect injury and damage by mold.

(15) "Diameter" means the greatest dimension of the kernel, or piece of kernel at right angles to the longitudinal axis. Diameter shall be determined by passing the kernel, or piece of kernel through a round opening.

(16) "Fairly uniform in size" means that, in a representative sample, the weight of 10 percent, by count, of the largest whole kernels shall not exceed 1.70 times the weight of 10 percent, by count, of the smallest whole kernels.

(h) Duration of registration. Unless canceled in accordance with the provisions of section 4. c. of the act or with the acquiesence of the registrant, or unless continued in effect in accordance with the provisions of paragraph (i) of this section, the registration of an economic poison shall be canceled at the end of a period of five years following the date of registration of such economic poison or following the date of any subsequent registered change in formula or labeling or following the date of any continuance of registration pursuant to paragraph (i) of this section: Provided, however, That prior to any such cancellation the Insecticide Division shall send to the registrant a notice of intent to cancel, and, in the event such notice is not sent to the registrant 30 days prior to the expiration of the five year period, the registration shall remain in effect until 30 days following the date such notice has been sent to the registrant at his latest address submitted to the Insecticide Division.

(i) Continuance of registration. If a registrant desires to continue the registration in effect, he shall notify the Insecticide Division in writing and it shall be continued in effect under the same terms as the original registration: Provided, however, That if, on the basis of information available at the time, it appears that the product or its labeling fails to comply with the act the registrant shall be so notified and an opportunity given to make the necessary corrections. If the corrections are not made continued registration without protest shall be refused but registration under protest as provided in section 4. c. of the act shall be issued if requested in writing by the registrant.

2. Subparagraph (2) of § 162.17 (b) would be amended and new subparagraphs (3), (4), (5), and (6) would be added to § 162.17 (b) to read, respectively:

§ 162.17 Shipments for experimental use. • • •

(b) Articles for which permit is required. • • •

(2) If an economic poison is to be tested for a use which is likely to result in a residue on or in food or feed a permit for shipment or delivery will be issued only when:

(i) The food or feed product will not be used for food or feed except for laboratory animals, or

(ii) Proof satisfactory to the Director is submitted by the applicant that the proposed use will not result in a residue which is hazardous to man or other animals.

(3) A permit for shipment or delivery of any experimental economic poison for testing in any place likely to be frequented by people will be granted only if it is clearly shown in the application for such permit that proper safeguards will be taken to prevent injury to all persons concerned.

(4) All applications for permits covering shipments for experimental use shall be filed in duplicate and must be signed by the shipper or the person making the delivery and must contain the following:

(i) Name and address of the shipper and place or places from which the shipment will be made.

(ii) Proposed date of shipment or proposed shipping period not to exceed one year.

(iii) A statement of the composition of material to be covered by the permit which should apply to a single material or group of closely allied formulations of the material.

(iv) A statement of the approximate quantity to be shipped.

(v) Available data on the acute toxicity of the economic poison.

(vi) A statement of the proposed experimental program, including the pests or organisms to be experimented with, the crops or animals for which it is to be used, the localities where it will be tested, and all of the circumstances of the proposed experimental program, and including a full statement of the results of previous tests where necessary to justify the quantity requested.

(vii) When food or feed are likely to be contaminated, either a full statement of action which will be taken to prevent the food or feed from being consumed, or a full statement of the probable quantity of the contamination together with all available experimental data on chronic toxicity of the economic poison.

(x) Proposed labeling which must bear (a) the prominent statement "For Experimental Use Only" on the container label and any accompanying circular or other labeling, (b) a warning or caution statement which may be necessary and if complied with adequate for the protection of those who may handle or be exposed to the experimental formulations, (c) the name and address of the applicant for the permit, (d) the name or designation of the formulation, and (e), if the economic poison is to be sold, an ingredient statement.

(5) The Director may limit the quantity of economic poison covered by a permit to such less quantity than requested as he may determine if the available information on effectiveness, toxicity or other hazards is not sufficient to justify the scope of experimental use proposed in the application, or make such other limitations in the permit as he may determine to be necessary for the protection of the public.

(6) An economic poison intended for experimental use shall not be offered for general sale by a retailer or others, or advertised for general sale.

3. Section 162.17 (d) would be amended to read:

(d) Cancellation of permits. Any permit for shipment for experimental use may be cancelled at any time for any violation of the terms thereof or if it shall appear to the Director that the permit should be cancelled for the protection of the public.

IRREGULAR AIR CARRIER INVESTIGATION

NOTICE OF HEARING

In the matter of the investigation of air services by large irregular carriers and irregular transport carriers.

Notice is hereby given, pursuant to the Civil Aeronautics Act of 1938, as amended, particularly sections 2, 205, 401, 416, and 1002 thereof, that a hearing in the above entitled proceeding is assigned to be held on September 3, 1952, at 10:00 a. m., e. d. t., in Conference Room B, Departmental Auditorium, Constitution Avenue between Twelfth and Fourteenth Streets NW., Washington, D. C., before Examiners Ralph L. Wiser and Richard A. Walsh, and is to be recessed for further hearing in Miami, Florida, Los Angeles, California, and Seattle, Washington, at places and at times which shall be designated hereafter.

This proceeding involves (A) a general investigation into all matters relating to and concerning air transportation by large irregular carriers, as defined by Part 291 of the Board's Economic Regulations, and irregular transport carriers to whom individual exemption orders have been issued exempting them from the provisions of section 401 insofar as such provisions would prevent them from engaging in air transportation on an irregular and infrequent basis, and (B) applications for exemptions and for certificates of public convenience and necessity authorizing limited or controlled air transportation of an additional and supplemental nature. Without limiting the scope of the issues presented by the applications and the Board's orders, particular attention will be directed to the following matters:

A. The general investigation herein contemplates the formulation of conclusions of policy, including the critical scrutiny of certain existing regulations, as well as the possible amendment of such regulations or the promulgation of new regulations. In this respect, the proceeding is to be determined on the basis of the standards set forth in the Civil Aeronautics Act of 1938, as amended, particularly sections 2, 205 (a), 401 (d), 416 (b), 1002 (d) and 1002 (e) thereof, and the issues presented are those set forth in subparagraphs (1) through (7) of paragraph numbered (1) of the ordering clause of Order Serial No. E-5722, as amended, which specification of issues is hereby quoted as follows:

(1) Is there a need for air transportation services by the Large Irregular Carriers and Irregular Transport Carriers in addition to and supplemental to services performed by the carriers holding certificates of public convenience and necessity (hereinafter called the "certificated carriers").

(2) If the answer to the foregoing issue is in the affirmative, what type or types of such supplemental services would be best adapted to the performance of the transportation service required to meet the need. In this connection, the following will be considered:

a. Geographical distribution.

b. Frequency and degree of irregularity.

c. Types of traffic to be carried, i. e., persons, property, and mail.

d. Relative price of service.

e. Character of obligations to the public.

(3) What would be the effect of such supplemental services on the air transportation system and are such services in the public interest? Would such services:

a. Encourage and promote the development of an air transportation system properly adapted to the present and future needs of the foreign and domestic commerce of the United States, of the Postal Service, and of the national defense.

b. Promote the regulation of air transportation in such manner as to recognize and preserve the inherent advantages in such transportation.

c. Promote adequate, economical, and efficient service by air carriers at reasonable charges, without unjust discriminations, undue preferences or advantages, or unfair or destructive competitive practices.

d. Foster sound economic conditions in air transportation.

e. Constitute the type of competition that would assure the sound development of an air transportation system properly adapted to the needs of the foreign and domestic service of the United States, of the Postal Service, and of the national defense.

f. Promote the regulation of air transportation to improve the relations between, and coordinate transportation by, air carriers.

g. Promote the regulation of air transportation to assure the highest degree of safety in such transportation.

h. Be conducted economically on a continuing basis.

i. Involve diversion of traffic, including the most profitable long-haul traffic (frequently referred to as "cream skimming"), from the certificated carriers.

(4) Is the Board empowered under the act, as now written, to authorize by certificate of public convenience and necessity under section 401 of the act or by exemption under section 416 of the act, such supplemental services limited as to type of service, type of traffic, quality or quantity of service, and/or equipment used, or otherwise restricted or defined.

(5) Should such supplemental services be authorized in whole or in part by permanent or temporary certificate of public convenience and necessity, or by exemption orders or regulations issued pursuant to section 416 (b) of the act, or by more than one of these methods depending upon the facts and circumstances presented in individual cases, and should any classes or groups of carriers be established.

(6) What conditions, regulations or other requirements should be imposed by the Board for the purpose of achieving and defining such supplemental services, including:

a. The extent to which existing applicable regulations, limitations, restrictions or other requirements should be modified or amended, including, for example, the modification of the so-called 3- and 8-trip limitation, requirements relating to lease of aircraft, etc.

b. Whether maximum or minimum rates, fares and charges should be established and made applicable to such supplemental services.

(7) Should the supplemental services be provided by air carriers already certificated or exempted or by air carriers yet to be certificated or exempted.

B. With respect to disposition of the individual carrier applications, certain additional issues are presented, as follows:

1. Insofar as concerns authorization by certificate of public convenience and necessity, on the basis of the standards set forth in sections 401 (d) and 401 (f) of the Civil Aeronautics Act of 1938, as amended:

a. Whether the particular applicant is a citizen of the United States as defined by section 1 (13) of the Civil Aeronautics Act.

b. Whether the particular applicant is fit, willing and able to perform properly the transportation covered by the respective application, and to conform to the provisions of the Civil Aeronautics Act and the rules, regulations and requirements of the Board thereunder.

c. Whether the public convenience and necessity require the whole or any part of the transportation covered by the particular application. As to this issue, the various issues presented by the general investigation concerning future policy, as quoted above, will likewise be relevant, with specific reference to the particular application, including the issues whether any certificate of convenience and necessity found to be required should be permanent or temporary, and what terms, conditions, and limitations the public interest might require to be attached to the exercise of the privileges granted by such certificate.

2. Insofar as concerns authorization by exemption, on the basis of the standards set forth in section 416 (b) of the Civil Aeronautics Act of 1938, as amended:

a. Whether the particular applicant is a citizen of the United States as defined by section 1 (13) of the Civil Aeronautics Act.

b. Whether the enforcement of Title IV of the Civil Aeronautics Act or any provision thereof, or any rule, regulation, term, condition, or limitation prescribed thereunder, insofar as it affects the particular applicant, is or would be an undue burden on such applicant by reason of the limited extent of, or unusual circumstances affecting, the operations of such applicant and is not in the public interest.

In connection with the public interest aspects of this issue, the various issues presented by the general investigation, concerning future policy, as quoted above, will likewise be relevant, with specific reference to the particular application, including the issues as to what the scope should be of any exemption authority found to be desirable in the public interest and what terms, conditions, and limitations should be made applicable to such authority.

The above issue of public interest also embraces, as one of the subsidiary issues, the question whether the particular applicant, on the basis of its past record and all other relevant circumstances, should be entrusted with authority, by way of exemption, to engage in the air transportation covered by the respective application.

For further details of the issues involved in the proceeding, interested persons are referred to the applications as amended, the examiners' prehearing conference report and supplement thereto and notices to the parties, and the orders entered in the proceeding, all of which are on file with the Civil Aeronautics Board.

Notice is further given that any person, other than parties of record, desiring to be heard in this proceeding should file with the Board on or before September 2, 1952, a statement setting forth the issues of fact or law raised by the proceeding on which he desires to be heard, and such person may appear and participate at the hearing in accordance with Rule 14 of the Board's rules of practice.

Dated at Washington, D. C., August 12, 1952.

By the Civil Aeronautics Board.

MID-GEORGIA NATURAL GAS CO.

NOTICE OF APPLICATION

AUGUST 11, 1952.

Take notice that on July 28, 1952, Mid-Georgia Natural Gas Co., (Applicant), a Georgia corporation having its principal place of business in Atlanta, Georgia, filed an application for an order disclaiming jurisdiction or, in the alternative, for a certificate of public convenience and necessity, pursuant to section 7 of the Natural Gas Act, authorizing the construction and operation of a town border station located on Transcontinental Gas Pipe Line Corporation's main line which passes between Conyers and Porterdale, Georgia, and pipelines which will extend from such border station through the several communities to be served, namely Conyers, Porterdale, Covington, and Oxford, Georgia, and their environs.

The application recites that on April 28, 1950, the Commission issued a certificate of public convenience and necessity to the Transcontinental Gas Pipe Line Corporation, in Docket No. G-1277, authorizing Transcontinental to sell and deliver up to 1,876 Mcf of natural gas per day to Newton County Gas Co. for distribution and sale in the cities of Conyers, Porterdale, Covington, and Oxford, Georgia, and their environs.

The application further shows that Applicant is the successor to Newton County Gas Co., having received that portion of Newton County Gas Co.'s system now ready to begin operations by transfer on July 18, 1952, and under an agreement of July 18, 1952, will successively construct and put into operation facilities to serve the balance of the communities upon the completion of facilities to serve Conyers and the adjoining unincorporated area of Milstead.

AUGUST 11, 1952.

Take notice that on August 1, 1952, Public Service Electric and Gas Company (Applicant), a New Jersey Corporation having its principal place of business at Newark, New Jersey, filed an application for a certificate of public convenience and necessity pursuant to section 7 of the Natural Gas Act authorizing the construction and operation of a 16-inch natural-gas transmission pipeline extending 11.3 miles from a point of connection at Linden, New Jersey, with the transmission pipeline owned and operated by Texas Eastern Transmission Corporation, to the Town of Harrison, New Jersey, from which town branch lines consisting of 2.04 miles of 12-inch pipe and 2.96 miles of 10-inch pipe would extend to Applicant's Harrison Gas Works at Harrison, New Jersey, and its West End Gas Works at Jersey City, New Jersey.

Through such pipeline, Applicant proposes to transmit natural gas purchased from Texas Eastern Transmission Corporation to Applicant's production plants where it will be used in the production of mixed gas to be distributed by Applicant to its New Jersey market. Cost of the proposed facilities is estimated at $4,200,000, to be derived from Applicant's general funds.

The application is filed pursuant to the Commission's order accompanying Opinion No. 231 in Docket No. G-1693, which order provided that specific quantities of gas be reserved by Texas Eastern Transmission Corporation for Applicant, subject to conditions set forth in such order.

SUBPART C—FARM OWNERSHIP AND FARM HOUSING PROGRAMS; PERFORMING FARM DEVELOPMENT

§ 324.41 General. All farm development work planned and agreed upon on Form FHA–643, "Farm Development Plan," will be performed in accordance with this subpart.

(a) Time of starting farm development. All farm development work will be started as soon as practicable after the disbursement of funds is authorized. Prior to this time, no commitments with respect to performing farm development will be made by the County Supervisor or the borrower, and the borrower will not be authorized to incur debts with respect to planned farm development.

(b) Checking cost estimates prior to performing work. Before authorizing the borrower to start any item of farm development work or to award a contract, the County Supervisor should be reasonably sure that the item can be completed according to plans and specifications and within available funds. If at this time it appears that sufficient funds are not available to complete all the farm development as planned on Form FHA–643 and the borrower cannot furnish the additional funds needed without jeopardizing his farming operation or repayment ability, the County Supervisor will request the services of the Engineer. The Engineer and the County Supervisor will contact the borrower and consider revising the plans and specifications or Form FHA–643 in such a way that the planned items of farm development can be completed satisfactorily and consistent with minimum standards. When additional funds are to be furnished by the borrower or revisions are to be made in the plans and specifications or Form FHA–643, change orders will be processed in accordance with §§ 324.42 (i) and 324.45 as appropriate. If the borrower cannot furnish the additional funds or if satisfactory revisions cannot be made, consideration should be given to making a subsequent loan.

(c) Use of supervised bank account. Before the loan or grant is closed, the County Supervisor will make sure that the borrower understands the use of the supervised bank account in connection with disbursing funds for farm development purposes.

(d) Real property insurance. The County Supervisor will be responsible for seeing that the borrower obtains property insurance.

§ 324.42 Farm development performed by the contract method. Farm development performed by the contract method means performance of work in accordance with an executed Form FHA–296, "Construction Contract." Preferably one or more items of farm development will be included in one contract. However, in those instances where it is desirable, the performance of any item of farm development may be divided between two or more contractors, each of whom will execute a separate Form FHA–296.

(a) Contract provisions. When farm development work is to be performed under the contract method, the following determinations will be made regarding the special conditions which will be provided for in the particular contract involved:

(1) Time for performance of the work. The borrower and the County Supervisor will agree upon the desired dates to be inserted in the contract for starting and completing the work.

(2) Liquidation damages. The borrower and the County Supervisor will determine what amount, if any, should be inserted in paragraph III of the "General Conditions" as liquidated damages for each calendar day of delay in completing the work. Such amount must represent the best estimate it is possible to make of the damages which delay in completing the work will cause to the borrower.

(3) Method of payment. The borrower and County Supervisor will make a preliminary determination as to the method of payment which will be used. The method of payment to be used will be either one of the following three methods:

(i) Payment in one lump sum upon completion of all of the work.

(ii) Partial payments as the work progresses in the amount of 60 percent of the value of work in place.

(iii) Partial payments as the work progresses in the amount of 90 percent of the value of work in place and of the value of material suitably stored at the site.

(b) Surety bond. Surety bond will be required in any case where partial payments are to be made to the contractor in excess of 60 percent of the value of the work in place, or whenever in the opinion of the Engineer or the County Supervisor it appears advisable to require surety bond in order to insure the borrower against possible loss through default of the contractor. Surety bond may also be required in the event that the borrower requests this guaranty in connection with any contract work on his farm. When surety bond is to be required in connection with a contract, such bond will be obtained from a bonding company legally doing business in the State and will be furnished on Form FHA–200, "Performance and Payment Bond."

(c) Obtaining bids. The borrower will be advised to obtain bids on the farm development work to be performed by the contract method from as many qualified contractors as practicable. This will be accomplished by inviting bids or by direct negotiation. When it is necessary for the County Supervisor to assist the borrower in obtaining bids, invitations to bid will be issued to as many qualified contractors as practicable. Each bidder will be notified of the time and place the bids will be opened. Form FHA–927, "Invitation for Bid and Bid Form," may be used in obtaining bids on farm development work. All contractors from whom bids are requested will be informed regarding surety bond requirements, time for performance of the work, liquidated damages, and method of payment. A copy of contract Form FHA–926 will also be provided for their information.

(d) Selection of contractor. When bids on the farm development work have been obtained, the borrower, with the assistance of the County Supervisor, will consider the bids and the contractors' qualifications to perform the work and, on the basis of these considerations, will select a contractor.

(e) Preparation of contract. After the contractor has been selected, Form FHA–296 will be prepared. The payment clause to be inserted in paragraph C of the contract will depend upon whether or not surety bond is to be required.

(1) Surety bond required. When surety bond is required in connection with contract work, the following payment clause will be inserted in paragraph C of the contract:

Partial payments will be made at intervals of _____ week(s) in the amount of 90 percent of the value of the work in place and the value of materials suitably stored at the site less the aggregate of previous payments. All estimates will be made by the Representative. Estimates of the value of the work in place will be based on the approved breakdown of contract price. Upon acceptance by the Owner and the Representative of all work required hereunder, the amount due the Contractor will be paid.

(2) Surety bond not required. When surety bond is not required in connection with the contract, the clause to be inserted in paragraph C will depend on the method of payment agreed upon by the contractor and the borrower as follows:

(i) When lump sum payment has been agreed upon, insert:

Payment will be made only in one lump sum for the whole contract upon acceptance by the Owner and the Representative of all work required hereunder.

(ii) When partial payments have been agreed upon, insert:

Partial payments will be made at intervals of _____ week(s), in the amount of 60 percent of the value of the work in place less the aggregate of previous payments. Estimates of the value of the work in place will be made by the Representative based on the approved breakdown of contract price. Upon acceptance by the Owner and the Representative of all work required hereunder, the amount due the Contractor will be paid

(f) Approval of contract. Before a contract is awarded, it must be reviewed and approved by the Engineer, except that a contract in the amount of $500 or less may be approved by the County Supervisor. The official authorized to approve the contract will consider the qualifications of the contractor, the proposed price for doing the work, time limits, the method of payment, and surety bond requirements. He will also make certain that the plans and specifications fully describe the work and are properly identified in the contract. If the contract is satisfactory with respect to these conditions, he will approve the contract.

(g) Awarding the contract. After approval of the contract, the signatures of the contractor and the borrower will be obtained on an original and two copies of Form FHA–296. When surety bond is required, the contractor will furnish the County Supervisor with a properly executed bond before the borrower signs the contract. A signed copy of Form FHA–296 will be delivered to the contractor and he will be instructed to proceed with the work.

(h) Schedule of prices of partial payments. When partial payments are provided for in the contract, the contractor will be required, at a time prior to receiving payment, to submit for the approval of he official authorized to approve the contract, a breakdown of his contract price on Form FHA–983, "Schedule of Prices for Contract Payments," in an original and three copies.

(i) Effecting changes in the contract. Changes in the contract may be made at the request of the borrower and with the approval of the County Supervisor and agreement by the contractor. Form FHA–925, "Contract Change Order," will be processed before such changes are made by the contractor. Form FHA–925 will not be approved by the County Supervisor when such changes will significantly alter the farm development as planned on Form FHA–643 until Form FHA–924, "Request for Development Changes," has been processed in accordance with § 324.45. However, when the change involves any transfer of funds, Form FHA–924 will be processed.

(1) Recommendation of engineer. The recommendation of the Engineer will be required on Form FHA–925 when a change in construction or land development requiring technical engineering is involved or a substitution of materials is involved.

(2) Preparation of Form FHA–925. The original and all copies will be signed as follows: The borrower will sign as requesting the change; the contractor will sign as accepting the change; the Engineer will sign as recommending the change, if the nature of the change requires his recommendations; and the County Supervisor will sign if he approves the change.

(j) Payment of contract work. Prior to countersigning the check covering final payment on any contract, the County Supervisor will have in his possession Form FHA–232 (Form Letter—Certificate of Contractor's Release) executed by the contractor and a Form FHA–205, "Release by Claimants," executed by all persons who furnished materials or labor in connection with the contract.

§ 324.43 Farm development performed by the borrower method. Farm development performed by the borrower method means performance of work by or under the direction of the borrower using one or more of the ways specified in paragraph (a) of this section. The borrower should understand that no changes will be made in Form FHA–643 without prior approval of the Farmers Home Administration.

(a) Ways of performing the work. The borrower will accomplish the work by one or more of the following ways:

(1) He will purchase the material and do the work himself.

(2) He will purchase the material and hire qualified workman on an hourly or daily basis to do the work under his direction.

(3) He will purchase the material and hire labor on the basis of written lump sum agreements acceptable to the County Supervisor for:

(i) Minor items of work, the total cost of which does not exceed $500, such as the labor for the construction of a barn, or the labor and material for small service buildings, small repair jobs, and items of land development, or

(ii) Material or equipment which involves a single trade and is to be installed by the seller, such as the purchase and installation of heating facilities, electric wiring, painting, liming, sodding, and so forth.

(b) Payment for work done by the borrower method. Payment will be made by check signed by the borrower and countersigned by the County Supervisor.

(1) Payments for labor. Before the County Supervisor countersigns checks for payment of labor, he will require the borrower to submit a completed Form FHA–997, "Statement of Labor Performed," for each hired workman performing labor during the pay period. Ordinarily, checks drawn in payment for labor will be made payable to the workman involved. However, under justifiable circumstances, when the borrower has made payment for labor with personal funds and has obtained signatures of the workmen on Form FHA–997 as having received payment, the County Supervisor may countersign a check made payable to the borrower reimbursing him for these expenditures. Reimbursements may be made only with respect to farm development items planned at the time of expenditure. Reimbursements may not be made for expenses paid before the disbursement of loan funds is authorized except under circumstances similar to those described in § 301.1 (e) (1) of this chapter. Under no circumstances will the County Supervisor permit funds to be withdrawn from the supervised bank account to pay the borrower for his own labor.

(2) Payments for material. Before the County Supervisor countersigns checks in payment for materials, he will have in his possession an itemized statement from the creditor covering the materials purchased. Such statement will be signed by the borrower. Ordinarily, checks drawn in payment for material will be made payable to the seller. However, under justifiable circumstances, when the borrower has made payment for material with personal funds and has obtained an itemized receipted statement from the seller certified by the borrower as being correct and received, the County Supervisor may countersign a check made payable to the borrower reimbursing him for these expenditures. Reimbursements may be made only with respect to farm development items planned at the time of expenditure. Reimbursements may not be made for expenses paid before the disbursement of loan funds is authorized except under similar circumstances to those described in § 301.1 (e) (1) of this chapter.

(3) Payments under lump sum agreements. Payments for material or labor furnished under a lump sum agreement will be made only when all such material or labor has been received as provided in the agreement and the borrower has signed the lump sum agreement as accepting the material or labor furnished under the agreement.

(4) Additional requirements applicable to all payments made under borrower method. Whenever in connection with any payment, the County Supervisor has reason to believe that there may be danger of claims because of disputes, dissatisfactions, or other causes, he will require the borrower to secure the signatures of appropriate lienors or claimants on Form FHA–205, before countersigning the check.

§ 324.44 Inspection of farm development work. The following policies will govern the inspection of farm development work performed by the contract method or the borrower method.

(a) Responsibility for inspection—(1) Periodic inspections. Periodic inspections of all farm development work in progress will be made.

(2) Final inspections. The County Supervisor may make a final inspection of any item of farm development the estimated cash cost of which is $1,000 or less, except that the Engineer will make the inspection in those cases in which the nature and character of the work requires inspection by the Engineer. The Engineer will make the final inspection of any item of farm development the estimated cash cost of which is more than $1,000.

(b) Frequency of inspection. Farm development work will be inspected as frequently as necessary to assure that construction and land development conform with plans and specifications. A final inspection will be made at the earliest possible date after completion of each item of farm development.

(c) Follow-up on deficiencies. It will be the responsibility of the County Supervisor to follow up on the correction of deficiencies. When the inspections of work performed by the borrower method indicate that actual costs are in excess of estimated costs to the extent that farm development cannot be completed in accordance with Form FHA–643 and the borrower cannot furnish the additional funds needed without jeopardizing his farming operations or repayment ability, the County Supervisor will request the services of the Engineer. The Engineer and the County Supervisor will contact the borrower and consider revising the plans and specifications on Form FHA–643 in a way that the planned items of farm development can be completed satisfactorily and consistent with minimum standards. When additional funds are to be furnished by the borrower or revisions are to be made in the plans and specifications or Form FHA–643, change orders will be processed in accordance with § 324.45. If the borrower cannot furnish the additional funds or if satisfactory revisions cannot be made, consideration should be given to making a subsequent loan.

§ 324.45 Effecting changes in Form FHA–643. If a subsequent loan is not required, changes in farm development planned on Form FHA–643, regardless of the method of performance, may be made at the request of the borrower and with the consent of the County Supervisor or the State Field Representative as hereinafter provided. All such changes will be recorded and approved on Form FHA–924. If the change in

UNIVERSITY OF MICHIGAN

Form FHA–643 involves work being performed by the contract method, Form FHA–924 must be approved before Form FHA–925 is processed.

(a) Limitations. The County Supervisor and the State Field Representative are authorized to approve changes in Form FHA–643, as specified in paragraphs (b) and (c) of this section provided that the following limitations are complied with:

(1) Limitations applicable to both Farm Ownership and Farm Housing Programs. (i) Such a change is for an authorized purpose.

(ii) Such a change has been discussed with and approved in writing by the County Committee in the case of any basic change which affects substantially the method of operation of the farm or the Government's security.

(iii) Sufficient funds have been deposited in the borrower's supervised bank account to cover the contemplated change when the change involves additional funds to be furnished by the borrower.

(iv) The recommendation of the Engineer has been secured when a change in construction or land development requiring technical engineering is involved, a substitution of materials is involved, or a change in the method of performing farm development is involved.

(v) The recommendation of the appraiser has been secured when an appreciable change in land development is involved.

(2) Limitations applicable to the Farm Ownership Program. (i) If the change involves the use of additional funds to be furnished by the borrower for the completion of planned items of farm development which will not change the fair and reasonable value of the farm when completed, and which is occasioned by necessary substitution of materials or equipment, costs in excess of estimates, errors in design or other factors beyond the control of the borrower, then, notwithstanding the limitation in § 311.26 (b) (1) of this chapter, the additional investment and change may be approved by the loan approval official.

(ii) If the change involves the use of additional funds to be furnished by the borrower for items of farm development other than those which were considered by the County Committee in connection with its certification of the fair and reasonable value of the farm, the change may be approved by the loan approval official only upon the following conditions:

(a) The County Committee reconsider the fair and reasonable value of the farm as improved, including the proposed change, and recertify such value on a revised Form FHA–491.

(b) The recertified value of the farm does not exceed the average value for the county.

(c) The revised total investment does not exceed the recertified value of the farm.

(d) The revised total investment does not exceed the total investment limit established for the county or the limit established for the farm pursuant to § 311.28 of this chapter.

(3) Limitations applicable to the Farm Housing Program. (i) Such a change does not involve a transfer of funds from land to building or from building to land items.

(ii) Such a change does not involve a transfer of funds from fees to a land item or from a land item to fees.

(b) Changes authorized by County Supervisor. Subject to the limitations set forth in paragraph (a) of this section, the County Supervisor is authorized to approve changes which involve:

(1) Extensions of time within the 15 month maximum limit for completion of farm development. Before granting such extensions of time, a definite understanding must be reached for completion of the work within the additional time allotted.

(2) Minor changes of items in Form FHA–643 which do not affect the method of operation of the farm or the Government's security.

(3) A change in the method of performing farm development work.

(4) An increase in cost of planned farm development to be paid from the borrower's funds which will not affect the method of operation of the farm or the Government's security.

(5) Transfer of unexpended funds from completed farm development items to uncompleted items to the extent necessary to meet the differences between estimated costs on Form FHA–643 and actual costs.

(6) Transfer of funds between uncompleted farm development items to the extent necessary to meet the difference between estimated costs on Form FHA–643 and actual costs, provided that sufficient funds remain available to complete the items as originally planned and that such a transfer does not reduce the item more than 10 percent.

(7) Transfers of funds planned for refinancing, farm development items, and fees as follows:

(i) From unexpended amount planned for refinancing to farm development items or to the item of fees to the extent necessary to meet the difference between estimated costs and actual costs.

(ii) From unexpended amount planned for fees to farm development items or to the item of refinancing to the extent necessary to meet the difference between estimated costs and actual costs.

(iii) From any farm development items to the item of refinancing or to the item of fees to the extent necessary to meet the difference between estimated costs and actual costs, provided that it is determined that adequate funds are available to complete all the planned farm development, the amount transferred from any one item does not exceed 10 percent of the amount planned for that item, and the total amount transferred from all farm development items does not exceed $100.

(c) Changes authorized by State Field Representative. Subject to the limitations set forth in paragraph (a) of this section, the State Field Representative is authorized to approve changes which involve:

(1) Extensions of time beyond the maximum limit. Before granting such extensions of time, a definite understanding must be reached for completion of the work within the additional time allotted.

(2) Basic changes in Form FHA–643 which affect the method of operation of the farm or the Government's security.

(3) An increase in cost of planned farm development to be paid from the borrower's funds which will affect the method of operation of the farm or the Government's security.

(4) Transfer of funds between uncompleted farm development items to the extent necessary to meet the differences between estimated costs on Form FHA–643 and actual costs when such transfers will result in decreasing the funds for any item more than 10 percent.

(5) A transfer of funds from any farm development items to the item of refinancing or to the item of fees to the extent necessary to meet the difference between estimated costs and actual costs when the amount to be transferred from any one item exceeds 10 percent of the amount planned for that item or when the total amount to be transferred from all farm development items exceeds $100: Provided, That it is determined that adequate funds are available to complete all the planned farm development.

(6) Transfer of funds remaining after completion of all planned items to additional items not previously planned: Provided, That:

(i) All planned items have been completed in accordance with the approved plans and specifications and the final inspections have been made.

(ii) The excess funds will be used for an authorized loan purpose for the type of loan received by the borrower.

(iii) The excess funds will be disbursed in the same manner as though the additional item had been included in the original plan.

(iv) The plans and specifications for the additional item of farm development comply with minimum standards.

(v) In cases where the amount of funds to be transferred exceeds $300, the written approval of the County Committee is obtained, and in the case of a Farm Ownership loan, the County Committee further certifies in writing that after the expenditure the fair and reasonable value of the farm based upon earning capacity will not exceed the county average value.

PART 953—LEMONS GROWN IN CALIFORNIA AND ARIZONA

LIMITATION OF SHIPMENTS

§ 953.555 Lemon Regulation 448—(a) Findings. (1) Pursuant to the marketing agreement, as amended, and Order No. 53, as amended (7 CFR Part 953; 14 F. R. 3612), regulating the handling of lemons grown in the State of California or in the State of Arizona, effective under the applicable provisions of the Agricultural Marketing Agreement Act of 1937, as amended (7 U. S. C. 601 et seq.), and upon the basis of the recommendation and information submitted by the Lemon Administrative Committee, established under the said amended marketing agreement and order, and upon other available information, it is hereby found that the limitation of the quantity of such lemons which may be handled, as hereinafter provided, will tend to effectuate the declared policy of the act.

(2) It is hereby further found that it is impracticable and contrary to the public interest to give preliminary notice, engage in public rule-making procedure, and postpone the effective date of this section until 30 days after publication thereof in the FEDERAL REGISTER (60 Stat. 237; 5 U. S. C. 1001 et seq.) because the time intervening between the date when information upon which this section is based became available and the time when this section must become effective in order to effectuate the declared policy of the act is insufficient, and a reasonable time is permitted, under the circumstances, for preparation for such effective time; and good cause exists for making the provisions of this section effective as hereinafter set forth. Shipments of lemons, grown in the State of California or in the State of Arizona, are currently subject to regulation pursuant to said amended marketing agreement and order; the recommendation and supporting information for regulation during the period specified herein was promptly submitted to the Department after an open meeting of the Lemon Administrative Committee on August 13, 1952; such meeting was held, after giving due notice thereof to consider recommendations for regulation, and interested persons were afforded an opportunity to submit their views at this meeting; the provisions of this section, including its effective time, are identical with the aforesaid recommendation of the committee, and information concerning such provisions and effective time has been disseminated among handlers of such lemons; it is necessary, in order to effectuate the declared policy of the act, to make this section effective during the period hereinafter specified; and compliance with this section will not require any special preparation on the part of persons subject thereto which cannot be completed by the effective time thereof.

(b) Order. (1) The quantity of lemons grown in the State of California or in the State of Arizona which may be handled during the period beginning at 12:01 a. m., P. s. t., August 17, 1952, and ending at 12:01 a. m., P. s. t., August 24, 1952, is hereby fixed as follows:

(i) District 1: Unlimited movement;

(ii) District 2; 300 carloads;

(iii) District 3: Unlimited movement.

(2) The prorate base of each handler who has made application therefor, as provided in the said amended marketing agreement and order, is hereby fixed in accordance with the prorate base schedule which is attached to Lemon Regulation 447 (17 F. R. 7274) and made a part hereof by this reference.

(3) As used in this section, "handled," "handler," "carloads," "prorate base," "District 1," "District 2," and "District 3," shall have the same meaning as when used in the said amended marketing agreement and order.

(Sec. 5, 49 Stat. 753, as amended; 7 U. S. C. and Sup. 608c)

Done at Washington, D. C., this 14th day of August 1952.

(2) It is hereby found that it is impracticable and contrary to the public interest to give preliminary notice, engage in public rule-making procedure, and postpone the effective date of this section until thirty days after publication thereof in the FEDERAL REGISTER (5 U. S. C. 1001 et seq.) in that (i) shipments of the 1952 crop of Irish potatoes grown in the production area will have begun, (ii) more orderly marketing in the public interest than would otherwise prevail will be promoted by limiting in the manner set forth below shipments of potatoes on and after the effective date hereinafter provided, (iii) information regarding the committee's recommendation has been made available to producers and handlers in the production area, (iv) compliance with this regulation will not require any preparation on the part of handlers which cannot be completed by such effective date and (v) a reasonable time is permitted under the circumstances, for such preparation.

(3) During the period from August 18, 1952, to November 30, 1952, both dates inclusive, no handler shall ship any lot of potatoes which are more than slightly skinned, which means that not more than 10 percent of the potatoes in any lot may have more than one-fourth of the skin missing or feathered, as such terms are used in the U. S. Standards for Potatoes: Provided, That one lot of not to exceed 100 hundredweight of each variety of potatoes of each producer may be handled every seven days without regard to the aforesaid maturity requirements if the handler thereof reports prior to such handling the name and address of the producer of each such lot and each such lot is handled as an identifiable entity: Provided further, That the provisos set forth in subparagraph (1) of this paragraph will be equally applicable to potatoes shipped under the maturity requirements set forth in this subparagraph.

(4) Pursuant to § 959.55, the limitations set forth in subparagraph (1) of this paragraph shall not be applicable to: (i) Shipments of potatoes for grading or storing in the production areas; (ii) shipments of potatoes for distribution by relief agencies, or for consumption by charitable institutions; (iii) shipments of potatoes for manufacturing or conversion into starch, flour, alcohol, dehydrated products, canned products, frozen products, and potato chips; (iv) shipments of potatoes for livestock feed; and (v) shipments of seed potatoes.

(6) The terms used in this section shall have the same meaning as when used in Marketing Agreement No. 114 and Order No. 59 (7 CFR 959.1 et seq.) and the aforementioned grades and sizes shall have the same meanings assigned to these terms in the U. TITLE 15—COMMERCE AND FOREIGN TRADE

Chapter III—Bureau of Foreign and Domestic Commerce, Deparment of Commerce

Subchapter C—Office of International Trade

[6th Gen. Rev. of Export Regs., Amdt. 8[1]]

PART 372—PROVISIONS FOR INDIVIDUAL AND OTHER VALIDATED LICENSES

PART 373—LICENSING POLICIES AND RELATED SPECIAL PROVISIONS

PART 380—AMENDMENTS, EXTENSIONS, TRANSFERS

PART 382—DENIAL OR SUSPENSION OF EXPORT PRIVILEGES

PART 398—PRIORITY RATINGS AND SUPPLY ASSISTANCE

MISCELLANEOUS AMENDMENTS

1. Section 372.3 How to file an application for export license is amended in the following particular:

Note 6. Inquiries and correspondence following paragraph (c) Information required is amended to read as follows:

6. Inquiries and correspondence. Every effort is made to examine applications and advise applicants of action in the shortest time. Applicants should allow a period of 3 weeks after receipt of returned acknowledgment card, Form IT–116, or, in case of commodities with established filing dates, 3 weeks after close of such filing period, before inquiring as to progress of an application. Certain types of applications require more time for necessary examination and consideration.

Requests for information concerning the application of regulations to specific fact situations, the status of delayed cases, or any other inquiry concerning export license applications should be addressed to the Exporters' Service Section, Office of International Trade, Department of Commerce, Washington 25, D. C. Such communications should not be attached to an application for license but should be mailed in a separate envelope. Memoranda attached to license applications should be limited to informational data relating to those applications and should not include inquiries requiring individual reply.

When inquiries are made concerning the status of applications, exporters should submit to Exporters' Service Section, Office of International Trade, Department of Commerce, Washington 25, D. C., Form IT–743–A, in duplicate, in accordance with the instructions contained thereon.[2] After receipt of the form and a determination of the status of an application, OIT will return the form, indicating thereon a statement of the desired information. A separate form must be submitted for each application. For convenience of mailing, the form is designed for use in a standard window envelope.

Information as to the probable action of the Office of International Trade respecting a proposed shipment or a hypothetical license application will not be given. It will be necessary in all cases to submit an application together with pertinent information in order to obtain a decision.

A supporting letter should give additional information only for the application to which it is attached.

When an exporter requests telegraphic reply to an inquiry, the complete address of such person or company, including name, street, city, postal zone number, and state, must be given; or if desired, the Western Union "WUX" designation may be substituted for the address. This will expedite the servicing of these requests by the telegraph companies.

Telegraphic replies will be made at the expense of the inquirer.

This part of the amendment shall become effective as of August 7, 1952.

2. Section 373.11 Special provisions for ferrous or nonferrous commodities, including ores, concentrates, or unrefined products is amended in the following particulars:

This part of the amendment shall become effective as of August 7, 1952.

This part of the amendment shall become effective with the submission of applications for the fourth quarter 1952, for which filing dates will be announced in the near future. However, exporters may submit Form IT–821 at any time.

4. Section 373.51 Supplement No. 1: Time schedules for submission of applications for licenses to export certain Positive List commodities is amended in the following particulars:

8. Section 398.7 Supply assistance for foreign mining operations: MRO and capital additions, paragraph (f) Requests for supply assistance in obtaining materials for major capital additions or other equipment costing more than $5,000 is amended in the following particular:

The second sentence of the text following the headnote is amended to read as follows: "Such applications are filed with OIT on Form IT–835 in accordance with the procedure specified in § 398.4, except where the applications form part of a large new construction or expansion project, in which case applications are filed according to the procedure set forth in § 398.9."

This part of the amendment shall become effective as of August 7, 1952.

9. Section 398.8 Supply assistance for foreign petroleum operations, paragraph (f) Instructions for Form PAD–26A and IT–824 is amended in the following particulars:

Subparagraph (3) is amended to read as follows:

(3) Similarly, in item 11 (a) of Form IT–824, exporters should omit the OIT Reference Code in filing for controlled materials and Class A products. Items 11 (d), (e), and (f) are to be filled in only with respect to the following controlled materials: Oil country tubular goods, large and small diameter line pipe, plate, structurals, tinplate, and nickel stainless steel. The inventory information required under item 11 (d) of Form IT–824 is to be as of 30 days prior to the deadline date for the submission of Forms IT–824 covering controlled materials. (See § 398.8 (e) for filing dates.)

This part of the amendment shall become effective as of August 7, 1952.

10. Part 398, Priority Ratings and Supply Assistance, is amended by adding thereto a new § 398.9 to read as follows:

§ 398.9 Supply assistance for large foreign enterprises—(a) Scope. (1) When assistance in obtaining supplies and equipment to construct or expand large foreign facilities is required (except petroleum operations,[1]) a single integrated presentation must be made to the Office of International Trade if:

(i) Such project is located in a friendly foreign country; and

(ii) The Office of International Trade has been authorized to act as claimant agency for the export requirements of that country;[2] and

(iii) The delivery of all materials and equipment is required according to a fixed construction or erection schedule in order to create a functioning unit abroad; and

(iv) The nature of the operation as well as the size and variety of materials and equipment needed require a single decision by the appropriate government agencies on the matter of priority assistance for the entire proposal.

(2) Examples of such foreign enterprises are: A new sulfuric acid plant, a pharmaceutical plant, a national railways rehabilitation program, expansion of a copper mine or smelting plant.

(3) Such enterprises generally will be covered by OIT Special Project (SP) Licenses as established in Part 374 of this subchapter, but may be covered by individual licenses.[3] They may or may not be privately financed and may or may not be Government-sponsored or covered by one or more export license applications Form IT–419.

(b) Who may submit requests. (1) Requests may be submitted under this section by any person subject to the jurisdiction of the United States, who is in fact the exporter, or by his duly authorized agent, according to the provisions of § 372.2 of this subchapter.

(2) Alternatively, where a number of exporters and/or manufacturers are filling the orders for the materials required by the foreign enterprise, the request for supply assistance may be submitted by a duly authorized agent (subject to the jurisdiction of the United States) of the foreign consignee; or by a representative in the United States of the foreign government in whose country the foreign enterprise is located.

(c) Where requests are submitted. Requests for supply assistance submitted under this section should be addressed to the Director, Projects and Technical Data Division, Office of International Trade, Department of Commerce, Washington 25, D. C. For enterprises for which a project license has not been requested or issued, a request for supply assistance should be addressed to the licensing division, OIT, identified by processing code, responsible for the major items of the enterprise for which supply assistance is requested.

(d) When requests may be submitted. Requests for supply assistance may be made at any time: Prior to, subsequent to, or at the time of filing the necessary export license applications. It is urged, however, that all persons requesting supply assistance under this section submit their requests, at the earliest possible date, preferably in advance of the filing of license applications, so that a decision on the request can be made before construction is commenced or far advanced, or before substantial procurement of materials available without supply assistance or from non-U.S. sources is undertaken. This recommendation is made to protect the interests of the person requesting supply assistance in the event his request is denied, and thus to prevent immobilization of materials and investment in an enterprise which cannot be completed according to the original schedule.

(e) Procedure for submittal of requests. (1) Requests for supply assistance for a foreign enterprise under this section are made by letter addressed to the Office of International Trade. Complete details explaining and justifying the request must be set forth, as listed in form titled "Required Data, Supply Assistance for Large Foreign Enterprises."[4]

(2) It is necessary for the Office of International Trade to receive complete information on the status and requirements of the foreign project, including availability from other sources, degree of completion, immediate and long-range effects upon the economy of the importing country of completion or delay in completion of the enterprise. The person submitting the request should furnish to OIT all relevant background information which will assist in evaluation of the enterprise. Separate schedules showing bills of materials, for example, and very often maps, charts, construction schedules, supplementary tables, and blueprints will need to be attached to the letter of request, as well as the information required by form titled "Required Data, Supply Assistance for Large Foreign Enterprises."

(3) In the interests of expediting the handling of such request, personal conferences are recommended between the person submitting the request and the appropriate officials of the commodity division concerned, the Projects and Technical Data Division, Office of International Trade, in Washington, D. C., or appropriate officials of Department of Commerce field offices, before submitting the data indicated above.

(4) The letter of request must be signed by an authorized official and must include the following certification:

The undersigned hereby certifies that the information furnished is correct and complete to the best of his knowledge and belief.

Signature of authorized official

Title of authorized official

(f) Action by the Office of International Trade. (1) The Office of International Trade will review the request in the light of availability in the United States of the materials needed, as well as the availability of such materials from possible alternative sources, and will determine the extent to which the foreign project will contribute to any of the following programs:

(i) Defense program of friendly countries.

(ii) Promotion of increased supplies of all materials essential to strengthening the free world.

(iii) Maintenance and necessary expansion of essential services and production facilities, and maintenance of minimum essential civilian consumption requirements of the free world.

(iv) Reduction of dependence of the importing country upon the U. S. for military and economic assistance.

(v) Decreased dependence upon the Soviet Bloc of the importing country or other friendly countries.

(2) The OIT will consult informally with other interested U. S. Government agencies, with foreign government representatives in the United States, and with U. S. representatives abroad, as appropriate, in arriving at a decision as to the essentiality of the project. Further information may be required from the person submitting the request.

(3) If the request is approved, the Office of International Trade will present the request to and will sponsor it before the National Production Authority, recommending that the requested supply assistance be authorized.

(g) Nature of supply assistance granted on approved requests. (1) A request may be approved in whole or in part by the National Production Authority. If approved, NPA may grant a single DO–W–2 or DO–Z–1 priority rating to the person whose request is approved or to his supplier(s) individually in terms of total dollar value for a specified listing of materials and products for the project; NPA may issue a series of DO–W–2 and/or DO–Z–1 ratings to the person whose request is approved and or his suppliers; NPA may provide informal assistance in placing orders for the person whose request is approved without use of a priority rating; it may authorize production scheduling of certain types of equipment (e. g. power or transportation equipment) under the applicable "M" orders; or it may on occasion issue directives to producers to secure the required delivery.

(2) In any case, once a foreign enterprise has received official approval as a unit, the required supply assistance is generally provided without any further screening as to essentiality within the limits of U. S. availabilities and competing demands.

NOTE: Requirements of the foreign enterprise for controlled materials and other items under export allocation must be charged to OIT's normal quarterly quotas, and approval of the request for priority assistance to a foreign enterprise under this section does not generally mean any increase in OIT's quotas. Thus, if such quotas are heavily over-subscribed, there may be some delay in authorizing particular items for the foreign enterprise, but it would normally be expected that requirements of enterprises for which assistance is approved would be considered as among the most essential claimants for the export quotas and would be approved at the earliest possible date. Delivery dates of other equipment may therefore be determined by the delivery dates of controlled materials.

This part of the amendment shall become effective as of August 7, 1952.

[1] Requests for supply assistance for all foreign petroleum operations are filed in accordance with procedures established in § 398.8 rather than under the provisions of this section.

[2] For countries in which the Mutual Security Agency has aid programs established (refer to listing given in § 398.1 (c)), requests for supply assistance should be addressed to the Mutual Security Agency, Malatico Building, Washington 25, D. C., according to procedures established by that agency.

[3] In some instances, requests for assistance submitted by large foreign enterprises for which a project license has not been requested or issued may be considered in accordance with this procedure; in such cases a request for supply assistance should be addressed, by processing code, to the licensing division responsible for the major items of the enterprise for which supply assistance is requested.

[4] This form may be obtained at all Department of Commerce field offices and from the Office of International Trade, Department of Commerce, Washington 25, D. C.

★The commodities described in this Positive List entry are excepted from the provisions of General In-Transit License GIT. See § 371.9 (c) of this subchapter.

[1] The above two entries are substituted for the entry presently on the Positive List under Schedule B No. 200100. The effect of this revision is to reduce the GLV dollar-value limit for natural pale crepe Types I, IX, and II, from $250 to $100; and to indicate that natural pale crepe, Types I, IX, and II, are subject to the DL restrictions (see § 374.2 of this subchapter) by showing the letter "B" in the column headed "Commodity Lists."

[2] The above revised entry is substituted for the entry presently on the Positive List under Schedule B No. 618976. This amendment makes no substantive change in validated license control. Prefabricated and knockdown corn cribs, grain bins, and silos were classified under Schedule B No 787150 prior to Jan. 1, 1952, and were not included on the Positive List at the time they were reclassified. The unit "pound" has been added.

[3] The above revised entry is substituted for entries presently on the Positive List under Schedule B Nos. 619110 and 619120. The amendment corrects the present Positive List entries without making substantive change. Carbonyl iron powder for all purposes is correctly classified under Schedule B No. 619110.

[4] The above two entries are substituted for the eleventh and twelfth entries presently on the Positive List under Schedule B No. 619950. The effect of this revision is to change the processing code for brass or bronze bushings from NONF to GIEQ and the processing code for other brass or bronze manufacturers from NONF to CDGS; to reduce the GLV dollar-value limit for brass or bronze shims, now included in the above second entry, from $200 to $100; and to add the unit of quantity "pound" to the above second entry, thereby indicating that license applications for export of such commodities shall be shown in pounds.

[5] The above revised entry is substituted for the entry presently on the Positive List under Schedule B No. 657307 The amendment corrects the present Positive List entry without making substantive change. Prior to Jan. 1, 1952, unfinished zinc die castings were included on the Positive List under Schedule B No. 657307, and finished zinc die castings were included under Schedule B No. 658998.

[6] The above revised entry is substituted for the entry presently on the Positive List under Schedule B No. 664550. The effect of this amendment is to reduce the GLV dollar-value limit of molybdic acid from $25 to none, and molybdenum trioxide, molybdenum oxide briquettes, and molybdenum trioxide briquettes from $100 to none. Prior to Jan. 1, 1952, these commodities were included on the Positive List under Schedule B No. 830980.

[7] The above entry is substituted for the three entries presently on the Positive List under Schedule B No. 703825. The effect of this revision is (1) to decrease the GLV dollar-value limit on bridges for measuring impedance, capacitance, and resistance from $200 to none; (2) to change the controls from R to RO; (3) to add such bridges to the list of commodities subject to the IC/DV procedure (§ 373.34 of this subchapter); and (4) to extend the coverage, including IC/DV coverage, to include all electrical testing instruments classified under Schedule B No. 703825.

[8] The above entry is substituted for the two entries presently on the Positive List under Schedule B No. 703850. The effect of this revision is (1) to change the controls from R to RO on specially fabricated parts for bridges for measuring impedance, capacitance, and resistance and to add them to the list of commodities subject to the IC/DV procedure (§ 373.34 of this subchapter); and (2) to extend the Positive List coverage, including applicability of IC/DV procedure, to include specially fabricated parts for all electrical quantity-measuring and testing instruments classified under Schedule B No. 703850, except parts for watt-hour meters.

[9] The exportation of (1) bridges for measuring impedance, capacitance, and resistance, and (2) electrical testing instruments "of laboratory standards," and (3) their specially fabricated parts, become subject to the IC/DV procedure effective Sept. 29, 1952.

[10] The above two entries are substituted for the entry presently on the Positive List under Schedule B No. 705560. The effect of this revision is to change the processing code from ELME to MINE for new underground-type electric locomotives and from ELME to TRAN for new surface-type electric locomotives. Both types are subject to the IC/DV procedure (§ 373.34 of this subchapter).

[11] The above revised entry is substituted for the two entries presently on the Positive List under Schedule B No. 707625. No substantive change is made by combining these two entries.

[12] The above revised entry is substituted for the entry presently on the Positive List under Schedule B No. 708160. Since telemetering equipment is essentially a receiver and transmitter, this revision merely clarifies the description without making substantive change. Military telemetering equipment requires export authorization from the Department of State. (See § 370.5, of this subchapter Note 1.)

[13] The above revised entry is substituted for the second, tenth, and eleventh entries presently on the Positive List under Schedule B No. 766990. The effect of this revision is to combine these entries without making substantive change.

[14] The above revised entry is substituted for the entry presently on the Positive List under Schedule B No. 775035. The effect of this revision is to add to the Positive List specially fabricated parts for electronic fluorescent, and incandescent bulb and tube (lamp) manufacturing and assembling machines, making the parts subject to the same licensing requirements as the machines.

[15] The above entry is added to the Positive List under Schedule B No. 775400. This amendment makes no substantive change in validated license control, as the commodity was on the Positive List under Schedule B Nos. 769100 and 769200 prior to the 1952 revision of the Schedule B Commodity Classifications and was inadvertently omitted from the revised Positive List, Amendment P. L. 68 (Fifth General Revision). Exporters are now required to specify the size and the type of bearing.

[16] The above two revised entries are substituted for the entries presently on the Positive List under Schedule B Nos. 792610 and 792620. This amendment makes no substantive change in validated license control. Hydraulic truck dumping hoists, formerly under Schedule B No. 792700 and not included on the Positive List prior to the 1952 revision of the Schedule B Commodity Classifications, are now classified under Schedule B Nos. 792610 and 792620, and are added to the lists of commodities excepted from the Positive List under these Schedule B numbers.

[17] The above entry is substituted for the two entries presently on the Positive List under Schedule B No. 796114. The effect of this revision is to change the controls from R to RO on underground mine locomotives, other steam and electric (both of which are presently under RO control) and to place these locomotives under DL restrictions (§ 374.2(e) of this subchapter). The commodities listed under this entry are subject to the IC/DV procedure (§ 373.34 of this subchapter).

[18] The above two entries are substituted for the two entries presently on the Positive List under Schedule B No. 796117. The effects of this revision are to change the controls from R to RO and the processing code from TRAN to MINE on used and rebuilt underground mine locomotives, except steam and electric (both of which are presently under RO control), and to change the processing code from MINE to TRAN on the used and rebuilt surface-type steam locomotives. The net result of these changes is to place under MINE all underground types of locomotives, and under TRAN all surface-type locomotives, with the same controls on each type. The commodities listed under these entries are subject to the IC/DV procedure (§ 373.34 of this subchapter).

[19] The above two entries are substituted for the three entries presently on the Positive List under Schedule B No. 796172. The effects of this revision are (1) to change the controls from R to RO on parts and accessories specially fabricated for locomotives other than steam (which are presently under RO control); (2) to increase the GLV dollar-value limit from $100 to $500 on the "parts and accessories specially fabricated for underground mine locomotives, except steam and electric (formerly 733990)," and (3) to change the processing code from TRAN to MINE on parts and accessories specially fabricated for steam, diesel, diesel-electric, and other internal combustion locomotives, underground type. The net result of these changes is to place under MINE all parts and accessories for underground-type locomotives and under TRAN all parts and accessories for surface-type locomotives. The commodities listed under these entries are subject to the IC/DV procedure (§ 373.34 of this subchapter).

[20] The above revised entry is substituted for the entry presently on the Positive List under Schedule B No. 796182. This amendment makes no substantive change in validated license control. Maintenance car parts and inspection car parts, formerly under Schedule B No. 796900, and pressed steel wheels, formerly under Schedule B No. 799500, were not included on the Positive List prior to the 1952 revision of the Schedule B Commodity Classifications.

[21] The commodities included in this Positive List entry are subject to the IC/DV procedure (see § 373.34 of this subchapter).

[22] The commodities included in this Positive List entry are subject to dollar-limit (DL) restrictions (see § 374.2 of this subchapter).

[23] The effect of this revision is to clarify the coverage of the entry and makes no substantive change.

This part of the amendment shall become effective as of 12:01 a. m., August 14, 1952.

3. The dollar value limit in the column headed "GLV dollar-value limit" set forth opposite the commodities listed below is amended to read as follows:

Dept. of Commerce Schedule B No.	Commodity	GLV dollar-value limit
	Rubber or balata belts and belting:
208625	V-belts, except home appliance (report automotive in 208620)	100

209800	Pliofilm	100
209800	Liquid rubber compounds; and liquid rubber, drum compounded	100
	Attachments, n. e. c., for track-laying or wheel-type tractors, or trucks (specify by name):
722030	Clamshell attachments; conveying attachments; excavating attachments; hydraulic and cable controls for track-laying tractors, loading attachments; pipe layers; trenching attachments; and winches for track-laying tractors	None

This part of the amendment shall become effective as of 12:01 a. m., August 14, 1952.

4. The following commodities are deleted from the Positive List:

Dept. of Commerce Schedule B No.	Commodity
	Naval stores:
211710	Pine oil.
211720	Pine tar (formerly 211800).

This part of the amendment shall become effective as of August 7, 1952.

5. The following commodities are made subject to the IC/DV procedure (see § 373.34 of this subchapter). Accordingly, the Positive List is amended by adding opposite the commodity entries listed below the letter "A" in the column headed "Commodity Lists".

650050	Aluminum scrap (new and old).

This part of the amendment shall become effective as of September 22, 1952. Shipments of any commodities removed from general license to Country Group R or Country Group O destinations, or whose GLV dollar-value limits were reduced, as a result of changes set forth in Items 1, 2 and 3 of this amendment, which were on dock, on lighter, laden aboard an exporting carrier, or in transit to a port of exit pursuant to actual orders for export prior to 12:01 a. m., August 14, 1952, may be exported under the previous general license provisions up to and including September 6, 1952. Any such shipment not laden aboard the exporting carrier on or before September 6, 1952, requires a validated license for export.

TITLE 32A—NATIONAL DEFENSE, APPENDIX

Chapter III—Office of Price Stabilization, Economic Stabilization Agency

[Ceiling Price Regulation 70, Amdt. 1]

CPR 70—RENTAL OF CERTAIN TYPES OF COMMERCIAL MOTOR VEHICLES

MISCELLANEOUS AMENDMENTS

Pursuant to the Defense Production Act of 1950, as amended, Executive Order 10161 (15 F. R. 6105), and Economic Stabilization Agency General Order No. 2 (16 F. R. 738), Amendment 1 to Ceiling Price Regulation 70 is hereby issued.

STATEMENT OF CONSIDERATIONS

This amendment to Ceiling Price Regulation 70 is intended to conform certain provisions of the regulation to practices existing in the motor vehicle rental industry. The changes made by the amendment, refer primarily to the provisions of section 5 Service not furnished during the "base period", and to section 7 Exemption of certain rental-purchase option agreements, of the regulation.

The first change in section 5 is concerned with the 30-day waiting period provided for in the last two paragraphs of that section. Inasmuch as the Office of Price Stabilization has determined that it can complete its action in connection with reports filed under this section within a shorter period than the 30-day period now provided and, as a shorter period would serve the best interests of the industry by expediting the establishment of ceiling rates in many instances, this section is amended to provide for a 15-day waiting period.

The second change in section 5 provides that rates proposed may be charged pending consideration of them by the Office of Price Stabilization. Since the equipment for which rates are proposed is generally in the possession of the lessor during the time the rates are being considered, and since a large percentage of the truck and car rental business is transient, a provision for open billing pending OPS action is not practicable. Therefore, it is the opinion of the Director that it will be more equitable to allow the collection of the proposed rates, provided ample safeguards are made for refunding any amounts in excess of the finally approved rates.

The six changes in section 7 of the regulation are intended to conform its provisions to long-established trade practices in the industry.

The first of these changes revises the wording of the regulation to provide that an option to purchase may be exercised only after cancellation or termination of the rental agreement.

Secondly, the method of computing the ceiling price of a vehicle in cases where the lessee exercises his right to purchase has been revised. This change was deemed necessary because, in its present form, the provision creates the possibility of vehicles being purchased at prices that may result in lessors finding themselves in the automotive sale business rather than in the rental business.

The depreciation factor contained in section 7 (a) (2) has been changed from 2 percent to 1¾ percent of the retail ceiling price to conform with long established practice in the industry.

In addition to the above-described changes, two new paragraphs have been added to section 7. Since the exemption provisions of this section might be used as a guise for evading other regulations of the Office of Price Stabilization, paragraph (b) limits the exemption to truck and car rental operators who were doing business as such when Ceiling Price Regulation 70 was originally issued. All other lessors must first receive approval of the Director of Price Stabilization for inclusion within the exemption. Such approval will be granted upon a showing that the lessor is doing business as a bona fide truck or car rental operator. Paragraph (c) makes the amended section applicable to rental-purchase option agreements executed since the issuance of Ceiling Price Regulation 70. It further limits the effect of the exempting provision to January 1, 1953.

In the formulation of this amendment, there has been consultation with industry representatives, including trade association representatives, to the extent practicable, and consideration has been given to their recommendations.

The changes effected in Ceiling Price Regulation 70 by this amendment are, in large part, the result of informal suggestions of the industry affected. While formal Industry Advisory Committee consultation with representatives of the industry was not practicable, it is the opinion of the Director of Price Stabilization that these changes reflect, generally, the views of the industry. In the judgment of the Director of Price Stabilization, the provisions of this amendment are generally fair and equitable and are necessary to effectuate the purposes of the Defense Production Act of 1950, as amended.

AMENDATORY PROVISIONS

Ceiling Price Regulation 70 is amended in the following respects:

1. The last two paragraphs of section 5 are amended to read as follows:

The respective District Directors are hereby delegated authority to act upon and to handle to final conclusion all reports filed pursuant to the provisions of this section. Fifteen days after the report has been received by the appropriate District Office of the Office of Price Stabilization, or 15 days after the receipt of such additional information as may be requested, the proposed ceiling rate shall be deemed approved unless the lessor is advised by the Office of Price Stabilization that the proposed rate has been disapproved or modified.

Upon receipt of the report by the appropriate District Office the service may be furnished and the proposed rate may be charged, provided the lessor maintains complete records of all persons using the service, and all rental agreements expressly provide that any amount collected in excess of the rate approved by the Office of Price Stabilization will be refunded to the lessees.

2. Section 7 is amended to read as follows:

SEC. 7. Exemption of certain rental-purchase option agreements. (a) Services offered under a rental-purchase option agreement, having a term of not less than 1 year and granting to the lessee upon its termination or cancellation after 1 year an option to purchase the vehicle or vehicles covered by the agreement, are exempt from the other provisions of this regulation, provided the purchase price specified in the option agreement does not exceed (1) in the case of trucks, tractors, trailers, semi-trailers and busses, other than school busses, the Office of Price Stabilization retail ceiling price for the same type of vehicle at the time the lease was executed plus make-ready costs minus a deduction of 1 percent of the total of such ceiling price and make-ready costs for each 30-day period from the date of execution of the lease until the date the purchase option is exercised; or (2) in the case of passenger automobiles and taxicabs, the OPS retail ceiling price for the same type of vehicle at the time the lease was executed plus make-ready costs minus a deduction of 1¾ percent of the total of the retail ceiling price and make-ready costs for each 30-day period from the date of execution of the lease until the date the purchase option is exercised, and the rental rate under such rental-purchase option agreement does not exceed the lessor's transient ceiling rate for such vehicle or vehicles.

(b) The exemption contained in this section applies only to (1) lessors who were in the business of renting vehicles on or before September 12, 1951; or (2) lessors to whom this exemption is extended by specific authorization of the Director of Price Stabilization. Requests for such authorization shall be made in writing to the Office of Price Stabilization, Services, Transportation and Foreign Trade Division, Washington 25, D. C., and shall contain a detailed justification for such authorization.

(c) The provisions of this section shall apply to rental-purchase option agreements executed since September 12, 1951, but its provisions shall expire on January 1, 1953, unless extended by a subsequent amendment to this regulation.

Effective date. This Amendment 1 to Ceiling Price Regulation 70 shall become effective August 20, 1952.

JOSEPH H. FREEHILL,
Acting Director of Price Stabilization.

Article I—Scope of Regulation

SECTION 0. Introduction. This regulation fixes ceiling prices for sales by retailers of a wide range of commodities. The pricing chart method of determining applicable mark-ups or margins is used. Retailers are required to file with the Office of Price Stabilization (hereafter referred to as OPS) a "list date pricing chart" and to fix their ceiling prices by using this chart. (Sample charts are shown in Appendix "A.") The list date under this regulation is February 24, 1951, except where another list date is specified in section 13 (b).

[Last sentence above added by Amdt. 2]

Article I tells you the scope of this regulation.

Article II tells you how to prepare your charts.

Article III sets forth the rules for computing ceiling prices by reference to your charts. It also tells you how to fix your ceiling prices if you cannot use the pricing rules.

Article IV prescribes rules for pricing in special cases (for example, up-stream and cross stream sales, transfers of business, sales of branded articles, etc.).

Article V contains general provisions such as record-keeping requirements, marking or posting ceiling prices, how to treat taxes, sales slips, prohibitions, etc.

SEC. 1. What commodities are covered. This regulation applies only to sales at retail of the articles listed in Appendix B. This includes a wide variety of consumer goods. They are grouped into categories and each category is given a category number. For example, men's and boys' underwear and nightwear constitute category 116.

From time to time articles not listed may be added by amendments to this regulation.

This regulation supersedes the General Ceiling Price Regulation for all articles listed in Appendix B. It does not apply, however: (1) to such articles listed in Appendix B for which ceiling prices for sales at retail are hereafter established by other regulations; nor (2) to any article for which sales at retail are hereafter exempted or suspended from price control by this or any other regulation; nor (3) to any imported article if it is sold by the one who imports it; nor (4) to antiques (any article made prior to 1850).

SEC. 2. What sales are covered. This regulation applies to sales at retail. It applies to all sales to ultimate consumers of all kinds (including individual, commercial, and industrial users[1]) of articles which are "bought and sold in substantially the same form." (See definition in section 59.) It applies to sales to persons other than ultimate consumers (such as other retailers and wholesalers) if those sales customarily amount to less than 10 percent of the retailer's total sales of articles covered by this regulation and the retailer's ceiling prices for those sales are fixed by Section 40.

SEC. 3. What sellers are covered. (a) This regulation applies to you if you are a seller whose sales to individual ultimate consumers of articles covered by this regulation constitute more than 10 percent of sales of the merchandise covered by this regulation which you buy and sell in substantially the same form. You may, however, elect to continue to fix your ceiling prices under the General Ceiling Price Regulation:

(1) For all articles covered by this regulation if all your sales to individual ultimate consumers are "accommodation sales" (see definition in section 59 of this regulation); or

(2) For articles in Categories 101 through 607; 610 through 620; 701 through 895; 920; and 1001 through 1030, if your annual net dollar volume of total sales of articles in those categories which you buy and sell in substantially the same form in all your departments taken together to individual ultimate consumers amounts to less than $20,000; or

[Subparagraph (2) amended by Amdt. 8]

(3) For articles in Categories 901 through 908; 915 through 919; 921 through 924; 940 through 951; 970 through 985; 1050 through 1070,

[Subparagraph (3) amended by Amdt. 8]

(i) If your[1a] annual net dollar volume of total sales of articles in those categories which you buy and sell in substantially the same form in all your departments taken together to individual ultimate consumers amounts to less than $60,000 or

(ii) If your[1a] annual net dollar volume of total sales in all departments taken together of all merchandise which you buy and sell in substantially the same form amounts to less than $100,000.

An election in accordance with the provisions of this paragraph must, if made, apply without exception to all categories in the group as to which the particular election is permitted. You may not subsequently alter an election made under this paragraph, except that if you are a seller permitted to elect to price under the provisions of the General Ceiling Price Regulation pursuant to this paragraph, you may, if you have already filed your chart, exercise this election by requesting the return of your chart from your OPS office on or before July 2, 1951.

The election provided in this paragraph does not apply to new sellers. As used in this paragraph "annual" means your most recent calendar or fiscal year (or if you were in business less than one year the dollar volume for the period you were in business projected to cover a one year period.)

(b) When used in this regulation, the word "seller" refers to each single separate seller covered by this regulation. (1) If a seller makes sales at retail through more than one selling unit or department, each selling unit or department is considered to be a separate seller subject to all the provisions of this regulation. (2) A person who sells through salesmen making sales at uniform prices is a single seller. (3) All of the selling outlets of a chain, which are under common ownership or control and which are included in one group, zone, class or area to which immediately prior to January 26, 1951, the chain regularly sent invoices or statements showing the same selling prices for certain articles in a category (whether or not costs were shown), and which regularly sold those articles at such uniform prices, constitute, as to the categories in which those articles are included, a single seller.

(4) A selling outlet which has received, from a seller from whom it purchases articles on consignment, a copy of an order issued by OPS pursuant to section 5 (b) of Supplementary Regulation 1, by the terms of which that outlet is constituted a separate seller, is a separate seller to the extent provided in that order.

[Subparagraph (4) added by Amdt. 17]
[Paragraph (b) amended by Amdt. 3]

(c) Notwithstanding any other provisions of this regulation any seller at retail of an article for which a ceiling price has been established under section 43 (Uniform dollar and cents prices for certain articles) of this regulation or for which a ceiling price is established under a Supplementary Regulation to this regulation shall be permitted to sell the article at the price so established.

SEC. 4. Where this regulation applies. This regulation shall be applicable in the forty-eight states and the District of Columbia.

SEC. 5. When to begin using pricing rules. (a) (1) You may begin to use the applicable pricing rules after you file your chart, but you must begin to use the rules not later than May 30, 1951 (unless you are a mail order establishment subject to paragraph (b) of this section). Where under the provisions of section 11 you file a part of your chart separately, you may begin using the rules for pricing the categories in any such part after you have filed it.

[Paragraph (a) amended by Amdts. 1, 2 and 4; redesignated (1) by Amdt. 8]

(2) Whenever new categories are added to this regulation after June 30, 1951, you may begin to use the applicable pricing rules after you file your chart, but you must begin to use the applicable pricing rules not later than 3 months after the effective date of the amendment which adds the new categories (unless you are a mail order establishment subject to paragraph (b) of this section).

[Subparagraph (2) added by Amdt. 8]

(b) If you operate a mail order establishment as defined in section 59 of this regulation you are not required to observe the pricing rules of this regulation as to any mail order sales of articles covered by any of your catalogs, booklets, circulars, flyers, or other forms of printed lists which were printed before the list date. Your ceiling prices for such sales continue to be established by the General Ceiling Price Regulation for so long as the printed price lists remain in effect or until you establish a price for an article pursuant to the pricing rules of this regulation. However, you are required to observe the other requirements of this regulation and to price new articles, new catalogs, booklets, circulars, flyers or other forms of printed price lists on the basis of the pricing rules in this regulation.

Article II—Pricing Charts

SEC. 11. Filing of charts. (a) If you are a seller subject to this regulation you must prepare two copies of a list date pricing chart. The chart must be dated and must be signed by one of your officers or owners. A chart for an outlet which is itself a separate seller under this regulation or a department in a departmentalized establishment may be signed by the store manager or department head. One copy of the chart must be kept for your use and for inspection by the Office of Price Stabilization and the other must be filed with your OPS office[2] on or before May 30, 1951.

[Paragraph (a) amended by Amdts. 1, 2 and 4]

[1] Examples of ultimate consumers who are not individual ultimate consumers are hospitals, schools, and clubs.

[1a] For the purpose of exercising this election, insofar as chain food stores are concerned, each retail outlet (or each department in such outlet) of the chain may be considered a seller, even though the chain determines uniform prices centrally.

[2] Your OPS office is the office having jurisdiction over the area in which your place of business is located. If you are a chain which under this regulation is a single seller and if your principal office and all of your outlets for all your groups or zones taken together, or, if you are a person who sells through salesmen making sales at uniform prices and your principal office and all of your branch offices taken together (1) are located within an OPS district, your OPS office is the district office of the OPS for that district; (2) are located in more than one OPS district within an OPS region, your OPS office is the district office of the OPS having jurisdiction over the area in which your principal office is located; or (3) are located in more than one OPS region, your OPS office is the Wholesale and Central Pricing Branch, Office of Price Stabilization,

(b) You may at your option prepare a separate list date chart for Categories 860–895; 901–924 and 940–985, and file that as a supplemental chart instead of including those categories as part of the initial list date chart prepared in accordance with this regulation. If you file a supplemental chart, you must prepare it in accordance with this regulation, numbering the pages as if they followed the last page of your original chart. One copy of this supplemental chart must be kept with your original list date chart for your use and for inspection by the OPS, and the other must be filed with your OPS office [2] on or before May 30, 1951.

[Paragraph (b) added by Amdt. 2; amended by Amdt. 4]

(c) If, by the addition to this regulation of Categories 860–895; 901–924; and 940–985 you are a seller subject to this regulation, you must prepare two copies of a list date pricing chart in accordance with this regulation. One copy of the chart must be kept for your use and for inspection by the OPS and the other must be filed with your OPS office [2] on or before May 30, 1951.

[Paragraph (c) added by Amdt. 2; amended by Amdt. 4]

(d) If you are a seller who has already filed a pricing chart, and by the addition of categories to this regulation you are required to file a chart for the new categories, you must prepare two copies of a supplemental chart for the new categories in accordance with this regulation, numbering the pages as if they followed the last page of the chart already filed. One copy of the supplemental chart must be kept for your use and for inspection by the OPS and the other must be filed with your OPS office [2] within 3 months after the effective date of the amendment which adds the categories.[2a]

[Paragraph (d) added by Amdt. 8]

(e) If by the addition of categories to this regulation you are for the first time a seller subject to this regulation, you must prepare two copies of a list date pricing chart for all categories in accordance with this regulation. One copy of the chart must be kept for your use and for inspection by the OPS and the other must be filed with your OPS office [2] within 3 months after the effective date of the amendment which adds the categories.[2a]

[Paragraph (e) added by Amdt. 8]

SEC. 12. Failure to file charts. (a) On and after May 30, 1951, you may not offer, sell, or deliver any article covered by this regulation unless you have filed the chart described above. On and after July 31, 1951, you may not offer, sell or deliver any article covered by this regulation until you have received from the OPS an acknowledgment of the filing of your chart.

[Paragraph (a) redesignated by Amdt. 8; amended by Amdts. 1, 4 and 9]

(b) If by the addition of new categories after June 30, 1951, you become subject to the regulation as to any categories, you may not offer, sell or deliver any article covered by any categories for which you are required to or elect to file a chart unless you file that chart within 3 months after the effective date of the amendment which adds the categories. On and after 30 days from the last date for filing that chart you may not offer, sell, or deliver any article in the categories covered by that chart unless you have received from the OPS an acknowledgment of the filing of that chart.

[Paragraph (b) added by Amdt. 8]

SEC. 13. Contents of charts; general. Put at the top of your chart the following general information:

(a) Your business name and address;

(b) Your list date or list dates. Your list date is February 24, 1951, except:

(1) It is March 31, 1951 for Categories 860 to 895; 901 to 924; and 940 to 985, or for all categories (other than Categories 610 through 620 and 1050 through 1070) if you first became subject to or first elected to become subject to the regulation between April 10, 1951 and June 30, 1951[1];

(2) It is June 23, 1951 for Categories 610 through 620 or for all categories (except Categories 1050 through 1070) if you first become subject to or first elect to become subject to the regulation on or after June 30, 1951.

(3) It is December 10, 1950 for Categories 1050 through 1070.[2a]

In the event you were not open for business on the appropriate list date, except where your list date is December 10, 1950, your list date is the most recent date in 1951 before that date on which you were open for business and offered for sale any article covered by the regulation.

[Paragraph (b) amended by Amdts. 2 and 8]

(c) Your type of store.[3] First, state whether it is a mail order establishment, a chain outlet, or an independent retail store; and second, state whether it is a men's and boys' clothing and furnishing store, a women's clothing store, an infants' and children's wear shop, a women's specialty shop, a millinery store, a shoe store, a department in a department store, a general merchandise store, a limited price variety store, a dry goods store, a furniture store, a home furnishings store, or other type of store. (A department in a departmentalized establishment must also state its department number or name; and a group of outlets which is a single seller under section 3 (b) must show the names and addresses of all retail outlets in the group.)

[Paragraph (c) amended by Amdt. 3]

(d) State which of the following brackets includes the approximate net dollar volume of your total retail sales of all commodities covered by this regulation in the calendar year 1950 or your most recent fiscal year:

Over—	Up to and including—
	$10,000
$10,000	30,000
30,000	50,000
50,000	100,000
100,000	300,000
300,000	500,000
500,000	1,000,000
1,000,000	2,000,000
2,000,000	5,000,000
5,000,000	10,000,000
10,000,000	20,000,000
20,000,000

SEC. 14. Contents of charts: related general information. This section tells what the chart must contain about the costs and offering prices of each category which you offered for sale on the list date. List the information in five (5) columns below the general information called for in the preceding section. List an article as "offered for sale on the list date" if it was in your store, unpacked, and available for sale on that date. (If you are a mail order establishment list an article as "offered for sale on the list date" if it was listed in one of your catalogs, booklets, circulars, flyers, or other printed price lists in effect on that date.)

If in the course of your business you regularly buy used or imperfect articles (including such articles when received as trade-ins) for the purpose of repairing and reconditioning them and selling them as reconditioned or repaired, in preparing your chart you shall omit every item which you repaired or reconditioned before sale. Note on the chart each category from which such items have been omitted.

If you offered for sale on the list date any article which you acquired by a transfer from another department or part of the same legal entity you must omit such article in preparing your chart.

When the phrase "you offered" is used in this regulation it means "you offered for sale on the list date." Before you begin to prepare your list date chart study the sample charts in Appendix A for the appropriate form. (The OPS will not supply chart forms.)

SEC. 15. Column 1: List of categories offered for sale. In the first column from the left, list by the number given for that category in Appendix B, each category which you offered. If you are including in a "general" category (as defined in Appendix B) any article not specifically listed for that category in Appendix B, list such article in parenthesis in column 1 immediately below the category number in which you are including it.

For the purpose of listing categories, you may list as a separate category or amend your chart to list as a separate category each of the separate descriptive classifications in Categories 908 and 919 (for example, 908–4—Cleaning Supplies; 919–2—Closet Shop Accessories). If you treat any descriptive classification in Category 908 or in Category 919 as a separate category, you must so treat each classification within the category.

SEC. 16. Column 2: List of net costs. In the second column from the left, list opposite each category shown in column 1, the last "net cost" at which you bought each different article, style, model, or lot number in that category which you offered. Follow these directions for listing net costs:

(a) Find your "net cost" by deducting all discounts (including cash discounts)[3a] from the invoice cost on the last invoice you received [4] before the list date for a particular article, style, model or lot number which you have listed. In order that markups on your chart may as nearly as possible reflect your normal markups, if your last invoice was received after January 1, 1951 and your selling price on the list date was unchanged from your initial offering price based on the next to the last invoice which you had received for that article prior to February 24, 1951, you may list the net cost on the next to the last invoice received prior to February 24, 1951. Deduct discounts you could have taken whether you took them or not. No freight, handling charge, OPS adjustment charge, or other similar charge may be added.[5]

(b) List your net costs in order from the lowest to the highest.

(c) List each different net cost separately even though you bought other articles, styles, models, or lot numbers in the category for the same gross invoice cost. Thus, if you bought three different articles, styles, models, or lot numbers in a category at $3.50, 8/10 EOM,[6] $3.50, 3/10 EOM, or $3.50 net, list each of these net costs separately as $3.22, $3.40, and $3.50, respectively.

(d) List each different net cost only once in the category even though you offered more than one article, style, model, or lot number of that net cost in that category.

(e) If you offered a particular style, model, or lot number which you bought at more than one net cost, list only the net cost shown on the last invoice you received before the list date for that style, model, or lot number, unless you are permitted by paragraph (a) of this section to use an earlier invoice.

(f) List each net cost per unit. Thus, if you buy at "per dozen" prices divide the net cost per dozen by 12 and list the result as your net cost per unit. Similarly, if you buy at a price per gross or per hundred, divide your net cost per gross by 144, or per hundred by 100 to find your net unit cost.

(g) You may round your cost to the nearest cent. Thus, you may list $1.735 as $1.74 and $1.734 as $1.73.[7]

SEC. 17. Column 3: Offering prices. In the third column from the left, list opposite each net cost shown in column 2, each different price at which you offered to your most numerous class of purchaser [3] an article of that category having that net cost. Follow these directions for listing offering prices:

(a) Do not list offering prices which are higher than your ceiling price for the article on the list date. If your offering price was higher than your ceiling price on the list date you must list your ceiling price.

(b) To avoid the distortion caused by markdowns you may list as your offering price for an article either the price at which you actually offered it on the list date or the price at which you offered the article when you first offered it for sale. If you list your first offering price rather than your list date offering price, place the letter "M" after the price in this column.

(c) To avoid the distortion caused by your having re-marked an article prior to January 26, 1951, to a price greater than that at which you first offered it, you must list in column 3 the price at which you first offered it. If you list such a price you must place a letter "U" after the price in column 3.

(d) To avoid the distortion caused by your having initially marked an article since December 1, 1950, at a price greater than that at which you normally would have marked that article you must list in column 3 the price at which you normally would have marked that article (as, for example, if you had marked the article in anticipation of an increase in replacement cost). You must put the actual price at which you offered the article on the list date in parentheses beside the net cost in column 2 and place a letter "R" after each such price listed in column 3.

(e) If your offering price includes a tax on a particular sale or delivery (such as a sales tax or a compensating use tax) which the law permits you to state separately from the price, you must deduct the full amount of such tax included in your offering price before you list it. You need not deduct from your offering price any tax which you stated separately from and in addition to your offering price.

(f) You will find that in some cases you have listed more than one offering price opposite a single net cost in a particular category. You must draw a circle around one of these prices; section 19 tells you which offering price to circle. To select your circled price you first have to find your average percentage markup for the category. Section 18 explains how to find a category average percentage markup.

Step 1. Add together all the net costs listed for that category in column 2. To find the correct average, you must, of course, add together an equal number of costs and offering prices. Therefore, just for purposes of this step (you should use a separate work sheet), you must add in each net cost as many times as you have listed different offering prices opposite it;

Step 2. Add together all the offering prices listed in column 3 for that category;

Step 3. Subtract the total of the net costs found in Step 1 from the total of the offering prices found in Step 2;

Step 4. Divide the remainder found in step 3 by the total of the net costs found in Step 1. The result is your average percentage markup on cost.[8] When you have found your average percentage markup for a category, enter it in column 1 for that category.

Example: The way to compute average percentage markup for men's and boys'

Washington 25, D. C. If you are a single seller as to any category, each unit (or in a departmentalized establishment each department) covered by the single seller chart shall use as its OPS office for all its categories the OPS office in which you are required to file the single seller chart under the foregoing rules.

If you are a mail order establishment, your OPS office is the Wholesale and Central Pricing Branch, Office of Price Stabilization, Washington 25, D. C. If you are a consignor, an order issued pursuant to section 5 (b) of Supplementary Regulation 1 to CPR 7 may provide that for specific purposes your OPS office is the Wholesale and Central Pricing Branch, Office of Price Stabilization, Washington 25, D. C.

[Footnote 2 amended by Amdts. 6, 17 and 19]

[2a] For Categories 1050 through 1070 a special method for preparing charts and determining what articles were offered on the list date is provided in section 7 of Supplementary Regulation 2.

[Footnote 2a added by Amdt. 8]

[3] "Store" means a separate seller as defined in section 3(b), or the separate establishment or a department in the establishment at or from which you make sales to ultimate consumers. A mail order establishment is also called a store.

[3a] An alternative method for preparing charts for and pricing Categories 940 through 943 and 970 through 985 which permits discounts for prompt payment (cash discounts) not to be deducted from net invoice cost and which permits the use of a cost record other than an invoice in certain instances is provided in Supplementary Regulation 2 to this regulation.

[Footnote 3a added by Amdt. 6]

[4] If you are an outlet of a chain not included in a group of outlets for which your central office is permitted to use the same pricing chart in accordance with section 3 (b) of this regulation, you may use the invoice furnished by your central office.

[5] An alternative method for preparing charts for and pricing categories 701 to 752, which permits freight to be reflected is provided in Supplementary Regulation 2 to this regulation.

[6] "8/10 EOM" means 8 percent discount if paid within 10 days after the end of the month.

[7] You may, if you wish, list your gross invoice cost per dozen, per gross, or per hundred, and your purchase discounts, in parenthesis, following the net unit cost. Thus, you might list $1.29 ($16.00, 3/10 EOM per doz.).

[8] This will be the class containing the greatest number of purchasers. However, if your most numerous class of purchaser is one to whom accommodation sales are made, you may prepare your chart based on your offering prices to the most numerous class other than accommodation purchasers, but you must state in a footnote any differentials you have for your accommodation sales. If you have more than one class of purchaser, use a footnote to show the class of purchaser used in preparing your chart. Section 30 provides that other classes of purchasers must get their customary differentials.

[Footnote 8 amended by Amdt. 22]

[9] You may, if you wish, figure your percentage markups as "margins on selling price" instead of on your net cost, but you must use the same method of figuring all percentage margins and average percentage margins. If you have chosen to list margins on selling price, you must state this on your chart, and must use margins on offerings (or selling) price wherever this regulation refers to a markup over net cost.

shirts, category 117, may be illustrated as follows:

Total the net costs	Total the offering prices
1.38	2.25
(1.38)	2.50
1.94	3.50
3.64	5.95
(3.64)	6.95
5.34	7.95
(5.34)	8.95

(Note that the costs in parentheses appear only on your work sheet. They do not appear on your chart.)

Subtract the total of the net costs from the total of the offering prices ($44.99—$26.94=$18.05). Divide the remainder, $18.05 by the total of the costs, $26.94 ($18.05÷$26.94=67%). The result, 67 percent, is the average percentage markup on cost for category 117. Enter 67% in column 1.

SEC. 19. Circled price. Where you have listed more than one offering price opposite a single net cost in a particular category, you must draw a circle around the offering price which comes closest to reflecting the average percentage markup for the category. If the price you get is midway between two offering prices, draw a circle around the lower of the two.

Example. You have listed offering prices of $2.88, $3.00 and $3.25 for a net cost of $2.00 in category 202, and your average percentage markup for category 202 is 52%. To apply this rule multiply $2.00 by 52% ($2.00×0.52=$1.04) and add $2.00 to the result ($2.00+$1.04=$3.04) resulting in a price of $3.04. When you look at the three offering prices which you have listed for a $2.00 net cost, you find that the offering price closest to $3.04 is $3.00. Therefore, $3.00 is the "circled" price.

If your average percentage markup had been 47% you would have found a price of $2.94 ($2.00×0.47=$0.94; $2.00+$0.94=$2.94). Since $2.94 is midway between your listed offering prices of $2.88 and $3.00, you would have selected the lower of the two, and $2.88 would have been your circled price.

SEC. 20. Column 4: Percentage markups. In the fourth column from the left, list the percentage markup for each different net cost listed in column 2. If more than one offering price is listed opposite the same net cost in a category, you list the percentage markup for the circled price only. To figure a percentage markup, subtract the net cost listed in column 2 from the offering price listed opposite it in column 3, and divide the difference by the net cost. Round the result to one decimal place. For example, you should list 53.72 percent as 53.7 percent and 53.75 percent as 53.8 percent.

Example. If you have listed a net cost of $3.22 and an offering price of $4.95, you subtract $3.22 from $4.95 ($4.95—$3.22=$1.73) and divide the difference, $1.73, by the net cost, $3.22 ($1.73÷$3.22=0.53773). Your percentage markup over cost for your $3.22 net cost is, therefore, 53.8%. Enter 53.8% in Column 4 opposite the $3.22 net cost.

SEC. 21. Column 5: List of invoices—(a) What invoices must be listed. In the fifth column from the left, list one invoice for every offering price shown in column 3. The invoice you list must cover your purchase at the corresponding net cost listed in column 2 for an article of that category which you offered at that price. If pursuant to section 16 (a) you have listed in column 1 a net cost from an invoice other than the last invoice you got before the list date, you must place a letter "E" beside the invoice listed in column 5.

(b) How to list an invoice. State your supplier's name and the date and number of the invoice. In parenthesis following the listing of the invoice you must identify the article the purchase of which at the cost shown in column 2 is covered by the invoice. (An alternative method of listing invoices is provided in Supplementary Regulation 2 to this regulation.)

(c) Inspection of invoices. On request you must supply for examination to the OPS or its agent any invoice which you have listed in column 5.

SEC. 22. Amendment of charts—(a) Amendment by seller. (1) If you find that you have filed an incorrect chart you must file an amendment to your chart with the OPS office where you filed your original chart and you must attach to the amendment a statement explaining why the changes conform your chart to the requirements of the regulation.

Example. If you wish to amend an inaccurate offering price listed on your original chart, you must also recompute your average percentage markup for that category, and reexamine your circled prices for that category to see if the new category average percentage markup requires a change in any of them. If changes are required, the amendment to your chart must show all the corrections which were necessary.

You may not use the amendment to your chart in fixing ceiling prices until you have received acknowledgment from your OPS office of receipt of the amendment.

[Subparagraph (1) redesignated by Amdt. 8]

(2) Whenever under a provision of Ceiling Price Regulation 7 added to this regulation after May 30, 1951, you are required or permitted to amend your chart, you must file the amendment to your chart with your OPS office on or before the thirtieth day following the effective date of that provision. You must attach to the amendment a statement which will designate under what provision you are filing.

Example of statement. This amendment is filed pursuant to Amendment 8 to Ceiling Price Regulation 7, effective June 30, 1951. This amendment allows retailers to handle each classification in Category 908 and Category 919 as a separate category.

You must, when you amend your chart, pursuant to this subparagraph, use the amendment to your chart in fixing ceiling prices after the date you file the amendment to your chart. You may not offer, sell, or deliver any article covered by the amendment to your chart after thirty days from the date you file your amendment unless you have received an acknowledgment from your OPS office of receipt of the amendment.

[Subparagraph (2) added by Amdt. 8]

(b) Amendment by Office of Price Stabilization. The OPS may at any time issue an order amending your chart to bring your mark-ups into line with mark-ups established by this regulation for sellers of the same class. Also, upon examination of your chart and any amendment thereto if the records necessary to substantiate information appearing on your chart or the amendment are inadequate the OPS may issue an order amending your chart to bring the mark-ups in line with the level of mark-ups established under this regulation.

Article III—Computing Ceiling Prices

SEC. 30. How to compute ceiling prices. To compute your ceiling price for the sale to an ultimate consumer, of an article covered by this regulation, refer to your chart and use the first applicable pricing rule found below in this Article III. (Note that sales covered by this regulation to persons other than ultimate consumers must be priced under section 40, "'Upstream' and 'Cross Stream' Sales and sales of 'Cross Stream' articles to ultimate consumers.")

In applying these rules, you must compute your ceiling price for each article to the class of purchaser you used in preparing your chart and apply your customary differentials to that price to find your ceiling price to all other classes of purchasers. You may not change the terms, allowances, discounts, or differentials which you customarily gave to various classes of purchasers, if the change would result in a higher net price.

Wherever this regulation refers to a list date chart it means only a chart correctly prepared in accordance with sections 13 to 21 of this regulation. If your chart is improper or inaccurate, your ceiling prices shall be prices computed on the basis of a correct chart.

SEC. 30a. "Permitted increase." Various OPS regulations may provide for increases in your supplier's ceiling prices. Some of these regulations may require your supplier to break down his price to you into two parts, the first part being the basic price and the second part a "permitted increase" (that is, the portion of the increase granted your supplier which the regulation allows you to pass on to the consumer). You must use the basic price (without adding the "permitted increase") to find your net cost for determining your ceiling price under this regulation. Then you may add the amount designated as a "permitted increase to your ceiling price as otherwise determined under this regulation.

SEC. 31. Net cost; OPS adjustment charge. "Net cost," in this regulation means net unit cost of an article after deducting all discounts you could have taken,[9] or your supplier's ceiling price [10]

[9a] An alternative method for pricing Categories 940 to 943 and 970 to 985 which permits discounts for prompt payment (cash discounts) not to be deducted is provided in Supplementary Regulation 2 to this regulation.

[Footnote 9a added by Amdt. 6]

[10] If you operate an outlet of a chain not included in a group of outlets for which your central office is permitted to use the same pricing chart in accordance with section 3(b), and if your chart was not prepared on the basis of net cost of articles to your central office, "your supplier's ceiling price" for articles shipped to you by your central office is the amount shown on your central office's invoice to you correctly prepared under Supplementary Regulation 1 to this Regulation.

for the article, whichever is lower. (You may round your cost to the nearest cent.) You may not include in "net cost" any item on an invoice received by you labelled "OPS adjustment charge." Freight, handling charge, or other similar charges may not be added.[11]

SEC. 32. Rule 1: Articles belonging to a category on your chart and with a net cost listed on your chart. If the article you are pricing is in a category listed in Column 1 of your chart, and if it has a net cost listed in column 2, its ceiling price is the offering price you listed in column 3 for that net cost and category. If you have a circled price for that net cost and category, the circled price is the ceiling price for the article.

Example. You wish to price a pair of men's pajamas which cost you $1.29 net. On your chart you have listed offering prices of $2.00 and $2.24 for a $1.29 net cost in category 116. You have circled $2.00. Therefore, your ceiling price for these pajamas is $2.00 per pair.

If you had listed only one price $2.24 for a $1.29 net cost, your ceiling price would be, of course, $2.24.

SEC. 33. Rule 2: Articles belonging to a category listed on your chart but having a net cost lower than the lowest cost listed for that category. If the article you are pricing has a net cost lower than the lowest net cost listed for that category in column 2 of your chart, you compute your ceiling price by multiplying the net cost of the article by the average of the percentage markups in column 4 of the two lowest costs shown on the chart for that category, and adding the result to the net cost.

Example. You wish to price a girl's sweater having a $1.94 net cost. The two lowest net costs on your chart for category 208 are $2.07 and $2.26. The percentage markups listed for the last two are 55.6% and 54% respectively. You average the last two (55.6+54=109.6÷2=54.8) and find that 54.8% is the average. The ceiling price for the sweater is found by multiplying $1.94 by 54.8 (1.94×54.8=1.06) and adding the result, $1.06 to $1.94 (1.94+1.06=3.00). The total, $3.00 is your ceiling price.

SEC. 34. Rule 3. Articles belonging to a category listed on your chart, but having a net cost higher than the highest cost listed for that category. If the article you are pricing has a net cost higher than the highest net cost listed for that category in column 2 of your chart, you compute your ceiling price by multiplying the net cost of the article by the lower of (a) the average of the percentage markups listed in column 4 for the two highest costs shown on the chart for that category, or (b) the average percentage markup for the category, and adding the result to the net cost.

Example. You wish to price a woman's slip having a $7.95 net cost. The two highest net costs on your chart for category 211 are $6.95 and $5.95. The percentage markups listed for the last two are 67.6% and 63.5%, respectively. You average the last two (67.6+63.5=131.1÷2=65.6) and find 65.6%. The category average percentage markup for category 211 is 67%. Since the average of the percentages for the two highest cost lines (65.6%) is lower than the category average (67%), you use 65.6% to find the ceiling price of the slip. The ceiling price for the slip is found by multiplying $7.95 by 65.6 (7.95×65.6=5.22) and add the result $5.22 to the net cost, $7.95 (7.95+5.22=13.17). The total, $13.17 is the ceiling price.

SEC. 35. Rule 4; articles belonging to a category listed on your chart but having a net cost between two net costs listed for that category. If the article you are pricing has a net cost between two net costs listed for that category in Column 2 of your chart, you compute your ceiling price by multiplying the net cost of the article by the average of the percentage markups listed in Column 4 for the next higher net cost and the next lower net cost than the one you are pricing, and by adding the result to the net cost.

Example. You wish to price a woman's dress with a net cost of $7.75 and you have not listed any net cost of $7.75 for Category 1010. The next higher net cost on your chart for Category 1010 is $8.75, and the next lower net cost is $6.75. The percentage markups listed for the last two are 59.4% and 62.2%, respectively. You average the last two (59.4+62.2=121.6÷2=60.8%) and find that 60.8% is the average. The ceiling price for the woman's dress is found by multiplying $7.75 by 60.8% ($7.75×.608=$4.71) and adding the result, $4.71, to $7.75 ($7.75+$4.71=$12.46). The total $12.46 is your ceiling price.

Until July 31, 1951, you may, when pricing under Rule 4 is called for, use Rule 4 as it existed prior to June 18, 1951.

[Section 35 amended by Amdts. 1 and 7]

SEC. 36. Rule 5: Articles belonging to a category comparable to a category listed on your chart. If the article you are pricing does not belong to a category which is listed in column 1 of your chart, look in Appendix C where you will find for each category a list of other categories which are "comparable" to that category. See whether column 1 of your chart contains the first comparable category listed in Appendix C for the category to which the article you are pricing belongs. If it does not contain the first comparable category, see whether you have listed in column 1 the second, then the third, and so on until you find a comparable category which is listed on your chart. Then compute your ceiling price by applying Rules 1, 2, 3, or 4, as if the article you are pricing belonged in that comparable category.

Example. You have not listed category 701 on your chart, but now purchase a bedroom suite at a net cost of $85.00. You look in Appendix C and find that categories 706, 708, 714, 703, and 710 are listed as comparable to category 701. When you look in column 1 of your chart, see whether you have listed any of these categories. You have not listed category 706 on your chart, but you have listed category 708. Rule 5 requires you to figure your ceiling price for this bedroom suite as if it belonged to category 708. You find that you have listed a net cost of $85.00 in column 2 for category 708, and an offering price of $150.00 in column 3 for that net cost. You therefore apply Rule 1 and your ceiling price for the bedroom suite is $150.00.

SEC. 37. Rule 6. Articles belonging to a category where your chart has at least three categories in the same group of categories. If the article you are pricing is not in a category on your chart and you have no comparable category but you do have on your chart at least three categories in the same group [12] of categories, you compute your ceiling price under this rule. (If you cannot price under this rule you determine your price under section 39 which provides for the use of a markup table or in special instances for application for a pricing method.)

(a) Groups of categories. All categories are divided into the following groups:

Group I—Categories 101–607.
Group II—Categories 701–752.
Group III—Categories 801–854.
Group IV—Categories 1001–1030.
Group V—Categories 880–883, 890–891, 905, 915–916, 922–923.
Group VI—Categories 871–876, 878, 884, 892, 894, 906, 908, 919–921, 924, 940, 942, 950, 984–985, 1050–1058, 1062–1064.
Group VII—Categories 860–861, 877, 893, 895, 901–904, 907, 917–918, 941, 943–946, 951, 970–983, 1059–1061, 1070.

(b) Pricing method. (1) List the appropriate categories and category average percentages. If you have at least three categories of the appropriate group [11] on your chart, you list as many of these categories as you have on your chart, setting forth opposite each, your average percentage markup [12] for each category. Note: You may not use this rule for a category in Group II (701–752) if your chart for these categories was prepared pursuant to the alternative method provided in Section 5 of Supplementary Regulation 2 to this regulation.

(2) Compute the "group average" for these categories. You do this by adding together all the average markups for the categories you have listed and dividing this sum by the number of categories which you have listed.

(4) Multiply the net cost of the article you are pricing by this percentage markup. Add the result to the net cost of the article. This final result is your ceiling price for the article you are pricing.

[11] An alternative method for pricing categories 701–752 which permits freight to be reflected is provided in Supplementary Regulation 2 to this regulation.

[12] "Group" as defined for this purpose includes any category which appears in the appropriate series of category numbers excluding categories 105A, 105B, 105C, 105D, 204, 214, 353, and 803D.

[12] Computations under this section are based on markups over cost. If you are on the "retail system," that is, if your chart markups are expressed as percentages of selling prices, you must convert your category markups to markups over cost. You do this by subtracting your average percentage margin on selling price for the category from 100%. You divide the result thus obtained into your percentage margin on selling price. After the percentage margin on selling price for all your categories have been converted to markups on cost you proceed as set forth above.

Example. You wish to price a set of boy's ear muffs on which your net cost is 50 cents. Ear muffs belong to category 123 on the CPR 7 chart. You find, on examining your chart, that neither this category, nor any one of the "comparable" categories is listed on your chart.

Since category 123 belongs to the group of categories numbered from 101–607, inclusive, you look on your chart to find whether you have listed at least three categories in this group. If you do not have at least three such categories listed on your chart (excluding categories 105A, 105B, 105C, 105D, 204, 214 and 353), you cannot use this pricing rule and the ear muffs must be priced under section 39.

Let us assume that actually you have listed on your chart articles belonging to eight categories of this group of numbers. These categories have percentage markups over cost as follows:

102	63	215	62
105	63	217	68
116	65	304	60

You must compute your "group average" for all these categories by adding the average markups for these categories and dividing the result by the number of categories which you have listed above (509÷8). Your "group average" is 63.625%.

You next turn to the table in Appendix D. In the first column to the left you will find a series of category numbers. Follow this column downward until you reach category 123.

Follow this row across the table until you come to the percentage bracket appearing in the top row of the table which includes your "group average"—in this case the bracket designated "over 62 including 65." At this point you will find that the allowable percentage markup for category 123 is 65.7%. This is your percentage markup for this category and for the article you are pricing.

You next multiply the net cost of the article you are pricing by this percentage markup ($.50×.657=$.328). Add this figure to your net cost of the article you are pricing ($.50+.33=$.83). The result, $.83, is your ceiling price for the article you are pricing.

(5) Group averages above table in Appendix D. If, in pricing a category included in Group I (101–607), your group average is over 101 percent; in Group II (701–752) over 127 percent; Group III (801–854) over 101 percent; Group IV (1001–1030) over 109 percent; Group V (880–883, 890–891, 905, 915–916, 922–923) over 72 percent; Group VI (871–876, 878, 884, 892, 894, 906, 908, 919–921, 924, 940, 942, 950, 984–985, 1050–1058, 1062–1064) over 101 percent; and, Group VII (860–861, 877, 893, 895, 901–904, 907, 917–918, 941, 943–946, 951, 970–983, 1059–1061, 1070) over 128 percent, you find your percentage markup over cost by multiplying your group average by the multiplier listed for that category in Appendix F.

[Subparagraph (5) amended by Amdt. 13]

Example. If you are a house to house seller and have a "group average" of 150% for your categories in the group 101 to 607, inclusive, and you now wish to sell handbags (category 218) which you find you must price under this rule, you determine your markup over net cost as follows: refer to the multiplier opposite category 218 in Appendix F. There you will find the figure 1.045. This means that your markup on cost for handbags is 156.8% (150×1.045=156.75).

(c) Articles which cannot be priced under Rule 6. If the article you are pricing is included in categories 204, 214, 353 and 803D; or if your chart for categories 701–752 was prepared pursuant to the alternative method provided in section 5 of Supplementary Regulation 2 to this regulation; or if you do not have three categories in the appropriate group on your chart, you price such article under section 39.

Departments in departmentalized establishments are provided with methods additional to those set forth in pricing rules 1 through 6. These rules which are set forth in section 8 of Supplementary Regulation 1 to this regulation must be used before such a seller resorts to section 39.

[Paragraph (c) amended by Amdt. 13]

SEC. 38. Rule 7: Pricing method for repaired or reconditioned items. If in the course of your business you regularly buy used or imperfect articles (including such articles when received as trade-ins) for the purpose of repairing and reconditioning them and selling them as reconditioned or repaired, and your chart as filed indicates that such articles have been omitted, you may compute a price for such a used or imperfect article which you have repaired or reconditioned in the following manner: (a) add to the net cost of the article the net cost of reconditioning or repairing the article) but not a cost greater than that required to restore the article to a factory standard article of the same type); (b) multiply the total thus obtained by the category average percentage markup for the category including the article you are pricing; and (c) add the result to the total found in (a). If your chart has no markup for that category you use the markup for the category in Appendix E.

[Sec. 38 amended by Amdt. 1]

SEC. 38a. Rule 8: Pricing method for articles acquired before February 27, 1951, and for which seller has no cost record. If the article you are pricing is one which you acquired prior to February 27, 1951, and for which you have no cost record, your ceiling price for that article is the ceiling price as determined under the General Ceiling Price Regulation. This pricing method may not be used for any article acquired after February 27, 1951.

[Section 38a added by Amdt. 6]

SEC. 38b. Alternative pricing methods to avoid having different ceiling prices for units of the same article offered for sale at the same time. When you have in stock units of the same article [13a] for which you would otherwise have different ceiling prices by the application of Rules 1 to 8, you may determine a single ceiling price for all units of the article offered for sale at any one time by using either of the following methods:

(a) First-in, first-out (Fifo). To use the "Fifo" method you proceed as follows:

(1) Determine how many units of the article you have in stock.

(2) Determine, in the following manner, how many units are covered by each of the invoices for that article: If the number of units on hand is less than or equal to the number of units covered by the last (most recent) invoice, all the units on hand are deemed covered by the last invoice; if the number of units on hand is more than the number of units covered by the last invoice, a number of units equivalent to the number of units in the last invoice is deemed covered by the last invoice; the remaining units to the extent that they do not exceed the number in the next-to-the-last invoice are deemed covered by the next-to-the-last invoice; if there are any remaining units, they are deemed covered in the same way by previous invoices, proceeding in order from the more recent to the less recent invoices.

(3) When you have determined how many units of the article in your inventory are covered by the respective invoices you mark all of the units in your inventory at or below the ceiling price based on the earliest invoice until you have sold a quantity equal to the number of units covered by that invoice.

(4) You then mark the balance of the units in your inventory at or below the ceiling price based on your next invoice until you have sold a quantity equal to the number of units on that invoice. You follow the same procedure with each successive invoice in chronological order.

(b) Averaging of ceiling prices. This method permits you to sell all units of the same article in stock at the same time at a ceiling price which is the same for all articles in stock.

(1) First use of averaging. You find this ceiling price as follows:

(i) Determine how many units of the article you have in stock.

(ii) Determine, in the following manner, how many units are covered by each of the invoices for that article: If the number of units on hand is less than or equal to the number of units covered by the last (most recent) invoice, all the units on hand are deemed covered by the last invoice; if the number of units on hand is more than the number of units covered by the last invoice, a number of units equivalent to the number of units in the last invoice is deemed covered by the last invoice; the remaining units to the extent that they do not exceed the number in the next-to-the-last invoice are deemed covered by the next-to-the-last invoice; if there are any remaining units, they are deemed covered in the same way by previous invoices, proceeding in order from the more recent to the less recent invoices.

(iii) Multiply the number of units covered by each invoice by the ceiling price based on that invoice.

(iv) Add the amounts found in step (iii) and divide the sum by the total number of units in stock. The resulting amount is your new ceiling price.

(2) Continued use of averaging. Whenever you receive additional units of the article, you determine a new ceiling price as follows:

[13a] "Same article," as used in this section, is defined in paragraph (c).

(i) Multiply the number of units already in stock by their ceiling price as previously determined.

(ii) Multiply the number of units on the new invoice by the ceiling price based on that invoice.

(iii) Add the results of (i) and (ii) and divide the sum by the total of the units in (i) and (ii). The resulting amount is your new ceiling price.

Example. You have in stock 50 units of an article with a ceiling price of $5.00 each and you receive 75 additional units of the same article with a ceiling price of $4.75 each. You multiply $5.00 by 50 (total $250.00) and $4.75 by 75 (total $356.25). You add the dollar-and-cents amount ($250.00+$356.25=$606.25). You also add the number of units (50+75=125). You divide the dollar-and-cents sum ($606.25) by the number of units (125) to find your new ceiling price ($4.85).

Now assume that you have sold 35 of your 125 units when you receive an additional 60 units of the same article with a ceiling price of $4.95 each. You multiply $4.85 by 90, the number of units in stock (total $436.50) and $4.95 by 60 (total $297.00). You divide the dollar-and-cents sum ($436.50+$297.00=$733.50) by the unit sum (90+60=150) to find your new ceiling price ($4.89).

(3) Changing methods. After establishing your ceiling prices by this method, you may continue to use it each time you receive additional units of the article or you may segregate the additional units, treat the number of units for which ceiling prices have already been determined under this paragraph as if they were covered by one invoice on the basis of which the ceiling price would be the last average ceiling price, and use either the "Fifo" method or the other methods of pricing provided in this regulation.

(c) When two articles are the same article under this section. Two articles are the same article (for the purposes of this section) if they meet all six of the following tests:

(1) They serve the same purpose.

(2) They are made of the same basic materials of equivalent quality and construction.

(3) They consume substantially the same quantities of these basic materials for the same size.

(4) They have the same grade, quality, and type of construction.

(5) They are interchangeable in trade and consumer acceptance.

(6) Retailers of the same class, handling both articles at the same time, in actual practice would customarily have sold both at the same price under the same conditions.

(d) Record-keeping. Whenever you use the method of paragraph (a) or (b) of this section, you must record the method used, a reference to the invoices covering the units of the article in stock when you begin to use it, and the number of units covered by each invoice together with the ceiling price based on that invoice. When you receive additional units, you must record the number of each new invoice, the number of units of the article covered by the new invoice, and the ceiling price based on that new invoice. If you use the method of paragraph (b) of this section, you must also keep a record of your computations, showing clearly how you figured your ceiling prices.

[Section 38b added by Amdt. 18]

SEC. 39. Ceiling prices for new sellers or for sellers who cannot price under other sections of the regulation. You determine your ceiling prices under sections 39a–39g [13b] if you are a new seller; or if you are unable to establish your ceiling prices pursuant to sections 30–38a; or if you elected to remain under the General Ceiling Price Regulation and thereafter you take on articles in a CPR 7 category and prior to taking on such articles you did not handle any articles in that category pursuant to the General Ceiling Price Regulation.

If you are a chain which prices centrally and uniformly and you are adding a new unit, you use section 39a. If you are a chain which does not price centrally and uniformly and you are adding a new unit, you use section 39b. If you are a seller with a single unit for which you have filed a chart and you wish to add another unit for which you will determine prices centrally and uniformly with your existing unit, you follow section 39c. If you are a seller who had previous experience in handling articles covered by CPR 7 at markups higher than those in Appendix E or related articles at prices which for those articles are higher than those received by the average seller and you wish to open a unit or to add a category handling CPR 7 articles at markups higher than Appendix E, you follow section 39d. In all other instances a seller uses section 39e.

All applications, notifications, and reports required by section 39a through 39g must be signed by the applicant or a duly authorized officer or agent.

[Section 39 amended by Amdts. 3, 6, 9 and 12]

SEC. 39a. Adding a unit to a chain which prices centrally and uniformly. A chain or group of stores which constitutes a single seller under section 3 (b) (3), or which has become a chain pursuant to section 39c or pursuant to section 7 of Supplementary Regulation 1 to this regulation, may include in the chain or group any new unit opened by it and may determine prices for sales from that unit pursuant to the chart filed for the chain or group if prior to opening the unit the chain or group sends a notification containing the information described below to its OPS office and receives an acknowledgment thereof from the OPS.

(a) Notification. The notification must include the following information:

(1) The name of the chain or group and the address of its principal office;

(2) The name and address of the new unit;

(3) The date of opening the new unit; and

(4) A statement:

(i) That central and uniform pricing with other members of the chain or group is to be maintained in the new unit;

(ii) That the new unit will be the same type of operation; will extend the same services; provide the same class of merchandise; and cater to the same class of purchaser, as the units comprising the chain or group immediately prior to January 26, 1951 (or the units comprising the chain created pursuant to section 39c or any unit in the chain created pursuant to section 7 of Supplementary Regulation 1).

(b) Authorization. The OPS will acknowledge a notification containing the information set forth in paragraph (a) of this section. Two copies of the acknowledgment of notification will be sent to the applicant, one to be retained in the principal office of the chain and the other to be kept in the new unit for inspection by the OPS.

[Section 39a added by Amdt. 12]

SEC. 39b. Adding a new unit to a chain which does not price centrally and uniformly. A chain which does not constitute a single seller under section 3(b) (3) (i. e., a chain which does not price centrally and uniformly), and which is opening a new unit may file an application to use the chart of another unit in the chain to determine ceiling prices for sales from that new unit.

(a) Application. The application must be filed with the District Office having jurisdiction over the area in which the unit to be opened will be located and must include:

(1) The name and address of the principal office of the chain;

(2) The name and address of the new unit and date of opening;

(3) A list of the categories proposed to be handled in the new unit;

(4) A statement of the type of supplier from whom merchandise is to be purchased (e. g., wholesalers, distributors, jobbers, manufacturers, etc.);

(5) The name and address of the unit the chart of which is sought to be used and the address of the OPS District Office with which that chart was filed;

(6) The names and addresses of the three (3) closest competitors (if three are available);

(7) Information showing that the unit to be opened and the unit the chart of which is sought to be used will:

(i) Be the same type of operation;

(ii) Extend the same services and provide the same class of merchandise;

(iii) Cater to the same class of purchasers; and

(iv) Be located in similar trading areas and in comparable locations within those trading areas.

(b) Authorization. (1) The OPS may, by order, authorize the use of a chart already filed for another unit of the chain if the new unit and the one whose chart is sought to be used meet the requirements of paragraph (a) (7) above.

[13b] Any seller who prior to December 31, 1951, filed a report or application pursuant to section 39 may apply or report in accordance with sections 39a through 39d inclusive and must add to any report or application otherwise required by these sections a notation that it intends its prior application, report or order to be superseded under whichever one of these sections it applies or reports.

[Footnote 13b amended by Amdt. 22]

(2) If the new unit and the one whose chart is sought to be used do not meet the requirements of paragraph (a) (7) above, the OPS may, by order, authorize the use of the chart of the unit named under paragraph (a) (5) or of another unit of the chain if the chart results in markups in line with or lower than those of the closest competitors, (three (3), if available).

(3) If the new unit is to carry categories not on the chart sought to be used, or if any categories on the chart sought to be used under sub-paragraph (2) of this paragraph have markups in excess of those of competitors, then for such categories the OPS may authorize the use of the chart, if any, for that particular category of some other unit in the chain which would result in markups in line with or lower than those of competitors. The OPS in such case will give you an opportunity to produce such a chart for the particular categories, indicating the acceptable category average for each. Thereafter, if no chart for the particular category is produced, the OPS will authorize the use of a markup for the category in line with those of the competitors.

[Section 39b added by Amdt. 12]

SEC. 39c. A seller with a single unit who wishes to open another unit and to establish prices for the new unit centrally and uniformly. A seller who has a single unit and wishes to open a new unit and to establish prices for that new unit centrally and uniformly with the unit for which he has filed a chart may do so if prior to opening the new unit he sends a notification containing the information described below to his OPS office and receives an acknowledgment thereof from OPS.

(a) Notification. The notification must include the following information:

(1) His name and address and the name and address of the unit for which he has already filed a chart;

(2) The name and address of the unit to be opened;

(3) The proposed date of opening; and

(4) A statement:

(i) That central and uniform pricing is to be maintained in the two units;

(ii) That the new unit will be the same type of operation, will extend the same services, provide the same class of merchandise, and cater to the same class of purchaser as the existing unit.

(b) Authorization. The OPS may authorize a seller with one unit to become a chain, centrally and uniformly pricing, if the notification includes the information set forth in paragraph (a) of this section. Two copies of the acknowledgment of notification will be sent to the applicant, one to be retained in the principal office of the chain and the other to be kept in the new unit for inspection by the OPS.

[Section 39c added by Amdt. 12]

SEC. 39d. A seller who has previous experience and wishes to open a new unit or to add a category. If you are a seller not covered by sections 39a, 39b or 39c, who has the experience qualifications described in paragraph (a) below, you may use this section when opening a new unit or when adding a category which you are unable to price under prior sections of this regulation. If you are adding a category or opening a new unit under this section, you apply for authorization to use category markups in line with or lower than those of sellers carrying on business most nearly like that in which you propose to use the markups (i. e., with your closest competitors).

(a) Eligibility. You may apply for authorization under this section if:

(1) You already own one or more establishments selling articles covered by Ceiling Price Regulation 7 which have ceiling prices higher than those yielded by markups in Appendix E; or

(2) You already own one or more establishments selling articles related to those covered by Ceiling Price Regulation 7 which have ceiling prices which for such articles are higher than the average ceiling prices received by sellers of the articles in the trading area; or

(3) You (if you are an individually owned establishment) or any of the principal stockholders or partners actually engaged in the business or the manager of the business had previous merchandising experience as owner, officer, principal, or employee in an executive or managerial capacity in a business handling articles covered by CPR 7 at prices higher than those yielded by Appendix E markups (or if handling related articles not covered by CPR 7, at prices which for such articles are higher than average). For the purpose of this sub-paragraph, experience for more than a year as a route salesman or door-to-door salesman shall be considered the equivalent of managerial experience in processing applications to establish markups for that type of seller.

[Subparagraph (3) amended by Amdt. 22]

(b) Application to establish a new unit. If you are opening a new unit pursuant to this section, your application must be filed with the District Office having jurisdiction over the area in which the unit to be opened will be located and must include:

(1) The name and address of the applicant and proposed name and address of the establishment; the names and addresses of all owners, stockholders, and officers of the business establishment. (Stockholders holding less than 10 percent of the total number of shares of corporations need not be listed.)

(2) Evidence to establish eligibility under paragraph (a) above. If the claim of eligibility is made under paragraph (a) (3), the statement must include the names of persons upon whose past experience the claim for eligibility rests and evidence of such qualifying experience, including the name and address of the store (or stores) in which the experience was gained (if that store is no longer in existence, the name and address of the store which was its closest competitor); and the dates of the periods in which such experience was acquired.

(3) The date or proposed date of opening of the new unit.

(4) A list of categories (identified by the appropriate Appendix B category number) intended to be handled, indicating as to each the category markup requested.

(5) The type of unit the applicant intends to operate (for example, dry goods, furniture, men's furnishings, specialty shop, department store, etc.).

(6) Customer services which will be offered (installment selling, charge accounts, free delivery service, free alterations, etc.).

(7) If applicant is a leased department, the name and address of the prior lessee; if the department was operated by the lessor this should be stated.

(8) The names and addresses of the three (3) closest competitors.

(9) A statement of the types of suppliers from whom merchandise is to be purchased (e.g., wholesalers, distributors, jobbers, manufacturers, etc.).

(c) Application to add a new category. If pursuant to this section, you are adding a category which you are unable to price under prior sections of the regulation, your application must be filed with your OPS Office and must include:

(1) Your name and address and the name and address of the unit to which the category is to be added;

(2) The category number and description of the category to be added and the markup requested;

(3) A statement that the category cannot be priced pursuant to the prior sections of the regulation; and

(4) The names and addresses of the three (3) closest competitors handling the category.

[Paragraph (c) amended by Amdt. 19]

(d) Authorization. Upon application made pursuant to paragraph (b) or (c) the OPS may, by order, authorize you to use markups for each category in line with (or, if requested, lower than) those of three (3) competitors (if three are available) not exceeding your own past experience as established under paragraph (b) (2) or (c) above.

(e) Reports of changes in ownership. Any seller who has received an order authorizing him to establish prices under this section must report to the District Office which granted the order any change in ownership or management occurring subsequent to the filing of the application involving persons named in the application under paragraph (b). However, if the seller is a corporation, only transfers of more than 10 percent of corporate stock to any individual need be reported. The report should include the name of any new owner, partner or principal stockholder or managing officer actually engaged in the business and, of that person replacing the person or persons upon whose experience eligibility was established under paragraph (b) (2) above, a statement of the previous business connections with respect to CPR 7 articles or related commodities which would qualify him.

[Section 39d added by Amdt. 12]

SEC. 39e. When to use Appendix E markups. If you cannot determine your ceiling prices under any previous section of this regulation or under section 39f or section 39g, you use Appendix E markups.

(a) Pricing method. You find your ceiling price for all articles which must be priced under this section as follows by using the table in Appendix E. On the left side is listed a column of category numbers; opposite each category number is a percentage markup. Find the percentage markup for the category to which the article you are pricing belongs. Multiply the net cost of the article you are pricing by this percentage markup. Add the result so obtained to the net cost of the article. The amount so arrived at is your ceiling price for the article you are pricing.

(b) Reports. You may not sell or deliver any article which you are required to price under this section until you have filed whichever of the following reports is applicable with your OPS office:

(1) You must file a statement that you have filed a list date pricing chart (if that is a fact) and a list of the categories you intend to price under paragraph (a) of this section; or

(2) If you have not filed a list date pricing chart, you must file a statement containing the following information:

(i) Your name and address or your proposed name and address and the names and addresses of all owners, stockholders, or officers of the business establishment. (Owners holding less than 10 percent of the total number of shares of corporations preparing this statement need not be listed.)

(ii) The date or the proposed date of the organization of the business establishment.

(iii) A list of the categories which you intend to price under this section.

(iv) The type of store you operate or intend to operate (dry goods, furniture, men's furnishings, specialty shop, etc.).

(v) Customer services which you offer or intend to offer (installment selling, charge accounts, free deliveries, etc.).

(vi) If you are a leased department, the name and address of the prior lessee; if the department was previously operated by the lessor, this should be stated.

[Paragraph (b) amended by Amdt. 22]

(c) Reduction of Appendix E markups. If you use Appendix E markups, the OPS may, by order, reduce your markups to bring your markups into line with markups for sellers of the same class.

[Section 39e added by Amdt. 12]

SEC. 39f. Applications by certain sellers: to sell exclusively in sets (groups of articles) to which services have been added—(1) Eligibility. If prior to your list date, you have been engaged in the business of assembling, packaging, and selling sets (groups of articles) to which you have added services the cost of which is more than 10 percent of the total of the net costs of the constituent articles of the assembled sets, you may apply to your OPS office for a pricing method for the sale of your assembled sets. You must file two (2) copies of an application containing the following information:

(i) Your name and address;

(ii) Date when you entered business:

(iii) Description of manner in which you conduct your business (indicating whether you are a department store, a leased department, a specialty store, or other; cash, installment or other terms; and class of merchandise you handle);

(iv) A list of all sets offered by you for sale on the list date, enumerating for each the articles included in each set, the cost of each set, the cost of each article, the cost of services added by you on each set, and the selling price of each set on the list date; and

(v) Substantiating evidence such as advertisements, catalogs, or prospectuses to show that you sold or offered for sale the sets (listed under (iv)) on the list date.

(2) Authorization. Upon application made pursuant to subparagraph (2), the OPS may, by order, permit you to add to the total of the net costs of the constituent articles the cost of the services you provide (packaging, monogramming, etc.) and a markup in line with the level of prices established by this regulation.

[Section 39f amended by Admt. 8; redesignated by Amdt. 12]

SEC. 39g. Applications by sellers who repair or recondition. If you do not have a list date pricing chart and you are in or propose to enter the business of regularly buying (or taking in as trade-ins) used or imperfect articles for the purpose of reconditioning them and selling them as reconditioned or repaired, you may apply to your OPS office for a pricing method which will reflect your costs of repairing or reconditioning the articles which you sell. In such a case the OPS may, by order, permit you to add to the ceiling price established under this regulation the actual net cost of reconditioning or repairing the articles which you sell. In no case shall the cost of reconditioning or repairing include a cost greater than that required to restore the article to a factory standard article of the same type.

[Section 39g redesignated by Amdt. 12]

Article IV—Ceiling Prices in Special Cases

SEC. 40. "Up stream" and "cross stream" sales and sales of "cross stream" articles to ultimate consumers. If your sales to persons other than ultimate consumers constitute less than 10% of your total sales of articles covered by this regulation you are governed by this regulation as to those sales and your ceiling prices for those sales are computed under this section.

(a) Ceiling prices for "up stream" sales. Your ceiling price for a sale of any article covered by this regulation to any person other than an individual ultimate consumer, another retailer, or an industrial, commercial, or institutional user, is the net cost of that article to you.

(b) Ceiling prices for "cross stream" sales. (1) Your ceiling price for a sale to another retailer of any article covered by this regulation shall be the sum of the following items:

(i) the net cost of the article to you (which, as defined in Section 31 excludes any freight, OPS adjustment charge or handling charge);

(ii) the incoming freight allocable to that article which you have paid in addition to the net cost;

(iii) the OPS adjustment charge, if any, shown on the invoice received by you;

(iv) the handling charge, if any, which you customarily made when selling articles covered by this regulation to another retailer immediately prior to January 26, 1951. In no event, however, may your handling charge exceed 10 percent of the net cost of the article to you.

You must give to the buyer an invoice which must state separately each item making up your costs as itemized in this subparagraph (1) and, in addition, must contain the following notice:

NOTICE

You must compute the price for resale of the above articles pursuant to section 40 (c) of Ceiling Price Regulation 7.

(2) If you customarily made sales of commodities covered by this regulation to other retailers immediately prior to January 26, 1951, on which you figured your price by granting a specific discount from your retail price, you may continue to make such sales (excepting sales of articles purchased by you from other retailers). On such sales you must furnish the buyer with an invoice, which, in addition to showing your retail price as established by this regulation and the discount you granted, must contain the following notice:

NOTICE OF CEILING PRICE

Under Section 40 of Ceiling Price Regulation 7 you may not sell the above articles to consumers at prices higher than our retail ceiling shown on this invoice.

(c) Ceiling prices for sales to ultimate consumers of articles purchased from other retailers. (1) If you purchase articles covered by this regulation from another retailer and pay the seller his costs permitted to him under paragraph (b) (1), you must determine your ceiling price for sales of these articles to ultimate consumers in accordance with the pricing rules of this regulation taking your net cost from your supplier's invoice and excluding all freight, OPS adjustment charge and handling charges.

(2) If you purchase articles covered by this regulation and pay the seller his retail price less a specified discount, you must use as your ceiling price for sales of those articles to ultimate consumers the seller's retail price as stated on his invoice to you.

(d) Articles acquired by transfer from another seller in the same selling establishment. If one department or part of the same legal entity acquired an article by a transfer from another part of the same legal entity, the transferee pricing such an article must use as his net cost the net cost determined from the invoice received by the transferor.

The document covering the transfer must show the original invoice cost and must be preserved for inspection by the OPS.

SEC. 41. Additional and alternative methods provided in supplementary regulations. Methods of preparing pricing charts and methods of determining ceiling prices additional or alternative to those specified in this regulation are provided in supplementary regulations as follows:

(a) Special pricing methods for certain chain stores, mail order establishments, departmentalized establishments, and consignor and consignee-outlets are set forth in Supplementary Regulation 1.

(b) Alternative and special methods for preparing list date charts and pricing in certain cases are set forth in Supplementary Regulation 2.

(c) Supplementary Regulation 3 provides the method for establishment of ceiling prices by wholesalers and retailers for certain home canning supplies.

(d) Supplementary Regulation 4 provides a method for the establishment by manufacturers and wholesalers of uniform dollar-and-cent ceiling prices for retail or wholesale and retail sales of certain branded articles.

(e) A method for deleting "unrepresentative" category charts is set forth in Supplementary Regulation 6.

[Section 41 amended by Amdts. 17 and 20]

SEC. 42. Transfers of business—(a) How a transferee fixes his ceiling prices. This section applies to you if:

(1) After the list date, you purchase or otherwise acquire a substantial part of the business, assets, or stock in trade of any business which sells or sold any articles covered by this regulation at retail; and

(2) You carry on the business or continue to sell at retail articles in any category covered by this regulation and sold by your transferor before the transfer; and

(3) You carry on the business or continue to sell in a store separate from any other store previously owned or operated by you for the sale of such articles at retail. If this section applies to you, your ceiling prices are the same as those which your transferor would have had if the transfer had not taken place (except as provided in paragraph (c) of this section). Your obligation to keep records sufficient to verify such prices shall be the same as if the transfer had not taken place. The transferor must either preserve and make available to you or turn over to you all records of transactions before the transfer which you need to comply with this regulation.

(b) Filing charts. If your transferor has not already filed a chart, you must prepare a chart based on his experience on the list date, using the list date which he would have used if no transfer had occurred. If your transferor has filed a chart, you must file a statement showing your business name and address and the date of the transfer. (You must attach a copy of this statement to the chart in your possession.) If the transferor's records are not available to you, you must fix your ceiling prices under section 39.

(c) Mergers and combinations. If, after the list date, two or more sellers merge, consolidate, or combine and continue operations as one seller, the seller who continues to operate shall fix his ceiling prices under this regulation on the same basis as that which the seller who had the largest dollar volume of sales of articles covered by this regulation during the 12 months immediately preceding the merger or combination would have had to follow.

SEC. 43. Uniform dollar-and-cents ceiling prices for certain articles. A special method of establishing uniform dollar-and-cents ceiling prices for certain branded articles is provided in Supplementary Regulation 4 to this regulation. After March 26, 1952, the provisions of this section 43 as they existed prior to that date shall remain in effect only to the limited extent provided in Supplementary Regulation 4, except that applications for orders filed before December 17, 1951 may be granted until April 1, 1952.

[Section 43 amended by Amdts. 4, 11 and 16]

Article V—General Provisions

SEC. 50. How to treat taxes. The ceiling prices determined under the pricing rules in this regulation are your ceiling prices exclusive of tax. If a tax on a particular sale or delivery such as a sales tax or a compensating use tax is imposed and the tax law permits the tax to be separately stated, you may charge or collect the tax on the sale or delivery of the article in addition to the ceiling price fixed under the pricing rules.

[Section 50 amended by Amdt. 6]

SEC. 51. Marking, tagging or posting. On and after July 1, 1951, you may not offer or sell any article covered by this regulation unless it is marked or tagged with the selling price in a manner plainly visible to, and understandable by, the purchasing public. If, however, you become subject to the regulation after June 30, 1951, as to particular categories, you may not offer or sell any article in those categories after the last date for filing your chart, unless it is marked or tagged in accordance with this section.

(a) Marking. You may mark the selling price on the shelf, bin, rack, or other holder or container upon or in which the article is kept provided all the articles kept on, or in the shelf, bin, rack, holder or container have the same selling price.

(b) Tagging. If you do not wish to mark the prices as described in (a) you must mark the selling price on each article itself by writing the price directly on the article or by attaching to the article a tag or ticket stating the selling price.

(c) Posting. On and after July 1, 1951, you may not offer or sell any article covered by this regulation unless you post in a prominent and clearly visible position in your store, a sign stating the following:

NOTICE

The prices of merchandise in this store are no higher than the OPS ceiling prices of the articles.

(d) Rule for mail order establishments. Mail order establishments must mark their ceiling prices for articles listed in printed price lists which have been printed after the list date in either of the following ways:

(1) State the ceiling price for each article covered by this regulation and listed in the price list, at the place in the publication where the article is listed.

(2) Print on the front cover of each printed price list (or on the front page of any list that has no cover) the following statement:

NOTICE

No price for any article listed or described herein exceeds the ceiling price for that article, as determined under the applicable OPS ceiling price regulation.

SEC. 52. Records. The records required by this section must be kept for as long as the Defense Production Act of 1950 remains in effect and for two years thereafter. All such records must be kept at your store, except in the case of certain chain stores for which special record keeping requirements are provided in Supplementary Regulation 1 to this regulation.

(a) List date records. You must preserve for inspection by the OPS:

(1) All records which you were required to prepare and preserve pursuant to section 16 (a) (1) and (4) of the General Ceiling Price Regulation [14] relating to articles covered by this regulation;

(2) All records relating to articles covered by this regulation which you were required to prepare and keep pursuant to section 16 (b) of the General Ceiling Price Regulation [14] from January 26, 1951, to the date you begin pricing under this regulation, not later than the date you are required to begin using the pricing rules under section 5 (a) of this regulation;

[Subparagraph (2) amended by Amdts. 1, 4 and 8]

(3) The last invoice which you received before the list date for each kind, style, model, or lot number of the articles offered for sale by you on the list date, and all other invoices which you used in preparing your list date chart; and

(4) All other records and data, such as sales slips, inventory records or work sheets, used by you in preparing your

"Sec. 16. Records. This section tells you what records you must preserve and what additional records you must prepare.

"(a) Base period records.

"(1) You must preserve and keep available for examination by the Director of Price Stabilization those records in your possession showing the prices charged by you for the commodities or services which you delivered or offered to deliver during the base period, and also sufficient records to establish the latest net cost incurred by you prior to the end of the base period in purchasing the commodities (if you are a wholesaler or retailer). • • •

"(4) You must also prepare and preserve a statement of your customary price differentials for terms and conditions of sale and classes of purchasers, which you had in effect during the base period."

[15] The pertinent section follows: "(b) Current records. If you sell commodities or services covered by this regulation you must prepare and keep available for examination by the Director of Price Stabilization for a period of two years, records of the kind which you customarily keep showing the prices which you charge for the commodities or services. In addition, you must prepare and preserve records indicating clearly, the basis upon which you have determined the ceiling price for any commodities or services not delivered by you or offered for delivery during the base period. If you are a retailer you are required to preserve your purchase invoices and to record thereon both your initial selling price and the section of this regulation under which you have determined your ceiling price."

chart or showing your costs and offering prices on the list date.

(b) Current records—(1) Obtaining and preserving invoices. On and after the effective date of the regulation or any amendment applicable to you, you must obtain a purchase invoice (or some other record of cost) and preserve the purchase invoices (or other cost record) which you received for all articles covered by this regulation. You must keep these invoices according to some recognized filing system, such as alphabetical, numerical, or chronological order. Upon request of any authorized agent of the OPS, you must let him examine your purchase invoices for any articles covered by this regulation.

[Subparagraph (1) amended by Amdt. 8]

(2) "Retailing" invoices. Before selling or offering for sale any article covered by this regulation which is delivered to you on or after the effective date of the regulation or any amendment applicable to you, you must "retail" the invoice, that is, you must mark your first selling price for each article on the invoice covering your purchase of the article, and the number of the section or the pricing rules under this regulation, or the special order or other order under which you figured your ceiling price for the article. The pricing rule and method may be stated merely as "Rule 1" or "Rule 3" or "Rule 6."

If the invoice does not state the quantity of each article, style, model or lot number which it covers, you must also enter the quantity on each invoice.

[Subparagraph (2) amended by Amdt. 8]

(3) Preserving sales slips. If you customarily prepared your sales slips in more than one copy, you must preserve for at least six months after delivery a duplicate copy of each sales slip delivered by you pursuant to section 54.

(4) Listing items in General Category not enumerated in category or on chart. If you fix ceiling prices for articles in a "general" category (as described in Appendix B) not specifically listed in that category and not offered for sale by you on the list date, you must prepare and preserve with your chart a list of such articles designating as to each the general category in which you placed the item.

SEC. 53. Records and reports of initial markups or gross margins—(a) Records and reports of initial percentage markups—(1) Records.

(i) Base period records of initial percentage markups. If you use the so-called "retail method" of accounting, or if you have other records from which the following information can be readily computed, you must preserve for inspection the data showing for each of the smallest subdivisions of your business (such as department, subdepartment, or store) for which you have such records:

(a) Your initial percentage markup on total purchases (not including opening inventory) for the calendar quarter beginning July 1, 1949 (or if your fiscal quarters begin on some other date, the fiscal quarter beginning nearest to July 1, 1949); and

(b) The corresponding initial percentage markup for each of the subsequent three calendar or fiscal quarters.

[Subdivision (ii) deleted by Amdt. 15]

(2) Reports.

(i) Base period reports of initial percentage markups. If you have the records required by paragraph (a) (1) (i) above you must prepare two copies of a report labelled "Initial Percentage Markups Report," listing your name and address and the initial percentage markup for each subdivision of your business for which you have such records for the periods described in paragraph (a) (1) (i). You must file one copy of this report with your list date chart and keep the other available for inspection by the OPS.[16]

[Subdivision (ii) deleted by Amdt. 15]

(b) Records and reports of gross margin—(1) Records—(i) Base period records of gross margin. If you do not keep the records described in paragraph (a) (1) (i) above and your annual dollar volume of articles covered by this regulation exceeds $50,000.00 for the calendar year 1949 or your fiscal year beginning nearest to June 1, 1949, you must preserve for inspection the data showing for each of the smallest subdivisions of your business (such as department, subdepartment or store) for which you have such records, as follows:

(a) Your quarterly percentage of gross margin for the calendar quarter beginning July 1, 1949 (or if your fiscal quarter begins on some other date, the fiscal quarter beginning nearest to July 1, 1949).

(b) The corresponding percent of gross margin for each of the subsequent three calendar or fiscal quarters.

(c) If you do not have monthly or quarterly records of gross margin your percentage of gross margin for the calendar year 1949 or your fiscal year beginning nearest to June 1, 1949.

"Gross margin" as used in this regulation is found as follows:

Step 1. Add the invoice cost of your beginning inventory for the reporting period and the invoice cost of your total purchases for the reporting period.

Step 2. Subtract the cost of your ending inventory from the total found in Step 1. The result is cost of goods sold.

Step 3. Subtract the cost of goods sold found in Step 2 from your total sales. The result is your dollar gross margin.

Step 4. Divide the dollar gross margin by your total sales. This is your percentage gross margin on sales.

Example: Period—January 1, 1949–December 31, 1949.

Step 1:
Beginning inventory	$100,000
Total purchases	250,000
Total	350,000
Step 2:
Ending inventory	−90,000
Cost of goods sold	260,000
Step 3:
Total sales	395,000
Cost of goods sold	−260,000
Gross dollar margin	135,000

Step 4: 135,000 ÷ 395,000 = 34.2% = Percentage gross margin on sales.

[Subdivision (ii) deleted by Amdt. 15]

[16] This report may be filed on OPS Public Form No. 3, available at OPS district or regional Offices.

[Footnote 16 amended by Amdt. 22]

(2) Reports—(i) Base period reports of gross margin. If you are covered by paragraph (b) (1) (i) above you must prepare two copies of a report labelled "Gross Margin Report," listing your name and address and the gross margin percentages for each of the subdivisions of your business for which you have such records for the periods described in that paragraph. You must file one copy of this report with your list date chart and keep the other available for inspection by the OPS.[17]

[Subparagraph (2) amended by Amdt. 1; Subdivision (ii) deleted by Amdt. 15]

SEC. 54. Sales slips. If you customarily gave your customers a sales slip, receipt, or similar evidence of purchase you must continue to do so. Upon request from a customer, regardless of previous custom, you shall give the purchaser a receipt showing the date, your name and address, a description of each article sold and the price received for it.

SEC. 55. What acts are prohibited by this regulation. On and after February 27, 1951, regardless of any contract or other obligation, the following practices are forbidden:

(a) Charging more than ceiling prices. You are prohibited from selling or delivering any article at a price higher than the ceiling price permitted by this regulation. A lower price may, of course, be charged.

(b) Buying for more than ceiling price. You are prohibited from buying or receiving, in the course of trade or business, any article sold in violation of any of the provisions of this regulation.

(c) Changing customary terms of sale. You are prohibited from changing your customary terms, discounts, allowances, or price differentials on sales of articles, if the change results in a higher net price. This includes differentials allowed to cash purchasers by sellers who customarily extend credit.

(d) Combination sales. You are prohibited from requiring any purchaser to buy or agree to buy any other article, service, package, or wrapper in connection with the sale or delivery of any article covered by this regulation. Every person is likewise prohibited from making a sale of articles which is conditioned directly or indirectly on the purchase of any other commodity or service. (Sets of articles, however, if designed for sale at a unit price, and so purchased by you, may be sold at a unit price; matched groupings of furniture articles (covered by categories 701–752) may also be sold at a unit price as suites or sets, if all the articles in the groupings were produced by the same manufacturer; and sets priced pursuant to section 39 (c) may be sold at a unit price.)

(e) Indirect price increases. You are prohibited from doing any other act which directly or indirectly increases, above the ceiling price, the consideration paid for any article or delivery of any article, or, for the purposes of evading the price limitations set forth in this regulation, to purchase, deliver, contract, deal or otherwise operate with or through any other person under common control with, controlled by, controlling or otherwise affiliated with you. You shall not do any other act which directly or indirectly increases the consideration paid for any article. Any practice which is a device to secure the effect of a higher-than-ceiling price is as much a violation as an outright sale above the ceiling price.

(f) Attempts to violate. Every person is prohibited from agreeing, offering, soliciting, or attempting to do any of the acts prohibited by this regulation.

(g) Changing delivery practices. It shall not be deemed a violation of this section for a retailer to discontinue a practice of delivering parcels which are sufficiently small and light in weight to be carried in hand from the store by the purchaser.

[Paragraph (g) added by Amdt. 21]

SEC. 56. Enforcement. Any person who violates any provision of this regulation is subject to the criminal penalties, civil enforcement actions and suits for damages, provided by the Defense Production Act of 1950.

SEC. 57. Petitions to amend this regulation. Any person may file a petition for an amendment of general applicability to any provision of this regulation in accordance with the provisions of Price Procedural Regulation No. 1.

SEC. 58. Supplementary regulations modifying this regulation. The provisions of this regulation, as applied to certain commodities or persons subject to this regulation, may be modified by Supplementary Regulations issued under this section.

SEC. 59. Definitions:

"Accommodation sale" means a sale made entirely without profit, solely for the benefit or convenience of the purchaser. For example, a sale by an employer to his employees, or by a school to its students—and not for the purpose of promoting trade is an accommodation sale. It does not include sales by cooperative, nonprofit, or other organizations which make sales initially above cost, but later give refunds, bonuses, dividends, or other allowances to purchasers.

"Buy and sell in substantially the same form." An article is bought and sold in substantially the same form if the article which you sell belongs to the same category as the article you bought and, except as provided in section 38 and section 39 (d) (pricing of repaired or reconditioned articles) if, before offering it for sale you have not added to the article you sell, materials which cost you more than 10 percent of the net cost (as defined in section 31) of the original article.

"Consignor" means a person subject to this regulation who sells articles to ultimate consumers through outlets the ownership of which is not in the same legal entity as his own and who retains title to such articles until the articles are sold to ultimate consumers. The words "consignment," "sale on consignment," "purchase on consignment," "consignment outlet" and "consignee" shall be construed accordingly.

APPENDIX B

What Commodities Are Covered by This Regulation

This appendix describes the articles covered by this regulation. These articles are grouped into "categories," each of which is given a number in this appendix. Paragraph (A) lists some categories of apparel and apparel accessories. Paragraph (B) lists the categories of piece goods and certain household textile commodities covered. Paragraph (C) lists the categories of certain consumer durable goods covered. Paragraph (D) lists women's, misses', teens', girls' and toddlers' apparel.

Each category is intended to be a "general" category unless designated as "specific" category. A "specific" category is one which includes only the articles that are specifically listed for that category. A "general" category is one which includes not only the articles that are specifically listed for that category but also all other related articles that fall within the general category description and are not listed in any other category in this appendix. In making your chart you must include in a "general" category all the articles listed in that category; you must include in addition all other related articles that fall within the general description and are not listed in any other category.

If you buy together at a unit price two or more articles (unless the combination is listed in a particular category) place the combination in the category of the article which bears the greatest percentage of the cost price of the combination.

[*] You establish a price for a straw hat (Category 123A) by pricing it as if it belonged to Category 123. After you have found the price under the appropriate pricing rule as if the straw hat belonged to Category 123, you may add 8% of that selling price to the selling price and the result is your ceiling price for the straw hat.

Example: If you are pricing a straw hat, Category 123A, having a net cost of $3.00, you look at your chart for Category 123. Assume there is a net cost of $3.00 and an offering price of $5.00 on your chart for Category 123. Your ceiling price for the straw hat will be $5.00 plus 8% of $5.00 (5.00+ .40). Thus the ceiling price will be $5.40.

CPR 9—TERRITORIES AND POSSESSIONS

SR 2—CEILING PRICES FOR MANUFACTURERS MAKING SALES SUBJECT TO CPR 9

PASS THROUGH OF FREIGHT INCREASES

Pursuant to the Defense Production Act of 1950, as amended, Executive Order 10161, and Economic Stabilization Agency General Order No. 2, this Amendment 1 to Supplementary Regulation 2, Revision 1, to Ceiling Price Regulation 9, Revision 1, is hereby issued.

STATEMENT OF CONSIDERATIONS

Supplementary Regulation 2, Revision 1, to Ceiling Price Regulation 9, Revision 1, establishes ceiling prices for mainland manufacturers selling commodities which at the time of sale are located in one of the territories or possessions of the United States.

In computing his ceiling price under this supplementary regulation, the manufacturer is permitted to reflect shipping costs in the period December 19, 1950 to January 25, 1951, if during that period he included such costs in his territorial selling price.

Since that base period, however, there have been several increases in shipping rates to most of the territories and in the cost of preparation for shipment and the result has been a narrowing of the margins of manufacturers.

Since under Ceiling Price Regulation 9 or Ceiling Price Regulation 61, the export regulation, a seller is permitted his customary markup over landed costs, the Office of Price Stabilization considers it necessary to permit manufacturers covered by this supplementary regulation to include the increase in freight charges in their ceiling prices. Accordingly, this amendment provides that manufacturers subject to Supplementary Regulation 2, Revision 1, to Ceiling Price Regulation 9, Revision 1, may add to their ceiling prices established under the supplementary regulation, the difference between base period shipping charges and charges for preparation for shipment, and the current charges incurred.

In the formulation of this amendment, it has been impracticable due to the nature of the action taken, to consult with industry representatives, including trade association representatives. However, recommendations have been received from several manufacturers covered by the supplementary regulation and full consideration has been given to their recommendations. In the opinion of the Director, this amendment is fair and equitable and is necessary to effectuate the purposes of the Defense Production Act of 1950, as amended.

AMENDATORY PROVISIONS

1. Section 2 of Supplementary Regulation 2, Revision 1, to Ceiling Price Regulation 9, Revision 1, is amended to read as follows:

SEC. 2. Ceiling prices. If you are a manufacturer, your ceiling price for a sale subject to CPR 9, Revision 1, is the sum of the following amounts:

(a) An amount equal to your current ceiling price for the commodity computed under the applicable ceiling price regulation (other than CPR 61) to the same class of purchaser at the port of shipment.

(b) An amount equal to your customary markup for the commodity for sales in the particular territory in which the commodity is located, computed in accordance with section 3 of this supplementary regulation. If you made a sale of the commodity in the base period, but customarily had no differential between port of shipment selling prices and territorial selling prices, your ceiling price for the commodities, established under this supplementary regulation, may not include any amount under this paragraph.

(c) The difference between the base period cost of shipment and preparation for shipment, and the current cost of shipment and preparation for shipment actually incurred by you on the commodity for which the ceiling price is established by this supplementary regulation.

The term "base period," as used in this regulation, means the period December 19, 1950–January 25, 1951.

Effective date. This Amendment 1 to Supplementary Regulation 2, Revision 1, to Ceiling Price Regulation 9, Revision 1, is effective as of June 28, 1952.

CPR 9—TERRITORIES AND POSSESSIONS

SR 4—SPECIAL PROVISIONS FOR INCREASING CEILING PRICES OF SELLERS WHOSE COSTS ARE INCREASED BY WEST COAST STRIKE

Pursuant to the Defense Production Act of 1950, as amended, Executive Order 10161, and Economic Stabilization Agency General Order No. 2, this Revision 1 of Supplementary Regulation 4 to Ceiling Price Regulation 9, Revision 1, is hereby issued.

STATEMENT OF CONSIDERATIONS

Supplementary Regulation 4 to Ceiling Price Regulation 9, Revision 1, was issued by the Office of Price Stabilization in order to afford some relief for sellers of food products in the Territory of Hawaii, who, because of the maritime strike on the west coast of the United States, necessarily incurred increased shipping costs. As stated in the Statement of Considerations, food products of necessity would have to be shipped from ports in the continental United States other than west coast ports. Supplementary Regulation 4 permitted sellers of food products in the Territory of Hawaii to pass through any increase in overland or ocean freight charges incurred by reason of such shipments.

This Revision 1 of Supplementary Regulation 4 to Ceiling Price Regulation 9, Revision 1, extends to all sellers in the Territory of Hawaii covered by Ceiling Price Regulation 9, Revision 1, the privilege of passing through the increased freight charges previously authorized only for sellers of food products. This action is deemed necessary because the continuance of the maritime strike on the west coast has exhausted the inventories of sellers of all types of merchandise usually shipped to Hawaii through west coast ports.

When the strike emergency has ended the Office of Price Stabilization anticipates the revocation of this supplementary regulation as to all commodities not actually delivered or in transit at that time.

Because of the nature of this supplementary regulation special circumstances have rendered consultation with industry representatives, including trade association representatives, impracticable.

Sec.
1. Freight increases.
2. Invoices.
3. Applicability of Ceiling Price Regulation 9, Revision 1.

AUTHORITY: Sections 1 to 3 issued under sec. 704, 64 Stat. 816, as amended; 50 U. S. C. App. Sup., 2154. Interpret or apply Title IV, 64 Stat. 803, as amended; 50 U. S. C. App. Sup. 2101-2110 E. O. 10161, Sept. 9, 1950, 15 F. R. 6105; 3 CFR 1950 Supp.

SECTION 1. Freight increases. (a) If you sell a commodity for which a ceiling price is established by Ceiling Price Regulation 9, Revision 1, and if, because of the maritime strike on the west coast of the United States the commodity was shipped from a port in the continental United States other than the port from which your supplier customarily ships to you, your ceiling price is that price which would otherwise be your ceiling price under Ceiling Price Regulation 9, Revision 1, plus an amount not to exceed the difference between (1) the cost of shipping charges actually incurred by you on the last shipment of the commodity shipped from the continental United States prior to May 26, 1952, which was included in your direct cost for the purpose of computing your ceiling price and (2) shipping charges incurred by you on the shipment of the commodity covered by this supplementary regulation, provided that such additional amount which you charge the buyer is shown on your invoice, for all sales except sales at retail, as the amount of shipping charges passed on by you as required by section 2 of this regulation.

(b) If you sell any commodity for which a ceiling price is established by Ceiling Price Regulation 9, Revision 1, and if, because of the maritime strike on the west coast of the United States increased shipping charges authorized by paragraph (a) of this section are passed on to you by your supplier under this regulation, you must, in determining your ceiling price for the commodity under the applicable ceiling price regulation, exclude from your direct cost the amount listed on your supplier's invoice to you as the amount of shipping charges passed on to you for the commodity. You may then charge the buyer, in addition to such ceiling price, an amount not to exceed the amount of shipping charges passed on to you by your supplier as shown by your supplier's invoice for the commodity, provided that such additional amount which you charge the buyer is shown on your invoice, for all sales except sales at retail, as the amount of shipping charges passed on by you, as required by section 2 of this regulation.

SEC. 2. Invoices. If you sell any commodities under this supplementary regulation you must furnish each purchaser, except a retail purchaser, an invoice stating separately for each commodity the amount of the increased shipping charges passed on by you under this supplementary regulation. This information may be included on the invoice you customarily furnish or which you are required to furnish under Ceiling Price Regulation 9, Revision 1.

SEC. 3. Applicability of Ceiling Price Regulation 9, Revision 1. All of the provisions of Ceiling Price Regulation 9, Revision 1, except as modified by this supplementary regulation continue in full force and effect.

Effective date. This Revision 1 of Supplementary Regulation 4 to Ceiling Price Regulation 9, Revision 1, is effective August 15, 1952.

NOTE: The record-keeping requirements of this regulation have been approved by the Bureau of the Budget in accordance with the Federal Reports Act of 1942.

CPR 22—MANUFACTURERS' GENERAL CEILING PRICE REGULATION

EXEMPTION FOR PRODUCERS WHOSE GROSS SALES DO NOT EXCEED $25,000

Pursuant to the Defense Production Act of 1950, as amended, Executive Order 10161, and Economic Stabilization Agency General Order No. 2, this amendment to Ceiling Price Regulation 22 is hereby issued.

STATEMENT OF CONSIDERATIONS

This amendment exempts small manufacturers from coverage by CPR 22 with certain exceptions. Any manufacturer whose gross sales of commodities manufactured by him did not exceed $25,000 in his last complete fiscal year prior to July 1, 1952, for all manufacturing units under his ownership and control is exempted. The exemption is also extended to any new manufacturer who has not completed a fiscal year but who expects his gross sales during his first complete fiscal year not to exceed $25,000 for all manufacturing units under his ownership and control. In any event, the exemption ceases if sales reach $25,000 during the seller's first complete fiscal year ending after July 1, 1952. The reasons for this action are spelled out more fully in the Statement of Considerations to Amendment 33 to the General Ceiling Price Regulation issued concurrently herewith.

In view of the nature of this amendment, special circumstances have rendered consultation with industry representatives, including trade association representatives, impracticable.

AMENDATORY PROVISIONS

Appendix A, paragraph (a), is amended by adding a subparagraph numbered "4" reading as follows:

(4) (1) Sales or deliveries of commodities made or produced by a seller whose gross sales of such commodities did not exceed $25,000 in his last complete fiscal year prior to July 1, 1952 for all manufacturing units under his ownership and control.

(2) Sales or deliveries of commodities made or produced by a seller who did not complete a fiscal year prior to July 1, 1952 whose gross sales of such commodities are not expected to exceed $25,000 in his first complete fiscal year for all manufacturing units under his ownership and control.

(3) In the event that the gross sales for all manufacturing units under the ownership and control of a seller exempt under the preceding subparagraphs (1) and (2) of this paragraph reach $25,000 during the seller's first fiscal year ending after July 1, 1952, the exemption under this paragraph ceases immediately.

(4) The preceding subparagraphs of this general exemption do not apply to sales or deliveries by producers of saw logs, pulpwood, wooden mine materials, ties, poles and piling, and related forest products.

(Sec. 704, 64 Stat. 816, as amended; 50 U. S. C. App. Sup. 2154)

Effective date. This amendment is effective August 20, 1952.

CPR 22—MANUFACTURERS' GENERAL CEILING PRICE REGULATION

SR 30—TRANSLATION OF F. O. B. INTO DELIVERED CEILING PRICES FOR CERTAIN CONSUMER DURABLE GOODS

ADDITIONS TO APPENDIX

Pursuant to the Defense Production Act of 1950, as amended, Executive Order 10161, and Economic Stabilization Agency General Order No. 2 this Amendment 1 to Supplementary Regulation 30, Ceiling Price Regulation 22 is hereby issued.

STATEMENT OF CONSIDERATIONS

The statement of considerations which was issued to Supplementary Regulation 30 to Ceiling Price Regulation 22 stated, in part, as follows:

"This regulation is limited at present to those areas where relief appears to be most greatly needed and where the method of calculation provided by this regulation can be used. New areas will be included within this supplementary regulation as need for relief in such areas is shown and as additional methods of calculation are developed."

It has now been ascertained that certain manufacturers of electric and gas cooking stoves are in need of the relief afforded by SR 30, CPR 22. It has also been ascertained that the method of calculating the adjusted delivered ceiling prices set forth in SR 30 may readily be used by these manufacturers. Accordingly, this amendment is being issued.

In formulating this amendment, the Director of Price Stabilization has consulted with industry representatives and has given full consideration to their recommendations.

AMENDATORY PROVISIONS

Supplementary Regulation 30 to Ceiling Price Regulation 22 is amended by addition of the consumer durable goods item "Gas and Electric Cooking Stoves", so that Appendix A to SR 30, CPR 22, shall read as follows:

Refrigerators.
Home freezers.
Gas and electric cooking stoves.

Effective date. This Amendment 1, Supplementary Regulation 30 to Ceiling Price Regulation 22, is effective August 20, 1952.

NOTE: The record-keeping and reporting requirements of this supplementary regulation have been approved by the Bureau of the Budget in accordance with the Federal Reports Act of 1942.

[General Ceiling Price Regulation, Amdt. 33]

GENERAL CEILING PRICE REGULATION

EXEMPTION FOR PRODUCERS WHOSE GROSS SALES DO NOT EXCEED $25,000

Pursuant to the Defense Production Act of 1950, as amended, Executive Order 10161 and Economic Stabilization Agency General Order No. 2, this amendment to the General Ceiling Price Regulation is hereby issued.

STATEMENT OF CONSIDERATIONS

Numerous requests to the Office of Price Stabilization by small producers for relief from the administrative burdens of ceiling price regulations inspired a re-examination of section 14 (n) of the General Ceiling Price Regulation. That section exempted sales or deliveries of commodities made or produced by the seller at his own home, solely for his own account, without the assistance of hired employees, if the total of such sales or deliveries did not exceed $1,000 in any one calendar month.

It was determined that the restrictive terms of the section substantially frustrated the original intent to exempt commodities made and sold by small producers. The use of a calendar month, the $1,000 limitation, and the defining of the locale of production as the home eliminated a large number of small producers from the relief the exemption was designed to give.

This amendment eliminates the restrictive features formerly contained in the exemption and broadens it to include all producers whose gross sales are less than $25,000 a year for all units under their ownership and control with the exceptions noted. Exemption of these small producers will have no appreciable effect on the cost of living, the defense effort or the level of current industrial costs. The retention of controls on these small producers simply imposes a record keeping burden on them which is difficult to discharge and an unwarranted administrative burden on OPS.

This amendment deletes the requirement that commodities to be exempt as the products of small business must be made in the seller's home and without the assistance of hired employees. The commodities of any producer who did not complete a fiscal year by July 1, 1952 are exempt if he does not expect his gross sales for his first complete fiscal year to reach $25,000 for all units under his ownership and control. If a producer's gross sales exceed $25,000 during his first fiscal year ending after July 1, 1952, the sales of his commodities are thereafter no longer exempt from price control.

It has been determined that this exemption shall not apply to saw logs, pulpwood, wooden mine materials, ties, poles and piling, and related forest products. Because of the insufficiency of data and information relating to the major economic implications of exempting these commodities, the Director of Price Stabilization has deemed it inadvisable that they should be covered by this vehicle at this time. However, further study and consideration is being devoted in regard to the feasibility of their eventual exemption.

In view of the nature of this amendment, special circumstances have rendered consultation with industry representatives, including trade association representatives, impracticable.

AMENDATORY PROVISIONS

Section 14 (n) is amended to read as follows:

(n) (1) Sales or deliveries of commodities made or produced by a seller whose gross sales of such commodities did not exceed $25,000, in his last complete fiscal year prior to July 1, 1952, for all units under his ownership and control.

(2) Sales or deliveries of commodities made or produced by a seller who did not complete a fiscal year prior to July 1, 1952 whose gross sales of such commodities are not expected to exceed $25,000 in his first complete fiscal year for all units under his ownership and control.

(3) In the event that the gross sales for all units under the ownership and control of a seller exempt under the preceding subparagraphs (1) and (2) of this paragraph reach $25,000 during the seller's first fiscal year ending after July 1, 1952, the exemption under this paragraph ceases immediately.

(4) The preceding subparagraphs of this general exemption do not apply to sales or deliveries by producers of saw logs, pulpwood, wooden mine materials, ties, poles and piling, and related forest products.

(Sec. 704, 64 Stat. 816, as amended; 50 U. S. C. App. Sup. 2154)

Effective date. This amendment is effective August 20, 1952.

GCPR, SR 63—AREA MILK PRICE ADJUSTMENTS

AMPR 18—MILK MARKETING AREAS 3, 4 AND 5, STATE OF NEW JERSEY

Pursuant to the Defense Production Act of 1950, as amended, Executive Order 10161 (15 F. R. 6105), and Economic Stabilization Agency General Order No. 2 (16 F. R. 738), Delegation of Authority 41 (16 F. R. 12679), and Redelegation of Authority No. 18 (16 F. R. 12913), this Amendment 1 to Area Milk Price Regulation 18 (17 F. R. 3204) pursuant to Supplementary Regulation 63 to the General Ceiling Price Regulation, as amended (16 F. R. 9559; 17 F. R. 446, 893), is hereby issued.

STATEMENT OF CONSIDERATIONS

This amendment is issued in compliance with a directive of August 1, 1952, issued by the Director of Price Stabilization. In the opinion of the Director of Price Stabilization the increase in the differential between home delivered milk and milk sold by retail stores, which results from the provisions of AMPR 18 as originally issued, is sufficient to disturb normal marketing practices in the areas covered by this regulation. He has accordingly directed, in order to maintain normal marketing practices, that AMPR 18 be amended to provide for an increase of ⅛ cent per quart over GCPR ceiling prices on sales to distributors and subdealers and ½ cent per quart on all other sales.

Experience in administering AMPR 18 indicates that the use of a uniform adjustment of GCPR ceiling prices rather than specific dollars and cents ceiling prices would be the more equitable method of applying the granted increase. The use of specific dollars and cents ceiling prices in this regulation was based on the desire to facilitate enforcement and to satisfy the request of the industry and of the Office of Milk Industry of the State of New Jersey for this type of regulation. The effect has been to give unjustified increases in some instances and to work undue hardships in others. A review of the reports submitted under the provisions of section 5 reveals that there is much less uniformity of price, particularly on sales to subdealers, than the Office of Price Stabilization had reason to believe. While the prices specified by section 4 are representative, they permit some processors to increase their subdealer prices and require others to reduce theirs. This effect was not intended, and this amendment, therefore, substitutes uniform adjustments of GCPR ceiling prices for specific dollars and cents ceiling prices.

This method of establishing ceiling prices permits the reporting requirements of the regulation to be simplified.

Except as modified by the foregoing, the statement of considerations set forth in AMPR 18 applies to this amendment.

AMENDATORY PROVISIONS

Area Milk Price Regulation No. 18 to Supplementary Regulation 63 to GCPR is hereby amended in the following respects:

Sec.

1. The first and second sentences of section 1 What this area milk price regulation does are amended to read as follows: "This area milk price regulation, issued pursuant to Supplementary Regulation 63 to the General Ceiling Price Regulation, as amended, provides uniform adjustments of ceiling prices determined under section 3 of the General Ceiling Price Regulation (hereinafter referred to as GCPR base period prices) for fluid milk, as defined in section 13 (hereinafter referred to as milk), when sold in Milk Marketing Areas 3, 4 and 5 as fixed by the Office of Milk Industry of the State of New Jersey. It provides adjustments for milk in designated types and sizes of containers."

2. Section 4 is deleted and a new section 4 is added to read as follows:

SEC. 4. Ceiling prices—(a) Ceiling prices of milk sold by processors to distributors and subdealers. Your ceiling prices for milk sold to distributors and subdealers shall be your GCPR base period prices for the same type of milk when delivered in the same size and type of container to a purchaser of the same class, plus the following uniform adjustments:

Size container:	Adjustment (cent)
1 pint	1½
1 quart	1⅛
All other sizes (per quart)	1⅛

(b) Ceiling prices of milk sold by processors, distributors and subdealers to all other classes of purchasers. Your ceiling prices for milk sold to all other classes of purchasers shall be your GCPR base period prices for the same type of milk when delivered in the same size and type of container to a purchaser of the same class, plus the following uniform adjustments:

Size container:	Adjustment (cent)
1 pint	¼
1 quart	½
All other sizes (per quart)	½

(c) Price differentials. Ceiling prices established pursuant to sections 4 (a) and 4 (b) must be modified by price differentials which existed between your GCPR base period prices and which resulted from discounts, allowances, premiums, extras, locations of purchasers and terms and conditions of sale or delivery.

(d) Modification of proposed ceiling prices by District Director of Price Stabilization. The District Director of the Office of Price Stabilization may at any time disapprove or revise downward ceiling prices established under this section so as to bring them into line with the level of ceiling prices otherwise established under this regulation.

3. Section 5 is deleted and a new section 5 is added to read as follows:

SEC. 5. Reporting of GCPR prices. Within five days after the effective date of this amendment you shall submit to the District Office of the Office of Price Stabilization, 200 East State Street, Trenton, N. J., by registered mail, return receipt requested, your price lists in effect during any part or all of the GCPR base period, including the time during which they were in effect, unless you have previously mailed such price lists by registered mail to the Director who is issuing this amendment to the regulation. You shall not sell at the ceiling prices computed pursuant to section 4 until the Office of Price Stabilization has received the report required by this paragraph as shown by your return postal receipt.

4. Section 6 (a) is amended to read as follows:

(a) How you determine your ceiling price. If you cannot determine a ceiling price under section 4, your ceiling price for the sale of milk to any class of purchaser is the ceiling price determined under this regulation for the sale of the same milk in the same size and type of container by your most closely competitive seller of the same class (as defined in section 22 of GCPR, as amended) to the same class of purchaser.

5. The first sentence of section 7 (a) How to obtain your ceiling price is amended to read as follows: "If you cannot determine a ceiling price under section 4 or section 6, you must apply to the District Director of the Office of Price Stabilization who issued this regulation for the establishment of a ceiling price for sales by you of that milk."

6. The first sentence of section 8 (a) is amended to read as follows: "The following prices are the prices for raw milk on which are based the uniform adjustments specified in or determined pursuant to section 4 of this area milk price regulation."

Effective date. This Amendment 1 to Area Milk Price Regulation No. 18 under Supplementary Regulation 63 of the General Ceiling Price Regulation, as amended, is effective as of August 15, 1952.

[General Overriding Regulation 9, Amdt. 24]

GOR 9—EXEMPTIONS OF CERTAIN INDUSTRIAL MATERIALS AND MANUFACTURED GOODS

SUSPENSION OF APPLICATION OF CPR TO SALES AND CONVERSION OF CERTAIN SHIPS

Pursuant to the Defense Production Act of 1950, as amended, Executive Order 10161, and Economic Stabilization Agency General Order No. 2, this Amendment 24 to General Overriding Regulation is hereby issued.

STATEMENT OF CONSIDERATIONS

This amendment suspends from price control sales or deliveries, by the builder, of new ships, motor boats, rowboats, sailboats, or other marine craft 65 feet and under in size, whether propelled manually, by sail, by motive power, or towed by other craft.

Sales of ships over 65 feet are already suspended from price control. This amendment by placing all shipbuilding into the same category will remove the differentiation now being made between shipyards building larger vessels and those making small craft. It has been determined that the problems faced by shipbuilders which motivated the suspension of large ships are also encountered by small shipyards and that in fact many shipyards build both large and small vessels.

The repair and conversion of vessels 65 feet and under are unaffected by this amendment. These services will continue to be subject to CPR 34.

In the formulation of this amendment there has been consultation with industry representatives, including trade association representatives, to the extent practicable, and consideration has been given to their recommendations.

AMENDATORY PROVISIONS

General Overriding Regulation 9 is amended in the following respects:

Subparagraph (4) of Section 2 (b) is amended to read as follows:

(4) Ships. Sales or deliveries, by the builder, of any new ship, boat, barge, canal boat, lighter or tug, or other marine craft whether propelled manually, by sail, by motor power or towed by other craft.

(Sec. 704, 64 Stat. 816, as amended; 50 U. S. C. App. Sup. 2154)

Effective date. This amendment shall become effective August 15, 1952.

Acting Director of Price Stabilization.

GOR 9—EXEMPTIONS OF CERTAIN INDUSTRIAL MATERIALS AND MANUFACTURED GOODS

EXEMPTION OF EXPERIMENTAL METALS, METAL ALLOYS, SINTERED METAL CARBIDES AND METALLIC CARBIDES

Pursuant to the Defense Production Act of 1950, as amended, Executive Order 10161, and Economic Stabilization Agency General Order No. 2, this Amendment 25 to General Overriding Regulation 9, is hereby issued.

STATEMENT OF CONSIDERATIONS

This amendment to GOR 9 suspends from price control sales by producers of experimental metals, metal alloys, sintered metal carbides, and metallic carbides until such sales total $25,000 for any commodity or $100,000 for any category.

This amendment was issued for the same reasons and accomplishes the same objectives as Amendment 17 to General Overriding Regulation 9. Accordingly the statement of considerations involved in the issuance of that amendment is equally applicable to this amendment.

In view of the nature of this amendment, special circumstances have rendered consultation with industry representatives, including trade association representatives, impracticable.

AMENDATORY PROVISIONS

GOR 9 is amended in the following respects:

Section 2 (b) (7) is amended to read as follows:

(7) Experimental metals, metal alloys, sintered metal carbides and metallic carbides. Sales and deliveries by producers of experimental metals, metal alloys, sintered metal carbides or metallic carbides so long as the total sales of any such commodity do not exceed $25,000 and the total sales of all such commodities falling within the same category do not exceed $100,000. A commodity is "experimental" only where it is the resulting product of research, testing and sampling done in a laboratory or pilot-plant, or both. When a commodity ceases to be experimental or when sales of any commodity reach $25,000, or when the total sales of all such commodities falling within the same category reach $100,000, future sales shall be subject to the General Ceiling Price Regulation or the applicable numbered ceiling price regulation.

Effective date. This Amendment 25 to the General Overriding Regulation 9 shall become effective August 15, 1952.

JOSEPH H. FREEHILL,
Acting Director of Price Stabilization.

ARTICLE I—GENERAL PROVISIONS

SECTION 1. What this order does. This order provides rules of special application to the procurement and use of materials by electric utilities. It sets forth the procedure by which electric utilities procure materials under the Controlled Materials Plan. It modifies the application to electric utilities of CMP Regulations Nos. 2 and 6, as well as other orders and regulations of the National Production Authority.

SEC. 2. Definitions. (a) "Electric utility" means any individual, partnership, association, corporation, governmental corporation or agency, or any organized group of persons, whether incorporated or not, located in the United States, its territories or possessions, supplying, or having facilities built for supplying, electric power, directly or indirectly, for general use by the public or, in the case of a cooperative, for use by its members. If an electric utility is engaged in the supply of electric power and in other activities, this order shall apply only to the procurement and use of materials required directly or indirectly for the supply of electric power.

(b) "DEPA" means the Administrator of the Defense Electric Power Administration.

(c) "Maintenance" means the continuation of any plant, facility, or equipment in sound working condition; and "repair" means the restoration of any plant, facility, or equipment to sound working condition when it has been rendered unsafe or unfit for service by wear and tear, damage, failure of parts, or the like. "Maintenance" and "repair" include the replacement of any equipment regardless of its accounting classification, but neither "maintenance" nor "repair" includes the improvement of any plant, facility, or equipment, or the replacement of material which is in sound working condition with material of a better kind, quality, design, or of greater capacity.

(d) "Operating supplies" means material, other than fuel, which is consumed in the course of an electric utility's operations, except in maintenance, repair, and plant additions.

(e) "Gross weight of conductor" means, in the case of overhead lines, the weight of conductor as installed, including steel content in the case of conductor containing steel, without deduction for material salvaged; and in the case of underground lines the copper and aluminum content only, without deduction for material salvaged.

(f) "Line construction" means construction of both overhead and underground lines.

(g) "Net material cost" means the cost of all material, including any commodity, equipment, accessory, part, assembly, or product of any kind, incorporated in plant, less the cost of all material removed from plant, priced in accordance with the electric utility's regular accounting practice.

(h) "Plant addition" means the construction or installation of new facilities or the replacement of existing facilities with facilities of greater capacity. Single plant additions may not be combined or subdivided for purposes of affecting their classification as "major plant additions," as defined in this section. To assist in determining whether particular construction constitutes one or more than one plant addition, it shall be considered that a single plant addition consists of:

(1) Any construction of related facilities, excluding maintenance and repair work, which is completed during a continuous period of construction, not interrupted by periods of time such as months or years, except where such interruption is caused by uncontrollable forces, such as adverse weather conditions.

(2) In the case of line construction, a single continuous integrated system of lines, with necessary connected substations. (Thus, several sections of line emanating from different points on a utility's system would be several plant additions, not one plant addition.)

(i) "Major plant addition" means any plant addition which involves one or more of the following:

(1) Line construction designed for operation at more than 15 kv where the plant addition requires more than 10,000 pounds gross weight of conductor; or

(2) Line construction designed for operation at 15 kv or less where the plant addition has a net material cost exceeding $50,000; or

(3) Nonline construction necessary for the generation, transmission, and distribution of electric power, where the plant addition has a net material cost over $50,000, excluding construction of facilities for use as a garage, warehouse, operating headquarters, office building, administrative building, or other similar use, unless such facilities are essential for the generation, transmission, and distribution of electric power.

(j) "Approved major plant addition" means any major plant addition in which DEPA has authorized commencement or continuation of construction.

(k) "Minor requirements" means electric utility requirements of controlled materials and other materials for all purposes (including MRO) except major plant additions, and except construction of facilities for use as a garage, warehouse, office building, administrative building, or other similar use, unless such facilities are essential for the generation, transmission, and distribution of electric power.

(l) "Inventory" of any item of controlled material means new or salvaged controlled material in the possession of an electric utility, unless physically incorporated in plant, without regard to its accounting classification, excluding, however:

(1) Any controlled material specifically set aside on April 1, 1951, for use in time of emergency, and replacement thereof; and

(2) Any controlled material set aside on July 17, 1951, or thereafter, for use in an approved major plant addition. Any controlled material set aside for use in any such major plant addition shall be returned to inventory as soon as it becomes apparent that such controlled material will not be used in such major plant addition.

(m) "Practicable minimum working inventory" means the smallest quantity of controlled material from which an electric utility can reasonably supply its services on the basis of its currently scheduled method and rate of operation. In the absence of unusual circumstances, an electric utility's inventory will be considered in excess of a practicable minimum working inventory if the ratio of its inventory to its currently scheduled operations is substantially greater than the ratio which it normally maintained between its inventory and its operations during any reasonably representative period in the 6 months ending June 30, 1950.

(n) "Permissible inventory" of any item of controlled material means the quantity of such controlled material which is necessary for use in supplying electric service on the basis of an electric utility's scheduled method and rate of operation pursuant to this order during the succeeding 90-day period, or a practicable minimum working inventory, whichever is less.

(o) "Excess inventory" of any item of controlled material means that part of an electric utility's inventory of such item which exceeds its permissible inventory of such item.

(p) "Commence construction," "authorized construction schedule," "controlled material," "allotment," "Class A product," "Class B product," "delivery order," and "authorized controlled material order" shall have the meanings respectively assigned to such terms in Revised CMP Regulation No. 6; "repairman" shall have the meaning assigned to such term in CMP Regulation No. 7.

(q) "Controlled material" means steel, copper, and aluminum, in the forms and shapes indicated in Schedule I of CMP Regulation No. 1, as modified by Direction 9 to CMP Regulation No. 1.

SEC. 3. Applications for adjustment or exception. (a) Any electric utility affected by any provision of this order may file a request for adjustment or exception on the ground that such provision works an undue or exceptional hardship upon such utility not suffered generally by other electric utilities, or that its enforcement against such utility would not be in the interest of national defense or in the public interest. Each request shall be in writing, shall set forth all pertinent facts and the nature of the relief sought, and shall state the justification therefor.

(b) Each such request shall be addressed to DEPA and, if approved, DEPA will grant an appropriate adjustment or exception.

SEC. 4. Records and reports. (a) Each person participating in any transaction covered by this order shall make and preserve, for at least 3 years thereafter, accurate and complete records of receipts, deliveries, inventories, production, and use, in sufficient detail to permit the determination, after audit, whether each transaction complies with the provisions of this order. This order does not specify any particular accounting method and does not require alteration of the system of records customarily used, provided such records supply an adequate basis for audit. Records may be retained in the form of microfilm or other photographic copies instead of the originals by those persons who, at the time such microfilm or other photographic records are made, maintain such copies of records in the regular and usual course of business.

(b) All records required by this order shall be made available for inspection and audit by duly authorized representatives of the National Production Authority or DEPA, at the usual place of business where maintained.

(c) Persons subject to this order shall make such records and submit such reports to DEPA as it shall require, subject to the terms of the Federal Reports Act of 1942 (5 U. S. C. 139–139F).

SEC. 5. Communications. All communications concerning this order shall be addressed to the Defense Electric Power Administration, Washington 25, D. C., Ref: NPA Order M–50.

SEC. 6. Violations. Any person who wilfully violates any provision of this order or any other order or regulation of the National Production Authority, or who wilfully conceals a material fact or furnishes false information in the course of operation under this order, is guilty of a crime and, upon conviction, may be punished by fine or imprisonment or both. In addition, administrative action may be taken against any such person to suspend his privilege of making or receiving further deliveries of materials, or of using facilities under priority or allocation control, and to deprive him of further priorities assistance.

ARTICLE II—PROCUREMENT OF CONTROLLED MATERIALS GENERALLY

SEC. 21. Effect on other orders. (a) This order modifies the application of Revised CMP Regulation No. 6 (Construction) to electric utilities and supersedes any conflicting provisions in Revised CMP Regulation No. 6. All of the provisions of Revised CMP Regulation No. 6 apply to electric utilities except as modified by this order.

(b) The provisions of CMP Regulation No. 5 shall not apply to electric utilities.

Electric utilities shall procure materials for maintenance, repair, and operating supplies in the manner provided in Article IV of this order.

(c) The provisions of CMP Regulation No. 7 apply to repairmen doing work for an electric utility. A repairman must use the H–4 allotment symbol to obtain the controlled materials needed to do repair work for an electric utility. Controlled materials so ordered shall constitute a charge against the utility's minor requirements allotments. Controlled materials necessary for the repair of utility customers' electric appliances shall not be ordered by use of the H–4 allotment symbol. Instead, such controlled materials shall be obtained in the manner provided in CMP Regulation No. 7.

(d) The inventory provisions of this order supersede any conflicting provisions in CMP Regulation No. 2 or any other order concerning inventory of controlled materials. For products and materials other than controlled materials, the inventory limitations in NPA Reg. 1 and any other National Production Authority order or regulation are applicable to electric utilities.

SEC. 22. Restrictions on receipt of controlled materials. Unless prior authorization is granted by DEPA, no electric utility shall receive any controlled materials which were not ordered pursuant to an allotment made by DEPA.

SEC. 23. Use of allotment numbers, rating designations, and certifications. Authorized controlled materials orders for major plant additions shall show the allotment number H–3; authorized controlled material orders for minor requirements shall show the allotment number H–4. Such orders shall also show the calendar quarter in which the allotment is valid. For example, a delivery order for controlled materials placed pursuant to an allotment valid for the first quarter of 1952 shall be designated as follows:

For major plant additions—
H–3–1Q52
For minor requirements—
H–4–1Q52

In addition, each authorized controlled material order shall be certified as follows:

Certified under Revised CMP Regulation No. 6 and NPA Order M–50 and shall be signed as provided in NPA Reg. 2. DO–H–3 rated orders and DO–H–4 rated orders shall also be certified and signed in such manner.

ARTICLE III—MAJOR PLANT ADDITIONS

SEC. 31. Restrictions on construction. No electric utility may commence construction of any major plant addition or use any controlled material in any major plant addition without specific authorization from DEPA. DEPA authorization to commence or continue construction does not necessarily mean that DEPA will allot materials in the amounts requested by any electric utility.

SEC. 32. Construction schedules and allotments for major plant additions. A construction schedule for each major plant addition will be authorized by DEPA on Form DEPA 7. Construction schedules will be authorized on the basis of information furnished by electric utilities on Form DEPA 9 submitted for such major plant addition, or pursuant to application made in such manner as DEPA may hereafter require.

SEC. 33. Required use of excess inventory. Any electric utility which has an excess inventory of any controlled material shall use such material in approved major plant additions to the extent, and on the earliest date, that such material is required in any approved major plant addition. In filing applications for allotments of controlled materials for major plant additions, excess inventories shall be taken into account, and in stating its requirements of controlled materials for any major plant addition no electric utility shall include in its requirements any quantity of controlled material which is available in excess inventory.

SEC. 34. Authorization to use DO rating to obtain products and materials other than controlled materials for major plant additions. Subject to any special provisions contained in any appendix to this order, a DO–H–3 rating is hereby assigned to each authorized construction schedule for a major plant addition. This rating may be used only to acquire products and materials other than controlled materials in the minimum practicable amounts required and on a date or dates no earlier than required to fulfill such schedule or to replace in inventory products and materials other than controlled materials used to fulfill authorized construction schedules for major plant additions.

ARTICLE IV—MINOR REQUIREMENTS

SEC. 41. Allotments of controlled materials for minor requirements. Subject to the restrictions contained in section 45 of this order, each electric utility is hereby granted an allotment of controlled materials for minor requirements in the amount of its quota for each controlled material as provided in section 42 of this order, and is authorized to use such allotment for minor requirements. No electric utility shall place authorized controlled material orders for minor requirements of any controlled material in excess of its quota for such controlled material. Each authorized controlled materials order for minor requirements shall contain the allotment number H–4 as provided in section 23 of this order.

SEC. 42. Quarterly controlled material quotas for minor requirements. Unless DEPA has prescribed otherwise, an electric utility may elect to use either a standard quota or an alternative quota, but may not thereafter change from one quota to the other without the express approval of DEPA.

(a) Standard quota. An electric utility's standard quota for any controlled material for any calendar quarter is the percentage specified in the applicable appendix to this order of the quantity of such material which was used for minor requirements in the calendar year 1950 (or, if it operated on a fiscal year basis, in its fiscal year ending nearest to December 31, 1950).

(b) Alternative quota. An electric utility's alternative quota for any controlled material for any calendar quarter is the percentage specified in the applicable appendix to this order of the quantity of such material which it used in the corresponding calendar quarter of 1950 (or, if it operated on a fiscal year basis, in the corresponding quarter of its fiscal year ending nearest to December 31, 1950).

(c) Quota where 1950 base inapplicable. An electric utility not in operation throughout the year 1950 (calendar or fiscal) shall establish its standard or alternative controlled material quota in accordance with this section by adjusting, in direct proportion, its actual use of such controlled material for part of the year to an annual basis. To determine an alternative quota in such cases, the adjusted annual use may be unequally distributed among four quarters to reflect seasonal variations. An electric utility not in operation throughout 1950 shall report to DEPA the controlled material quota which it establishes in accordance with this section. If an electric utility was not in operation during any part of the year 1950 (calendar or fiscal), it may apply to DEPA for a controlled material quota supplying, in detail, information pertinent to a proper evaluation of its application.

(d) Quotas established by DEPA. DEPA may, by notice addressed to individual electric utilities, prescribe quarterly controlled material quotas for minor requirements greater or less than such utility's standard or alternative quotas.

(e) Emergency excess of quotas. If an electric utility has so far exhausted its minor requirements allotment that an insufficient allotment remains in any quarter to procure necessary controlled material for maintenance or repair of its equipment or property, other than buildings, which is damaged or destroyed by extraordinary cause such as explosion, fire, sabotage, act of the public enemy, flood, storm, or similar catastrophe, the utility may exceed its minor requirements allotment for that quarter to the extent necessary to procure such controlled material: Provided, however, That any such excess of minor requirements allotment must be immediately reported, together with the reasons therefor, to DEPA.

SEC. 43. Applications for increased controlled materials quotas. Each application for an increased controlled material quota shall contain the following information:

(a) Statement of the amount of any special authorization which the utility has received.

(b) Statement of the total amount, in pounds or tons, of each controlled material requested to be authorized for use in minor requirements during each quarter, including the base-period quota permitted by the applicable appendix to this order.

(c) Detailed statement of necessity for larger quota.

(d) Quantity in inventory of the items applied for, and any additional information which may be pertinent to proper evaluation of the application.

SEC. 44. Authorization to use DO ratings to obtain products and materials other than controlled materials for minor requirements—(a) Assignment of DO–H–4 ratings. Subject to any special provisions in any appendix to this order, and subject to the provisions of paragraph (b) of this section, each electric utility is hereby authorized to use a DO–H–4 rating to order products and materials other than controlled materials necessary for use in connection with any minor requirements project which involves the use of any portion of its minor requirements allotment of any controlled material, and to order such additional amounts of products and materials other than controlled materials as are necessary for the operation, maintenance, and repair of its electric system.

(b) Restrictions on the use of the DO–H–4 rating. Use of the DO–H–4 rating by electric utilities is subject to the following restrictions:

(1) The DO–H–4 rating may be used only to acquire products and materials other than controlled materials in the minimum practicable amounts required, and on a date or dates no earlier than required, for the purposes specified in paragraph (a) of this section, or to replace in stock products and materials other than controlled materials used for such purposes.

(2) No electric utility shall use the DO–H–4 rating to obtain any item costing more than $10,000 without specific authorization by DEPA. (For the purposes of this subparagraph, two or more single-phase transformers to be operated in one bank shall constitute a single item.) Requests for such authorization may be made by letter setting forth a complete description of the equipment, number of units, name of supplier, purchase value, and utility's order number if the order has been placed, and the present and estimated future loads to be served from the installation for which such item is ordered. In addition, the request shall describe the location and facility where the equipment will be installed, such as "69/4.2 kv Bolmer Substation in Fisk, Iowa." If the equipment is for replacement, explain why existing equipment is inadequate. When the equipment is to be used as spare or stand-by facilities such as spare transformers, oil circuit breakers, and generator windings, the request shall clearly indicate that such equipment is spare, and shall justify its proposed use on the basis of previous experience, operating characteristics, and the number of installations for which the item will serve as spare and for which no other adequate spare facilities are available, and shall set forth any other information pertinent to proper evaluation of such request.

(3) No electric utility shall use the DO–H–4 rating to obtain any materials on lease.

(4) No electric utility shall use the DO–H–4 rating to obtain any material listed in Schedules I and II of CMP Regulation No. 5, as amended from time to time.

SEC. 45. Inventory restrictions. No electric utility shall place delivery orders for, or accept delivery of, any item of controlled material if its inventory of such item is, or by receipt of such material would become, in excess of a permissible inventory. If an electric utility would be authorized by this section to place a delivery order for a quantity of any item of controlled material less than the minimum sales quantity of such item, it may accept delivery of the minimum sales quantity of such item. The minimum sales quantity of any item of controlled material shall be the quantity designated in Schedule IV of CMP Regulation No. 1.

NOTE: All reporting and record-keeping requirements of this order have been approved by the Bureau of the Budget in accordance with the Federal Reports Act of 1942 (5 U. S. C. 139–139F).

The issuance of this amended order does not in any way affect M–50, Direction 1 of July 22, 1952.

This order as amended shall take effect August 15, 1952.

ALIENS SERVING AS LICENSED OFFICERS ON MERCHANT VESSELS

The purpose of this document is to revoke the waiver order designated as 46 CFR 154.15, as well as 33 CFR 19.15, and the regulations in 46 CFR Part 155, regarding employment of aliens as watch officers on United States merchant vessels and the qualifications for alien officers.

It has been determined upon investigation that there is sufficient experienced personnel in the merchant marine industry to meet the requirements of certain navigation and vessel inspection laws relating to manning of merchant vessels and to meet the citizenship requirements for watch officers in the United States merchant marine. It is hereby found that compliance with the notice of proposed rule making, public rule making procedure thereon, and effective date requirements of the Administrative Procedure Act is contrary to the public interest.

By virtue of the authority vested in me as Commandant, United States Coast Guard, by an order of the Acting Secretary of the Treasury, dated January 23, 1951, identified as CGFR 51-1, and published in the FEDERAL REGISTER dated January 26, 1951 (16 F. [Docket Nos. 8736, 8975, 8976, 9175]

PART 3—RADIO BROADCAST SERVICES

AVAILABILITY OF CHANNELS

By the Commission, Commissioner Sterling not participating, Commissioner Jones dissenting.[1]

In the matters of amendment of § 3.606 of the Commission's rules and regulations, Docket Nos. 8736 and 8975; amendment of the Commission's rules, regulations and Engineering Standards Concerning the Television Broadcast Service, Docket No. 9175; utilization of frequencies in the band 470 to 890 mcs. for Television Broadcasting, Docket No. 8976.

The Commission has before it for consideration a Petition for Reconsideration and Modification of § 3.607 (b) in the above entitled proceeding filed June 18, 1952 by South Jersey Broadcasting Company, Camden, New Jersey.

In the Third Notice of Further Proposed Rule Making (FCC 49-948) issued on March 22, 1951 in these proceedings the Commission proposed with reference to the Table of Assignments of television channels that a channel assigned to a community should be available, without the necessity of rule making proceedings, to any unlisted community located within 15 miles of the assigned community provided the minimum separations were met. In the Sixth Report and Order in these proceedings the Commission adopted § 3.607 (b) of the rules governing television stations which provides in part that "A channel assigned to a community listed in the Table of Assignments is available upon application in any unlisted community which is located within 15 miles of the listed community." Assignment separations and station separations are prescribed in another section of these rules. In the Third Notice of Further Proposed Rule Making the Commission did not propose the assignment of any channels to Camden, New Jersey, thus Camden was unlisted in the proposed Table of Assignments. In the Sixth Report and Order, the Commission on the basis of the record in these proceedings assigned Channel 80 to Camden and reserved that channel exclusively for non-commercial educational use with the result that Camden is listed in the Table of Assignments which was adopted. Camden is within 15 miles of Philadelphia, Pennsylvania.

Petitioner requests that § 3.607 (b) of the Commission's rules and regulations be modified by adding after the final sentence thereof language to the following effect: "For the purpose of this section a community shall be deemed unlisted if no commercial television channel has been allocated thereto."

In support of its request petitioner states that the Commission's action assigning Channel 80 to Camden and reserving that channel exclusively for non-commercial educational use acts to preclude an applicant for a television station in Camden from applying for a Philadelphia channel; that it believes such result inadvertent and, if not, then arbitrary, contrary to the public interest and in contravention of section 307 (b) of the Communications Act; that the County of Camden has a population of 301,000; that Camden is the 5th largest city in New Jersey with a population of 125,000; that petitioner's study of assignments shows there is no availability of an additional channel for assignment to Camden under the provisions of § 3.609 (c) of the rules governing television stations; that under § 3.607 (b) as now worded applicants may file for the Philadelphia channels in various small suburban communities near Philadelphia but this same privilege is denied applicants from Camden because of the reserved channel; that the types of service to be provided by commercial and non-commercial educational licensees are not similar; and that Camden, considering its size and its location across the Delaware River in a different State with differing political, economic, and social interests, should at least have the opportunity to compete in a comparative proceeding for channels allocated to the Philadelphia area.

We have reexamined and reconsidered the effect of § 3.607 (b) of the rules as adopted in these proceedings. It is our view that the assignment of a single television channel to a community and the reservation of that channel exclusively for non-commercial educational use should not preclude the availability to that community of other television channels which would otherwise be available to it under § 3.607 (b) and that this section of the rules should be revised in keeping with this view. A revision in the nature, if not in the exact wording, of that requested by petitioner should thus be adopted.

In view of the foregoing, the above named petition is hereby granted, in substance and it is ordered that effective September 15, 1952 § 3.607 (b) of the rules governing television stations is amended as follows:

(b) A channel assigned to a community listed in the Table of Assignments is available upon application in any unlisted community which is located within 15 miles of the listed community. In addition, a channel assigned to a community listed in the Table of Assignments and not designated for use by noncommercial educational stations only, is available upon application in any other community within 15 miles thereof which, although listed in the Table, is assigned only a channel designated for use only by noncommercial educational stations. Where channels are assigned to two or more communities listed in combination in the Table of Assignments the provisions of this paragraph shall apply separately to each community so listed. The distance between communities shall be determined by the distance between the respective coordinates thereof as set forth in the publication of the United States Department of Commerce entitled "Air Line Distance Between Cities in the United States."[2] If said publication does not contain the coordinates of either or both communities, the coordinates of the main post office in either or both of such communities shall be used. The method to be followed in making the measurements is set forth in § 3.611 of this subpart.

RAILROAD FREIGHT CARS TO BE STOPPED TO COMPLETE LOADING

At a session of the Interstate Commerce Commission, Division 3, held at its office in Washington, D. C., on the 12th day of August A. D. 1952.

It appearing, that upon representations of the Defense Transport Administration there is a critical shortage of railroad freight cars suitable for the transportation of lumber and/or lumber products; that shippers are appropriating such cars and shipping them almost empty to other points to complete loading; that such practice is wasteful and aggravates the car shortage, depleting and diminishing the use, control, supply, distribution and interchange of such cars; the Commission is of the opinion that an emergency requiring immediate action exists in the States of Oregon and Washington: It is ordered, that:

§ 95.889 Railroad freight cars to be stopped to complete loading—(a) Movement of cars loaded with lumber or lumber products. No common carrier by railroad subject to the Interstate Commerce Act shall accept for transportation, or transport or move, any railroad freight car, which car is loaded with lumber, and/or lumber products, in Oregon or Washington and tendered to be forwarded to another point to be stopped off to complete the loading thereof, unless or until the lumber, and/or lumber products loaded in the car at the first loading point equals or exceeds fifty percent of the marked capacity of the car used. Partially loaded cars arriving at stop-off point to complete loading shall be charged against the total daily distributive share of cars available for the final shipper's loading.

(b) Special and general permits; appointment of agent. (1) Paragraph (a) of this section shall be subject to any special or general permits issued by the Permit Agent named in this section.

(2) Charles W. Taylor, Director, Bureau of Service, Interstate Commerce Commission, Washington 25, D. C., is hereby designated and appointed as Permit Agent of the Interstate Commerce Commission with authority to issue special or general permits to meet exceptional circumstances.

(c) Application. The provisions of this section shall apply to intrastate and foreign commerce as well as interstate commerce.

(d) Regulations suspended, announcement required. The operation of all rules, regulations and practices, insofar as they conflict with the provisions of this section is hereby suspended and each railroad subject to this order, or its agent, shall publish, file, and post a supplement to each of its tariffs affected hereby, in substantial accordance with the provisions of Rule 9 (k) of the Commission's Tariff Circular No. 20 (§ 141.9 (k) of this chapter) announcing such suspension.

(e) Effective date. This section shall become effective at 12:01 a. m., August 15, 1952.

(f) Expiration date. This section shall expire at 11:59 p. m., December 31, 1952, unless otherwise modified, changed, suspended or annulled by order of this Commission.

It is further ordered, that a copy of this order and direction be served upon the State railroad regulatory bodies of each State and upon the Association of American Railroads, Car Service Division, as agent of the railroads subscribing to the car service and per diem agreement under the terms of that agreement; and that notice of this order be given to the general public by depositing a copy in the office of the Secretary of the Commission at Washington, D. C., and by filing it with the Director, Division of the Federal Register.

TITLE 50—WILDLIFE

Chapter I—Fish and Wildlife Service, Department of the Interior

Subchapter C—Management of Wildlife Conservation Areas

PART 33—CENTRAL REGION

LONG LAKE NATIONAL WILDLIFE REFUGE, NORTH DAKOTA; FISHING

Basis and purpose. On the basis of observations and reports of field representatives of the Fish and Wildlife Service, it has been determined that a relaxation of the existing restriction regarding the use of boats can be effected without interfering with the primary purpose for which the refuge was established. It has been further determined to be desirable to modify the periods during which fishing can be permitted, including a liberalization to permit winter fishing.

Since the following regulations generally are relaxations of existing restrictions regarding fishing within the refuge, publication prior to the effective date is not required (60 Stat. 237; 5 U. S. C. 1001, et seq.).

Effective immediately upon publication in the FEDERAL REGISTER, §§ 33.96 and 33.98 are revised to read as follows:

§ 33.96 Fishing permitted. Noncommercial fishing is permitted during the daylight hours of the period May 1 to September 30 of each year, and from December 15 to February 28 of the following year, on those areas of the Long Lake National Wildlife Refuge which are designated by suitable posting by the officer in charge in accordance with the provisions of §§ 33.97 to 33.99, inclusive.

§ 33.98 Use of boats. The use of boats while fishing within certain areas of the refuge as designated by suitable posting by the officer in charge is permitted. The use of outboard motors of not to exceed 5-horsepower in conjunction with boats used only for fishing also is permitted.

[Docket No. AO-212-A4 (2d Part)]

HANDLING OF MILK IN MILWAUKEE, WIS., MARKETING AREA

DECISION WITH RESPECT TO PROPOSED MARKETING AGREEMENT AND PROPOSED ORDER AMENDING ORDER, AS AMENDED

Pursuant to the provisions of the Agricultural Marketing Agreement Act of 1937, as amended (7 U. S. C. 601 et seq.), and the applicable rules of practice and procedure, as amended, governing proceedings to formulate marketing agreements and marketing orders (7 CFR Part 900), a public hearing was conducted at Milwaukee, Wisconsin, on May 19–20, 1952, pursuant to notice thereof which was issued on May 8, 1952 (17 F. R. 4353).

Upon the basis of the evidence introduced at the hearing and the record thereof, the Secretary on June 13, 1952, filed with the Hearing Clerk, United States Department of Agriculture, a decision on several of the issues which required emergency action and for which a final order was issued on June 26, 1952 (17 F. R. 5796). The remaining issues are dealt with in the present decision. With respect to such issues, the Assistant Administrator, Production and Marketing Administration, on July 11, 1952, filed with the Hearing Clerk, United States Department of Agriculture, his recommended decision. Notice of such recommended decision and opportunity to file written exceptions thereto was published in the FEDERAL REGISTER on July 17, 1952 (17 F. R. 6563). No exceptions were filed.

The material issues and the findings and conclusions of the recommended decision (F. R. Doc. 52-7856; 17 F. R. 6563) are hereby approved and adopted as the findings and conclusions of this decision as if set forth in full herein, subject to the following revisions:

1. Delete all findings and conclusions relating to issue No. 3 as set forth in Columns 1 and 2, 17 F. R. 6564, and substitute therefor the following:

(1) The "butter-cheese" price formula employed as a basic price formula should be deleted; the cheese price formula proposed to replace the butter-cheese price formula should not be adopted at this time (issue No. 3).

The basic formula price used to determine Class I and Class II prices is currently the highest of three formula prices computed for the preceding month. The formulas involved are: The average condensary pay price, the butter-nonfat dry milk solids formula, and the butter-cheese formula. Class I and Class II prices for the month are determined by adding to this basic formula price the appropriate Class I and Class II price differentials subject to an adjustment based on changes in the supply-demand relationship. A proposal was made to introduce an additional basic price formula based on cheese price quotations as follows: 2.75 times the simple average, as published by the Department, of prices per pound for "Cheddars" on the Wisconsin Cheese Exchange at Plymouth, Wisconsin, for the trading days that fall within the month, with the result multiplied by 3.5.

The record shows that the proposal is intended to produce a formula which will correspond to competitive prices paid to dairy farmers by Wisconsin cheese factories for milk used in the manufacture of cheese. It was stated that the factor 2.75 is intended to be a figure which when multiplied by the Wisconsin Cheese Exchange quotation for Cheddars will approximate the price per pound of butterfat paid to farmers by competitive cheese factories. Considerable evidence was submitted for the record which related this formula price to the average price paid farmers by Wisconsin cheese factories as reported by the Department and by the Wisconsin State Department of Agriculture. In essence this formula is designed to measure the value of milk used for cheese from the standpoint of competitive "pay" prices as differentiated from a "cost and yield" method. Reduced to its simplest form this formula is 9.625 times the average Cheddar cheese price (3.5 times 2.75=9.625).

Since the production of cheese has been increasing in recent years and represents a major use of milk in the State of Wisconsin and the Milwaukee supply area, a formula based on Cheddar cheese would be appropriate as one of the basic price formulas under the Milwaukee order. Statistical examination of the proposed formula indicates, however, that prior to its adoption as a basic price formula further consideration of its effects in relation to shortrun variations in cheese prices is desirable. In view of this it is concluded that the formula should not be incorporated into the order at this time.

Under current conditions as shown by the record, the butter-cheese formula does not reflect the value of milk utilized by cheese factories in the production area and therefore does not adequately serve its intended purpose. For this reason it is concluded that the latter formula should be deleted.

General findings. (a) The proposed marketing agreement and the order, as amended, and as hereby proposed to be further amended, and all of the terms and conditions thereof will tend to effectuate the declared policy of the act;

(b) The parity prices of milk as determined pursuant to section 2 of the act are not reasonable in view of the price of feeds, available supplies of feeds and other economic conditions which affect market supply and demand for milk in the marketing area, and the minimum prices specified in the tentative marketing agreement and in the order, as amended, and as hereby proposed to be further amended, are such prices as will reflect the aforesaid factors, insure a sufficient quantity of pure and wholesome milk and be in the public interest; and

(c) The order, as amended and as hereby proposed to be further amended, will regulate the handling of milk in the same manner as, and is applicable only to persons in the respective classes of industrial and commercial activity specified in, the said marketing agreement upon which a hearing has been held.

Determination of representative period. The month of March 1952 is hereby determined to be the representative period for the purpose of ascertaining whether the issuance of an order amending the order, as amended, regulating the handling of milk in the Milwaukee, Wisconsin, marketing area in the manner set forth in the attached amending order is approved or favored by producers who during such period were engaged in the production of milk for sale in the marketing area specified in such marketing order, as amended.

Annexed hereto and made a part hereof are two documents entitled respectively, "Marketing Agreement Regulating the Handling of Milk in the Milwaukee, Wisconsin, Marketing Area," and "Order Amending the Order, as Amended, Regulating the Handling of Milk in the Milwaukee, Wisconsin, Marketing Area," which have been decided upon as the detailed and appropriate means of effectuating the foregoing conclusions. These documents shall not become effective unless and until the requirements of § 900.14 of the rules of practice and procedure, as amended, governing proceedings to formulate marketing agreements and orders have been met.

It is hereby ordered, That all of this decision, except the attached marketing agreement, be published in the FEDERAL REGISTER. The regulatory provisions of said marketing agreement are identical with those contained in the order, as amended, and as hereby proposed to be further amended by the attached order which will be published with this decision.

This decision filed at Washington, D. C., this 13th day of August 1952.

Order[1] Amending the Order, as Amended Regulating the Handling of Milk in the Milwaukee, Wisconsin, Marketing Area

§ 907.0 Findings and determinations. The findings and determinations hereinafter set forth are supplementary and in addition to the findings and determinations previously made in connection with the issuance of the aforesaid order and of the previously issued amendments thereto; and all of said previous findings and determinations are hereby ratified and affirmed, except insofar as such findings and determinations may be in conflict with the findings and determinations set forth herein.

(a) Findings upon the basis of the hearing record. Pursuant to the provisions of the Agricultural Marketing Agreement Act of 1937, as amended (hereinafter referred to as the "act") (7 U. S. C. 601 et seq.), and the rules of practice and procedure governing the formulation of marketing agreements and marketing orders (7 CFR Part 900) a public hearing was held upon certain proposed amendments to the tentative marketing agreement and to the order, as amended, regulating the handling of milk in the Milwaukee, Wisconsin, marketing area. Upon the basis of the evidence introduced at such hearing and the record thereof, it is found that:

(1) The said order, as amended, and as hereby further amended, and all of the terms and conditions of said order, as amended, and as hereby further amended, will tend to effectuate the declared policy of the act;

(2) The parity prices of milk as determined pursuant to section 2 of the act are not reasonable in view of the price of feeds, available supplies of feeds, and other economic conditions which affect market supply and demand for milk in the marketing area, and the minimum prices specified in the order, as amended, and as hereby further amended, are such prices as will reflect the aforesaid factors, insure a sufficient quantity of pure and wholesome milk, and be in the public interest; and

(3) The said order, as amended, and as hereby further amended, regulates the handling of milk in the same manner as, and is applicable only to persons in the respective classes of industrial and commercial activity specified in, a marketing agreement upon which hearings have been held.

Order relative to handling. It is therefore ordered, that on and after the effective date hereof, the handling of milk in the Milwaukee, Wisconsin, marketing area shall be in conformity to and in compliance with the terms and conditions of the aforesaid order, as amended, and as hereby further amended; and the aforesaid order, as amended, is hereby further amended as follows:

1. Add to the introductory language of § 907.33 (preceding paragraph (a)) following the word "handler" the phrase, "including any producer-handler."

2. Delete from § 907.45 (a) the phrase "except a producer-handler" and substitute therefor the phrase "including a producer-handler."

3. Delete § 907.45 (c).

4. Delete § 907.50 (b).

5. Delete at the end of § 907.90 the phrase "except as provided in § 907.10" and add the following: "except where the text of such section(s) of the order indicate that such section(s) should apply and except as provided in § 907.10."

6. Delete the semicolon and the word "or" at the end of § 907.91 (a) (1) and substitute in lieu thereof a period.

[1] This order shall not become effective unless and until the requirements of § 900.14 of the rules of practice and procedure governing proceedings to formulate marketing agreements and marketing orders have been met.

Notice of such recommended decision and opportunity to file written exceptions thereto was published in the FEDERAL REGISTER on July 17, 1952 (17 F. R. 6564). No exceptions were filed.

The material issues and the findings and conclusions of the recommended decision (F. R. Doc. 52-7857; 17 F. R. 6564) are hereby approved and adopted as the findings and conclusions of this decision as if set forth in full herein, subject to the following revisions:

1. Delete all findings and conclusions relating to issue No. 3 as set forth in Columns 1 and 2, 17 F. R. 6565, and substitute therefor the following:

(1) The "butter-cheese" price formula employed as a basic price formula should be deleted; the cheese price formula proposed to replace the butter-cheese price formula should not be adopted at this time (issue No. 3).

The basic formula price used to determine Class I and Class II prices is currently the highest of three formula prices computed for the preceding month. The formulas involved are: The average condensary pay price, the butter-nonfat dry milk solids formula, and the butter-cheese formula. Class I and Class II prices for the month are determined by adding to this basic formula price the appropriate Class I and Class II price differentials subject to an adjustment based on changes in the supply-demand relationship. A proposal was made to introduce an additional basic price formula based on cheese price quotations as follows: 2.75 times the simple average, as published by the Department, of prices per pound for "Cheddars" on the Wisconsin Cheese Exchange at Plymouth, Wisconsin, for the trading days that fall within the month, with the result multiplied by 3.5.

The record shows that the proposal is intended to produce a formula which will correspond to competitive prices paid to dairy farmers by Wisconsin cheese factories for milk used in the manufacture of cheese. It was stated that the factor 2.75 is intended to be a figure which when multiplied by the Wisconsin Cheese Exchange quotation for Cheddars will approximate the price per pound of butterfat paid to farmers by competitive cheese factories. Considerable evidence was submitted for the record which related this formula price to the average price paid farmers by Wisconsin cheese factories as reported by the Department and by the Wisconsin State Department of Agriculture. In essence this formula is designed to measure the value of milk used for cheese from the standpoint of competitive "pay" prices as differentiated from a "cost and yield" method. Reduced to its simplest form this formula is 9.625 times the average Cheddar cheese price (3.5 times 2.75=9.625).

Since the production of cheese has been increasing in recent years and represents a major use of milk in the State of Wisconsin and the Green Bay supply area, a formula based on Cheddar cheese would be appropriate as one of the basic price formulas under the Green Bay order. Statistical examination of the proposed formula indicates, however, that prior to its adoption as a basic price formula further consideration of its effects in relation to shortrun variations in cheese prices is desirable. In view of this it is concluded that the formula should not be incorporated into the order at this time.

Under current conditions as shown by the record, the butter-cheese formula does not reflect the value of milk utilized by cheese factories in the production area and therefore does not adequately serve its intended purpose. For this reason it is concluded that the latter formula should be deleted.

General findings. (a) The proposed marketing agreement and the order, as amended, and as hereby proposed to be further amended, and all of the terms and conditions thereof will tend to effectuate the declared policy of the act;

(b) The parity prices of milk as determined pursuant to section 2 of the act are not reasonable in view of the price of feeds, available supplies of feeds and other economic conditions which affect market supply and demand for milk in the marketing area, and the minimum prices specified in the tentative marketing agreement and in the order, as amended, and as hereby proposed to be further amended, are such prices as will reflect the aforesaid factors, insure a sufficient quantity of pure and wholesome milk and be in the public interest; and

(c) The order, as amended and as hereby proposed to be further amended, will regulate the handling of milk in the same manner as, and is applicable only to persons in the respective classes of industrial and commercial activity specified in, the said marketing agreement upon which a hearing has been held.

Determination of representative period. The month of March 1952 is hereby determined to be the representative period for the purpose of ascertaining whether the issuance of an order amending the order, as amended, regulating the handling of milk in the Green Bay, Wisconsin, marketing area in the manner set forth in the attached amending order is approved or favored by producers who during such period were engaged in the production of milk for sale in the marketing area specified in such marketing order, as amended.

Annexed hereto and made a part hereof are two documents entitled respectively, "Marketing Agreement Regulating the Handling of Milk in the Green Bay, Wisconsin, Marketing Area," and "Order Amending the Order, as Amended, Regulating the Handling of Milk in the Green Bay, Wisconsin, Marketing Area," which have been decided upon as the detailed and appropriate means of effectuating the foregoing conclusions. These documents shall not become effective unless and until the requirements of § 900.14 of the rules of practice and procedure, as amended, governing proceedings to formulate marketing agreements and orders have been met.

It is hereby ordered, That all of this decision, except the attached marketing agreement, be published in the FEDERAL REGISTER. The regulatory provisions of said marketing agreement are identical with those contained in the order, as amended, and as hereby proposed to be further amended by the attached order which will be published with this decision.

This decision filed at Washington, D. C., this 13th day of August 1952.

Order[1] Amending the Order, as Amended Regulating the Handling of Milk in the Green Bay, Wisconsin, Marketing Area

§ 908.0 Findings and determinations. The findings and determinations hereinafter set forth are supplementary and in addition to the findings and determinations previously made in connection with the issuance of the aforesaid order and of the previously issued amendments thereto; and all of said previous findings and determinations are hereby ratified and affirmed, except insofar as such findings and determinations may be in conflict with the findings and determinations set forth herein.

(a) Findings upon the basis of the hearing record. Pursuant to the provisions of the Agricultural Marketing Agreement Act of 1937, as amended (hereinafter referred to as the "act") (7 U. S. C. 601 et seq.), and the rules of practice and procedure governing the formulation of marketing agreements and marketing orders (7 CFR Part 900) a public hearing was held upon certain proposed amendments to the tentative marketing agreement and to the order, as amended, regulating the handling of milk in the Green Bay, Wisconsin, marketing area. Upon the basis of the evidence introduced at such hearing and the record thereof, it is found that:

(1) The said order, as amended, and as hereby further amended, and all of the terms and conditions of said order, as amended, and as hereby further amended, will tend to effectuate the declared policy of the act;

(2) The parity prices of milk as determined pursuant to section 2 of the act are not reasonable in view of the price of feeds, available supplies of feeds, and other economic conditions which affect market supply and demand for milk in the marketing area, and the minimum prices specified in the order, as amended, and as hereby further amended, are such prices as will reflect the aforesaid factors, insure a sufficient quantity of pure and wholesome milk, and be in the public interest; and

(3) The said order, as amended, and as hereby further amended, regulates the handling of milk in the same manner as, and is applicable only to persons in the respective classes of industrial and commercial activity specified in, a marketing agreement upon which hearings have been held.

Order relative to handling. It is therefore ordered, that on and after the effective date hereof, the handling of milk in the Green Bay, Wisconsin, marketing area shall be in conformity to and in compliance with the terms and conditions of the aforesaid order, as amended, and as hereby further amended; and the aforesaid order, as amended, is hereby further amended as follows:

1. Add to the introductory language of § 908.33 (preceding paragraph (a)) following the word "handler" the phrase, "including any producer-handler."

2. Delete from § 908.45 (a) the phrase "except a producer-handler" and substitute therefor the phrase "including a producer-handler."

3. Delete § 908.45 (c).

4. Delete § 908.50 (b).

5. Delete at the end of § 908.90 the phrase "except as provided in § 908.10" and add the following: "except where the text of such section(s) of the order indicate that such section(s) should apply and except as provided in § 908.10."

6. Delete the semicolon and the word "or" at the end of § 908.91 (a) (1) and substitute in lieu thereof a period.

[1] This order shall not become effective unless and until the requirements of § 900.14 of the rules of practice and procedure governing proceedings to formulate marketing agreements and marketing orders have been met.

Order of the Secretary Directing That a Referendum Be Conducted Among the Producers Supplying Milk in the Milwaukee, Wisconsin, Marketing Area, and Designation of Agent to Conduct Such Referendum

Pursuant to section 8c (19) of the Agricultural Marketing Agreement Act of 1937, as amended (7 U. S. C. 608c (19)), it is hereby directed that a referendum be conducted among the producers (as defined in the order as amended, regulating the handling of milk in the Milwaukee, Wisconsin, marketing area) who, during the month of March 1952, were engaged in the production of milk for sale in the marketing area specified in the aforesaid order to determine whether such producers favor the issuance of the order (amending the aforesaid order) which is a part of the decision of the Secretary of Agriculture filed simultaneously herewith.

H. H. Erdmann is hereby designated agent of the Secretary to conduct such referendum in accordance with the procedure for the conduct of referenda to determine producer approval of milk marketing orders as published in the FEDERAL REGISTER on August 10, 1950 (15 F. R. 5177).

[Docket No. AO-225-A2]

HANDLING OF MILK IN DETROIT, MICH., MARKETING AREA

NOTICE OF RECOMMENDED DECISION AND OPPORTUNITY TO FILE WRITTEN EXCEPTIONS WITH RESPECT TO PROPOSED AMENDMENTS TO TENTATIVE MARKETING AGREEMENT AND TO ORDER, AS AMENDED

Pursuant to the provisions of the Agricultural Marketing Agreement Act of 1937, as amended (7 U. S. C. 601 et seq.), and the applicable rules of practice and procedure, as amended, governing the formulation of marketing agreements and marketing orders (7 CFR Part 900), notice is hereby given of the filing with the Hearing Clerk of the recommended decision of the Assistant Administrator, Production and Marketing Administration, United States Department of Agriculture, with respect to a proposed marketing agreement and a proposed order, regulating the handling of milk in the Detroit, Michigan, marketing area. Interested parties may file written exceptions to this decision with the Hearing Clerk, United States Department of Agriculture, Washington 25, D. C., not later than the close of business the 20th day after publication of this decision in the FEDERAL REGISTER. Exceptions should be filed in quadruplicate.

Preliminary statement. The hearing, on the record of which the proposed amendments, as hereinafter set forth, to the tentative marketing agreement and to the order, as amended, were formulated, was conducted at Detroit, Michigan on May 12–16, 1952, pursuant to notice thereof which was issued on April 17, 1952 (17 F. R. 3415). A decision with respect to proposed amendments to certain classification and pricing provisions of the order considered at the hearing was filed June 13, 1952 (17 F. R. 5524) and an order on such amendments was issued June 19, 1952 (17 F. R. 5634). The findings and conclusions with respect to the issues dealt with herein were specifically deferred pending further study and consideration.

The material issues remaining for consideration are concerned with the following:

(1) A reduction or, alternatively, an expansion in the extent of the marketing area;

(2) Revision of the determination of milk to be priced under the order, with respect to the designation of health authorities, handler qualifications, and the level of sales at which handler exemption should be determined;

(3) Provision for a separate classification for milk utilized as fluid cream and the assignment of inventory variation to the lowest class instead of to Class I;

(4) Changes in the pricing provisions which would (a) alter the basic formula by (i) increasing the number of local plants, (ii) deleting all basic formula prices except the local plants, and (iii) substituting a cheese pricing formula for the butter-cheese formula; (b) alter Class I pricing by (i) using the basic formula prices for the previous month, (ii) providing for seasonal variation in the Class I price differential, and (iii) modifying various features of the supply-demand adjustment; (c) alter Class II pricing by (i) eliminating the butter-powder formula pricing alternative and (ii) providing transportation credits on milk moved for manufacture; (d) establish appropriate prices for milk in the proposed new classifications; and (e) revise the butterfat differentials and location adjustments.

(5) The substitution of individual handler pooling for marketwide pooling and modification of various features of the base rating plan for distributing returns to the producers; and

(6) Modification of administrative provisions of the order relating to administrative assessments, marketing service payments, and reporting dates.

Findings and conclusions. The following findings and conclusions on the issues decided herein are hereby made upon the basis of the record of the hearing:

(1) Marketing area. The marketing area should remain unchanged. A group of 9 handlers who operate primarily in Ann Arbor, Ypsilanti and the adjacent territory proposed eliminating from the marketing area the townships of Ann Arbor, Superior, and Ypsilanti in Washtenaw County and Canton, Van Buren and Sumpter townships in Wayne County. The latter three townships are east of Ann Arbor and Ypsilanti and between these cities and Detroit. The proposal which called specifically for the elimination for these six townships further provided that the market area include only an adjacent and contiguous territory within which the population is not less than 7,500 persons per township. This would have eliminated Ann Arbor and Ypsilanti and also would have eliminated the townships in the Northeastern portion of the marketing area and the city of Port Huron. As an alternative to this proposed reduction to the marketing area, these handlers proposed adding 49 townships situated west of the present marketing area.

These proposals and the testimony of the proponents do not conform to the economic standards on which a marketing area should be determined. The marketing area specified in the Detroit order includes the metropolis of Detroit and the immediately adjacent cities, the comparatively much smaller but still sizeable nearby cities of Ann Arbor, Ypsilanti, Pontiac, and Port Huron, and those of the townships lying between these cities and the central metropolitan area in which milk distribution is significant. Within this area the marketing of milk is of a sufficiently uniform and interrelated character to make a single system of pricing and pooling effective and desirable.

On the supply side these homogeneous elements include the Michigan Milk Producers Association, the largest organization of producers in the territory with a membership accounting for 85 percent of all producers supplying milk to the marketing area, and a common milkshed within which farmers supplying plants located in Ann Arbor or Ypsilanti are intermingled with farmers supplying plants in other portions of the marketing area. Milk from farms approved for shipment to Detroit is acceptable for shipment to Ann Arbor and Ypsilanti, and during the period September 1951 through April 1952, Detroit-approved sources furnished one-fourth as much milk to handlers located in Ann Arbor and Ypsilanti as was received by them directly from producers.

There are also many elements of milk distribution which are common to all parts of the marketing area. Two of the major handlers in Ann Arbor are subsidiaries of firms which are also distributors of milk in the city of Detroit. One handler whose plant is located in Ypsilanti has a sizable proportion of his total business in territory which would remain in the marketing area after the proposed deletions. There is also a substantial and growing distribution of milk throughout the marketing area from pasteurization and bottling plants located in the city of Detroit. Milk distributed from such plants competes actively with milk from plants in all other portions of the marketing area except within the city limits of Ann Arbor and Port Huron where health ordinances require that milk be pasteurized within the city or a limited adjacent area.

A milk marketing area need not be composed of contiguous territory and the marketing areas defined in several of the Federal orders are composed of two or more physically separate entities such as municipalities and public institutions.

Even if the Detroit marketing area were to be defined in terms of the territory within the boundaries of the incorporated municipalities now included in the marketing area, the reasons for including Ann Arbor and Ypsilanti in such a marketing area would be virtually the same as those which prompted the inclusion of these cities in the contiguous area defined in the order.

With regard to the proponents' alternative proposal to greatly expand the marketing area, no detailed testimony was offered on the nature of milk supplies and distribution in the additional townships. There is, therefore, no basis for judging whether milk marketing conditions in such townships are such as to make it necessary or desirable to include them in the marketing area.

(2) Milk to be priced. The handler definition should be modified to include Wayne County Health Department approval.

The Wayne County Health Department enforces the provisions of local health ordinances for those communities in the county which do not have a health officer. The model Michigan milk ordinance serves as the basis for interpretation of the local ordinances by the County Health Department. Inasmuch as the area in which the proponent distributes milk does not come under the jurisdiction of any of the Health Departments specified in the order, Wayne County Health Department approval should also be permitted. Such a provision would tend to assure the market of a more adequate supply of pure and wholesome milk.

Proposals were put forward to modify the qualifications for maintaining status as a handler. The order now provides that a person who operates a country plant (one from which no milk is distributed on routes in the marketing area) must move 10 percent or more of the milk received from dairy farmers at such plant to a city plant in November and December to remain a handler. The three proposals to modify this qualification ranged from a requirement that the country plant supply the market with 50 percent of its receipts during the 4-month period, October–January, to a requirement that a country plant continue to qualify on the basis of formal offers to ship milk to city plants during the shortage season at specified prices and terms of sale.

The evidence failed to show any present necessity either for making it more difficult or easier to maintain handler status. No plant engaged primarily in supplying other markets was meeting the minimum qualifications as handlers merely to participate in the pool on a year-'round basis. Neither had any of the handlers experienced nor did they foresee undue difficulty in meeting the 10-percent requirement. In the circumstances, it is concluded that no change be made in the handler qualification until further experience under the order or more specific developments in the market clearly indicate a need for modification.

To facilitate administration the current order exempts from all but the reporting and auditing provisions of the order those handlers who operate bottling plants outside the marketing area and dispose of not more than 600 pounds of Class I milk per day in the marketing area as prices that might be appropriate in the marketing area might not be appropriate in the localities where most of the sales of these distributors might be made. Testimony does not warrant modification of this provision.

One proposal would exclude from order provisions those handlers who distribute less than 50,000 pounds of milk per day in the marketing area. However, this would eliminate so large a percentage of handlers as to render the order inoperative. Another proposal would exclude from order provisions those handlers who are located within the marketing area and dispose of not more than 4,000 pounds of Class I milk per day for any month in which the total Class I disposition of such handlers does not exceed 1¾ percent of the total Class I disposition of all handlers. This would mean that the individual handler would not know if he were subject to the order for a given month until the total Class I sales for the month were determined. If the group of handlers with sales of 4,000 pounds or less represented over 1¾ percent of the total Class I sales, the group would be reduced to 1¾ percent by eliminating from the exempt list those handlers with the largest Class I sales. Individual handlers would not plan a consistent marketing program because of this monthly uncertainty of not knowing until the following month if they had been subject to the order the preceding month.

(3) Classification. Skim milk and butterfat utilized in fluid cream and cream products containing in excess of 6 percent butterfat should not be classified separately from that used in other Class II products.

Testimony disclosed that fluid cream priced under the order must compete directly with cream from unregulated sources which is available to handlers and also may be sold directly at wholesale and retail in the marketing area. There was no showing that the marketing of fluid cream is sufficiently different from that of most other Class II products to result in siginificant price differences; separate classification would, therefore, be meaningless.

Variations in handlers' month-end inventories are currently included in Class I under the order, since they are not specifically defined in Class II. Handlers proposed that these inventory variations be assigned and priced as Class II as a matter of proper inventory accounting practice and to reduce the valuation of any increase in inventory. The compelling objection to this proposal is that many handlers have no producer milk left in Class II after allocating other source milk. This is particularly likely in the late fall season of shortest supplies and on the part of handlers who purchase milk from a producers' cooperative association in quantities calculated to just cover their Class I requirements. The impossibility of treating all handlers alike if inventory variations were assigned to Class II and the fact that the financial gains and losses resulting from increases and decreases in inventories tend to balance out over a period of time, make it desirable to continue to classify them as Class I utilization.

(4) Class prices. The order should be amended to provide for adoption of a revised cheese formula, an increase of the number of local plants to 9, use of the basic formula prices for the previous month to determine Class I prices, revision of the supply-demand formula, a Class II price equal to the Class I price, the same butterfat differentials to handlers on Class I and Class II sales as that now applicable to producers, and an extension of the location adjustment rate schedule applicable to Class I and producer prices.

(a) Basic formula prices. The Class I price should continue to be based on a formula representing the highest value for milk for manufacturing as determined by four alternative basic formulas: prices paid dairy farmers at 18 Midwest dairy manufacturing plants, prices paid dairy farmers at 9 Michigan dairy manufacturing plants, a butter-powder formula price, and a revised cheese formula.

Distributors proposed that only the average paying price of local Michigan dairy manufacturing plants be used in determining the Class I price. They directed considerable testimony toward the elimination of the butter-powder formula as one of the basic formulas. However, it must be recognized that more butterfat and skim milk is manufactured into butter and nonfat dry milk solids, respectively, than into any other manufactured dairy product, that these two products and cheddar cheese are the only products directly eligible for Federal price support, and that the numerous interrelationships between Detroit and other markets under Federal order make it important that changes in basic price levels be closely similar. In the circumstances, the butter-powder formula should be retained as one of the basic formula prices.

Distributors consider the butter-cheese formula antiquated and therefore requested the elimination of such a formula. Although producers and handlers stated at the hearing that they had had insufficient time to analyze the revised cheese formula as introduced and explained at the hearing by the Dairy Branch, it seems desirable to include the revised cheese formula in the order since it would more directly reflect the value of milk used for cheese making than the present butter-cheese formula.

Although the distributors' proposal was to eliminate the average price of the 18 Midwest dairy manufacturing plants as one of the basic formulas, there was no specific testimony directed towards such an elimination. It should be retained in order that the basic formula will continue to represent the broadest possible coverage of nationally determined values of manufacturing milk.

The number of local Michigan dairy manufacturing plants should be raised to 9. In order to increase the number of local plants the same consideration governing the selection of the original five should govern the selection of the additional plants, namely:

(1) Cooperative plants should not be included as their reported pay price does not usually represent the entire return to farmers.

(2) Plants operated by a handler under the order should not be inclu ed.

UNIVERSITY OF MICHIGAN LIBRARIES

(3) The plants selected should represent a wide variety of manufactured products.

(4) Plants selected should be representative of the entire milkshed. The following 4 Michigan plants appear to most nearly meet these requirements and should be added to the present 5 plants, thereby increasing the number of plants used in determining a basic formula price to 9. The larger number of local Michigan manufacturing plants should yield a more representative price for local manufactured milk. The four additional plants are:

Nestle Co., Ubly, Mich.
Kraft Cheese Co., Pinconning, Mich. Borden Co., Perrinton, Mich. Carnation Co., Sparta, Mich.

(b) Class I price. The Class I price should be determined by adding the Class I differential to the basic formula price of the previous month. Using the basic formula price for the previous month instead of for the current month will enable handlers to know this major element of their cost of Class I milk at the beginning of each month.

The current relationship between market supply and market demand in the supply-demand adjustment should be based on the most recent two-month period, the first and second months preceding the month for which a price is being computed. Both producers and handlers are of the opinion that the one-month lag between the period used for computing the supply-demand utilization and the month in which the adjustment becomes effective in the present order is unnecessary and is not the most accurate means of estimating current and prospective supply and demand conditions. The advantages of more nearly current computation of the adjustment were generally felt to outweigh the fact that the amount of the adjustment in any given month cannot be known until the middle of that month. It is therefore concluded that the current relationship between market supply and market demand should be based on the ratio of total producer receipts to gross Class I sales in the first and second months preceding the month for which a price is being computed. Assurance to producers that prices will be changed promptly in response to any change in the relationship between market supply and demand for milk should encourage them to continue to supply milk to the market.

It was suggested that bulk sales of Class I milk outside the market area be excluded from the supply-demand adjustment. Historically, such sales have been small in this market so that their inclusion or exclusion would have had little effect in adjusting prices. Ideally, the adjustment should reflect all sales which represent regular outlets for the milk supply of the market. The difficulty of defining and computing those sales which could be considered as irregular, together with the comparatively small volumes involved, leads to the conclusion that bulk sales of Class I milk outside the marketing area should be included in computation of the supply-demand adjustment. Similarly, a proposal to exclude inventory variations from the computation of the supply-demand adjustment should be denied. These variations may be sizeable in the case of an individual handler but they are of an essentially random character and offsetting adjustments would tend to leave only insignificant variations in the marketwide data.

The base schedule of the adjustment should be revised to reflect more recent experience including that obtained while operating under the order. The base period should reflect the seasonal pattern both of production and of sales. Adjusting the producer receipts and Class I sales of the May 1948–July 1951 period for trend appears to provide the most accurate measure of the seasonality of utilization. This is the most recent period for which consistent data covering a large proportion of receipts and sales in the market are available. Experience in the fall of 1951 under the order indicates that when utilization for a month dropped below 112.5 percent, the supply of milk is not sufficient because of the daily and weekly variations in receipts and sales, and allocation of milk supplies among dealers becomes necessary. A supply of more than 122.5 percent of Class I utilization in the shortest supply month enhances the possibility of burdensome increases in the amount of reserve milk in the flush period. The base supply-demand ratio for other months which would correspond to 117.5 percent, the midpoint of the 112.5 percent–122.5 percent range in November, which is normally the shortest supply month, may therefore be computed by adjusting this ratio by a seasonal variation in utilization computed in the above prescribed manner.

The range within which no supply-demand adjustment is effected is reduced from 7.5 percentage points up or down from the midpoint to 5 percentage points in this recommended schedule. The three cents per percentage point remains a desirable rate of supply-demand adjustment of the Class I price differential and a price change of 15 cents is applied for the first 5 percentage points variation in the ratio. Inasmuch as the supply-demand adjustment based upon the revised schedule cannot result in a succeeding change in the opposite direction unless the ratio varies at least 10 percentage points there appears to be little justification for continuing the additional one-half percentage point which is now required to bring about a succeeding change in the opposite direction.

Handlers' proposals for a seasonal variation in the Class I differential should be denied as testimony by distributors and producers clearly indicates that the majority in the market wish to continue the base-excess plan as a method of leveling-out production. Seasonal variation in pricing is an alternative means of encouraging a more even seasonal distribution of production. If the Class I differential was varied seasonally while continuing the base plan, it would reduce the difference between the base and excess prices during the flush season, thereby reducing the price reward for the producer who achieved a high base the previous fall while correspondingly reducing the price penalty on the uneven, low-base producer.

(c) Class II prices. The Class II price should be based solely on the average of the prices paid by the 9 Michigan dairy manufacturing plants used as one of the alternative basic formula prices.

Both handlers and producers concurred that by increasing the number of local plants and eliminating the butter-powder price a Class II price would result that would more closely represent the value of milk which is not used for fluid milk sales in the marketing area. Increasing the number of local plants minimizes the danger of the prices paid by the local plants being lower than the market prices of manufactured dairy products would justify. The butter-powder formula should be eliminated as a measure of the value of milk disposed of as Class II except as a measure of the credit allowed on milk disposed of specifically as butter and powder in the months of May, June, and July which became a part of the order June 20, 1952, on the basis of testimony taken at the same hearing upon which this decision is based.

(d) Handler butterfat differentials. The handler butterfat differentials applicable to Class I and Class II prices should be the same as the producer butterfat differential.

Inasmuch as the sales of low testing milk products are increasing and the sales of high butterfat content products are decreasing, it seems desirable to transfer more of the Class I butterfat differential from the fat to the skim. With respect to Class II, the butterfat differential now contained in the order is not greatly different from the producer butterfat differential and the latter appears to be an adequate measure of the relative values of fat and skim in Class II uses.

(e) Location adjustments. The present schedule in the order should be extended at an additional 1 cent per hundredweight for each 8-mile zone to a limit of 26 cents, which applies to any location beyond 137 miles.

The cooperative which proposed to extend the schedule of location adjustments recognized that a longer haul in view of the expanding boundaries of the milkshed, necessitates a higher transportation cost on the part of handlers. Therefore it appears that the zones with respect to freight rates should be extended in order to insure the marketing area of an adequate future supply of milk.

A proposal which would enable handlers who receive milk from producers at a plant more than 29 miles from the Detroit City Hall to receive a credit with respect to such milk disposed of as Class I should be denied. Competition among marketing area handlers both for sales and supply has increased since the promulgation hearing and this development suports the principle that the price for Class I milk should be the same for all handlers located within the defined marketing area.

The schedule of producer location adjustments should continue to be the same as handler location adjustments. Therefore the revised schedule discussed above should also be adopted as the schedule of producer location adjustments.

The handlers' request for a transportation credit on Class II milk moved from point of delivery by producers to a manufacturing plant should be denied. The Class II prices recommended in this decision are designed to cover the cost of converting reserve milk into manufactured dairy products irrespective of the method of reserve disposal. In the Detroit area there are different types of distributors ranging from those who have a full supply contract with a producers cooperative association and virtually no disposal problem to distributors who receive all their milk supply from producers, either at a city bottling plant or at country plants, and manufacture the receipts in excess of their fluid milk needs into dairy products. Certain handlers manufacture Class II milk at point of receipt while other handlers turn the milk back to the cooperative or move it to a manufacturing plant at the distributors' expense. These are normal competitive differences in the handling of excess milk and should not be altered by allowing credits to the particular group who transport the milk for manufacture. Each distributor should continue to be obligated to pay the same Class II price to producers and dispose of his Class II milk to the best possible advantage.

(5) Payments to producers. Marketwide pooling should be maintained. The base plan should be modified to permit any producer to receive the uniform price in lieu of base and excess prices for the remaining months of 1952, to permit the establishment of new bases at 90 percent of deliveries during October, November, and December, to provide for payment of all producers at the base or uniform price during any of the months of August through December (the base-forming period) that the supply-demand adjustment operates to increase the Class I price, and to allow to a producer who relinquishes his old base in order to establish a new one beginning August 1 or September 1 the same credit from such new base as one who does not relinquish his old base.

One handler proposed that producers be paid on the basis of the classified utilization of milk by the individual handler to whom the milk is delivered rather than on the average utilization of all handlers. The cost of milk to handlers is, of course, not affected since each pays for milk in accordance with his utilization. However, the substitution of individual-handler pooling for marketwide pooling would tend to bring about a generally uneconomic reorganization of the milk marketing structure. Each handler would have to care for any seasonal or daily excess of milk not needed for fluid use, either by establishing manufacturing facilities or delivering the excess milk to a manufacturing plant. Under the marketwide pool, producers throughout the territory receive uniform prices while manufacturing operations are concentrated in comparatively few plants at which volume, location, and variety of equipment all contribute to operating efficiency.

Several proposals were made to modify the base-excess plan which returns sales proceeds to the individual producer in accordance with the seasonality of his production.

One would give any producer the option of receiving the uniform price in lieu of base and excess prices throughout 1952. It was recognized at the hearing that much of the year would have passed before the proposed amendment could become effective. However, even during the remainder of 1952 the option would benefit producers who are establishing or expanding their bases for next year and will thereby encourage a maximum production of milk during the fall months.

A second proposed modification of the base plan would allow producers to establish base during any 5 months of the period August through February. This proposal would extend the base-forming period into months during which market supplies are normally more than sufficient to meet requirements. The standard base-making period of August through December is already modified in favor of those producers whose production is temporarily low by allowing a full base for 122 days delivery, and by allowing a producer to relinquish his old base and establish a new one. The latter choice should be further modified by permitting new bases to be established at 90 percent of deliveries during October, November, and December, the 3 months of shortest supply, instead of at 80 percent of deliveries, as now provided by the order. This will benefit any new producer or an old one whose cows fail to freshen or whose production is otherwise unavoidably low on August 1 but has reached more volume by October 1. This modification will achieve many of the same benefits as the proposal to establish bases during any 5 months of the August-February period.

It was proposed that payments on base and excess prices be suspended and all producers be paid the uniform price whenever there was a plus supply-demand price adjustment in operation during the base-forming period. The supply-demand adjustment operates to increase the Class I price whenever there is a definite indication of shortage of milk to meet market requirements. Any such indication in the fall months is of immediate importance and all producers should be encouraged to maximize production, regardless of their previously established bases, by being paid the uniform price rather than continuing to be paid at base and excess prices.

The order now provides that any producer who enters the August–December base-making period with a base made either during the corresponding months of the previous year or during a subsequent 3-month period but who fails to make as large a new base shall receive a credit up to 10 percent of his old base. In other words he keeps his old base so long as the new one is 90 percent or more of the old one. If the new one is less than 90 percent of the old one, he gets a carryover credit of 10 percent of the old base to be added to the new one. Producers proposed that this same credit be extended to a producer who had established a new base during August, September, and October by relinquishing his old base as of August 1. Under the present order such a producer would use his new, 3-month base during October–January, and for the year beginning February 1 would be assigned a new base equal to his deliveries during the entire August–December period. The credit would be of benefit to him for the year starting February 1 in the event his full 5-month base was less than the 3-month base. It is concluded that such credit should be allowed on bases established either during August, September, and October or on those established September, October, and November as well as on previously established bases carried into the new base-forming period.

One proposal would give each producer an annual option of being paid either at the uniform price or under base and excess prices. Such an option would be virtually certain to destroy the plan. Producers with the most uneven seasonal pattern would have the greatest incentive to choose to be paid at the uniform price rather than on base and excess. The removal from the base plan of those producers with the most uneven seasonal production pattern would, of course, defeat the primary objective of achieving an even seasonality of production. Since the base plan is the means chosen to regulate seasonality of production in this market, the option to be paid at the uniform price cannot be granted.

The proposal that a producer be allowed to transfer his base with the sale of the herd is also denied. Unless an entire herd is transferred to a single buyer, the base goes with the last cow disposed of, and the administrative problem of identifying bases with individual cows would be formidable. Furthermore, the fact that bases are reestablished annually and that, in addition, each producer may relinquish his base and establish a new one once each 12 months, minimizes any need which might otherwise exist for transfers of base upon sale of the herd.

(6) Administrative provisions. Additional time should be allowed the handlers and the market administrator for the submission of reports, computation of marketwide prices, and preparation of producer payrolls. In order to avoid a large portion of the expenses and inconvenience involved in having uniform, base, and excess prices announced by the 11th and in making payments to producers by the 15th of the month following the delivery month, these dates are changed to the 12th and 17th, respectively. The problem has been particularly acute when holidays occur during the first 15 days of the month and will be substantially relieved by the extension of time.

The administrative expenses of the order should continue to be defrayed by an assessment of not to exceed 2 cents on all milk received from producers instead of at a correspondingly higher rate on Class I sales only, as proposed by certain handlers. The slight differences in the relative position of handlers under the proposed change do not appear to warrant the additional administrative measures which would be involved.

A proposal that deductions for marketing services be made only upon specific authorization of the individual producers should not be adopted. It is an essential part of the verification of proper payments by handlers to producers that weighing, testing, and similar services be carried out, either by the market administrator or by a qualified association.

General findings. (a) The proposed marketing agreement and the order and all of the terms and conditions thereof will tend to effectuate the declared policy of the act;

(b) The parity prices of milk as determined pursuant to section 2 of the act are not reasonable in view of the price of feeds, available supplies of feeds, and other economic conditions which affect market supply of and demand for milk in the marketing area, and the minimum prices specified in the proposed marketing agreement and the order are such prices as will reflect the aforesaid factors, insure a sufficient quantity of pure and wholesome milk, and be in the public interest; and

(c) The proposed order will regulate the handling of milk in the same manner as, and will be applicable only to persons in the respective classes of industrial and commercial activity specified in a marketing agreement upon which a hearing has been held.

Rulings on proposed findings and conclusions. Briefs were filed on behalf of producers and certain handlers. The briefs contained proposed findings of fact, conclusions and argument with respect to the proposals discussed at the hearing. Every point covered in the briefs was carefully considered along with the evidence in the record in making the findings and reaching the conclusions hereinbefore set forth. To the extent that such suggested findings and conclusions contained in the briefs are inconsistent with the findings and conclusions contained herein the request to make such findings or to reach such conclusions are denied on the basis of the facts found and stated in connection with the conclusions in this decision.

Recommended marketing agreement and order as amended. The following amendments to the order, as amended, are recommended as the detailed and appropriate means by which the foregoing conclusions may be carried out. [7 CFR Part 941]

HANDLING OF MILK IN CHICAGO, ILL., MARKETING AREA

DECISION WITH RESPECT TO PROPOSED MARKETING AGREEMENT AND PROPOSED ORDER AMENDING ORDER, AS AMENDED

Pursuant to the provisions of the Agricultural Marketing Agreement Act of 1937, as amended (7 U. S. C. 601 et seq.), and the applicable rules of practice and procedure, as amended, governing proceedings to formulate marketing agreements and marketing orders (7 CFR Part 900), a public hearing was conducted at Chicago, Illinois, on April 14-17, 1952, pursuant to notice thereof which was issued on March 24, 1952 (17 F. R. 2683).

Upon the basis of the evidence introduced at the hearing and the record thereof, the Assistant Administrator, Production and Marketing Administration, on July 8, 1952, filed with the Hearing Clerk, United States Department of Agriculture, his recommended decision. Notice of such recommended decision and opportunity to file written exceptions thereto was published in the FEDERAL REGISTER on July 12, 1952 (F. R. Doc. 52-7634) (17 F. R. 6276).

The material issues and the findings and conclusions of the recommended decision (F. R. Doc. 52-7634, 17 F. R. 6276) are hereby approved and adopted as the findings and conclusions of this decision as if set forth in full herein subject to the following revisions:

1. Delete the fifth paragraph beginning in Column 2, 17 F. R. 6278 and substitute therefor the following:

A suggestion was made to remove Shelby County, Illinois, from the presently defined surplus milk manufacturing area. Recently a plant located in this county which had been a "pool plant" became an unregulated plant. However, the record does not indicate that the facilities at such plant will not continue to be available for the disposal of reserve quantities of milk from pool plants. This county should be retained for the present as part of the surplus milk manufacturing area.

2. Delete the third, fourth, fifth, and sixth paragraphs in Column 3, 17 F. R. 6278, all of Column 1, 17 F. R. 6279, and Column 2, 17 F. R. 6279 as far as the third paragraph beginning in such column and substitute therefor the following:

(5) A milk price formula based on Cheddar cheese price quotations should not be adopted at this time as one of the basic formula prices in the Chicago order; the butter-cheese formula should be deleted from the basic formula price provisions; and milk utilized in the manufacture of cheese (other than cottage cheese) should continue to be priced under the present Class IV (butter-nonfat dry milk solids) price formula.

The basic formula price used to determine Class I and Class II prices is presently the higher of either the Class III or Class IV prices as computed for the preceding month. Specifically, this may be one of three formula prices which are: The average condensery pay price, the butter-nonfat dry milk solids formula, or the butter-cheese formula. Class I and Class II prices for the month are determined by adding to this basic formula price the appropriate Class I and II price differentials subject to an adjustment based on changes in the supply-demand relationship.

The present provisions of Order 41 classify all milk used in the manufacture of cheese other than cottage cheese as Class IV milk and as such its price is established each month by the butter-nonfat dry milk solids formula.

There were two proposals submitted relating to a cheese price formula. One producer association proposed that the formula be 2.75 times the simple average, as published by the Department, or prices per pound for "Cheddars" on the Wisconsin Cheese Exchange at Plymouth, Wisconsin, for the trading days that fall within the month, with the result multiplied by 3.5. It was proposed that the price resulting from this formula be substituted for the butter-cheese formula as a basic formula price and that in addition it be used to price milk utilized in Class IV for the manufacture of cheese. The second proposal was made by another producer association and in effect stated that in the event that milk used in cheese were to be classified and priced separately such milk should be priced by the following formula: 9.745 times the average price of Cheddars on the Wisconsin Cheese Exchange as now published by the market administrator plus 0.28 times the average price of 92-score butter at Chicago plus 86 percent of the price per hundredweight for whey reported for the month by the Western Condensing Company at Appelton, Wisconsin. From this amount subtract $0.494 per hundredweight and the result would be the price per hundredweight, on a 3.5 percent butterfat basis, for milk utilized in cheese.

The record shows that the first proposal is intended to produce a price level which will correspond closely to the average of prices paid to dairy farmers by Wisconsin cheese factories for milk used in the manufacture of cheese. It was stated that the factor 2.75 is intended to be a figure which when multiplied by the Wisconsin Cheese Exchange quotation for Cheddars will approximate the price per pound of butterfat paid to farmers by cheese factories. Considerable evidence was submitted for the record which related this formula price to the average price paid farmers by Wisconsin cheese factories as reported by the Department and by the Wisconsin State Department of Agriculture. In essence this formula is designed to measure the value of milk used for cheese from the standpoint of competitive "pay" prices as differentiated from the "cost and yield" method. Reduced to its simplest form this formula is 9.625 times the average Cheddar cheese price (3.5 times 2.75=9.625).

The second cheese formula is designed to measure the value of milk used in the manufacture of Cheddar cheese by the use of a cost and yield method. Evidence submitted by the cooperative proposing this formula included cost data from its own plant to substantiate a $0.494 per cwt. manufacturing allowance. At the same time proponents testified that they were not proposing to substitute their formula to lower the Class IV price if the present Class IV formula could continue as the basis for pricing milk utilized in cheese manufacture. Their formula was offered for consideration in the event it were decided that milk used for cheese should be classified and priced separately from milk used for butter and other Class IV milk products. The proponents of this formula offered no criticism of pricing milk used for cheese at the butter-nonfat dry milk solids formula price other than that market fluctuations in prices between butter and cheese cause returns from a cheese operation to fluctuate widely in some months when the milk is so priced.

Since the production of cheese has been increasing in recent years and represents a major use of milk in the Chicago supply area, a formula based on Cheddar cheese would be appropriate as one of the basic price formulas under the Chicago order. Under current conditions the butter-cheese formula does not fully reflect the value of milk utilized by cheese factories in the production area. Proponents of the first cheese formula discussed above have focused attention upon the growing importance of cheese manufacture as a factor in the determination of the price level for manufacturing milk to which Chicago milk prices are related. As a basic price formula their suggested cheese formula would employ a factor to relate market prices for cheese to prices paid to dairy farmers by representative cheese factories based upon the average relationship between the two price series over a considerable period of time. Statistical examination indicates that important short-run relationships of cheese prices to farm prices for milk manufactured into cheese may not be reflected by the suggested formula to the degree desired in establishing a basic formula price by this method. It is concluded that prior to the adoption of the formula as one of the alternates for computing the basic formula price it be further reviewed in hearing when the opportunity is presented. For these reasons the cheese price formula should not be incorporated in the order at this time.

The pricing of milk under the order which is utilized in the manufacture of cheese by either of the suggested formulas presents certain problems, among which is the pricing of milk used for cheeses not of the Cheddar type. At present all cheese other than cottage cheese is classified as Class IV milk and is priced at the butter-nonfat dry milk solids formula price. While the present record contains evidence pertaining to Cheddar cheese, it is concluded that the method of pricing other cheeses of the speciality type which represent a large proportion of the total quantity of cheese made from Order 41 milk should be given more consideration at a subsequent hearing before any change in the pricing of milk going into cheese is made.

3. Delete the third, fourth, fifth, and sixth paragraphs beginning in Column 1, 17 F. R. 6281 and substitute therefor the following:

(10) The average wholesale price of cheese (Cheddars) at Wisconsin primary markets should not be utilized at this time in connection with price formulas included in the order.

It was testified that price quotations are reported four days a week (excluding Fridays) for "Wisconsin primary markets" which are based on actual sales of cheese. There have been only a few instances in the past several years when sufficient sales have not been made on the Wisconsin primary markets on which to base a report. The Wisconsin Cheese Exchange at Plymouth, Wisconsin, on the other hand meets each Friday so that a quotation is available for only one day of each week. The volume of cheese sold on the Wisconsin Exchange is small in relation to the total volumes of cheese sold on Wisconsin primary markets. Moreover, there have been numerous occasions when no sales of cheese were made through the Wisconsin Cheese Exchange and at times such conditions have existed for a considerable period. It has been necessary therefore in connection with price formulas in the order to use prices for weeks when no sales were reported which were derived from either bids or offers rather than from actual sales. It appears that for the purposes of price formulas employing cheese prices the price of cheese at Wisconsin primary markets would be more satisfactory than the Exchange price. However, since the cheese formula proposed has not been adopted and the butter-cheese formula currently in the order is deleted in the attached amending order, there is no need for a revised cheese price quotation.

Rulings on exceptions. Exceptions relating to the findings, conclusions and amendment action recommended by the Assistant Administrator with respect to the recommended decision (F. R. Doc. 52–7634) were filed by the following parties:

1. Beatrice Foods Company et al.
2. Consolidated Badger Cooperative et al.
3. Baldwin Cooperative Creamery et al.
4. Galesburg Pure Milk Association.
5. Associated Milk Dealers, Inc.
6. Pure Milk Association.

In arriving at the findings, conclusions and amendment action decided in this decision, each of these exceptions was carefully and fully considered in conjunction with the record evidence pertaining thereto. To the extent that the findings, conclusions, and amendment action decided upon herein are at variance with the exceptions, such exceptions are overruled.

General findings. (a) The proposed marketing agreement and the order, as amended, and as hereby proposed to be further amended, and all of the terms and conditions thereof will tend to effectuate the declared policy of the act;

(b) The parity prices of milk as determined pursuant to section 2 of the act are not reasonable in view of the price of feeds, available supplies of feeds and other economic conditions which affect market supply and demand for milk in the marketing area, and the minimum prices specified in the tentative marketing agreement and in the order, as amended, and as hereby proposed to be further amended, are such prices as will reflect the aforesaid factors, insure a sufficient quantity of pure and wholesome milk and be in the public interest; and

(c) The order, as amended and as hereby proposed to be further amended, will regulate the handling of milk in the same manner as, and is applicable only to persons in the respective classes of industrial and commercial activity specified in, the said marketing agreement upon which a hearing has been held.

Determination of representative period. The month of February 1952 is hereby determined to be the representative period for the purpose of ascertaining whether the issuance of an order amending the order, as amended, regulating the handling of milk in the Chicago, Illinois, marketing area in the manner set forth in the attached amending order is approved or favored by producers who during such period were engaged in the production of milk for sale in the marketing area specified in such marketing order, as amended.

Annexed hereto and made a part hereof are two documents entitled respectively, "Marketing Agreement Regulating the Handling of Milk in the Chicago, Illinois, Marketing Area," and "Order Amending the Order, as Amended, Regulating the Handling of Milk in the Chicago, Illinois, Marketing Area," which have been decided upon as the detailed and appropriate means of effectuating the foregoing conclusions. These documents shall not become effective unless and until the requirements of § 900.14 of the rules of practice and procedure, as amended, governing proceedings to formulate marketing agreements and orders have been met.

It is hereby ordered, That all of this decision, except the attached marketing agreement, be published in the FEDERAL REGISTER. The regulatory provisions of said marketing agreement are identical with those contained in the order, as amended, and as hereby proposed to be further amended by the attached order which will be published with this decision.

This decision filed at Washington, D. C. this 13th day of August 1952.

Secretary of Agriculture.

Order[1] Amending the Order, as Amended, Regulating the Handling of Milk in the Chicago, Illinois, Marketing Area

§ 941.0 Findings and determinations. The findings and determinations hereinafter set forth are supplementary and in addition to the findings and determinations previously made in connection with the issuance of the aforesaid order and of the previously issued amendments thereto; and all of said previous findings and determinations are hereby ratified and affirmed, except insofar as such findings and determinations may be in conflict with the findings and determinations set forth herein.

(a) Findings upon the basis of the hearing record. Pursuant to the provisions of the Agricultural Marketing Agreement Act of 1937, as amended (hereinafter referred to as the "act") (7 U. S. C. 601 et seq.), and the rules of practice and procedure governing the formulation of marketing agreements and marketing orders (7 CFR Part 900) a public hearing was held upon certain proposed amendments to the tentative marketing agreement and to the order, as amended, regulating the handling of milk in the Chicago, Illinois, marketing area. Upon the basis of the evidence introduced at such hearing and the record thereof, it is found that:

(1) The said order, as amended, and as hereby further amended, and all of the terms and conditions of said order, as amended, and as hereby further amended, will tend to effectuate the declared policy of the act;

(2) The parity prices of milk as determined pursuant to section 2 of the act are not reasonable in view of the price of feeds, available supplies of feeds, and other economic conditions which affect market supply and demand for milk in the marketing area, and the minimum prices specified in the order, as amended, and as hereby further amended, are such prices as will reflect the aforesaid factors, insure a sufficient quantity of pure and wholesome milk, and be in the public interest; and

[1] This order shall not become effective unless and until the requirements of § 900.14 of the rules of practice and procedure governing proceedings to formulate marketing agreements and marketing orders have been met.

(3) The said order, as amended, and as hereby further amended, regulates the handling of milk in the same manner as, and is applicable only to persons in the respective classes of industrial and commercial activity specified in, a marketing agreement upon which hearings have been held.

Order relative to handling. It is therefore ordered, that on and after the effective date hereof, the handling of milk in the Chicago, Illinois, marketing area shall be in conformity to and in compliance with the terms and conditions of the aforesaid order, as amended, and as hereby further amended; and the aforesaid order, as amended, is hereby further amended as follows:

1. Add the following as § 941.17:

§ 941.17 Commercial food processor. "Commercial food processor" means any person engaged in processing food other than milk or cream in fluid form or ice cream.

2. Delete in the introductory language of § 941.40 the phrase "paragraph (b) of this section" and substitute therefor the reference "§ 941.41".

3. Delete § 941.40 (b) and substitute therefor the following:

(b) Any milk moved as milk or skim milk in fluid form, or as bulk condensed or concentrated milk containing not less than 2 percent nor more than 12 percent butterfat, from a regulated plant to any plant located outside the following area, referred to in this subpart as the "surplus milk manufacturing area", shall be classified as Class I milk, any milk so moved as cream in fluid form, frozen cream, other cream frozen, plastic cream, powdered cream, or any cream product in fluid form, including any bulk condensed, concentrated or evaporated milk product containing more than 12 percent butterfat, shall be classified as Class II milk, and any milk so moved as any other milk product containing butterfat shall be classified according to the form in which it leaves the plant of shipment: The State of Wisconsin; the counties of Stark, Marshall, Woodford, Livingston, Ford, Iroquois, Jo Daviess, Stephenson, Winnebago, Boone, McHenry, Lake, Carroll, Ogle, De Kalb, Kane, Cook, Du Page, Whiteside, Lee, Rock Island, Henry, Bureau, Putnam, La Salle, Kendall, Grundy, Will, Kankakee, Peoria, McLean, Champaign, Shelby, and Knox, in the State of Illinois; the Counties of Benton, White, Cass, Miami, Howard, Carroll, Tippecanoe, Tipton, Clinton, Fountain, Warren, Parke, Vermillion, Vigo, Sullivan, Lake, Newton, Porter, Jasper, La Porte, Starke, Pulaski, St. Joseph, Marshall, Fulton, Kosciusko, Wabash, and Elkart, in the State of Indiana; the Counties of Ottawa, Kent, Allegan, Barry, Calhoun, St. Joseph, Van Buren, Kalamazoo, Cass, and Berrien, in the State of Michigan; and the County of Van Wert in the State of Ohio: Provided, That any handler who causes producer milk to be delivered to a plant located outside the surplus milk manufacturing area during the period of a work stoppage at regulated plants due to a labor dispute between employer and employee, may request the market administrator in writing to classify such milk according to its utilization at the unregulated plant and the milk so delivered shall be classified under § 941.41 according to its utilization at the latter plant if (1) the market administrator determines that the volume of the Class I milk packaged by all pool plants as described in § 941.66 (a) has been reduced not less than 50 percent by such work stoppage, and (2) the unregulated plant makes its books and records of milk utilization available to the market administrator for audit verification purposes and the market administrator determines to his satisfaction that utilization of the milk so delivered can be established on the basis of adequate daily records. If the conditions described under subparagraphs (1) and (2) of this paragraph do not prevail the milk so delivered shall be classified as Class I milk.

4. Delete § 941.40 (d) and substitute therefor the following:

(d) Any milk moved as milk or skim milk in fluid form from a regulated plant to any unregulated plant located within the surplus milk manufacturing area which did not manufacture any of the products named in paragraph (c) of this section during the delivery period shall be classified as Class I milk, and any milk so moved as cream in fluid form shall be classified as Class II milk: Provided, That if such unregulated plant receives no milk, skim milk or cream from sources other than a regulated plant(s) and if satisfactory proof is furnished to the market administrator that any such milk, skim milk, or cream was in excess of the total amount used in Class I milk or Class II milk items, respectively (as defined in § 941.41) at the latter plant, such excess shall be classified according to its utilization.

5. Delete § 941.41 (c) (1) and substitute therefor the following:

(1) Condensed milk (sweetened or unsweetened) disposed of to commercial food processors located within the surplus milk manufacturing area, sweetened condensed milk in hermetically sealed cans, evaporated milk, whole milk powder, nonfat dry milk solids, and condensed skim milk (the products specified in this subparagraph are referred to in this subpart as Class III (a) milk);

6. Delete from the introductory language of § 941.52 (c) the phrase "the highest of the prices resulting from the respective formulas set forth in subparagraphs (1) and (2) of this paragraph" and substitute therefor the following: "the higher of the prices resulting from the formulas set forth in subparagraph (1) of this paragraph."

a. Delete § 941.52 (c) (2).

7. Delete in § 941.61 the reference "§ 971.70" and substitute therefor the reference "§ 941.70".

8. Replace the period at the end of § 941.61 with a colon and add the following proviso: "Provided, That if no source is indicated by the handler which may be verified by the market administrator, the milk or milk products shall be deemed to be 'overrun' and subject to the provisions of § 941.62 rather than to the conditions of this section."

9. Delete the third proviso of § 941.66 (c).

10. Delete § 941.67 and substitute therefor the following:

§ 941.67 Suspension of pool plants. (a) Any plant described in § 941.66 (b) shall be suspended automatically as a pool plant, such suspension to be effective during each of the delivery periods of March through July inclusive of the next succeeding year, unless:

(1) At least 50 percent of the butterfat in milk or at least 50 percent of the pounds of milk received from producers at such plant during each of the delivery periods of September, October and November is (i) shipped as milk, skim milk or cream in fluid form to a regulated plant(s), or (ii) disposed of from such plant as Class I milk or Class II milk within the surplus milk manufacturing area other than to a regulated plant; or

(2) Such plant gives notice to the market administrator in writing that during each of the delivery periods of September, October and November, it is willing to ship an amount of milk in fluid form to any regulated plant(s) which together with such amount of milk, skim milk and cream as it disposes of as Class I milk or Class II milk within the surplus milk manufacturing area (including shipments to any such plant(s)) in said delivery period shall include not less than 50 percent of the butterfat or not less than 50 percent of the pounds of milk received from producers during the delivery period to which said offer applies: Provided, That:

(i) Said notice shall contain at least the following information: The specific days on which the milk will be available; the amount of milk available on each of such days with the butterfat content thereof, and if such plant intends to offer its entire supply of milk for a particular day, the offer shall so state; and the price to be charged for the milk offered and the terms of sale;

(ii) Only those amounts of milk offered for sale on days that are at least 9 full days after the date on which said notice is postmarked shall be included in computing the total amount offered for the delivery period;

(iii) Only such amount of butterfat or product pounds which is sold on any day within the surplus milk manufacturing area as Class I milk or Class II milk as is in excess of the amount offered for sale on said day by said notice shall be considered in computing the amount actually sold on such day, but the entire amount of butterfat or product pounds so sold shall be considered if such sale occurs on a day on which no offer is made;

(iv) Only such amount of milk offered by said notice on any day shall be credited to the offer as is not in excess of the amount of milk received from producers on said day.

(3) Upon receipt of said notice the market administrator shall make the offer and terms thereof public by transmitting the same to all handlers not later than one business day after receiving the notice.

UNIVERSITY OF MICHIGAN LIBRARY

(4) Any handler who desires to accept an offer shall notify the offering plant, or the person whom the offering handler has designated as his agent to receive acceptance, of his willingness to accept such offer at least 4 days prior to the date on which the milk is available for purchase. If the offering plant or its agent refuses to sell and deliver the milk to the handler accepting the offer and such handler so notifies the market administrator, he shall verify the refusal to sell by communicating with the offering plant or its agent. If upon subsequent audit and investigation the market administrator determines that such milk had not actually been shipped to a regulated plant serving the marketing area, the offer for said day shall be considered null and void, and in determining the plant's compliance with this section consideration shall be given only to sales occurring on such day.

(5) In computing required percentages of milk, skim milk, and cream on a product pound basis any sales of concentrated milk or condensed skim milk to a regulated plant shall be based upon the quantity of the milk or skim milk used in its production rather than upon the quantity of concentrated milk or condensed skim milk sold.

(b) The market administrator shall maintain at his office a list of plants (including plant location and name of operator) suspended pursuant to this section which shall be made available to any interested person upon request and which he may from time to time transmit to all handlers in the market.

(c) Any milk or milk product received at a regulated plant from a plant during any period of suspension pursuant to this section shall be other source milk.

(d) Suspension of any pool plant shall not be terminated or affected by transfer of ownership through sale or otherwise.

11. Delete § 941.68 (a) and substitute therefor the following:

(a) Milk or any milk product disposed of within the Chicago, Illinois, marketing area (other than to a regulated plant) as any item of Class I milk or Class II milk from a plant receiving milk subject to the class price provisions of a marketing agreement or order issued pursuant to the act for another marketing area shall not be subject to the class price provisions of this order or to §§ 941.80 through 941.88.

12. Delete that portion of § 941.70 prior to paragraph (a) and substitute the following:

§ 941.70 Net pool obligation(s) of handlers. On or before the 14th day of each delivery period the market administrator shall examine for mathematical correctness and obvious errors the report of receipts and utilization submitted by each handler for the preceding delivery period and shall make such corrections as such examination shall indicate to be appropriate. A separate net pool obligation for Grade A milk and Grade B milk shall be computed for each handler (based upon his reports as corrected), as follows:

Order of the Secretary Directing That a Referendum Be Conducted Among the Producers Supplying Milk in the Chicago, Illinois, Marketing Area, and Designation of an Agent to Conduct Such Referendum

Pursuant to section 8c (19) of the Agricultural Marketing Agreement Act of 1937, as amended (7. U. S. C. 608c (19)), it is hereby directed that a referendum be conducted among the producers (as defined in the order, as amended, regulating the handling of milk in the Chicago, Illinois, marketing area) who, during the month of February 1952 were engaged in the production of milk for sale in the marketing area specified in the aforesaid order to determine whether such producers favor the issuance of the order which is a part of the decision of the Secretary of Agriculture filed simultaneously herewith.

Jesse L. Cook is hereby designated agent of the Secretary to conduct such referendum in accordance with the procedure for the conduct of referenda to determine producer approval of milk marketing orders as published in the FEDERAL REGISTER on August 10, 1950 (15 F. R. 5177).

[7 CFR Part 973]

HANDLING OF MILK IN MINNEAPOLIS-ST. PAUL, MINN., MARKETING AREA

DECISION WITH RESPECT TO PROPOSED MARKETING AGREEMENT AND TO ORDER AMENDING ORDER, AS AMENDED

Pursuant to the provisions of the Agricultural Marketing Agreement Act of 1937, as amended (7 U. S. C. 601 et sec.), and the applicable rules of practice and procedure, as amended, governing the formulation of marketing agreements and marketing orders (7 CFR Part 900), a public hearing was held at Minneapolis, Minnesota, on July 16, 1952, pursuant to notice thereof which was issued on July 2, 1952 (17 F. R. 6201) upon proposed amendments to the tentative marketing agreement and to the order, as amended, regulating the handling of milk in the Minneapolis-St. Paul, Minnesota, marketing area.

The material issues on the record related to (1) increasing the level of the Class I differential, (2) increasing the "make allowance" in the Class II price, and (3) whether the facts presented on the record warrant the omission of a recommended decision and exceptions thereto.

Findings and conclusions. The following findings and conclusions on these issues are based upon the evidence introduced at the hearing and the record pertaining thereto.

(1) The Class I differentials should be revised upward.

This market is faced with a severe shortage of milk during the next few months, unless steps are taken to increase the level of Class I prices relative to those in effect in the Chicago market. In that area of Wisconsin immediately adjacent to the Minneapolis-St. Paul market there are several plants which are regulated by the Chicago marketing order. These plants are in competition with Minneapolis-St. Paul plants for the Grade A milk supply produced in the area. As a result of recent amendments to the Chicago order, Minneapolis and St. Paul plants are at a competitive disadvantage and handlers have for several months paid substantial premiums in order to retain their present supply.

In addition to the Chicago plants, there are in the supply area, both in Wisconsin and Minnesota, plants whose principal outlets are the deficit producing areas of the South and Southwest. For some time these plants have paid higher prices than the uniform prices announced by the market administrator for competing plants subject to the Minneapolis-St. Paul, marketing order.

At the time the order was last amended, the Class I differential averaged 8.5 cents less than the Class I differential provided in the Chicago order. Since then the Class I prices provided in the Minneapolis-St. Paul order have fallen far below the levels prevailing in the Chicago order. As a result of a recent amendment to the latter order, the Class I differentials were increased to a point where they now average 24 cents higher than the differentials in the Minneapolis-St. Paul market. In addition the Chicago order provides that the Class I price shall be adjusted each month as the relationship of sales to receipts varies from the established norm. For the month of July 1952 the Class I price was increased an additional 15 cents because of this adjustment. An analysis of supply and demand conditions in the Chicago market indicates that for the next several months the adjustment will average very close to the 15 cents reflected for the month of July. It appears therefore that the average difference in the differentials in the two markets for the next several months will average approximately 39 cents.

An offsetting factor which must be considered in a comparison of differentials between the two markets is the fact that the "butter-powder" formula, which is one of the alternatives used to determine the Class I price, in the Chicago order has been reduced several cents since the latest amendment to the Minneapolis-St. Paul order. During the 30-month period, January 1950 to June 1952, the "butter-powder" formula in the Minneapolis-St. Paul order was the effective formula during 19 months. Had the butter-powder formula of the Chicago order been in effect it would have determined the Class I price in only 8 of these months and the Class I price would have averaged 6.1 cents lower for the period.

A proposal was made to change the "butter-powder" formula, which is also the Class II price, to correspond to the formula in Chicago. For reasons discussed below it has been determined that no change should be made in this formula at the present time.

In order to restore a proper relationship between Chicago and Minneapolis-St. Paul prices, it appears necessary to increase the differentials in the Minneapolis-St. Paul order substantially, especially during the months of July through November, in each of which it has been necessary for the past few years to import emergency supplies to meet the needs of the market. Accordingly the differentials should be increased to 70 cents during the months of January through April, to 60 cents during the months of May and June, to $1.10 during the months of July through November, and to 80 cents during the month of December.

In their proposal producers advocated that the differentials be adjusted each month by the amount that the "supply-demand" ratio in the Chicago order affects the Chicago price. As noted above it appears that the "supply-demand" factor in the Chicago order will result in an average increase of 15 cents in the Chicago price during the next several months. The Minneapolis-St. Paul differential has been adjusted by this amount, but it has been applied seasonally to encourage a greater production of milk during the months of July through November.

It would appear desirable to establish a supply and demand factor for the Minneapolis-St. Paul market, based on conditions in that market rather than on conditions in the Chicago market. However, the record fails to provide data on which an adequate analysis of the market supply and demand relationship can be determined. As a temporary expedient to correct the present maladjustment between the two markets, the adoption of the proposed differentials should suffice.

It is contemplated that a hearing on a complete revision of the provisions of the Minneapolis-St. Paul order will be conducted in the immediate future. It is expected that sufficient data will be developed and entered in the record of the hearing, to provide a basis for establishing a pattern of differentials which will adjust themselves to changing competitive conditions while developing and maintaining a sufficient supply of milk for the market.

(2) No change should be made in the Class II price at the present time.

The record of the hearing does not provide sufficient basis for changing the present formula. The only reason advanced in support of the change was the fact that the proposal was identical to the Class IV price in the Chicago market. There is a wide difference in the products classified as Class II in the Minneapolis-St. Paul market and those classified as Class IV in the Chicago market.

The record does not contain a breakdown of yield and cost factors, nor does it contain any information with respect to the relative positions of plants producing different products. There can be little doubt that the manufacture of certain Class II products may be fairly profitable while the manufacture of other products may result in actual loss to the processor. On these points, however, the record is silent.

Accordingly it must be concluded that any revision of the Class II should be postponed until the forthcoming hearing at which time all of the factors bearing on its proper pricing can be thoroughly explored.

(3) The due and timely execution of the function of the Secretary of Agriculture under the act imperatively and unavoidably requires the omission of a recommended decision by the Assistant Administrator, Production and Marketing Administration, and exceptions thereto.

Immediate action must be taken if an amendment is to meet effectively the urgent supply and demand problem sought to be alleviated and relieve the disorderly marketing conditions which threaten the stability of the market. With respect to such problem, the critical situation will be aggravated on and after September 1, 1952. The delay necessarily involved in the preparation, filing, and publication of a recommended decision and exceptions thereto would defeat the purposes of the amendment.

Every point covered in the briefs filed by interested parties was carefully considered along with the record evidence in making the findings and reaching the conclusions hereinbefore set forth. To the extent that the findings and conclusions proposed in the briefs are inconsistent with the findings and conclusions contained herein, the request to make such findings or to reach such conclusions is denied on the bases of the facts found and stated in connection with the conclusions in this decision.

General findings and conclusions. (a) The proposed marketing agreement and the order amending the order, as amended, and all of the terms and conditions thereof will tend to effectuate the declared policy of the act;

(b) The parity prices for milk determined pursuant to section 2 of the act are not reasonable in view of the price of feeds, available supplies of feeds, and other economic conditions which affect market supply of and demand for milk in the marketing area, and the minimum prices specified in the proposed marketing agreement and the order amending the order, as amended, are such prices as will reflect the aforesaid factors, insure a sufficient quantity of pure and wholesome milk and be in the public interest; and

(c) The proposed order amending the order, as amended, will regulate the handling of milk in the same manner as and will be applicable only to persons in the respective classes of industrial and commercial activity specified in a marketing agreement upon which a hearing has been held.

Determination of representative period. The month of May 1952 is hereby determined to be the representative period for the purpose of ascertaining whether the issuance of an order amending the order, as amended, regulating the handling of milk in the Minneapolis-St. Paul, Minnesota, marketing area in the manner set forth in the attached amending order is approved or favored by producers who during such period were engaged in the production of milk for sale in the marketing area specified in such marketing order, as amended.

MARKETING AGREEMENT AND ORDER

Annexed hereto and made a part hereof are two documents entitled "Marketing Agreement Regulating the Handling of Milk in the Minneapolis-St. Paul, Minnesota, Marketing Area," and "Order Amending the Order, as Amended, Regulating the Handling of Milk in the Minneapolis-St. Paul, Minnesota, Marketing Area" which have been decided upon as the appropriate and detailed means of effecting the foregoing conclusions. These documents shall not become effective unless and until the requirements of § 900.14 of the rules of practice and procedure governing proceedings to formulate marketing agreements and marketing orders have been met.

It is hereby ordered, That all of this decision except the attached marketing agreement, be published in the FEDERAL REGISTER. The regulatory provisions of said marketing agreement are identical to those contained in the attached order amending the order as amended which will be published with this decision.

This decision filed at Washington, D. C., this 13th day of August 1952.

[SEAL] CHARLES F. BRANNAN,
Secretary.

Order[1] Amending the Order, as Amended, Regulating the Handling of Milk in the Minneapolis-St. Paul, Minnesota, Marketing Area

§ 973.0 Findings and determinations. The findings and determinations hereinafter set forth are supplementary to and in addition to the findings and determinations made in connection with the issuance of this order; and all previous findings and determinations are hereby ratified and affirmed, except insofar as such findings and determinations may be in conflict with the findings and determinations set forth herein.

(a) Findings upon the basis of the hearing record. Pursuant to Public Act No. 10, 73d Congress (May 12, 1933), as amended and as reenacted and amended by the Agricultural Marketing Agreement Act of 1937, as amended (hereinafter referred to as the "act"), and the rules of practice and procedure governing the formulation of marketing agreements and orders (7 CFR, supps., 900.1 et seq.), a public hearing was held at Minneapolis, Minnesota, on July 16, 1952, upon a proposed amendment to the tentative marketing agreement and to the order, as amended, regulating the handling of milk in the Minneapolis-St. Paul, Minnesota, marketing area. Upon the basis of the evidence introduced at such hearing and the record thereof, it is hereby found that:

(1) The said order, as hereby amended, and all of the terms and conditions of said order as hereby amended, will tend to effectuate the declared policy of the act.

[1] This order shall not become effective unless and until the requirements of § 900.14 of the rules of practice and procedure governing proceedings to formulate marketing agreements and orders have been met.

(2) The parity prices of milk as determined pursuant to section 2 of the act are not reasonable in view of the price of feeds, available supplies of feeds, and other economic conditions which affect market supply of and demand for such milk and the minimum prices specified in the order, as hereby amended, are such prices as will reflect the aforesaid factors, insure a sufficient quantity of pure and wholesome milk and be in the public interest; and

(3) The said order, as hereby amended, regulates the handling of milk in the same manner as and is applicable only to persons in the respective classes of industrial and commercial activity specified in a marketing agreement upon which a hearing has been held.

Order relative to handling. It is therefore ordered, that on and after the effective date hereof, the handling of milk in the Minneapolis-St. Paul, Minnesota, marketing area shall be in conformity to and in compliance with the terms and conditions of the aforesaid order, as hereby amended, and the aforesaid order is hereby amended as follows:

Delete § 973.50 (a) and substitute therefor the following:

(a) For Class I milk. The price shall be the basic price determined pursuant to § 973.51 plus 70 cents during the delivery periods of January to April, inclusive; plus 60 cents during May and June; plus $1.10 during the delivery periods of July to November, inclusive; and plus 80 cents during December.

4. The proposed amendment to the rules is issued under the authority of sections 303 (c), (f) and (r) of the Communications Act of 1934, as amended, the Final Acts of the International Telecommunication and Radio Conferences, Atlantic City (1947) and the Agreement concluded at the Extraordinary Administrative Radio Conference (Geneva, 1951).

5. Any interested person who is of the opinion that the proposed amendment should not be adopted may file with the Commission on or before September 15, 1952, a written statement or brief setting forth his comments. [Docket No. 10276]

AERONAUTICAL SERVICES

NOTICE OF PROPOSED RULE MAKING

In the matter of amendment of §§ 9.321 (e), 9.331 (a), and 9.412 (b) of the Commission's rules and regulations Governing Aeronautical Services; Docket No. 10276.

1. Notice is hereby given of proposed rule making in the above-entitled matter.

2. It is proposed to amend §§ 9.321 (e), 9.331 (a), and 9.412 (b) of Part 9 of the Commission's rules and regulations governing Aeronautical Services as set forth below to implement that portion of the Agreement concluded at the Extraordinary Administrative Radio Conference (Geneva, 1951) which made the frequency 3023.5 available for assignment to aircraft.

3. The Radio Regulations of the International Telecommunication Union, Atlantic City, 1947, allocated, among others, the frequency band 2850–3025 kilocycles to the aeronautical mobile (R) service, and allocated, among others, the frequency band 3025–3155 kilocycles to the aeronautical mobile (OR) service.

4. Frequencies in the bands allocated to the aeronautical (R) service are reserved for communications between any aircraft and those aeronautical stations primarily concerned with the safety and regularity of flight along national or international air routes.

5. Frequencies in the bands allocated to the aeronautical (OR) service are reserved for communications between any aircraft and aeronautical stations other than those primarily concerned with flight along national or international civil air routes.

6. Based upon the decisions of the International Administrative Aeronautical Radio Conference (I. A. A. R. C.), Geneva, 1948–49, the Extraordinary Administrative Radio Conference (Geneva, 1951) agreed, among other things, that a frequency common to the previously mentioned R and OR bands, namely 3023.5 kilocycles, would be authorized for world wide use aboard aircraft for (1) communications with approach and airdrome control stations, (2) communications with an aeronautical station when other frequencies of the station are either unavailable or unknown, and (3) intercommunication between mobile stations engaged in coordinated search and rescue operations at the scene of a disaster. These communications are presently conducted on the frequencies 3105, 4495, and 3000 kc, respectively. The proposed amended sections pertain only to the communications between civil aircraft and approach and airdrome control stations and do not pertain to any frequency changes affecting the communications presently conducted on the government frequencies 4495 and 3000 kc. It is understood that certain communications now conducted on the latter frequencies will also be transferred to 3023.5 kc.

7. Use of the frequency 3105 kilocycles by civil aviation, including listening watches on the ground, is to be discontinued since it is in the band, allocated on a world wide basis, to the aeronautical mobile (OR) service by the International Telecommunications Conference, Atlantic City, 1947.

8. The International Civil Aviation Organization (ICAO) has selected March 15, 1953, for the inauguration of certain new aeronautical mobile (R) service frequencies to be introduced in the North Atlantic Area. This action involves frequency changes which have an impact on the use of the frequencies 3105 and 3023.5 kc.

9. Pursuant to coordinated United States policy, the Commission proposes to make the frequency 3023.5 kc available for assignment in accordance with finalization of this proposed rule making. The ground watch on this frequency must be implemented by March 15, 1953, so that the present use of 3105 kc can be discontinued and the frequency can be occupied by the new user on that date. Until March 15, 1953 aircraft may continue to use 3105 kc and a ground watch must be kept on that frequency until that date.

10. The authority for the proposed amendment is contained in section 303 (c), (f), and (r) of the Communications Act of 1934, as amended, the Final Acts of the International Telecommunications and Radio Conferences, Atlantic City (1947) and the Agreement concluded at the Extraordinary Administrative Radio Conference (Geneva, 1951).

11. Any interested person may file with the Commission, on or before September 15, 1952, a written statement or brief in support of, or in opposition to, the proposed amendment. Comments or briefs in reply to the original comments or briefs may be filed within 15 days from the last day for filing the described original comments or briefs. The Commission will consider all comments, briefs, and statements before taking final action. If any comments are received which appear to warrant the Commission in holding an oral argument before final action is taken, notice of the time and place of such oral argument will be given such interested parties.

12. In accordance with the provisions of § 1.764 of the Commission's rules, an original and fourteen copies of all statements, briefs, or comments shall be furnished the Commission.

Adopted: August 6, 1952.

Released: August 8, 1952.

[SEAL] WM. P. MASSING,
Acting Secretary.

[F. R. Doc. 52-9028; Filed, Aug. 15, 1952; 8:47 a. m.]

1. Section 9.321 (e) is proposed to be amended to read as follows:

(e) 3023.5 kilocycles (or 3105 kc until March 15, 1953): Available to air carrier aircraft only where service on the appropriate very high frequency is not available or where service is suspended due to equipment failure.

2. Section 9.331 (a) is proposed to be amended to read as follows:

(a) 3023.5 kilocycles (or 3105 kc until March 15, 1953): Aircraft calling and working frequency for use by private aircraft.

3. Section 9.412 (b) is proposed to be amended to read as follows:

(b) The licensee of an airdrome control station shall without discrimination provide service for any and all aircraft. Such licensee shall maintain a continuous listening watch during its hours of operation on the aircraft calling and working frequencies 3023.5 kc (and 3105 kc until March 15, 1953) and 122.5 Mc., and on the emergency frequency 121.5 Mc.: Provided, however, That upon application therefor the Commission may exempt any station from the emergency frequency watch requirement, when a showing is made that such service is not required in the preservation of life and property in the air. Upon further notice a listening watch may be required on either the frequencies 122.7 or 122.9 megacycles.

TARIFF CLASSIFICATION

REPLIQUED ARTICLES

AUGUST 13, 1952.

A repliqued article is one ornamented with a pattern cut at the end of the basic material forming the article and then turned over and stitched to the body of the article thereby serving as a hem and also producing a highly decorative effect. The Bureau, by letter to the collector of customs, New York, New York, dated August 13, 1952, ruled that repliqued articles are dutiable under paragraph 1529, Tariff Act of 1930, as modified, either as articles in part of trimmings, if the ornamented part, if separated, would be commercially known as a trimming; or, otherwise, as appliqued articles under the same paragraph.

This ruling will be effective as to such or similar merchandise entered for consumption or withdrawn from warehouse for consumption after 30 days after the date of publication of the abstract of this decision in a forthcoming issue of the weekly Treasury Decisions.

WMRO, INC. (WMRO)

ORDER CONTINUING HEARING

In re application of WMRO, Incorporated (WMRO) Aurora, Illinois, for renewal of license of station WMRO, File No. BR-995, Docket No. 10190.

The Commission having under consideration a petition filed August 5, 1952, by WMRO, Incorporated (WMRO), Aurora, Illinois, for an indefinite continuance of the hearing now scheduled in Washington, D. C., on August 11, 1952; and

It appearing that on July 17, 1952, on the basis of a petition and supplemental petition filed by petitioner on July 15 and 16, 1952, a continuance of the hearing on the above-entitled matter then scheduled for July 21, 1952, was granted to August 11, 1952; that said initial continuance was granted in part on the basis of petitioner's statement that it was in the process of preparing for filing a petition for reconsideration and grant and that additional time for that purpose was necessary; that petitioner now alleges it has been unable to complete preparation of such a petition but will do so on or before August 11, 1952; that a grant of said petition for reconsideration would obviate the necessity for a hearing; that petitioner is the only party to this proceeding and that the counsel for the Broadcast Bureau does not oppose a grant of this request for indefinite continuance, and has consented to immediate consideration of this petition so that the provisions of § 1.745 of our rules have been met; that no party or the public interest would be adversely affected by a grant of this petition;

Therefore, it is ordered, This 5th day of August 1952, that the petition of WMRO, Incorporated (WMRO), Aurora, Illinois, for indefinite continuance is granted and the hearing on the above-entitled matter now scheduled for August 11, 1952 is continued without date, subject to further order of the Commission.

OFFICE OF DEFENSE MOBILIZATION

[Defense Manpower Policy No. 4. Notification 56]

PLACEMENT OF PROCUREMENT IN THE MILFORD, MASS., AREA

NOTIFICATION TO DEPARTMENT OF DEFENSE AND GENERAL SERVICES ADMINISTRATION

The Surplus Manpower Committee, appointed under Defense Manpower Policy No. 4, has reported to the Director of Defense Mobilization its findings and recommendation in the matter of placement of procurement in the Milford area. The recommendation has been reviewed within the Office of Defense Mobilization to determine its relationship to other polices affecting procurement for which this Office has responsibility and no conflicts exist.

The Department of Defense and the General Services Administration are hereby notified that upon full consideration, the Director of Defense Mobilization has concluded that it is in the public interest to give preference to the Milford area, with the exception of the textile and apparel industries located in that area, in the placement of Government contracts, in accordance with the attached findings of the Committee and the provisions of Defense Manpower Policy No. 4. The Department of Defense and the General Services Administration are hereby requested to take the actions specified in paragraph 6 of section III of Defense Manpower Policy No. 4.

The textile and apparel industries are excluded from the provisions of this notification pursuant to Notification 38 dated June 4, 1952, and Notification 53 dated July 19, 1952.

The Department of Defense and the General Services Administration are requested to submit the first written report of the actions taken under this notification on September 15, 1952, and thereafter each 30 days until further notice.

OFFICE OF DEFENSE MOBILIZATION,
JOHN R. STEELMAN,
Acting Director.

FINDINGS AND RECOMMENDATION OF THE SURPLUS MANPOWER COMMITTEE CONCERNING THE MILFORD, MASSACHUSETTS AREA UNDER DEFENSE MANPOWER POLICY NO. 4

Under date of July 22, 1952, the Defense Manpower Administration of the Department of Labor certified to this Committee, under Defense Manpower Policy No. 4, the existence of the Milford area as a surplus labor area under standards established by the Secretary of Labor. The Milford area is composed of the towns of Hopedale, Mendon, Milford, Northbridge, Upton, and Uxbridge in Worcester County and towns of Medway and Millis in Norfolk County.

On the basis of information contained in the files of the Committee and furnished by the Department of Labor relative to the manpower situation in the Milford area, and by the Boston Regional Defense Mobilization Committee relative to facilities in the Milford area, the Committee makes the following findings and recommendation:

FINDINGS

The Committee finds:

1. That the Milford area, as defined by the Defense Manpower Administration, is an area of current labor surplus, including a surplus of manpower possessing skills necessary to the fulfillment of Government contracts;

2. That there exist in the Milford area a comparatively small number of suitable facilities for the performance of additional Government contracts;

3. That in order to accomplish the objectives of Defense Manpower Policy No. 4, the public interest dictates the need for the negotiation of available Government contracts at reasonable prices in the Milford area provided that a substantial portion of the work involved in the execution of the contracts will be performed in the Milford area, and provided further that contractors in the said area will be afforded the opportunity to meet prices obtainable in any labor market area classified by the Department of Labor as Group I, II, or III.

4. That no price differential for the Milford area is considered necessary in order to effectuate the objectives of Defense Manpower Policy No. 4, provided that the operations under the notification recommended herein will be reviewed within a reasonable period of time to determine whether the establishment of an appropriate maximum price differential is required in order to effectuate Defense Manpower Policy No. 4 for the Milford area.

RECOMMENDATION

The Committee recommends that the Director of Defense Mobilization conclude that it is in the public interest to give preference to the Milford area in the placement of contracts in accordance with the Committee's findings, and that the Director so notify the Secretary of Defense and the Administrator of the General Services Administration.

OFFICE OF DEFENSE MOBILIZATION,
ARTHUR S. FLEMMING,
Chairman,
Surplus Manpower Committee.

Approved:

JOHN R. STEELMAN,
Acting Director,
Office of Defense Mobilization.

[File No. 70-2906]

ARLINGTON GAS LIGHT CO., ET AL.

NOTICE OF FILING REGARDING ISSUANCE OF PROMISSORY NOTES

AUGUST 12, 1952.

In the matter of Arlington Gas Light Company, Beverly Gas and Electric Company, Central Massachusetts Gas Company, Gloucester Gas Light Company, Lawrence Gas and Electric Company, Malden and Melrose Gas Light Company, Northampton Gas Light Company, Northern Berkshire Gas Company, Salem Gas Light Company, Suburban Gas and Electric Company, Wachusett Gas Company, File No. 70-2906.

Notice is hereby given that the above-named public-utility subsidiary companies of New England Electric System, a registered holding company, hereinafter individually referred to as "Arlington", "Beverly", "Central Mass.", "Gloucester Gas", "Lawrence", "Malden Gas", "Northern Berkshire", "Salem Gas", "Suburban" and "Wachusett" and collectively referred to as the "borrowing companies", have filed applications, pursuant to the Public Utility Holding Company Act of 1935, and have designated section 6 (b) of the act and Rules U-23, U-42 (b) (2) and U-50 (a) (2) thereunder as applicable to the proposed transactions, which are summarized as follows:

The borrowing companies propose to issue to The National City Bank of New York before September 5, 1952, unsecured promissory notes in an aggregate amount of $4,540,000. Said notes will be payable in ten equal instalments beginning on September 1, 1953 and ending on September 1, 1962. Interest on the annual instalments payable September 1, 1953, and September 1, 1954, will be at the rate of 3¼ percent pen annum, on the annual instalments payable September 1, 1955, through September 1, 1957, at the rate of 3½ percent per annum and on the annual instalments payable September 1, 1958, through September 1, 1962 at the rate of 3¾ percent per annum or an over-all cost of money for the ten-year period of 3.668 percent. Under certain conditions, the notes may be prepaid, in whole or in part without premium.

The applications state that the Massachusetts Department of Public Utilities has granted all of the borrowing companies, except Gloucester Gas and Wachusett, authority to amortize the costs of conversion to the use of natural gas over a period of ten years and that it is expected that the Massachusetts Commission will authorize a like period of amortization for these two companies. The amount of the note each borrowing company proposes to issue is set forth in the table below and, in each case, such amount is substantially equal to the estimated amount of unamortized conversion costs at August 31, 1952. The proceeds of the proposed notes will be applied solely to the payment of short-term note indebtedness incurred or to be incurred by the borrowing companies for costs of conversion to the use of natural gas.

	Amount of proposed notes	Estimated amount of notes outstanding after reduction of short-term indebtedness
Arlington	$995,000	$1,435,000
Beverly	285,000	1,990,000
Central Massachusetts	200,000	400,000
Gloucester Gas	125,000	625,000
Lawrence	835,000	1,415,000
Malden Gas	1,240,000	2,760,000
Northampton	195,000	305,000
Northern Berkshire	220,000	1,080,000
Salem Gas	280,000	1,170,000
Suburban	325,000	1,225,000
Wachusett	170,000	430,000
Total	4,540,000	12,835,000

The applications further state that incidental services in connection with the proposed note issues will be performed, at cost, by New England Power Service Company, an affiliated service company, such cost being estimated not to exceed $500 for each of the borrowing companies, or an aggregate of $5,000. The applications further state that the Massachusetts Department of Public Utilities has jurisdiction over the proposed transactions and that no other state commission or Federal commission, other than this Commission, has jurisdiction over the proposed transactions.

The borrowing companies request that the Commission's order herein become effective forthwith upon issuance.

Notice is further given that any interested person may, not later than August 29, 1952, at 5:30 p. m., e. d. s. t., request the Commission in writing that a hearing be held on such matter, stating the nature of his interest, the reason or reasons for such request and the issues, if any, of fact or law proposed to be controverted, or he may request that he be notified if the Commission should order a hearing thereon. Any such request should be addressed: Secretary, Securities and Exchange Commission, 425 Second Street NW., Washington 25, D. C.

TITLE 14—CIVIL AVIATION

Chapter I—Civil Aeronautics Board

[Supp. 9, Amdt. 4]

PART 60—AIR TRAFFIC RULES

TRAFFIC PATTERNS; JUNEAU AIRPORT

The following rules are adopted for the purpose of prescribing traffic patterns for the Juneau (Alaska) Airport. The traffic patterns have been coordinated with interested segments of the aviation industry in Alaska, and are adopted without delay in order to promote safety of the flying public. Compliance with the notice, procedures, and effective date provisions of section 4 of the Administrative Procedure Act would be impracticable and contrary to the public interest, and therefore is not required. New § 60.18–6 is adopted to read:

§ 60.18–6 Traffic patterns for Juneau Airport (CAA rules which apply to § 60.18 (d). Aircraft taking off from or landing on the Juneau (Alaska) Airport shall adhere to the following traffic patterns and the altitudes made a part thereof, unless otherwise authorized by Air Traffic Control. The traffic patterns shall be contained within the air space described by a 3-mile horizontal radius of the Juneau Airport and extending vertically to 2,000 feet MSL.

(a) General. (1) Traffic patterns at the Juneau Airport shall be rectangular, and for each runway the traffic pattern shall be to the south side of the runway. (Chart 1 and 2) Taxi patterns shall conform to Chart 3.

(2) Light and heavy aircraft shall follow their respective patterns as indicated in this section. Light and heavy aircraft shall be distinguished as follows:

(i) Light aircraft. Aircraft which normally use a final approach true air speed of 100 m. p. h. or less.

(ii) Heavy aircraft. Aircraft which normally use a final approach true air speed greater than 100 m. p. h.

(b) Take-off—(1) Aircraft remaining in the traffic pattern—(i) Runway 7. (Chart 2):

(a) Light aircraft. Light aircraft remaining in the traffic pattern shall execute a 90° turn to the right after passing the end of the runway, climbing to a traffic altitude of 600 feet mean sea level, following the rectangular traffic pattern for Runway 7.

(b) Heavy aircraft. Heavy aircraft remaining in the traffic pattern shall execute a 90° turn to the right after passing the end of the runway, climbing to a traffic altitude of 1,200 feet MSL following the traffic pattern for Runway 7.

NOTE: An initial left turn following take-off is permitted to allow a larger radius for the cross wind and down wind turns to the right.

(ii) Runway 25. (Chart 1):

(a) Light aircraft. Light aircraft remaining in the traffic pattern shall execute a 90° turn to the left after passing the end of the runway, climbing to a traffic altitude of 600 feet MSL, following the rectangular traffic pattern for Runway 25.

(b) Heavy aircraft. Heavy aircraft remaining in the traffic pattern shall execute a 90° turn to the left after passing the end of the runway, climbing to a traffic altitude of 1200 feet MSL, following the traffic pattern for Runway 25.

NOTE: An immediate 10° to 15° turn will usually be desirable on take-off to pass over the "Cut" on Mendenhall Arm, followed later by the full cross wind turn.

(2) Departing aircraft—(i) Runway 7. (Chart 2):

(b) Heavy aircraft. Heavy aircraft shall depart by:

(1) Extending take-off leg beyond the traffic pattern area, or

(2) Continuing within the traffic pattern and departing from it by extending the down-wind leg beyond the traffic pattern area.

(ii) Runway 25. (Chart 1):

(a) Light aircraft. Light aircraft remaining in the traffic pattern shall execute a 90° turn to the left after passing the end of the runway, climbing to a traffic altitude of 600 feet MSL, following the rectangular traffic pattern for Runway 25.

(b) Heavy aircraft. Heavy aircraft remaining in the traffic pattern shall execute a 90° turn to the left after passing the end of the runway, climbing to a traffic altitude of 1200 feet MSL, following the traffic pattern for Runway 25.

(c) Touch-and-go. Touch-and-go operations shall be conducted in accordance with the traffic patterns for take-off.

(d) Low approach. Low approaches shall be conducted in accordance with the traffic patterns for take-off.

(c) Landing—(1) Runway 7. (Chart 2):

(2) Runway 25. (Chart 1):

(ii) Heavy aircraft. Heavy aircraft shall enter the traffic pattern at the end of the runway, descending to a traffic altitude of 1200 feet MSL, and execute a 90° turn to the right, and at the approximate mid-point of the initial cross-wind leg, execute a turn of 45° to the left.

(d) Exceptions. Aircraft may deviate from the traffic patterns prescribed in this section when necessary to avoid other aircraft, or when deviation is authorized by Air Traffic Control.

(e) Effective date. This section shall become effective 30 days after publication in the FEDERAL REGISTER.

(1) Extending take-off leg beyond the traffic pattern area, or

(2) Continuing within the traffic pattern and departing from it by extending the down-wind leg beyond the traffic pattern area.

TITLE 32A—NATIONAL DEFENSE, APPENDIX

Chapter III—Office of Price Stabilization, Economic Stabilization Agency

[Ceiling Price Regulation 15, Amdt. 18]

CPR 15—CEILING PRICES OF CERTAIN FOODS SOLD AT RETAIL IN GROUP 3 AND GROUP 4 STORES

CANNED BABY FOOD

Pursuant to the Defense Production Act of 1950, as amended, Executive Order 10161, and Economic Stabilization Agency General Order No. 2, this Amendment 18 to Ceiling Price Regulation 15 is hereby issued.

STATEMENT OF CONSIDERATIONS

This statement of considerations covers Amendment 18 to Ceiling Price Regulation 15 and Amendment 18 to Ceiling Price Regulation 16. These amendments are being issued simultaneously with Amendment 1 to Supplementary Regulation 107 of the General Ceiling Price Regulation. Amendment 1 to SR 107 permits manufacturers who have customarily sold and invoiced canned baby and junior foods on a "net price" basis to notify retailers purchasing from them that the retailers may calculate ceiling prices for sales of these items by applying their CPR 15 or CPR 16 markups to the "net cost" supplied by the manufacturers. The manufacturers are permitted to provide retailers with adjusted "net costs" which are to be arrived at by dividing the manufacturer's ceilings by .98. Use of this adjusted figure will offset the variation in retail ceilings arising out of the difference in billing practice of these manufacturers as compared to manufacturers who made a separate statement of cash discounts on their invoices. The reasons for this action are set forth in the Statement of Considerations accompanying Amendment 1 to SR 107. These amendments to CPR's 15 and 16 permit retailers to use these adjusted net costs when computing their ceiling prices.

In addition, these amendments require retailers to compute ceiling prices for canned baby foods on the basis of units of three. That is, retailers will henceforth figure their ceiling prices for canned baby food by using as their "net cost" the cost of three cans.

The Director has decided to take this latter action because it has come to his attention that processors of canned baby food were unable, because of the single unit method retailers formerly were required to use to compute net cost, to realize the Johnston earnings standard increase granted them by SR 107 without forcing the retailers to absorb the increase. Since it has been the generally prevailing practice of the retail grocery industry to sell canned baby foods in multiple units, with three the most common multiple unit, the Director has determined that a requirement that retailers must determine ceiling prices by computing "net cost" on a three can basis will more closely conform to their customary practice. It will, moreover, relieve them of the burden of absorbing the increase allowed under SR 107. Finally, it will result in simplification of administration of the retail grocers regulations. By virtue of these amendments, and consistently with the described change in fixing retail ceiling prices, retailers selling canned baby food must now offer for sale multiple units of three cans. They must, of course, also offer for sale single cans of baby food so as not to force consumers to make a multiple unit purchase. To determine ceiling prices for single units retailers must divide the ceiling prices of multiple units by three and adjust all fractions to the next higher cent.

In formulating this amendment the Director has consulted to the extent practicable with industry representatives, including trade association representatives and has given consideration to their recommendations. In his judgment the provisions of this amendment are generally fair and equitable, are necessary to effectuate the purposes of Title IV of the Defense Production Act of 1950, as amended, and comply with all the applicable standards of that act.

AMENDATORY PROVISIONS

Ceiling Price Regulation 15 is amended in the following respects:

1. Paragraph (a) of section 4 is revised by inserting after subparagraph (2) two new subparagraphs to read as follows:

(3) When figuring your net cost of canned baby food (Category #1, Table A), compute your net cost on a unit of three cans to the nearest half-cent. (Fractions of exactly one-quarter cent are rounded up to one-half cent and fractions of exactly three-quarters cent are rounded up to the next cent.) You must get the net cost of a unit of three cans by dividing your invoice cost per case by one-third of the number of cans in the case. (For example, you would divide the cost of a case of twenty-four cans by eight.) To determine your ceiling price for a single can of baby food divide your ceiling price for a unit of three cans by three and, in the event that any fraction results, round up to the next cent.

(4) If you are figuring your net cost of canned baby food on the basis of a purchase from a manufacturer on a net price basis (that is, a net price to you which includes all cash discounts), and you receive a notice from him pursuant to SR 107 to the GCPR, you may use as your "net cost" the adjusted net cost furnished in the notice, plus transportation charges you paid, if any, as defined in this section.

2. Paragraph (a) of section 4 is further revised by redesignating present subparagraphs (3) and (4) as (5) and (6) respectively.

3. Paragraph (c) of section 4 is revised to read as follows:

(c) Ceiling price. (1) Next turn to Table C. Using the directions given there, you will get your ceiling price for the item. You must not change the ceiling price except in accordance with section 6.

(2) If you sell canned baby food (Category #1, Table A), determine your ceiling price for a single can by dividing your ceiling price for the multiple unit by three and rounding any resulting fractions of a cent to the next higher cent. Moreover, if you sell canned baby food you must offer for sale multiple units of three cans as well as single units of one can.

4. Section 10 is revised by inserting after the first sentence a new sentence to read as follows: "However, you must display for canned baby foods (Category #1, Table A) your current selling prices for multiple units of three cans."

5. Paragraph (b) of section 39 is revised by changing the third sentence of the third undesignated paragraph to read as follows: "'Net cost' per unit means, in the case of dry groceries, the 'net cost' of a single unit (one can, one jar, etc.), except in the case of canned baby food (Category #1, Table A) where it means the 'net cost' of a multiple unit of three cans."

(Sec. 704, 64 Stat. 816, as amended; 50 U. S. C. App. Sup. 2154)

Effective date. This amendment shall become effective August 19, 1952.

JOSEPH H. FREEHILL,
Acting Director of Price Stabilization.

[Ceiling Price Regulation 16, Amdt. 18]

CPR 16—CEILING PRICES OF CERTAIN FOODS SOLD AT RETAIL IN GROUP 1 AND 2 STORES

CANNED BABY FOOD

Pursuant to the Defense Production Act of 1950 (Pub. Law 774, 81st Cong.), as amended, Executive Order 10161 (15 F. R. 6105), and Economic Stabilization Agency General Order No. 2 (16 F. R. 738), this Amendment 18 to Ceiling Price Regulation 16 is hereby issued.

STATEMENT OF CONSIDERATIONS

This statement of considerations covers Amendment 18 to Ceiling Price Regulation 15 and Amendment 18 to Ceiling Price Regulation 16. These amendments are being issued simultaneously with Amendment 1 to Supplementary Regulation 107 of the General Ceiling Price Regulation. Amendment 1 to SR 107 permits manufacturers who have customarily sold and invoiced canned baby and junior foods on a "net price" basis to notify retailers purchasing from them that the retailers may calculate ceiling prices for sales of these items by applying their CPR 15 or CPR 16 markups to the "net cost" supplied by the manufacturers. The manufacturers are permitted to provide retailers with adjusted "net costs" which are to be arrived at by dividing the manufacturer's ceilings by .98. Use of this adjusted figure will offset the variation in retail ceilings arising out of the difference in billing practice of these manufacturers as compared to manufacturers who make a separate statement of cash discounts on their invoices. The reasons for this action are set forth in the Statement of Considerations accompanying Amendment 1 to SR 107. These amendments to CPR's 15 and 16 permit retailers to use these adjusted net costs when computing their ceiling prices.

In addition, these amendments require retailers to compute ceiling prices for canned baby foods on the basis of units of three. That is, retailers will henceforth figure their ceiling prices for canned baby food by using as their "net cost" the cost of three cans.

The Director has decided to take this latter action because it has come to his attention that processors of canned baby food were unable, because of the single unit method retailers formerly were required to use to compute net cost, to realize the Johnston earnings standard increase granted them by SR 107 without forcing the retailers to absorb the increase. Since it has been the generally prevailing practice of the retail grocery industry to sell canned baby foods in multiple units, with three the most common multiple unit, the Director has determined that a requirement that retailers must determine ceiling prices by computing "net cost" on a three can basis will more closely conform to their customary practice. It will, moreover, relieve them of the burden of absorbing the increase allowed under SR 107. Finally, it will result in simplification of administration of the retail grocery regulation. By virtue of these amendments, and consistently with the described change in fixing retail ceiling prices, retailers selling canned baby food must now offer for sale multiple units of three cans. They must, of course, also offer for sale single cans of baby food so as not to force consumers to make a multiple unit purchase. To determine ceiling prices for single units retailers must divide the ceiling prices of multiple units by three and adjust all fractions to the next higher cent.

In formulating this amendment the Director has consulted to the extent practicable with industry representatives, including trade association representatives and has given consideration to their recommendations. In his judgment the provisions of this amendment are generally fair and equitable, are necessary to effectuate the purposes of Title IV of the Defense Production Act of 1950, as amended, and comply with all the applicable standards of that act.

AMENDATORY PROVISIONS

Ceiling Price Regulation 16 is amended in the following respects:

1. Paragraph (a) of section 4 is revised by inserting after subparagraph (2) two new subparagraphs to read as follows:

(3) When figuring your net cost of canned baby food (Category #1, Table A), compute your net cost on a unit of three cans to the nearest half-cent. (Fractions of exactly one-quarter cent are rounded up to one-half cent and fractions of exactly three-quarters cent are rounded up to the next cent.) You must get the net cost of a unit of three cans by dividing your invoice cost per case by one-third of the number of cans in the case. (For example, you would divide the cost of a case of twenty-four cans by eight.) To determine your ceiling price for a single can of baby food divide your ceiling price for a unit of three cans by three and, in the event that any fraction results, round up to the next cent.

(4) If you are figuring your net cost of canned baby food on the basis of a purchase from a manufacturer on a net price basis (that is, a net price to you which includes all cash discounts), and you receive a notice from him pursuant to SR 107 to the GCPR, you may use as your "net cost" the adjusted net cost furnished in the notice, plus transportation charges you paid, if any, as defined in this section.

2. Paragraph (a) of section 4 is further revised by redesignating present subparagraphs (3) and (4) as (5) and (6) respectively.

3. Paragraph (c) of section 4 is revised to read as follows:

(c) Ceiling price. (1) Next turn to Table C. Using the directions given there, you will get your ceiling price for the item. You must not change the ceiling price except in accordance with section 6.

(2) If you sell canned baby food (Category #1, Table A), determine your ceiling price for a single can by dividing your ceiling price for the multiple unit by three and rounding any resulting fractions of a cent to the next higher cent. Moreover, if you sell canned baby food you must offer for sale multiple units of three cans as well as single units of one can.

4. Section 10 is revised by inserting after the first sentence a new sentence to read as follows: "However, you must display for canned baby foods (category #1, Table A), your current selling prices for multiple units of three cans."

5. Paragraph (b) of section 34 is revised by changing the third sentence of the third undesignated paragraph to read as follows: "'Net cost per unit' means, in the case of dry groceries, the 'net cost' of a single unit (one can, one jar, etc.), except in the case of canned baby food (Category #1, Table A) where it means the 'net cost' of a multiple unit of three cans."

Effective date. This amendment shall become effective August 19, 1952.

This supplementary regulation to Ceiling Price Regulation 34 establishes dollars and cents ceiling prices for the handling and storage of grain for the Commodity Credit Corporation under the provisions of the Uniform Grain Storage Agreement. These ceiling rates are the same as the rates currently set forth in the uniform schedule of rates in contracts for the handling and storage of Commodity Credit Corporation grain.

All of the contracts for the storage and handling of Commodity Credit Corporation grain include a uniform schedule of rates covering such services. This schedule was amended early in 1952 to cover the contract year of 1952–53. The renewal dates are June 1 for some principal grain areas, and July 1 for other grain areas. The Commodity Credit Corporation has recommended that OPS permit sellers to use this new schedule of rates as their ceiling prices.

From the point of view of price control, the principal change that has been made by the new schedule of rates issued under the Uniform Grain Storage Agreement is the elimination of free storage time that had been allowed in previous agreements. The rates for handling charges, however, are the same as were in effect when the General Ceiling Price Regulation was issued, and in some cases storage rates have been reduced. Therefore, although the elimination of free time may in an individual case result in a higher rate being paid for storage, it is the opinion of officials of the Department of Agriculture and of other experts in this field that the annual cost of storing grain will remain substantially the same as it has been for the past three years. These parties unanimously express the belief that the change made in the schedule of rates is not in fact an increase since the amounts finally payable are dependent on the period of time that the grain remains in storage. It is estimated that this period will average between 5½ and 9 months.

This regulation also permits elevators and warehouses to charge private and commercial users the same rates for storage as those applicable to the Commodity Credit Corporation, if prior to the issuance of the General Ceiling Price Regulation the operator had followed a pattern of charging private and commercial users the same rates established under previous Uniform Grain Storage Agreements. At the time the grain is stored it is not known in many instances whether the charges will be paid by the Commodity Credit Corporation or by the storer of the grain. This is true because weeks or months may elapse before the storer decides whether to redeem the grain or to let title pass to the Commodity Credit Corporation.

Finally, this supplementary regulation is made effective as of June 1, 1952, since that is the earlier renewal date for the services covered by the agreement.

In the formulation of this regulation there have been consultations with representatives of the Commodity Credit Corporation and industry representatives, and consideration has been given to their recommendations. In the judgment of the Director of Price Stabilization the ceiling prices established by this supplementary regulation are generally fair and equitable and are necessary to effectuate the purposes of Title IV of the Defense Production Act of 1950, as amended.

GCPR, SR 107—CEILING PRICE ADJUSTMENT FOR CANNED BABY AND JUNIOR FOODS

AUTHORIZATION TO CERTAIN PROCESSORS TO FURNISH NOTICE TO RETAILERS

Pursuant to the Defense Production Act of 1950, as amended, Executive Order 10161, and Economic Stabilization Agency General Order No. 2, this amendment to Supplementary Regulation 107 to the General Ceiling Price Regulation is hereby issued.

STATEMENT OF CONSIDERATIONS

This amendment to Supplementary Regulation (SR) 107 to the General Ceiling Price Regulation (GCPR) permits those baby food processors who have customarily sold and invoiced canned baby and junior foods on a "net price basis" to notify retailers that they may calculate ceiling prices for sales of these items at retail pursuant to Ceiling Price Regulations 15 and 16 by using "net cost" figures supplied by the processors. In other words, such a processor will continue his customary practice of selling and billing canned baby and junior foods on a "net price basis" but the retailer, instead of applying his markup under Ceiling Price Regulations 15 or 16 to the invoice cost when it is a net cost, will be permitted to use a higher figure. However, this amendment will not give any baby food processor a greater increase than was intended in the issuance of SR 107 but will permit the increases authorized therein to be passed on in distribution channels. The grocery distribution regulations, Ceiling Price Regulations 15 and 16, are being amended simultaneously with this amendment to permit retailers to compute new ceiling prices based on a higher net cost than shown on the invoice when they receive a notice from the processor that such action is permitted.

Need for this action arises from the situation which has resulted from the recent increase in ceiling prices authorized under SR 107 to baby food processors under OPS's industry earnings standard. Although most baby food processors sell under contracts of sale which expressly give varying allowances as stated on the invoices, including the allowances for cash payments, at least one of these processors sells to retailers on a net basis which reflects the usual allowances, including the allowances for cash discounts. Under the retail distribution regulations, Ceiling Price Regulations 15 and 16, retailers compute their ceiling prices by applying their markup under those regulations to a "net cost" which is based on the price paid the supplier, less all discounts except the discount for prompt payment and label and swell allowances, plus incoming freight paid by the retailer. The combined effect of various provisions of the retail regulations, particularly the definition of "net cost" and the requirement that "net cost" be figured on a single unit basis, is that processors using the net price system will not be able to take the increases to which they are entitled by law without drastically reducing retail margins in many cases. Available data indicate that this is particularly true where the retailers buy directly from the manufacturer and in carload lots. With but a few baby food processors making up the industry, it becomes impossible for any member of the industry to obtain the price increase which OPS has found the industry entitled to unless all members of the industry are permitted to pass on to distributors the increases authorized by OPS. This industry has in the past been most competitive and as a result prices for similar price lines of baby or junior foods of all members of the industry have generally been the same in a particular retail store.

Baby food items which are entirely fruits or entirely vegetables have been decontrolled by Amendment 2 to Revision 1 of GOR 7 because of the Harrison Amendment to the Defense Production Act of 1950, as amended, exempting from price control fruits and vegetables in fresh or processed form. Accordingly, this amendment to SR 107 covers only those canned baby and junior foods which remain subject to price control. However, since the items which have been decontrolled have customarily been sold as a part of uniform price lines which include other baby or junior food items remaining under price control, the practice permitted by this amendment will probably be employed in connection with sales of the decontrolled products as well as in connection with sales of the items remaining subject to price control.

The Director of Price Stabilization has consulted with industry representatives before issuing this amendment and has given consideration to their recommendations. It is his judgment that the provisions of this amendment are generally fair and equitable, comply with all applicable provisions of the Defense Production Act of 1950, as amended, and are necessary to effectuate the purposes of that Act.

AMENDATORY PROVISION

Supplementary Regulation 107 to the General Ceiling Price Regulation is amended by adding section 6 to read as follows:

SEC. 6. Authorization to processors who sell on a net basis to notify retailers of a different method of determining net cost for items of canned baby and junior foods. (a) (1) If you are a processor of canned baby and junior foods who customarily sold and invoiced these products to your retail purchasers on a "net price basis" which reflected an allowance for cash discounts, not separately stated on the invoice, you may notify retailers that they may compute new ceiling prices for items of canned baby and junior foods in accordance with the notice you furnish them.

(2) To obtain the net cost figure which you may furnish retailers purchasing canned baby and junior food from you, you shall divide your ceiling price for each item of baby or junior food as determined under this supplementary regulation by 98 per cent. The figure resulting from this division may be furnished each retailer purchasing baby and junior food from you.

(b) You may notify each retailer purchasing items of baby and junior food from you on or after August 19, 1952 that he may figure a new ceiling price for each item of canned baby and junior food by using as his "net cost" in applying the markup applicable under Ceiling Price Regulation 15 or 16, the figure specified in your notice to him as determined under paragraph (a) of this section rather than the price of the item named in the invoice. The notice shall be furnished with or stamped on the invoice and shall be in substantially the following form:

NOTICE

We have been authorized by section 6 of SR 107 to the GCPR to notify you that you may compute new ceiling prices for all items of canned baby and junior food listed below by applying the markup applicable to you under CPRs 15 or 16 to the following "net costs" rather than to the costs of these items as shown on the invoice.

Item and quantity of canned baby and junior food	If your invoice cost is the amount in this column	Your "net cost" to which you apply your markup is the amount in this column
All items of strained baby food in tin
All items of strained baby food in glass
All items of chopped junior food in tin
All items of chopped junior food in glass

Chapter IV—Salary and Wage Stabilization, Economic Stabilization Agency

[General Salary Stabilization Regulation 1, Amended]

GSSR 1—STABILIZATION AND GENERAL ADJUSTMENTS OF SALARIES AND OTHER COMPENSATION

Statement of considerations. This regulation incorporates changes required by the Defense Production Act Amendments of 1952 and combines in a single regulation salary stabilization regulations relating to general adjustments in salaries, adjustments to maintain compensation relationships between groups of employees, and to avoid hardships and inequities, and adjustments for individual employees in the form of merit or length-of-service increases, promotions, transfers, other changes in positions and extended workweek compensation.

This regulation in addition to amending General Salary Stabilization Regulation 1, as amended, supersedes General Salary Stabilization Regulation 3, as amended, General Salary Orders 1 through 3, 5 and 6, as amended, and General Salary Order 10. The following General Salary Stabilization Regulations and General Salary Orders remain in effect:

General Salary Stabilization Regulation 2 (Profit Sharing and Other Bonuses).
General Salary Stabilization Regulation 4, Revised (Stock Option and Stock Purchase Plans).
General Salary Stabilization Regulation 5 (Compensation of Sales Employees).
General Salary Stabilization Regulation 6 (Pension Plans and Deferred Profit-sharing and Stock Bonus Plans).
General Salary Stabilization Regulation 7 (Salaries and Other Compensation for Professional Athletes).
General Salary Stabilization Regulation 8, Revised (Health and Welfare Plans).
General Salary Order 12 (New Profit-sharing and Other Bonuses).
General Salary Order 13 (Death Benefits).

General Salary Orders 4 and 8 were previously superseded by General Salary Order 10, now superseded by this regulation; General Salary Order 9 was superseded by General Salary Stabilization Regulation 4, Revised, and General Salary Order 11 was superseded by General Salary Stabilization Regulation 8. General Salary Order 7 (Christmas or Year-end Bonuses not exceeding $40.00 in value in the absence of a prior practice) is not applicable to any years subsequent to 1951.

In the formulation of this regulation, due consideration has been given to the standards and procedures set forth in Title IV and Title VII of the Defense Production Act, as amended; there has been consultation with industry representatives, and consideration has been given to their recommendations.

ARTICLE II—STABILIZATION OF SALARIES AND OTHER COMPENSATION

SEC. 21. General stabilization of salaries and other compensation. (a) Except as authorized by salary stabilization regulations or by written determinations of the Office of Salary Stabilization, no employer shall pay, and no employee shall receive, any salary or other compensation at a rate in excess of the rate at which such employee was compensated on January 25, 1951; and no employee hired after January 25, 1951, shall be compensated at a rate higher than that in effect on January 25, 1951, for the position for which he is employed.

(b) The rate in effect on January 25, 1951, for the purpose of this section, shall be the rate in effect on such date as legally increased pursuant to applicable salary stabilization regulations, or written determinations of the Office of Salary Stabilization (or, prior to May 10, 1951, pursuant to General Wage Regulations or determinations of the Wage Stabilization Board).

(c) The salary stabilization regulations shall apply regardless of any obligation heretofore or hereafter incurred.

SEC. 22. Increases in salaries and other compensation to correct certain inequities.—(a) Ten percent increase authorized. (1) Salaries and other compensation of a group of employees may be increased without prior approval of the Office of Salary Stabilization in amounts up to, but not in excess of, ten (10) percent over the aggregate base compensation of such group for the first regular payroll period ending on or after January 15, 1950. Except as otherwise provided in this or any other salary stabilization regulation, any increases made after such payroll period, and any other increases chargeable against such permissible ten (10) percent under any salary stabilization regulation or under any written determination of the Office of Salary Stabilization shall be deducted from the increase authorized under this section. Such increase shall be computed on a weekly, bi-weekly, semi-monthly, or monthly payroll period basis in accordance with the employer's payroll practice.

(2) In calculating the ten (10) percent increase authorized under subparagraph (1) of this paragraph, proportionate adjustments may be made for increases and shall be made for decreases in the number of employees in the group.

(3) "Other compensation" and "aggregate base compensation", as used in subparagraph (1) of this paragraph, shall not include commission rates or commission earnings, nor shall any commission rate or commission earnings be increased under this paragraph.

(b) Relationship of ten percent increases in compensation. For the purposes of paragraph (a) of this section:

(1) Increases in base compensation prior to January 26, 1951, need not be included, unless they increased base compensation for the group one (1) percent or more in a single payroll period, but such increase of less than one (1) percent shall be included if made on or after January 26, 1951.

(2) Increases in base compensation do not include merit or length of service increases or adjustments as the result of a promotion, transfer or assignment to a new or changed position.

(3) Increases in base compensation do not include increases in bonuses of the type specified in General Salary Stabilization Regulation 2 or General Salary Order 12, and such bonuses shall not be included in any manner in the computation of any increase authorized by paragraph (a) of this section.

(4) Increases in other compensation need not be included if made prior to January 26, 1951. However, to the extent that such increases are not authorized without charge against the permissible ten (10) percent, under any salary stabilization regulation or under any written determination of the Office of Salary Stabilization or, prior to May 10, 1951, of the Wage Stabilization Board, such increases shall be included if made on or after January 26, 1951.

(c) Base pay period abnormalities. Employers who did not have a payroll period ending on or about January 15, 1950, because they were not in operation at that time, or who had plainly abnormal pay levels during that period because of seasonal peculiarities, broad changes in product mix, wide swings in employment, and the like, may apply to the Office of Salary Stabilization for appropriate adjustments of the amount of base compensation paid for the payroll period against which changes in compensation are to be measured. The Office is authorized to give consideration on application to the special problems of seasonal industries, and to unusual cases involving firms or industries in which the rates on or about January 15, 1950, were grossly out of line with their normal relationships, provided the employer did not have adequate opportunity to correct such misalignment by January 25, 1951.

(d) Rare and unusual cases. In rare and unusual cases where the critical needs of essential civilian or defense production require it, the Office of Salary Stabilization is authorized to approve increases in salaries and other compensation greater in amount than those specified in paragraph (a). Such cases are limited to situations of serious manpower shortages in which other governmental agencies concerned with production and manpower problems certify to the Office of Salary Stabilization that a concerted program has been undertaken to remedy the shortages and that an increase in salaries or other compensation is indispensable to attract required labor to or retain it in essential civilian or defense industries or plants.

ARTICLE III—COST-OF-LIVING INCREASES

SEC. 31. Certain terms defined. As used in this Article III:

(a) The term "cost-of-living provisions" means a provision in a written contract or in a written salary plan which establishes a defined relationship between the salaries of employees covered by the provision and an acceptable index.

(b) "Acceptable index" means any Consumers Price Index (frequently referred to as the cost-of-living index) published by the Bureau of Labor Statistics, or such other applicable index as may be approved from time to time by the Wage Stabilization Board.

SEC. 32. Certain cost-of-living increases permissible without approval. Increases required by cost-of-living provisions formally determined and communicated to the employees on or before January 25, 1951, may be put into effect without approval by the Office of Salary Stabilization.

SEC. 33. "Charge-Off" of cost-of-living increases. Increases under this Article III made after January 15, 1950, based upon changes in an acceptable index up to and including January 15, 1951, shall be charged against the ten (10) percent increase authorized under section 22 (a) of this regulation. Increases under this Article III based upon changes in an acceptable index after January 15, 1951, need not be charged against, and may exceed, such ten (10) percent increase.

ARTICLE IV—MAINTENANCE OF COMPENSATION RELATIONSHIPS

SEC. 41. Percentage increases to maintain historical or customary relationships.—(a) Authorized percentage increases. An employer may from time to time make adjustments in the salaries and other compensation of employees subject to the jurisdiction of the Salary Stabilization Board, as provided in paragraphs (b) and (c) of this section, without approval of the Office of Salary Stabilization, in order to reestablish or maintain historical or customary relationships and differentials which existed on January 25, 1951, between the compensation of employees under the jurisdiction of the Wage Stabilization Board and employees under the jurisdiction of the Salary Stabilization Board. Such adjustments may be made retroactive to dates not earlier than the dates on which wage adjustments for employees of the same employer subject to the jurisdiction of the Wage Stabilization Board are effective.

(b) Computation of authorized percentage increases. (1) For the purposes of this section, an increase in base compensation shall include, among others, any cost-of-living or tandem increases under the provisions of wage or salary stabilization regulations but shall exclude merit or length of service increases, increases as the result of promotions or transfers or the assignment of an employee to a new or changed position, increases out of the ten (10) percent general increase fund permitted under wage or salary stablization regulations, and increases granted in individual cases because of interplant inequities.

(2) The employer shall make separate computations for all the employees on his payroll subject to the jurisdiction of the Wage Stabilization Board, consolidating all such payrolls for the purpose on a uniform payroll period basis, and for the employees on his payroll subject to the jurisdiction of the Salary Stabilization Board, consolidating all such payrolls for the purpose on the same uniform payroll period basis.

(3) The employer may make such computations, without approval of the Office of Salary Stabilization, as follows:

(i) Take all payroll periods beginning with the first payroll period commencing after January 26, 1951, and ending with the payroll period as of which the adjustment in base compensation authorized by this section is being computed.

(ii) Compute for each such payroll period the dollar amount of all increases in base compensation granted in each such payroll period to employees subject to the jurisdiction of the Wage Stabilization Board.

(iii) Divide the dollar amount of the total increases in base compensation for each payroll period in which increases have taken place by the dollar amount of the total base compensation paid all such employees for the payroll period. The result shall be considered the percentage increase granted in that payroll period.

(iv) Add the percentage increases for each payroll period. The result shall be considered the gross percentage increase in base compensation granted such employees for all payroll periods included under subdivision (i) of this subparagraph.

(v) Compute similarly the gross percentage decrease in base compensation of such employees for all such payroll periods and deduct such percentage from the gross percentage increase computed in subdivision (iv) of this subparagraph. The result shall be considered the net percentage increase in base compensation granted such employees during all payroll periods included under subdivision (i) of this subparagraph.

(vi) Compute the net percentage increase in the base compensation of employees subject to the jurisdiction of the Salary Stabilization Board for all payroll periods included under subdivision (i) of this subparagraph in the same manner as the net percentage increase in the base compensation of employees subject to the jurisdiction of the Wage Stabilization Board was computed in subdivisions (i) to (v) of this subparagraph.

(4) If the net percentage increase granted to employees subject to the jurisdiction of the Salary Stabilization Board is less than the net percentage increase granted to employees subject to the jurisdiction of the Wage Stabilization Board, the difference represents the authorized percentage of base compensation of the employees under the jurisdiction of the Salary Stabilization Board by which their salaries and other compensation may be adjusted. The dollar amount obtained by multiplying by this authorized percentage the total base compensation payroll for such employees for the last payroll period included in the computation is the fund available to the employer per payroll period for increases in salaries and other compensation.

(c) Increases subsequent to the computation of the first adjustment. (1) If an employer desires to make adjustments in salaries and other compensation of employees under the jurisdiction of the Salary Stabilization Board pursuant to this section subsequent to the first computation of the amount of authorized percentage increases pursuant to paragraph (b) of this section, he may proceed in the same manner as outlined in paragraph (b) of this section. Each subsequent computation, however, shall begin with the payroll period immediately following the close of the last payroll period used by the employer in the preceding computation made pursuant to this section.

(2) Any authorized percentage increase in the compensation of employees subject to the jurisdiction of the Salary Stabilization Board available to but unused by the employer under a preceding computation of percentage increases authorized under this section, may be added by the employer to the authorized percentage increase obtained in a subsequent computation and may be used in computing the dollar amount thereof.

(d) Distribution of authorized increases. (1) The aggregate fund computed under this section, or any portion thereof, shall be available for adjustments in salaries and other compensation for employees under the jurisdiction of the Salary Stabilization Board. However, no employer shall pay, and no employee shall receive, out of the fund an increase in salary or other compensation in excess of the authorized net percentage available under this section, unless such excess is paid to restore historical or customary differentials in the company between the compensation of foremen and supervisors in positions comparable to foremen and employees supervised by them or to remove existing inequities in the compensation of employees or groups of employees subject to the jurisdiction of the Salary Stabilization Board.

(2) To the extent that the aggregate fund computed under this section has not been otherwise distributed, any part of the balance may be made part of the bonus fund authorized by General Salary Stabilization Regulation 2 or by General Salary Order 12 and paid by way of bonuses.

(3) Any increase in salaries and other compensation authorized by this section shall not be chargeable against the ten (10) percent general increase available to an employer for increases in salaries and other compensation under section 22 (a) of this regulation.

(e) Substitute methods of computation. In any case in which, because of the employer's payroll practices or for any other reason, the employer is unable to make the computations provided for in paragraphs (b) and (c) of this section, he may apply to the Office of Salary Stabilization for approval of a substitute computation to accomplish substantially the same purpose as the computation provided for in such sections. The Office of Salary Stabilization may approve any such application provided that it finds that the substitute formula is consistent with the computation provided for in, and with the purposes of, this section.

SEC. 42. Adjustment of inter-plant inequities. Except as provided in sections 9 and 41 (d), the Office of Salary Stabilization is authorized to approve adjustments in salaries and other compensation of employees subject to the jurisdiction of the Salary Stabilization Board in order to correct inter-plant inequities in a manner consistent with the general policies of the Salary Stabilization Board and based upon industry or area practice and other pertinent factors.

SEC. 43. Tandem salary increases. (a) As used in this section 43, the term "tandem relationship" means a well established and maintained practice whereby the timing, amount and nature of general adjustments in the salaries and other compensation of employees in a given group have been directly related to the salaries and other compensation of another group of employees of the same employer or of other employers, including a group of employees under the jurisdiction of the Wage Stabilization Board.

(b) Approval of adjustments to restore tandem relationships. The Office of Salary Stabilization is authorized to approve applications for approval of adjustments required to restore tandem relationships which have been disrupted. Such applications shall contain (1) proof of a tandem relationship, including a statement of how adjustments in the group involved have been related, in the past five years, to the adjustments in the group with which the tandem relationship is claimed; (2) an explanation of the circumstances which have disrupted the tandem relationship; and (3) such other supporting data as the applicant may deem pertinent.[1] If the tandem relationship has existed for less than five years, the application for approval shall set forth the circumstances in full.

SEC. 44. Compensation for regularly extended workweek.—(a) Scope of this section. This section applies to additional compensation which may be paid to employees for hours worked in excess of a normal workweek.

(b) Maintenance of past practices. An employer who on or prior to January 25, 1951, had a plan or practice of paying employees under the jurisdiction of the Salary Stabilization Board additional compensation for hours worked in excess of a normal workweek may continue to pay additional compensation to such employees in accordance with such plan or practice.

(c) New practices. (1) An employer who on or prior to January 25, 1951, did not have a plan or practice of paying employees additional compensation for hours worked during a regularly extended workweek in excess of the normal workweek may pay such compensation, without prior approval of the Office of Salary Stabilization, provided that the employee is in one of the following categories:

(i) A foreman or a supervisor in a position comparable to a foreman.

(ii) An employee whose compensation is so related to, or whose work is so associated with, that of employees in the categories referred to in subdivision (i) of this subparagraph or with other employees properly receiving extended workweek compensation, as to make the payment of such additional compensation necessary to maintain customary differentials in compensation or to avoid intraplant inequities.

(2) The Office of Salary Stabilization is authorized to approve applications to pay additional compensation for hours worked during a regularly extended workweek in excess of the normal workweek to employees under the jurisdiction of the Salary Stabilization Board (except corporate officers, other executive and administrative employees having company-wide responsibilities and outside salesmen), if the application clearly indicates that the payment of such compensation is:

(i) In accordance with industry or area practice; or

(ii) Required to remedy or prevent intraplant inequities; or

(iii) Required to remedy or prevent undue hardship in the case of individual employees; or

(iv) Necessary to restore or continue historical relationships and customary compensation differentials among groups of employees.[1]

(3) This paragraph does not apply to an employee who is not subject to a regularly scheduled work period.

(d) Definition of regularly extended workweek. The term "regularly extended workweek" means additional hours of employment, which have been approved for an employee by a duly authorized superior, and which are in excess of the normal practice applying to such employee or to the position which he occupies. Although the number of additional hours of employment may vary from week to week, the term refers to a substantial period of time during which the employee's workweek is to be regularly extended in order to cope with increased work loads. The term does not include iregular or occasional additional work inherent in the requirements of the position or which has not been required by proper supervisory authority.

(e) Rate of extended workweek compensation. Additional compensation authorized for any employee under paragraph (c) of this section shall not be paid at a rate in excess of his straight-time rate without prior approval of the Office of Salary Stabilization.

(f) Records to be maintained. In addition to the record-keeping requirements of Article X, an employer paying extended workweek compensation shall maintain records indicating the hours actually scheduled on a regularly extended workweek, and the number of such hours actually worked by each employee.

ARTICLE V—MERIT AND LENGTH OF SERVICE INCREASES

SEC. 51. General provisions—(a) Definitions. (1) The term "established salary range" means a scale of salaries for a position or classification with minimum and maximum salaries which are either clearly designated or are established by specific formula contained in a written schedule in effect on January 25, 1951, or subsequently established in accordance with the appropriate provisions of this or other applicable wage or salary stabilization regulations or written determinations of the Office of Salary Stabilization or, prior to May 10, 1951, of the Wage Stabilization Board. Each range is defined by a minimum and a maximum salary and may be expressed as the spread between the two, or it may be expressed by a series of specific salaries between the minimum and maximum.

(2) The term "salary range method of payment" means the determination of individual salaries in accordance with an established salary range, based on merit or length of service or a combination of the two.

(3) The term "personal or random method of payment" for a group of employees means the method of payment employed for such employees in the absence of the salary range method of payment.

(b) Applicability to revised salary schedules. This Article V shall apply only to salaries, salary ranges and salary plans in effect on January 25, 1951, or thereafter specifically approved or authorized under applicable general wage or salary stabilization regulations.

(c) Increases shall not justify price increases. Salary adjustments made under this Article V shall not, except as otherwise provided by the Defense Production Act of 1950, as amended, furnish a basis either to increase price ceilings or to resist otherwise justifiable reductions in price ceilings, and employers making such adjustments shall be deemed to have made a representation to that effect.

SEC. 52. Merit and length of service increases under the salary range method of payment. Subject to the provisions of paragraph (e) of this section, merit or length of service increases in the salaries of individual employees may be made without approval by the Office of Salary Stabilization in accordance with the provisions of paragraphs (a) or (b) or (c) of this section.

(a) The past practice option. Under this option, the total amount of all merit and length of service increases combined that may be granted in the current calendar year to an appropriate group of employees in positions or classifications with established salary ranges, expressed as a percentage of the total base compensation, shall not exceed the corresponding percentage so granted in 1950. The amount that may be granted under this option shall be computed as follows:

(1) Select the payroll period in the calendar year 1950 in which the total number of employees in the appropriate group was nearest to the average for the year.

(2) Total the base compensation for the selected period of all the employees in the appropriate group. This total may be expressed as a weekly, monthly or other figure in accordance with past payroll practice.

(3) Total the merit and length of service increases combined which were granted to employees in the group in the calendar year 1950. This total shall be expressed on the same basis (weekly, monthly, etc.) as in subparagraph (2) of this paragraph.

(4) Express the increase granted as determined in subparagraph (3) of this paragraph as a percentage of the total base compensation as determined in subparagraph (2) of this paragraph.

(5) Total the base compensation of employees in the appropriate group for the payroll period ending nearest January 15 of the current calendar year and apply the percentage computed in subparagraph (4) of this paragraph to this total. The resulting figure is the total dollar amount which may be granted for merit and length of service increases in the current calendar year.

(6) If base compensation has increased during the course of the current calendar year, a larger fund for merit and length of service increases may be obtained by averaging the totals of the base compensation for the payroll periods ending nearest the 15th of each elapsed month of the year and applying the percentage computed in subparagraph (4) of this paragraph to this average.

In distributing this amount, no employee shall be raised to a salary higher than the maximum of the established salary range for his position or classification. All merit or length of service increases, including those granted to employees who thereafter quit or were thereafter promoted, transferred, or otherwise separated from their position or classification, shall be charged against the allowable total. Increases granted to temporary and part-time employees, trainees and those employed on a trial basis and increases resulting from promotions or transfers of employees shall not be charged against the allowable total.

(b) The six (6) percent option. Under this option, the total amount of all merit and length of service increases combined that may be granted in the current calendar year to an appropriate group of employees in positions or classifications with established salary ranges shall not exceed six (6) percent of the total of the base compensation of such employees. The amount that may be granted under this option shall be computed as follows:

(1) Total the base compensation for the payroll period ending nearest January 15 of the current calendar year of all the employees in the appropriate group. This total may be expressed as a weekly, monthly or other figure, in accordance with past payroll practice. Six (6) percent of this figure is the total dollar amount which may be granted for merit and length of service increases in the current calendar year.

(2) If base compensation has increased during the course of the year, a larger fund for merit and length of service increases may be obtained by averaging the totals of the base salaries for the payroll periods ending nearest the 15th of each elapsed month of the year and applying the six (6) percent to this average.

In distributing this amount, no employee shall be raised to a salary higher than the maximum of the established salary range for his position or classification. All merit or length of service increases, including those granted to employees who thereafter quit or were thereafter promoted, transferred or otherwise separated from their jobs, shall be charged against the allowable total. Increases granted to temporary and part-time employees, trainees and those employed on a trial basis and increases resulting from promotions or transfers of employees shall not be charged against the allowable total.

(c) The established salary plan option. An established salary plan is one which meets the following tests:

(1) It must have been contained on January 25, 1951, either in a written statement of policy or procedure, or in a written notice that had been furnished to or posted for the employees or in some combination of these documents, or subsequently approved under the provisions of this or other applicable wage or salary stabilization regulations, or written determinations of the Office of Salary Stabilization or, prior to May 10, 1951, of the Wage Stabilization Board; and

(2) It must contain a schedule of salary ranges with clearly designated minimum and maximum rates for each position or classification; and

(3) In accordance with the normal operation of the plan the employee would normally be reviewed for a merit increase or entitled to a length of service increase at or before the time the increase is granted; and

(4) It must set forth maximum amounts or maximum percentages of merit or length of service increases which may normally be made.

Merit or length of service increases may be granted in accordance with the terms of an established plan to the employees covered by it, provided:

(i) No employee shall be raised to a salary higher than the maximum of the established salary range for his position or classification.

(ii) Notwithstanding contrary provisions of an esablished plan, merit or length of service increases shall not be granted in advance of otherwise normal minimum time intervals or in excess of otherise normal maximum amounts or maximum percentages.

(d) Records and reports concerning salary ranges revised between June 24, 1950, and January 25, 1951. If (1) the maximum salary of a position or classification or salary grade was increased or first established in the period June 24, 1950, to January 25, 1951, and (2) the amount of the increase in the maximum salary was greater than the amount of increase granted at the time to any incumbent in the position or classification or salary grade, and (3) the maximum of such salary range was on January 25, 1951, more than 15 percent above the highest salary paid to any employee in such position or classification or salary grade in the period January 1, 1950, to January 25, 1951, the employer, shall keep available, for such inspection and the filing of such reports as may be authorized or required by the Office of Salary Stabilization, records showing the salary range together with the highest salary within that salary range actually being paid to incumbents on January 25, 1951. If such records are kept, merit or length of service increases may continue to be granted within this salary range unless and until the Office of Salary Stabilization, within three years after such salary range was increased or first established, disappproves or modifies it with respect to increases thereafter.

(e) Over-all limitation on merit and length of service increases. Notwithstanding anything in this section to the contrary, the total dollar amount of all merit and length of service increases combined that may be granted in any calendar year to all employees subject to the jurisdiction of the Salary Stabilization Board shall in on event exceed six (6) percent of the total of their base compensation during such year.

SEC. 53. Merit or length of service increases under the random or personal method of payment. (a) It is recognized that in many companies the positions of employees subject to the jurisdiction of the Salary Stabilization Board do not have formal salary ranges contained in written schedules in effect on January 25, 1951, but on that date:

(1) A diversity of salaries was paid to incumbents; or

(2) All the incumbents happened to be paid the same salaries although there was a practice in effect of granting merit or length of service increases; or

(3) There was only one employee in a classification in which it has been the practice to make merit or length of service increases; or

(4) Salary schedules were in existence which set forth minimum salaries above which merit or length of service increases have been granted.

(b) An employer with such a personal or random method of payment for a group of employees may make merit or length of service increases to such employees without approval by the Office of Salary Stabilization within the following limitations:

(1) The total dollar amount of all merit and length of service increases combined that may be granted in the current calendar year to employees in a group, expressed as a percentage of the total of their base compensation, shall not exceed six (6) percent (computed as in section 52 (b) of this regulation) and

(2) The maximum increases granted to any one employee shall not exceed ten (10) percent of his base compensation.

ARTICLE VI—PROMOTIONS AND CHANGES IN POSITION

SEC. 61. Promotions or transfers to higher or lower paid positions. (a) When a bona fide promotion or transfer of an employee to a higher paid position is made and the employee is required to perform the normal duties of such position, the employee's salary may be increased subject to the following limitations:

(1) If the position to which the employee is promoted or transferred has a salary range, the salary within the range to which he may be increased shall be governed by the practices or policies set forth in a written statement of policy or procedure in actual operation on January 25, 1951. If such written statement did not exist or it did not contain specific policies or practices governing the salary to which a newly promoted or transferred employee may be increased, the employee may be increased to a salary corresponding to his ability, experience and training, provided such salary is not in excess of the salary paid to the employee having the most nearly comparable duties and responsibilities, as established by relevant records. Such increase shall not be deemed a merit or length of service increase if made within 90 days after the promotion or transfer. In no event shall the employee's salary be increased to a salary in excess of the maximum of the salary range of the classification to which he is promoted or transferred.

(2) An employee in or promoted or transferred into a group with the personal or random method of payment may be promoted or transferred to a higher paid position and increased to a salary corresponding to his ability, experience and training, provided such salary is not in excess of the highest salary paid to the employee having the most nearly comparable duties and responsibilities, as established by relevant records. Such increase shall not be deemed a merit or length of service increase if made within 90 days after the promotion or transfer.

(b) (1) Except as provided in subparagraph (2) of this paragraph, an employee permanently transferred to a lower paid position shall be paid no more than the maximum salary for such position. Such transfer shall be deemed permanent if the employee remains in the lower paid position for more than 90 days.

(2) If an employee has been in a higher paid position for at least three (3) years and is transferred or demoted to a lower paid position, the employer may pay to such employee a salary not in excess of his salary in the previous position.

(c) In the case of increases in compensation made as the result of promotions or transfers, there shall be attached to the payroll or personnel records of the employer a supporting certificate sworn to by an officer of the corporation, or if the employer is a partnership, by one of the partners, or if a sole proprietorship, by the proprietor. Such certificate shall in each case state that the promotion or transfer which has resulted in the increase in compensation is a bona fide promotion or transfer and the pertinent facts supporting that conclusion. Such certificate shall be made at the time of the promotion or transfer or at least once a month with respect to all employees promoted or transferred during the preceding month.

SEC. 62. Salaries for new employees. The following limitations apply to the salaries of new employees:

(a) A new employee may not be hired at a salary exceeding the minimum of the established salary range of the classification into which he is hired, except that a new employee with more than the minimum ability, experience and training required for the classification into which he is hired may be hired at a salary within the established salary range corresponding to his ability, experience and training, or he may be hired at a lower salary and subsequently increased to a salary corresponding to his ability, experience and training within a period not to exceed 120 days, but in no event shall he be paid a salary higher than the maximum of the salary range of the classification into which he is hired. Such increases shall not be deemed merit or length of service increases.

(b) An employee hired into a group with the personal or random method of payment may be hired at a salary corresponding to his ability, experience and training, provided such salary is not in excess of the salary paid to the employee having the most nearly comparable duties and responsibilities as established by relevant records, or he may be hired at a lower salary and subsequently increased within a period not to exceed 120 days to a salary corresponding to his ability, experience and training, but not in excess of the salary paid to an employee having the most nearly comparable duties and responsibilities. Such increases shall not be deemed merit or length of service increases.

SEC. 63. Salaries for new or changed positions. (a) Salaries for new or changed positions may be established in accordance with the methods and principles in effect on January 25, 1951, for maintaining a balanced relationship between the salaries for the various positions and jobs in the company; or if no such system was in effect on that date the salaries established for the new or changed positions must be related to salaries for the most nearly comparable positions, making proper allowances for the difference, if any, in the requirements of knowledge, skills, duties, responsibilities or other factors normally taken into account. Slight or inconsequential changes in duties or responsibilities shall not provide the basis for establishing new classifications, salaries or salary ranges, nor justify changes in existing classifications, salaries or salary ranges.

(b) In the case of each new or changed position, there shall be attached to the payroll or personnel records of the employer a supporting certificate sworn to by an officer of the corporation, or if the employer is a partnership, by one of the partners, or if a sole proprietorship, by the proprietor. Such certificate shall in each case state that the new or changed position is necessary to the operations of the company and has been established in good faith and the pertinent facts supporting that conclusion. Such certificate shall be made at the time of the creation of such new or changed position, or at least once a month with respect to all new or changed positions created during the preceding period.

SEC. 64. Salary reductions not required for transferred employees. Notwithstanding any other provision of this Article VI, an employee regularly employed at a plant of an employer and who was actually employed in good faith for the purpose of working at such plant may be transferred to a similar or comparable position in another plant of the same employer without reduction in salary or other compensation, and any such transferred employee may continue to be paid in accordance with the authorized plans or practices of the employer applicable to the position in the plant from which he was transferred.

ARTICLE VII—NEW OR MODIFIED SALARY SCHEDULES OR PLANS

SEC. 71. Prerequisites for approval of new salary plans or modifications of existing salary plans. (a) A new salary plan or modification of an existing salary plan governing individual salary increases relating either to existing plants or to a new plant, as such term is defined in section 81 of this regulation, either of an existing or of a new employer, may be approved by the Office of Salary Stabilization. Such a plan must include:

(1) Description of each position or classification.

(2) The grouping of positions into grades, if any.

(3) Salary range for each position or classification.

(4) Specified limits for increases.

(5) The time or times for review for the purpose of merit or length of service increases.

(b) The Office of Salary Stabilization is authorized to approve new salary plans or modifications of existing salary plans in the light of the employer's past practice and of relevant practice in the industry, occupation or area, as may be appropriate. Adequate data in support of the application must be submitted by the applicant.

SEC. 72. Extension of existing merit or length of service increase plans or practices to new plants of an employer. An employer may extend existing merit or length of service plans or practices to a new plant, as such term is defined in section 81 of this regulation, by granting merit and length of service increases in accordance with the methods and practices authorized by this regulation and applicable at the most nearly comparable plant of such employer.

ARTICLE VIII—SALARY SCHEDULES FOR NEW PLANTS

SEC. 81. Definitions. The term "new plant" means a plant, enterprise, or other employment unit, which on January 25, 1951, had not commenced the production of the materials or services for which it is established or converted.

SEC. 82. Criteria for establishing rates of salaries in new plants. The following criteria shall be applied in determining and evaluating a schedule of rates of salaries in new plants:

(a) In a new plant of an existing enterprise, established at the same location, the rates of salaries for the jobs in the new plant shall be the same as the lawful rates for the same or comparable jobs in the existing enterprise.

(b) In all other cases the schedule of rates for the new plant shall not exceed:

(1) Rates for the same or comparable jobs in the same industry in the same local labor market area, or, if none,

(2) Rates for the same or comparable jobs in a comparable industry in the same local labor market area, or, if none,

(3) Rates for the same or comparable jobs in the same industry located in the most nearly comparable labor market area.

(c) For the purposes of paragraph (b) of this section, where only the comparable rates for key jobs are available in a given labor market, such rates may be selected, and the schedule may be constructed by interpolation with proper relationships between the rates of other jobs and the rates of the key jobs.

SEC. 83. Procedures for establishing rates of salaries in new plants. (a) A new plant shall file with the Office of Salary Stabilization a report containing the following:

(1) A statement of the facts relied upon to support the conclusion that it is a new plant; and

(2) A schedule of the rates of salaries which are in effect for each job classification; and

(3) A statement explaining how the criteria specified in section 82 have been applied in determining the rates of salaries.[1]

(b) The report required by paragraph (a) of this section must be filed at least three weeks prior to the proposed date for hiring employees. If, after submitting the report, the employer receives no communications pertinent thereto from the Office of Salary Stabilization, the rates may be put into effect, subject to the condition, which shall be communicated by the employer to all employees affected by the schedule, that the rates are interim rates payable pending receipt of a ruling as to their approvability and subject to adjustment with respect to payroll periods beginning after the date of receipt by the employer of any ruling of partial disapproval.

SEC. 84. Requests for modification. The Office of Salary Stabilization, in accordance with regulations or statements of policy issued by the Salary Stabilization Board, will consider requests for modification of the criteria specified in section 82 where the application of such criteria with respect to the internal structure of a salary schedule or with respect to supplemental compensation practices would be unworkable or would cause undue hardships in the circumstances of the particular case. Such requests should be accompanied by a full and clear statement of the circumstances on which the request is based. Terms of compensation not in accordance with section 82 may not be put into effect without prior authorization by the Office of Salary Stabilization.

ARTICLE IX—AUXILIARY PAY PRACTICES

SEC. 91. Auxiliary pay practices authorized. Operation of any of the following plans or practices may continue if such plan or practice was in effect on or before January 25, 1951, and the method of application is consistent with the method of application over a reasonable period of time prior to January 25, 1951.

(a) The normal operation or application of incentive rates or plans; or

(b) Change from one shift to another; or

(c) Vacations, holidays or time off with pay; or

(d) Severance or termination pay; or

(e) Other similar auxiliary pay practices.

ARTICLE X—ADMINISTRATIVE PROVISIONS

SEC. 101. Record-keeping required. (a) An employer making an adjustment in salary or other compensation authorized by salary stabilization regulations or any written determination of the Office of Salary Stabilization shall keep his records in such manner as to be able readily to identify:

(1) The name and position of each employee to whom an adjustment was granted;

(2) The payroll period for which the adjusted salary or other compensation was first paid;

(3) If such adjustment was granted retroactively, the payroll period as of which it was granted;

(4) The salary and other compensation of the employee prior to and subsequent to the adjustment and the amount of the adjustment;

(5) The type of increase (such as "ten percent increase", "merit or length of service increase", "inter-plant inequity"), or the date of the written determination of the Office of Salary Stabilization if the adjustment was made pursuant to such written approval;

(6) The certificates covering promotions and transfers required under sections 61 and 63;

(7) The new positions created, the number of employees involved and aggregate sums paid to such employees.

(b) In addition to the requirements set forth in paragraph (a) of this section, if the adjustment in salary or other compensation is made under a provision of any salary stabilization regulation which permits increases as a percentage of compensation (e. g., 10 percent increases under section 22 of this regulation, merit or length of service increases made in accordance with a percentage formula, authorized net percentage increases under section 41 of this regulation), a record shall be prepared in the form of a separate summary statement stating the type of adjustment for each group and summarizing for each group of employees the calculation thereof. This statement shall summarize the computations on which the employer based his adjustments and shall include the following data:

(1) A description of the employee group to which the increase was granted;

(2) The amount initially available to the group, for adjustments in salaries and other compensation, on a per payroll period calendar year or other basis, whichever may be applicable;

(3) The amount which has already been used at the time the adjustment is made; and

(4) The amount, if any, remaining available, after the adjustment is made.

(c) The initial summary statement, required to be prepared on or before May 14, 1952, shall be kept current on a quarterly basis. This statement shall be certified to by an officer of the corporation, or if the employer is in partnership, by one of the partners, or, if a sole proprietorship, by the proprietor, or by an individual designated for the purpose by such officer, partner or proprietor. Certification is not required for any quarter in which no adjustments have been made. PART 146—EXCHANGES OF PRIVATELY OWNED LANDS UNDER TAYLOR GRAZING ACT

DETERMINATION OF VALUES; PUBLICATION OF NOTICE OF EXCHANGE

In order to make clear the fact that a decision directing publication of notice of a private exchange is not a final determination of any material fact, § 146.3 (b) is amended to read as follows:

§ 146.3 Determination of values; publication of notice of exchange. • • •

(b) The authorized officer, if he has no basis to determine that the value of the selected land exceeds the value of the offered lands, that the exchange is not in the public interest, or that there is other reason not to do so, shall direct publication of the notice of exchange in the newspaper or newspapers designated by him, and require the applicant to submit proof of publication and comply with the provisions of §§ 146.4, 146.5 and 146.7. However, until patent to the selected land is issued, the authorized officer may at any time determine that the exchange should not be completed, and the applicant has no contractual or other rights against the United States, and no action taken will create any contractual or other obligation of the United States other than an obligation to pay one-half the cost of publication.

TITLE 47—TELECOMMUNICATION

Chapter I—Federal Communications Commission

[Docket Nos. 8736, 8975, 8976, 9175]

PART 3—RADIO BROADCAST SERVICES

MAIN STUDIO LOCATION

In the matters of amendment of § 3.606 of the Commission's rules and regulations, Docket Nos. 8736 and 8975; amendment of the Commission's rules, regulations and Engineering Standards Concerning the Television Broadcast Service, Docket No. 9175; utilization of frequencies in the band 470 to 890 Mcs. for Television Broadcasting, Docket No. 8976.

The Commission has before it for consideration a petition filed by WSIX Broadcasting Station requesting that the Commission reconsider its Sixth Report and Order and repeal or modify § 3.613 of the Commission's rules and regulations which provides as follows:

§ 3.613 Main studio location. (a) The main studio of a television broadcast station shall be located in the principal community to be served.

(b) In cases where a showing is made that, due to the existence of unusual circumstances, compliance with the provisions of paragraph (a) of this section will result in severe and undue hardship, the Commission will give consideration to the use of a main studio location other than that specified above. The licensee or permittee of a television broadcast station shall not move his main studio outside the borders of the community in which it is located without first securing a modification of construction permit or license. Such licensee or permittee shall notify the Commission promptly of any change in the location of the main studio within the community.

Petitioner argues that the term "main studio" is not defined in § 3.613 and that no method is provided for determining the geographical limits of the "principal community to be served." In addition, petitioner argues that there is no reason for the designation of any of the studios of a television station as a "main studio." It is claimed that there is no basis for assuming any correlation between the location of such a studio within any arbitrary political boundary line and its utility for effectuating an applicant's program proposals. Petitioner asserts that "the requirements of producing live television programs are such that studio facilities located outside city boundary lines may well be much better adapted to the purpose and more efficient than studios located within such boundary lines. Section 3.613 does not permit any showing as to the suitability or superiority of a location outside as compared to a location within whatever artificial boundary the Section is intended to describe and, in a case where the location outside a city line is superior to one inside, imposes a burden of showing severe and undue hardship before an application will be authorized to provide a superior public service. This, on its face, is arbitrary and unreasonable."

Finally, petitioner requests that if the Commission should decide to provide a new rule in place of § 3.613 "then in view of the fact that § 3.613 was adopted without notice or opportunity to be heard, no such substitute rule should be adopted until after appropriate notice and opportunity to be heard has been afforded interested parties."

As we view it, the substance of petitioner's argument is that the only requirements which the Commission may properly establish with respect to the location of a main studio relate to the ability of an applicant to carry out its program proposals. It is in effect claimed that aside from such requirements such other requirements as are imposed by § 3.613 are unnecessary and arbitrary.

The Commission has for many years had as part of its broadcasting rules, provisions with respect to location of main studios. The basis and purpose of these rules is set out in the Commission's decision in Docket 8747 issued December 4, 1950. The Commission there said:

> We have consistently held that the term "radio service" as used in section 307 (b) comprehends both transmission and reception service. Transmission service is the opportunity which a radio station provides for the development and expression of local interests, ideas, and talents and for the production of radio programs of special interest to a particular community. Reception service on the other hand is merely the presence in any area of a listenable radio signal. It is the location of the studio rather than the transmitter which is of particular significance in connection with transmission service. A station often provides service to areas at a considerable distance from its transmitter but a station cannot serve as a medium for local self expression unless it provides a reasonably accessible studio for the origination of local programs.
> In large portions of the United States today reception service is reasonably satisfactory. There are many communities, however, some of considerable size, which still do not have adequate radio outlets for local self expression. Thus, in recent years transmission service has become an increasingly significant factor in the application of section 307 (b); and a considerable number of the Commission's decisions with respect to competing applications have turned upon the question of which proposal would provide the more needed transmission service.
> It is apparent that section 307 (b) and the Commission's efforts to apply it may be largely frustrated if, after a station is licensed for the purpose of providing both reception and transmission service to a particular community, it removes its main studio to a distant point and originates all or substantially all of its programs in a city or town other than that which it was licensed to serve. Such action on the part of the station may substantially cut away the basis of the Commission's decision authorizing the establishment of the station.
> In the Matter of the Promulgation of Rules and Regulations concerning the origination point of programs of standard and FM Broadcast Stations. Docket No. 8747, December 4, 1950.

The philosophy expressed in this decision with respect to the AM and FM services is equally applicable to the television service.

A basic purpose of the Commission's television assignment plan is the furnishing of local television service to individual communities. That service consists of two basic elements. First, the transmission of a television signal; second, and equally important is the availability of a local television facility to the community. The location of the main studio of a broadcast station is directly related to the manner in which a station fulfills its obligation to serve the needs and interests of the community which it is licensed to serve. The members of the public frequently identify a television broadcast station with the studio of that station. They are required usually to come to that studio in important dealings with the station. The accessibility of the broadcast station's main studio may well determine in large part the extent to which the station (1) can participate and be an integral part of community activities and (2) can enable members of the public to participate in live programs and present complaints or suggestions to the station.

It was in recognition of these considerations that the Commission in 1945 established the following rules with respect to the location of the main studios of television broadcast stations.

§ 3.603 Community stations. • • •

(c) The main studio of a community station shall be located in the city or town served and the transmitter shall be located as near the center of the city as practicable.

§ 3.604 Metropolitan stations. • • •

(c) The main studio for metropolitan stations shall be located in the city or metropolitan district with which the station is associated and the transmitter should be located so as to provide the maximum service to the city or metropolitan district served.

§ 3.605 Rural stations. • • •

(c) The main studio of rural stations shall be located within the 500 uv/m contour.

These rules remained in effect from 1945 to April 14, 1952 when the Commission issued its Sixth Report and Order. The extensive changes in the Commission's rules with respect to television broadcast stations effected in the Sixth Report and Order made it necessary to revise the then existing rules with respect to the location of the main studios of television broadcast stations. It should be noted that in establishing § 3.613 the Commission in effect liberalized the then existing rules by making it possible for the main studio of television broadcast stations to be located outside of the principal community to be served.

With respect to the determination of the geographical limits of the "principal community" we have herein further defined this term in accordance with our action of June 20, 1952 (FCC 52-619). We do not believe that the term "main studio" requires further definition. We recognize, however, that occasions may arise where the location of the main studio of a television broadcast station outside the boundaries of the principal community to be served will not be inconsistent with operation in the public interest. We have accordingly upon reconsideration of the Sixth Report and Order amended § 3.613 to permit the establishment of the main studio of a television broadcast station outside the principal community to be served where an adequate showing is made that there is good cause for so locating the main studio and that to do so would not be inconsistent with the operation of the station in the public interest. Accordingly, it is ordered, That § 3.613 is amended as follows:

§ 3.613 Main studio location. (a) The main studio of a television broadcast station shall be located in the principal community to be served. Where the principal community to be served is a city, town, village or other political subdivision, the main studio shall be located within the corporate boundaries of such city, town, village or other political subdivision. Where the principal community to be served does not have specifically defined political boundaries, applications will be considered on a case-to-case basis in the light of the particular facts involved to determine whether the main studio is located within the principal community to be served.

(b) In cases where an adequate showing is made that there is good cause for locating a main studio outside the principal community to be served and that to do so would not be inconsistent with the operation of the station in the public interest, the Commission will permit the use of a main studio location other than that specified in paragraph (a) of this section. The licensee or permittee of a television broadcast station shall not move his main studio outside the principal community in which it is located without first securing a modification of construction permit or license. Such licensee or permittee shall notify the Commission promptly of any change of the location of the main studio within the community. In any case where the main studio is located outside the principal community to be served, the licensee or permittee of a television broadcast station shall not move his main studio without first securing a modification of construction permit or license.

In view of the fact that our action herein relieves an existing restriction, it is ordered that the foregoing revision of § 3.613 is adopted forthwith.

AERONAUTICAL MOBILE SERVICE

ALLOCATION OF CERTAIN FREQUENCY BANDS

In the matter of amendment of Part 2 of the Commisison's rules and regulations concerning the allocation of certain frequency bands to the aeronautical mobile (R) service; Docket No. 10304.

1. Notice is hereby given of proposed rule making in the above entitled matter.

2. The Atlantic City (1947) Table of Frequency Allocations allocates the following bands of frequencies for the use of the aeronautical mobile (R) service:

Kc	Kc
2850–3025	8815–8965
3400–3500	10005–10100
4650–4700	11275–11400
5450–5680	13200–13360
6526–6685	17900–17970

3. One of the factors involved in the clearance of these bands is the necessity for discontinuing use of those non-Government fixed and maritime mobile station assignments which are on frequencies within the aforementioned R bands.

4. As an initial step looking towards the clearance of the R bands the Commission proposes to amend § 2.104 (a) of the Commission's rules and regulations to provide that, as of March 15, 1953, frequencies in the above specified R bands will be available for assignment only in accordance with the Atlantic City Table of Frequency Allocations. Existing assignments in the foregoing R bands may continue in force until such time as formal proceedings are instituted and consummated for their deletion.

5. The proposed amendment to the rules is issued under the authority of sections 303 (c), (f) and (r) of the Communications Act of 1934, as amended, the Final Acts of the International Telecommunication and Radio Conferences, Atlantic City (1947) and the Agreement concluded at the Extraordinary Administrative Radio Conference (Geneva, 1951).

6. Any interested person who is of the opinion that the proposed amendment should not be adopted may file with the Commission on or before September 15, 1952, a written statement or brief setting forth his comments. Persons desiring to support the amendment may also file comments by the same date. Replies to such comments may be filed within ten days from the last date for filing of original comments. The Commission will consider all comments and briefs presented before taking final action with respect to the proposed amendment.

(a) Revenue freight originated:

Terminating with carrier:
Number of shipments;
Number of tons (2,000 pounds);

It is recognized that more than one shipment of 10,000 pounds will at times move in the same truck but, in compiling the information, each such shipment will be treated as a truckload shipment. Truckload shipments received from or delivered to a carrier other than a motor carrier shall be classified as originating and terminating, respectively, with the reporting carrier.

§ 206.5 Definitions. "Freight revenue" as used in § 206.3 means the reporting carrier's proportion of the revenue shown on each freight bill without subsequent adjustment for errors in rates, extensions, interline divisions, etc.

FEDERAL POWER COMMISSION

[Docket No. E-6451]

CINCINNATI GAS & ELECTRIC CO.

ORDER SUSPENDING RATE SCHEDULE

AUGUST 12, 1952.

Cincinnati Gas & Electric Company (Cincinnati) on July 17, 1952, submitted for filing a proposed supplemental rate schedule, tentatively designated as Supplement No. 3 to Rate Schedule FPC No. 2, increasing its rates or charges to Union Light, Heat and Power Company (Union), its subsidiary, by an amount of $307,200 (13 percent) annually based on sales for the year 1951. Unless suspended by order of the Commission, Supplement No. 3 will become effective August 17, 1952, pursuant to the provisions of the Federal Power Act and the general rules and regulations promulgated thereunder.

The rate schedule now in effect contains a two-part rate having monthly charges of $1.40 per kw of demand and 3.5 mills per kwh subject to a fuel adjustment of .065 mills per kwh for each 10-cent variation from $3.00 per ton of coal. Charges under the fuel clause averaged 2.34 mills per kwh during 1951, resulting in a total energy charge of 5.84 mills. Cincinnati now proposes to increase the demand charge by 50 cents per kw per month resulting in a demand charge of $1.90 per kw per month, but no other change is proposed.

The change in rates and charges proposed by Supplement No. 3 may result in excessive rates or charges; may place an undue burden upon ultimate consumers; may be unduly discriminatory or preferential; and may result in increased rates and charges which have not been shown to be justified.

The Kentucky Public Service Commission and Union were invited to comment on the proposed supplemental rate schedule. No response has been received from Union, but the Kentucky Commission, by letter of August 5, 1952, advised that there is presently pending before it a proposed increase in the rates and charges of Union, and the filing with the Federal Power Commission of the proposed increase by Cincinnati "vitally affects the rate case." The Kentucky Commission questions the basis of the date furnished by Cincinnati in support of its filing with respect to the apportionment of its transmission system to the Kentucky business and the apportionment of plant and expenses as between demand and commodity, and requests in the event Cincinnati's proposed rate is suspended that it will be given opportunity to intervene in any proceeding before the Federal Power Commission.

The Commission finds:

(1) The increased rates or charges proposed by Supplement No. 3 to Cincinnati's Rate Schedule FPC No. 2 may be unjust, unreasonable, unduly discriminatory or preferential.

(2) It is necessary, desirable and in the public interest that the Commission enter upon a hearing concerning the lawfulness of the rates or charges proposed by Supplement No. 3 to Rate Schedule FPC No. 2 and that said proposed rates or charges be suspended pending such hearing and decision thereon.

The Commission orders:

(A) A public hearing be held at a time and place to be fixed by further order of the Commission concerning the lawfulness of the rates or charges proposed in Supplement No. 3 to Cincinnati Gas & Electric Company Rate Schedule FPC No. 2.

(B) Pending such hearing and decision thereon, the proposed Supplement No. 3, referred to in paragraph (A) above, be and the same is hereby suspended and the use of the rates or charges provided therein deferred until January 17, 1953, and may not be applied to any deliveries of energy prior to that date. Thereafter such proposed supplemental rate schedule shall go into effect in the manner prescribed by the Commission in accordance with the Federal Power Act.

(C) During the period of suspension, the rates or charges heretofore in effect under Cincinnati Gas & Electric Company Rate Schedule FPC No. 2, as supplemented by Supplements Nos. 1 and 2 on file with the Commission, shall remain and continue in effect.

(D) At the hearing ordered herein, the burden of proof to show that the proposed increased rates or charges are just and reasonable and not unduly discriminatory or preferential shall be upon the company.

(E) Interested State commissions may participate as provided by §§ 1.8 and 1.37 (f) of the codification and reissuance of the Commission's rules, effective January 1, 1948 (18 CFR 1.8 and 1.37 (f)).

Date of issuance: August 13, 1952.

By the Commission.

KANSAS-NEBRASKA NATURAL GAS CO., INC.

ORDER REOPENING PROCEEDINGS, CONSOLIDATING PROCEEDINGS, AND FIXING DATE OF HEARING

AUGUST 12, 1952.

On December 18, 1951, Kansas-Nebraska Natural Gas Company, Inc. (Kansas-Nebraska), a Kansas corporation having its principal place of business at Phillipsburg, Kansas, filed an application in Docket No. G-1857, as amended on March 14, 1952, and as supplemented on June 10, 1952, for a certificate of public convenience and necessity, pursuant to section 7 of the Natural Gas Act, authorizing the construction and operation of certain natural-gas transmission facilities subject to the jurisdiction of the Commission, and for modification and amendment of the Commission's orders heretofore issued in Docket Nos. G-683, G-1532, and G-1683, all as described in the application, as amended and supplemented, on file with the Commission and open to public inspection. Notice of the filing of the amended application has been given, including publication in the FEDERAL REGISTER on April 9, 1952 (17 F. R. 3126).

On June 2, 1952, Kansas-Nebraska filed an application in Docket No. G-1970 pursuant to section 7 of the Natural Gas Act, for authority to abandon and remove certain natural gas transmission facilities and for a certificate of public convenience and necessity authorizing the construction and operation of certain natural-gas transmission facilities subject to the jurisdiction of the Commission, as described in the application on file with the Commission and open to public inspection. Notice of filing of the application has been given, including publication in FEDERAL REGISTER on June 19, 1952 (17 F. R. 5531).

On July 24, 1952, the Commission adopted an order (1) denying requests that applications filed at Docket Nos. G-1857 and G-1970 be heard under the shortened procedure provided by § 1.32 (b) of the Commission's rules of practice and procedure (18 CFR 1.32 (b)) for non-contested proceedings, (2) consolidating the proceedings at Docket Nos. G-1857 and G-1970 and (3) fixing August 19, 1952, as the date of hearing on the matters at Docket Nos. G-1857 and G-1970.

Applicant has requested in its amended application filed at Docket No. G-1857 on March 14, 1952, that the Commission modify the identified certificate orders to reflect the following changes:

(a) Paragraph (e) of the description of facilities in the Commission's order issued November 9, 1951, Docket No. G-1683, so as to change the 52 miles of 8⅝-inch pipeline therein authorized to 49 miles of 10¾-inch pipeline.

(b) Paragraph (1) of the description of facilities in the Commission's order issued February 28, 1951, Docket No. G-1532, so as to change the authorized 2,000 hp. capacity of the new Holcomb Compressor Station from one 2,000 hp. unit to four 500 hp. units.

(c) Paragraph 14 of the description of facilities in the Commission's order issued February 28, 1951, Docket No. G-1532, so as to eliminate the words, "and Stanton" from the last line of Item 14.

(d) Paragraph (d) (vii) (g) of the description of facilities in the Commission's order, date March 30, 1946, Docket No. G-683, so as to change said lateral from 8 miles of 2⅜-inch pipeline to 3 miles of 2⅜-inch pipeline.

The commission finds:

(1) It is appropriate for carrying out the provisions of the Natural Gas Act that the Commission reopen the proceedings in Docket Nos. G-1683, G-1532, and G-683 for the sole purpose of determining whether the orders therein should be modified as requested in the first amended application filed March 14, 1952, in Docket No. G-1857, and consolidate the reopened proceedings with those in Docket Nos. G-1857 and G-1970 for the purpose of hearing.

(2) Good cause exists for fixing the date of hearing of the above reopened proceedings with the proceedings in Docket Nos. G-1857 and G-1970 heretofore consolidated and ordered to be heard commencing August 19, 1952, and for less than 15 days after publication of the notice in the FEDERAL REGISTER.

The Commission orders:

(A) The proceedings in Docket Nos. G-1683, G-1532, and G-683 be and they are hereby reopened for the sole purpose of determining whether the requested modifications, as set forth above, should be allowed.

(B) The proceedings in Docket Nos. G-1857, G-1970 and the reopened proceedings referred to in Paragraph (A) above be and they are hereby consolidated for the purpose of hearing.

(C) Pursuant to the authority contained in and by virtue of the jurisdiction conferred upon the Federal Power Commission by sections 7 and 15 of the Natural Gas Act, and the Commission's rules of practice and procedure, the consolidated proceedings at Docket Nos. G-1683, G-1532, G-683, G-1857, and G-1970 be and are hereby set for hearing commencing on August 19, 1952, at 10:00 a. m., e. d. s. t., in the Hearing Room of the Federal Power Commission, 1800 Pennsylvania Avenue NW., Washington, D. C., concerning the matters involved and the issues presented in the aforementioned consolidated proceedings.

(D) Interested State commissions may participate as provided by §§ 1.8 and 1.37 (f) (18 CFR 1.8 and 1.37 (f)) of the Commission's rules of practice and procedure.

Date of issuance: August 13, 1952.

By the Commission.

[Docket No. G-1947]

TEXAS EASTERN TRANSMISSION CORP.

NOTICE OF AMENDED APPLICATION

AUGUST 13, 1952.

Take notice that Texas Eastern Transmission Corporation (Applicant), a Delaware Corporation, having its principal place of business at Shreveport, Louisiana, filed on August 7, 1952, an amendment to its April 24, 1952, application for a certificate of public convenience and necessity pursuant to section 7 of the Natural Gas Act, notice of which was published in the FEDERAL REGISTER on May 13, 1952.

The changes set forth in the amended application provide for the use of 24-inch pipe of 0.321-inch wall thickness instead of 24-inch pipe of 0.330-inch wall thickness in a 22 mile section of the 315 mile pipeline proposed to be constructed and operated. In addition, the amended application does not contemplate the construction of a 5,500 horsepower compressor station originally proposed to be constructed and operated in Shelby County, Texas.

Applicant now proposes to transport up to 140,000 Mcf of Natural gas per day into its existing system by means of the facilities for which authorization is sought rather than the 200,000 Mcf per day originally proposed. The total capital cost of the facilities has been changed from $25,943,079 to the presently proposed figure of $23,283,540.

The application is on file with the Commission for public inspection. Protests or petitions to intervene may be filed with the Federal Power Commission, Washington 25, D. C., in accordance with the rules of practice and procedure (18 CFR 1.8 or 1.10) on or before the 2d day of September 1952.

MODIFICATION OF TRADE AGREEMENT CONCESSION AND ADJUSTMENT IN THE RATE OF DUTY WITH RESPECT TO DRIED FIGS

By the President of the United States of America

A PROCLAMATION

1. WHEREAS the United States of America and other countries participating in the General Agreement on Tariffs and Trade have heretofore entered into a trade agreement known as the Torquay Protocol to the General Agreement on Tariffs and Trade, which was done at Torquay, England, on April 21, 1951, and which was proclaimed by the President of the United States of America on June 6, 1951 (3 CFR, 1951 Supp., 32; TD 52836); and

2. WHEREAS, as set forth in the 7th recital of the said Proclamation No. 2929, and in accordance with paragraph 3 of the said Torquay Protocol, Schedule XX contained in Annex A of the said Protocol (hereinafter referred to as the "Torquay schedule") became a schedule to the General Agreement on Tariffs and Trade relating to the United States of America on June 6, 1951; and

3. WHEREAS item 740 in Part I of the Torquay schedule reads as follows:

Tariff Act of 1930, paragraph	Description of products	Rate of duty
740	Figs, fresh, dried, or in brine	2½¢ per lb.

4. WHEREAS, pursuant to the said Proclamation No. 2929 and the said notification of the President to the Secretary of the Treasury of October 2, 1951, duty at the rate of 2½ cents per pound has been applied to the products described in the said item 740, entered, or withdrawn from warehouse, for consumption since October 17, 1951, which duty reflects the prevailing United States concession with respect to such products under the said General Agreement on Tariffs and Trade as supplemented by the said Torquay schedule; and

5. WHEREAS the United States Tariff Commission has submitted to me its report of investigation and hearing under section 7 of the Trade Agreements Extension Act of 1951 (Public Law 50, 82d Congress, approved June 16, 1951), on the basis of which investigation and hearing it has found that dried figs described in the said item 740 are, as a result in part of the duty reflecting the concession granted thereon in the said General Agreement on Tariffs and Trade as supplemented by the Torquay schedule, being imported into the United States in such increased quantities, both actual and relative, as to cause serious injury to the domestic industry producing like or directly competitive products, and as to threaten continuance of such injury; and

6. WHEREAS the said Tariff Commission has recommended that the concession granted in the said General Agreement as supplemented by the Torquay schedule with respect to dried figs described in the said item 740 be modified to permit the application to such products of a rate of duty of 4½ cents per pound, which rate the Commission found and reported to be necessary to prevent the continuance of serious injury to the domestic industry producing like or directly competitive products; and

7. WHEREAS section 350 (a) (2) of the Tariff Act of 1930, as amended, authorizes the President to proclaim such modifications of existing duties as are required or appropriate to carry out any foreign trade agreement that the President has entered into under the said section 350 (a); and

8. WHEREAS, upon the modification of the concession granted in the said General Agreement as supplemented by the Torquay schedule with respect to dried figs described in the said item 740 in accordance with the recommendation of the Tariff Commission mentioned in the 6th recital of this proclamation, it will be appropriate to carry out the said General Agreement as supplemented by the Torquay schedule to apply to the said dried figs the rate of duty specified in the said 6th recital:

NOW, THEREFORE, I, HARRY S. TRUMAN, President of the United States of America, acting under the authority vested in me by section 350 of the Tariff Act of 1930, as amended, and by section 7 (c) of the Trade Agreements Extension Act of 1951, and in accordance with the provisions of Article XIX of the said General Agreement, do proclaim—

(a) That the provisions of item 740 of Part I of the Torquay schedule shall be modified, effective at the close of business August 29, 1952, so as to read as follows:

Tariff Act of 1930, paragraph	Description of products	Rate of duty
740	Figs:
	Fresh or in brine	2½¢ per lb.
	Dried	4½¢ per lb.

(b) That, until the President otherwise proclaims, the rates of duty specified in such modified item 740, as set forth in paragraph (a) above, shall be applied to articles entered, or withdrawn from warehouse, for consumption after the close of business August 29, 1952. The said Proclamation No. 2929 is modified accordingly. So long as this proclamation remains in force, the provisions of Proclamation No. 2867 of December 22, 1949 (3 CFR, 1949 Supp., 55; TD 52373) and Proclamation No. 2874 of March 1, 1950 (3 CFR, 1950 Supp., 21; TD 52423), insofar as they provide for carrying out United States obligations with respect to the rate of duty on dried figs described in item 740 of Part I of Schedule XX in Annex A of the Annecy Protocol of Terms of Accession to the General Agreement on Tariffs and Trade, shall be suspended.

IN WITNESS WHEREOF, I have hereunto set my hand and caused the seal of the United States of America to be affixed.

DONE at the City of Washington this 16th day of August in the year of our Lord nineteen hundred and fifty-two, and of the Independence of the United States of America the one hundred and seventy-seventh.

C. 117), § 76.10 in Part 76 of Title 9, Code of Federal Regulations, containing a notice of the existence in certain areas of the swine disease known as vesicular exanthema and establishing a quarantine because of such disease is hereby amended to read as follows:

§ 76.10 Notice and quarantine. (a) Notice is hereby given that the contagious, infectious and communicable disease of swine known as vesicular exanthema exists in the following areas:

The State of California;
Cook county in Illinois;
Woodbury county in Iowa;
Geary county and the area within the corporate limits of Kansas City in Wyandotte county in Kansas;
Kaw township in Jackson county in Missouri;
Ashland, Benson, Florence, Loveland, May, McHugh, Moorhead, Omaha, Ralston, and Union townships in Douglas county, Platte township in Dodge county, Alda township in Hall county, and Richland township in Sarpy county, in Nebraska;
Burlington, Gloucester, Hudson, and Ocean counties in New Jersey;
New York county and Clarkstown township in Rockland county, in New York;
Townships 1 and 2 North, Range 1 East of Willamette Meridian, in Multnomah county in Oregon;
Sioux Falls township in Minnehaha county in South Dakota; and Township 25 North, Range 5 West in King county in Washington.

(b) The Secretary of Agriculture, having determined that swine in the States named in paragraph (a) of this section are affected with the contagious, infectious and communicable disease known as vesicular exanthema and that it is necessary to quarantine the areas specified in paragraph (a) of this section and the following additional areas in such States, in order to prevent the spread of said disease from such States, hereby quarantines the areas specified in paragraph (a) of this section and in addition Bergen, Essex, Hunterdon, and Union counties, in New Jersey.

Effective date. This amendment shall become effective upon issuance. This amendment includes within the areas in which vesicular exanthema has been found to exist and in which a quarantine has been established, Clarkstown township in Rockland county in New York. Hereafter, all of the restrictions of the quarantine and regulations in 9 CFR Part 76, Subpart B, as amended (17 F. R. 7070, 7367) apply with respect to shipments of swine and carcasses, parts and offal of swine from this locality.

The amendment excludes from the areas in which vesicular exanthema has been found to exist and in which a quarantine has been established, Jefferson and Mobile counties in Alabama; Wyandotte county, except the area within the corporate limits of Kansas City, in Kansas; Buchanan, Clinton and Green counties in Missouri; Douglas county, except Ashland, Benson, Florence, Loveland, May, McHugh, Moorhead, Omaha, Ralston, and Union townships, and Gilmore township in Sarpy county, in Nebraska; Multnomah county, except townships 1 and 2 North, Range 1 East of Willamette Meridian, in Oregon; Minnehaha county, except Sioux Falls township, in South Dakota; and King county, except Township 25 North, Range 5 West, in Washington. Hereafter, none of the restrictions of the quarantine and regulations in 9 CFR Part 76, Subpart B, as amended (17 F. R. 7070, 7367) apply with respect to shipments of swine, and carcasses, parts and offal of swine from these localities.

The foregoing amendment in part relieves restrictions presently imposed and must be made effective immediately to be of maximum benefit to persons subject to such restrictions. In part the amendment imposes further restrictions necessary to prevent the spread of vesicular exanthema, a communicable disease of swine, and to this extent it must be made effective immediately to accomplish its purpose in the public interest. Accordingly, under section 4 of the Administrative Procedure Act (5 U. S. C. 1003) it is found upon good cause that notice and other public procedure with respect to the foregoing amendment are impracticable and contrary to the public interest and good cause is found for making the amendment effective less than 30 days after publication hereof in the FEDERAL REGISTER.

TITLE 32A—NATIONAL DEFENSE, APPENDIX

Chapter III—Office of Price Stabilization, Economic Stabilization Agency

[Ceiling Price Regulation 83, Revision 1]

CPR 83—RETAIL AND WHOLESALE SALE OF NEW PASSENGER AUTOMOBILES

Pursuant to the Defense Production Act of 1950, as amended, Executive Order 10161 (15 F. R. 6105), and Economic Stabilization Agency General Order No. 2 (16 F. R. 738), this Ceiling Price Regulation 83, Revision 1, is hereby issued.

STATEMENT OF CONSIDERATIONS

This revision of CPR 83 provides for the establishment of ceiling prices by resellers of new passenger automobiles and extra equipment on the basis of the reseller's practices prevailing either during the period May 24 to June 24, 1950, or January 26 to February 24, 1951, as he shall elect. Thus, in general, if during his chosen base period, the seller added certain charges to the manufacturer's list price to establish his selling price, he continues to use the list price of the manufacturer and adds his charges to the list price. If, on the other hand, during his elected base period, he individually marked up the net invoice or delivered cost of the new automobile or item of equipment, he establishes his ceiling price today by applying the percentage markup he then used to the net invoice or delivered cost of the commodity and adding the additional charges he had in effect during the same period.

This technique marks a departure from CPR 83 as originally issued. That regulation established uniform dollar and cents basic prices for new automobiles and factory installed extra equipment. To these specific prices the dealer was permitted to add certain charges. The Director was of the opinion that new passenger automobiles and extra equipment, a highly standardized group of commodities sold nationally in a relatively uniform marketing pattern, were well suited to a uniform dollar and cents regulation, and that the pricing techniques used in CPR 83 were wholly fair and equitable and conformed to all provisions of the Defense Production Act.

However, representations have been made by the industry to the Director that automobile dealers ought to have their prices determined in accordance with their individual historical practice, and that whatever basis there was for the uniformity introduced by CPR 83 for the purposes and needs of price stabilization, CPR 83 introduced, at least in many areas of the country, a uniformity that did not exist pre-Korea. The industry asked for techniques available to other dealers in machinery, etc., who, under CPR 67, are permitted to use individual pricing experience. The industry claimed that individual pricing is particularly feasible for automobile dealers because of the ready availability of pre-Korean records as to markups and charges then prevailing.

In addition to these considerations, the changes recently made by Congress in the so-called "Herlong Amendment" require revision of CPR 83 in several respects. The Herlong Amendment has been revised to require that all regulations must maintain the customary margin existing during the base period May 24 to June 24, 1950. The amendment also added the words "or their customary charges" and pursuant thereto the Director, in the revision of CPR 83 has made provision for the inclusion of ceiling prices of certain customary charges made by certain individual dealers in the base period. More fundamentally, the recent amendment to section 402 (k) requires the Director to issue regulations giving full consideration to the customary percentage margin during the period May 24 to June 24, 1950, where the antitrust laws of any State have been construed to prohibit adherence by sellers of material at wholesale or retail to uniform suggested resale prices. This provision was enacted specifically to cover Texas automobile dealers.

In addition to the reasons set forth in the foregoing paragraphs this amendment persuades the Director to issue a regulation which will be general in its application rather than to issue a regulation containing specialized provisions for a certain state.

The dealer is given an option to elect either the period May 24, 1950, to June 24, 1950, or January 26, 1951, to February 24, 1951, as his base period. However, once a dealer elects to use either period he must use it for all purposes of the regulation. The Director has consulted with representatives of the National Automobile Dealers' Association, a trade association representing the majority of new automobile dealers in the United States, and members of industry, on the base periods to be adopted. Initially, because of representations made to him by industry members and the National Automobile Dealers' Association in particular, it had been the Director's intention in this revision of CPR 83, to restore the pre-Korea pricing practices as well as to afford dealers the markup required by the Herlong Amendment (which specified the May 24 to June 24, 1950 period as the base period). The Association has recently claimed, however, that dealers have for many purposes been accustomed to use a January 26, 1951, to February 24, 1951, period in the calculation of certain charges pursuant to CPR 83 and SR 5 to GCPR, and that for some dealers the mandatory use of the pre-Korea period would result in a rollback which they assert would be inequitable. The Director, therefore, has decided to accede to the specific requests of representatives of the National Automobile Dealers' Association to add the January–February period as an optional period.

As has been set forth in the outset of this statement, resellers must use their base period practice of selling on manufacturer's list or, their practice of using their individual markup over cost. If a dealer is unable to use either of these methods he will apply to the proper District Office servicing his area for a price determining method. The dealer may use the method he proposes unless notified it is unacceptable. The ceiling price of cars and equipment which the dealer did not sell in the base period will be determined generally on the basis of the most comparable items sold by the dealer during his base period. Dealers who are unable to determine comparability may rely on manufacturers' list prices for the new car or equipment provided the manufacturer states that the markup is no higher than the markup of the most comparable commodity sold by the manufacturer in the base period.

This revised regulation permits dealers to include in their ceiling price the charges that they made during their elected base period for transportation, excise taxes, delivery and handling and other charges. The dealer will be required to post his prices and charges substantially as previously required by CPR 83, and to render to his purchasers a proper invoice.

In the formulation of this regulation there has been consultation with industry representatives, including trade association representatives, i. e., the National Automobile Dealers Association and the Retail Motor Vehicle Industry Advisory Committee, and consideration has been given to their recommendations. In the judgment of the Director of Price Stabilization, the ceiling prices established by this regulation are generally fair and equitable to buyers and sellers alike, and are necessary to effectuate the purpose of Title IV of the Defense Production Act of 1950, as amended.

AUTHORITY: Sections 1 to 18 issued under sec. 704, 64 Stat. 816, as amended; 50 U. S. C. App. Sup. 2154. Interpret or apply Title IV, 64 Stat. 803, as amended; 50 U. S. C. App. Sup. 2101-2110, E. O. 10161, Sept. 9, 1950, 15 F. R. 6105; 3 CFR 1950 Sup.

SECTION 1. Sellers and sales covered by this regulation. This regulation applies to you if you sell as a retail dealer, wholesale distributor or any other reseller in the United States and the District of Columbia, new passenger automobiles and items of optional equipment therewith which are produced in the United States. The provisions of this regulation supersede, in their entirety, those provisions of General Ceiling Price Regulation, Supplementary Regulation 5, and Ceiling Price Regulation 83, as amended and all special orders issued thereunder covering the sale of new passenger automobiles and items of optional equipment.

SEC. 2. Base period. You may at your election choose either (a) the period from May 24, 1950 to June 24, 1950 or (b) the period from January 26, 1951 to February 24, 1951 as your base period. As used in this regulation the term "your base period" refers to whichever of the aforementioned periods you have elected. Once you have elected your base period you must continue to use it for all purposes of this regulation.

SEC. 3. Ceiling prices determined by published suggested list price or factory retail price—(a) Applicability. If you meet the following conditions, you must determine your ceiling prices in accordance with this section:

(1) The manufacturer must have published a suggested list price or factory retail price for the automobile and items of optional equipment, and you followed that list price or factory retail price during your base period. To your price so determined you may, of course, have added your charges for transportation, delivery and handling, taxes and other charges.

(2) The manufacturer's current suggested list price or factory retail price must reflect the same percentage markup over the manufacturer's net price as it did during your base period and all discounts, terms and conditions of sale must be consistent with those in effect during your base period. If the manufacturer's current list price or factory retail price does not reflect your base period discounts, you may use that list price or factory retail price provided the discount change results in a markup lower than that in effect during your base period.

(b) Ceiling price. If you have met the conditions outlined in paragraph (a) of this section, your ceiling price for the sale of automobiles and items of optional equipment to a purchaser of the same class is the manufacturer's current list price or factory retail price plus any charges you are permitted to include under section 7. Your ceiling price for all classes of purchasers must reflect the same discount, and terms and conditions of sale which you had in effect during your base period.

SEC. 4. Ceiling prices not determined by manufacturer's published suggested list price or factory retail price. This section is applicable to you if your selling prices for automobiles and items of optional equipment were not determined on the basis of the manufacturer's published suggested list price or factory retail price during your base period, or if for any other reason you are unable to meet the conditions for the use of the manufacturer's current price list or factory retail price in accordance with section 3. You determine your ceiling price under this section by adding to your cost the amount computed by multiplying your cost of the automobile and item of optional equipment determined under paragraph (a) of this section, by your percentage markup determined under either paragraphs (b) or (c) of this section and adding any charges you are permitted to include in your ceiling price under section 7.

You use paragraph (b) of this section to determine your percentage markup, when during your base period you determined your selling price for the automobile and item of optional equipment by applying a percentage markup to the net invoice cost of the automobile or item of optional equipment to you. You use paragraph (c) of this section to determine your percentage markup, when during your base period you determined your selling price for the automobile and item of optional equipment by applying a percentage markup to your delivered cost. An explanation of the terms "net invoice cost" and "delivered cost" is contained in section 18 (Definitions).

(a) Cost of the automobile. The cost of the automobile or item of optional equipment that you must use in determining your ceiling price shall be your most recent net invoice cost or your most recent delivered cost depending upon whether during your base period you applied your percentage markup to net invoice cost or delivered cost.

(b) Percentage markup over net invoice cost. If, during your base period you determined your selling price for automobiles or items of optional equipment by applying a percentage markup to net invoice cost, you must use the first of the following methods to determine your percentage markup. If you determine your ceiling price under this paragraph you may not again include in your ceiling price any of the charges set forth in section 7 of this regulation that are contained in your net invoice cost.

(1) The highest percentage markup over net invoice cost that you had in effect during your base period on the sale of an automobile of the same make, line, series and body style, or the item of optional equipment or its counterpart, to purchasers of the same class. If during your base period you did not sell an automobile of the same body style in a given line or series, you use the highest markup you had in effect for an automobile of the same line or series.

(2) The highest percentage markup over net invoice cost that you had in effect during your base period on the sale of an automobile of the same make, line, series and body style, or the item of optional equipment or its counterpart to a purchaser of a different class, adjusted to reflect the differential between the two classes of purchasers which you had in effect during your base period, or if none, then the differential last in effect before your base period. If you are selling to an entirely new class of purchaser, you must determine your ceiling price under section 6 of this regulation for that class of purchaser.

(c) Percentage markup over delivered cost. If, during your base period you determined your selling price for an automobile or item of optional equipment by applying a percentage markup to delivered cost, you must determine your ceiling price by applying a percentage markup to delivered cost. In such case, you must determine your ceiling price in accordance with the provisions of paragraph (b) of this section, except that you must substitute the phrase "delivered cost" for the phrase "net invoice cost", wherever the phrase "net invoice cost" appears in paragraph (b) of this section. If you determine your ceiling price under this paragraph you may not again include in your ceiling price any of the charges set forth in section 7 of this regulation that are contained in your delivered cost.

SEC. 5. New products. You use any of the following methods to establish your ceiling prices for automobiles and items of optional equipment for which you have no base period counterparts. You may use this section only if the manufacturer states in writing that there is no base period counterpart for the particular automobile or item of optional equipment.

(a) You may use the same markup as you used for the most comparable item during your base period. You determine the most comparable item on the basis of purpose, function and sales volume.

(b) You may use the manufacturer's list price or factory retail price provided the manufacturer states in writing that the suggested list price or factory retail price reflects a markup which is no higher than the markup in effect for the most comparable item manufactured during the base period.

SEC. 6. Automobiles and items of optional equipment whose ceiling prices cannot be determined under sections 3, 4 or 5. If for any reason you are unable to use sections 3, 4 or 5 of this regulation to determine your ceiling price for an automobile or item of optional equipment, you must request authorization in writing from the Director of Price Stabilization to use a price determining method which you will propose and the use of which will result in a price in line with ceiling prices generally prevailing in your market area. The method may be a method of establishing your ceiling prices that is similar to the methods described in section 3 or 4. That is, you may propose to use prices in the manufacturer's published price list or factory retail price or you may propose that you will use a markup over either net invoice cost or delivered cost, or your proposed method may be a combination of the use of manufacturer's price list or factory retail price and a markup. You may include in your ceiling price those charges permitted under section 7, but if you propose a delivered cost technique, you may not again include in your ceiling price any charge already contained in your delivered cost. In order to obtain this authorization by the Director of Price Stabilization, you must file a report by registered mail, with the Office of Price Stabilization before you sell, offer to sell, or deliver the automobile or items of optional equipment. This report must be filed with the District Office of the Office of Price Stabilization servicing your area. The report must contain the following information:

(a) A description of the automobile (or automobiles) or items of optional equipment for which you seek a price determining method. This description shall include the manufacturer's name, type of automobile, or item of optional equipment, and any other specifications commonly shown in price sheets for similar products. The enclosure of the manufacturer's price sheets will satisfy this requirement.
